Freaks of Lightning.—On Saturday afternoon there was a short but heavy rain storm, which commenced suddenly about 4 o'clock, and was preceded by a terrible flash of lightning and a very loud peal of thunder. The back chimney of Mr. John Finn's house was struck—or, rather, entered—by the electric fluid, which burst it to pieces, ripped open seven or eight lengths of stove-pipe, and then, descending into the kitchen, separated into two parts, one evidently having gone through the open door into the yard, while the other tore a splinter about four feet long out of the floor, and after breaking a joist, went down into the wood-shed below and struck the outside of the rear wall of the cellar, which is only under the front part of the house, having been built for a much smaller one that was destroyed by fire. In the kitchen at the time were Mrs. Finn and three of her children—two boys aged about 11 and 7 years, and a little girl 2½ months old. Mrs. Finn, who was in the act of putting a wash tub out of doors to catch the coming rain, was prostrated by the shock, and lay insensible for a considerable length of time. When she recovered the baby was lying across her breast and the younger boy was by her side. The elder boy was not knocked down, but he was dazed and stupefied, and just remembered seeing his mother fall. Providentially not one of the four received the slightest injury, and they all soon recovered from the effects of the shock. Some of the bricks from the chimney fell outside the house and some inside; the latter smashed a lamp and a chamber set, and about a dozen of them were found on the bed. In the parlor at the front of the house on the ground floor there was a table with a lamp on it, almost directly under a stove-pipe hole, through which part of the lightning must have descended, as the shade was knocked off the lamp and a piece broken out of the glass below; and a small blackened hole between two of the floor boards showed where the lightning made its exit. The damage to the house and its contents is covered by insurance.—Gazette.

ALL OLD VALUES BLOWN OUT OF SIGHT!

PRICES OF SIX WEEKS AGO SPLIT TO SPLINTERS.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

WHY NOT BUILD A HOME?

I have several fine lots suitable for private residences, in excellent location and which are to-day worth more money than I am asking for them. Men with some means should look at these properties.

I have also for sale a number of lots just the thing for Workingmen to build on. The location is good and the price so low that it is not wise to continue paying rent. I will advance money to anyone wishing to build on any of the above lots, at lowest current rates of interest, and easiest terms of re-payment. Workingmen should give me a call and see if I cannot offer them something to their advantage. Just imagine, a beautiful lot, frontage 61 ft, 8 in., by 150 ft. deep, for $150.00. Cheapest property in town.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead; town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need; that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable, and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

Meetings of the Trent Valley Canal Commissioners was held at Montreal on Thursday, Friday and Saturday last. His Honor Judge Weller, chairman, presided. A number of witnesses, commision merchants, grain dealers and others were examined, with a view of finding out if it was desirable to build the canal, and the probable amount of business that it would do, if constructed. Another meeting will take place, at Toronto, on Saturday next.

The Peterborough Central.

Mr. Wm. Collins, Secretary of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, has received a reply from the Hon. Chas. Drury, Minister of Agriculture, accepting the Society's invitation to formally open the Central Exhibition. The Hon. Mr. Drury will be present on Sept. 26th, the second day of the exhibition, and will then formally declare it open. The proceeding will be interesting. The Central Exhibition has established itself as a success, and Ontario's youngest Cabinet Minister will no doubt assist at another successful show.

Established Forty Years.

The Canadian Manufacturer says:—"Mr. Peter Hamilton, Peterborough, Ont., has sent us his new illustrated catalogue of agricultural implements manufactured by him, included in which are self-binders, reapers, mowers, seeders, and all varieties of agricultural tools. These works were established in 1848—forty years ago—and in the introduction to the book Mr. Hamilton calls attention the great strides that have been made during that time in the improvement and cheapening of this class of manufactures, the cumbersome machines of yore being swept out of existence. The different machines manufactured by Mr. Hamilton are fully illustrated by suitable cuts, and descriptions of them are given in detail, while copious testimonials from Canadian farmers who have them in use testify to their merits."

Raising a Row.

Matthew Seery belongs to Norwood, but at present he is located in the gaol. On Saturday night he came to town and at the C. P. R. depot he met Mr. Thomas Armstrong, an employee of the railway. Matthew was looking for trouble and as a starter he assaulted Mr. Armstrong. The chief was notified and he promptly locked Mr. Seery up. At the court this morning he was fined $2 and costs for assault and $2 and costs for being drunk and disorderly. He had no money and was sent up for twenty days.

A New League.

The Eastern International Baseball Leaguehas been formed with three clubs, Kingston, Belleville and Oswego. The fourth is yet to be named. It will be either Utica or Watertown, probably the former. The playing season opens with the American clubs May 30th and closes the first week in September. A salary limit has been agreed upon. The league will undoubtedly be a success and the chances are that it will be composed of six clubs before the meeting adjourns. It is thought the Spaulding ball will be adopted, as Spaulding Brothers have offered a handsome and valuable pennant.

Twas recently said, and as recently read,

And as recently said, while surely 'twas read
The premier shoe dealer is kidd.
For he leathers your woes instep and toes,
Be you laborer, sailor or mid,
The fame of his goods fairly rings in the woods
No dealer sells cheaper than kidd.

Obituary.

The Mail of to-day contains the following reference to a gentleman who was well known here:—"Mr. Frank Manning died on Sunday, at the Queen's hotel about noon, after an illness which lasted about three weeks. The deceased had not been in good health for some time past, and his death was not unexpected. He was attended by Dr. Davidson and Dr. Bethune, who did everything in their power for the suffering man. The deceased was the eldest son of ex-Mayor Manning, and was a member of the firm of Manning, McDonald & Co., and secretary of the Toronto Brewing and Malting Co. He was also a prominent member of the Toronto Yacht Club, and was widely known throughout the city, and many friends will mourn his loss. Flags were flying at half mast at the Toronto Yacht Club and on the different yachts and at the Queen's hotel out of respect for the deceased. The funeral will take place tomorrow from the Queen's hotel at 3.30 p. m."

The Battle of Sedan.

This famous war scene is an attraction of Toronto that one can really take pleasure in endorsing. Although constantly exhibited day and night for over one year, it has never palled upon the public's taste. Possessing the rare merit of perfection in detail, composition and spirited acting, as a work of pictorial art it is superb, and realistic to a remarkable degree. There are many of these battle paintings, in the United States, but the battle of Sedan is the largest, and by far the work of more eminent artists than any one on exhibition. A visit will be beneficial to everyone, and no one can afford to leave the city until they have at least visited it once. A sight of 500,000 French and German soldiers battling for supremacy is something calculated to raise the spirit of manly courage, which is a characteristic virtue of the Canadian. When in Toronto be sure and see the famous Cycloramas, corner Front and York-sts., opposite the G. T. R. station. The Cyclorama is open every week day from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The Camp.

The Gananoque Journal authoritatively states that the third district camp will be held there if the promise of the Minister of Militia be carried out. The camp opens on June 19th with 2,800 men under Lieut-Col. Von Straubenzie, D.A.G.

N. W. M. P.

Inspector Sanders who has been here for some days recruiting for the mounted police, left for Ottawa at noon to-day. He succeeded in securing six men. He wants about fifteen more and will visit Toronto and Owen Sound to get them. The men left direct for the headquarters at Regina.

The Pavement.

The work of laying the granolithic pavement around the post office is still in progress. The portions which were done first are as solid as a rock and they will be ready for use in the course of a day or two. The whole job will be completed by the end of the week. The progress of the work is watched with interest by a large number of people. The man who is laying it has no fear of it being heaved by the frost.

Here's a Go!

Something new. What is it? Why, the Canton members have made another move in their popular excursion. A good move? Of course, they would do nothing else. Their excursion has been amalgamated with the St. Luke's C.E.T.S. excursion. It will be a grand affair, two excursions in one, tickets good for two days, first class coaches, fast time, over the C. P. R. at 7 o'clock. All get ready. At 7 o'clock, or may go at 5.10 a. m., June 12th. Tickets $2, children $1.

Personal.

The Birtle, Manitoba, Observer calles attention to the many public services Major Boulton has rendered in Manitoba. From the time of the first rebellion, when for his loyalty he was imprisoned and sentenced to be shot, escaping by a miracle, he has constantly been seeking the welfare of his adopted country, and he took a prominent part in the suppression of the rebellion of 1885. In Russell county, Man., he has been instrumental in securing railway accommodation, bridges, and other public works. Major Boulton is, also, a citizen of the Dominion and endeavors to benefit the country at large. The Observer does well to call attention to his services.

An Ottawa special to the Mail contains the following reference to a gentleman who is well known here. His many friends will be pleased to hear of his promotion:—"The Joint Committee on Printing had under consideration the changes that might be necessary consequent on the passing of the Act establishing a Department of Public Printing and Stationery. They recommend that Mr. Robert Romaine, of the House of Commons Stationery Department, and Mr. Robert Brewer, assistant accountant, be each promoted to the rank of chief clerks in the new department, and that Mr. E. Botterell and Mr. H. A. Botterell, of the distribution office, be transferred to the new department, where their experience will be of great service."

Sabbath School Association of Ontario.

The above organization is to hold a Provincial Convention for the North-Western section of the Province at Orillia on Tuesday and Wednesday next, 22nd and 23rd. An excellent programme has been provided, dealing with practical phrases of Sunday School work and bearing the names of the most prominent Sunday school workers of the district as well as of the city of Toronto, and as the Convention meets on the eve of the 24th the picturesque town may expect a considerable invasion of reputable guests. It may not be known to everyone that the Association has existed nearly a quarter of a century with the twofold aim of establishing Sabbath schools, by the aid of local organized supervision in every place sufficiently populated, as well as of seeking to promote the greater efficiency and success of those which are established. The extent to which these objects have been attained will be apparent to everyone who contrasts the Sabbath school field of to-day with that of twenty-five years ago, and yet it would seem much remains to be done. The General Secretary somewhat startled those whose attention had not been given to the fact, by stating at the half yearly meeting in Toronto the other day, that of 600,000 of school age in Ontario, and whilst 500,000 are registered in our public schools, not more than 800,000 are returned as attached to Sabbath schools, the leakage being chiefly in unorganized and therefore comparatively neglected districts. It may be hoped that the forthcoming Convention will send the multitude of Sunday school workers who will attend, especially the "five talent" servants, back to their several localities, not only better equipped for their work, but fixed with a keener Sunday school missionary spirit. Cheap fares are available by application for form to Mr. Woodhouse, box 525, Toronto.

Not Yet.

Mr. Cavanagh's new hotel is not ready for occupation yet, and until it is, Mr. Wm. Kenealy will not be able to take possession of the Stewart House. It is probable that in the course of a couple of weeks the premises will change hands, as all the preliminaries have been satisfactorily arranged.

Important Auction Sale.

Judge Dennistoun having disposed of his residence and proposing to remove from this part of the country, the whole of the Household Furniture and Effects will be offered for sale by auction on Wednesday and Thursday, May 30th and 31st, inst. Catalogues will be issued shortly. 3d113

24th of May Excursion.

The steamer Cruiser is running again. We understand she makes an excursion to Lovesick and Deer Bay on the Queen's Birthday, leaving Lakefield at 8 a. m. A grand opportunity for our citizens to get a breath of lake air, and view the scenery of Lovesick, the prettiest point on the back lakes. The new locks at Burleigh and Lovesick will be passed through en route. 1d119

The Great Attraction.

The horse races to take place at the Driving Park, on the Queen's Birthday, are attracting much attention, not only in town, but also in the neighboring places. The programme is an excellent one, the purses are liberal and already some well known fliers have been entered. The races will no doubt prove the great attraction of the day.

A Sunday Fire.

On Sunday afternoon about five o'clock a fire started at the residence of Mr. Thomas Lush, Dublin-st. Some difficulty was found in giving an alarm, but when word got down town, the firemen lost no time in getting to work. A woodshed and stable were destroyed and the rear end of the house was injured. The residence of Mrs. Robson, next door, was also damaged somewhat. The losses are fully covered by insurance.

In chronic diseases, medicines should be restoring, and not debilitating, in their action. The wonderful strengthening and curative effects, realized from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, sustain the reputation of this remedy as the most popular blood purifier.

Brevities.

—The evening train on the Grand Junction on Saturday killed a cow near Birdsalls.

—The P.M. says that any person who permits a cow to run at large in the future will be assessed $5.

—A man fainted on Georg-st. near Dolan's corner on Saturday night. The incident drew a large crowd and created somewhat of a sensation.

—Canadian Manufacturer:—"Messrs. J. E. Ellis & Co., Toronto, are to place one of their No. 0 Howard clocks in the Peterborough, Ont., city hall at a cost of $730, giving a written guarantee that it will give good satisfaction for twenty years." Is it for Peterborough? and should "city hall" read post office?

Monte Cristo.

The Boston Daily Globe says:—The talented melo-dramatic star, Aiden Benedict, opened a week's engagement at the Windsor Theatre yesterday, in that powerful piece, "Monte Christo." The star had quite a novel idea when he placed $5,000 in bright, new bills, in the store of Stephenson the grocer, 1135 Washington street, corner of Dover, and directly opposite the main entrance to the Windsor. This sum was placed there as a guarantee that the entire production of "Monte Cristo" is as perfect a production of the piece as has ever been given in America. If the public verdict at the end of the week is against the star, piece, support and scenic sitting, the money is to be donated to some local charity hereafter to be determined. Judging from the people turned away at both performances yesterday, and the enthusiastic plaudits from those who were fortunate enough to get into the theatre, there is little doubt of the popular verdict. The play was cast, staged and given with a perfection that errried out all the promises of the star and management. Mr. Benedict as Edmond Dantes gave a masterly assumption of this great character, and carried the house by storm. He played the part with rare good judgment, rising to the powerful scenes with a most brilliant reading of the character. His support was in the main good, in fact most of its members had evidently been selected with reference to the part to be played. They evidenced careful and systematic drill, and in consequence played together like well oiled machinery. The scenery was elaborate, artistically correct, and all that could be asked. The entire production was thoroughly satisfactory from the rise to the fall of the curtain, and "Monte Cristo" will be given each afternoon and evening throughout the balance of the week. 1d119

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. SHEPPARD, THE GREAT CHEAPSIDE.

(THE TOWN CLOCK OVERHEAD.)

McCausland & Son, of Toronto, are beyond question the easy leaders in the Ornamental Stained glass trade in Canada. Their vast business extends form Novs Scotia to British Columbia, and thousands of public and private buildings bear testimony of this firm's ability to execute beautiful and durable windows of every description.

The Secret Out.

People are astounded at the amount of property sold by Jno. Carlisle. Why has he sold so much? Simply because he leaves money every time in said properties for the buyers. Many can vouch for the truth of this statement. 45 parcels sold the last few months.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 2 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"Dear old Lady! Of course, at such a painful crisis, old friends count for a great deal. I think, dear, you must come back with me to Charles street. I cannot leave you here alone."

"No, Lady Mary, I will not leave the house while poor grannie lies helpless here. I feel bound to keep by her to the last."

A message from Sir Robert brought Waring as fast as a well-paid driver could urge his horse. Mona was not in the drawing-room when he reached it, and he was somewhat discomfited when Lady Mary came and explained that Mona was too much overcome to see him—that she was in her own room.

"But she will see me presently, will she not?" he asked, appealingly. "I thought it might be a comfort to her to talk to me."

"No doubt it will be. At this moment she is terribly upset."

It was not till considerably later—after Waring and Sir Robert had arranged the details of the funeral, and all that appertained to it—that Mona was induced to see her affianced husband.

Mona was ready enough to speak of her sorrow. She was gently grateful for his sympathy, but she would not sit beside him, her head on his shoulder, and his arm round her, nor did she permit a course of consolation compounded of whispers, kisses and assurances that the whisperer would be brother and sister and grandmother and everything to her. She was so dazed and overwhelmed that Waring was gravely uneasy about her, and it was an immense relief to him to know that Mme. Debrisay (who had heard of the sad event in some occult manner) was in the house, and would spend the night with her favorite pupil.

Established custom governs all things—the deepest grief—the wildest joy. The dreary days—which lingered yet went so swiftly—sped on, and poor Mrs. Newburgh was laid in her grave. Her will, leaving all she possessed to Mona, was duly read—her few jewels and personalities packed up. The former went with Mona to Harrowby Chase.

Mona took cold on her journey, and for a fortnight was very unwell—so feverish, in fact, as to wander in her speech, and to cause her kind hosts a good deal of anxiety.

She was utterly lonely. She had no near relative. The Everards were more closely allied by friendship than by blood to Mrs. Newburgh. She had heard of many other cousins in her grandmother's life-time, but she felt they did not count.

Pondering these things, she grew affrighted at the stern aspect of the world she was going to face, for, as she collected her faculties and studied her circumstances, she grew more and more averse to fulfill her engagement with Leslie Waring. The great motive was gone, and an irresistible longing for freedom, however poverty stricken, seized her. The idea of so close a union with a mere good-natured sportsman, who in no way touched her imagination, whose offensive affection wearied her, whose personal appearance was unpleasant to her eyes, became infinitely repugnant as she dwelt upon it. It was hardly fair to him either to let him plunge into the irrevocable in ignorance of her aversion. Better let him bear a temporary pang now than incur the misery long drawn out of an ill-assorted, unsympathetic marriage.

Her resolution to break with him grew rapidly stronger almost before she was aware she had formed it. Then she began to see that she was enjoying Lady Mary's kind hospitality under false pretenses. She did not for a moment doubt that her refusal to marry Waring would bring down, if not a storm of wrath—for Lady Mary and her family were far too well-bred to be violently angry—but an iceberg of disapprobation. She must remove herself from the shelter of their roof before she struck the blow that would give poor Waring so much temporary pain. (She felt sure it would be but temporary.) And where could she go? There was no one but her faithful Mme. Debrisay on whom she could count, and even she would be very, very angry. Still her purpose grew clearer and firmer as her nervous system began to recover the shock it had sustained.

Meantime, Mona had not been idle. She wrote to her "dear Deb," begging leave to visit her, as she felt herself an impediment to the party Lady Mary wished to assemble, and also because she had more to say than she could write.

This brought a speedy, rapturous reply.

Then Mona applied herself to compose, re-write, and copy her difficult letter to Leslie Waring.

It was even a worse task than she anticipated. All her selfish longing for deliverance was for the moment swallowed up in sorrow for the pain she was about to inflict. Nothing kept her steady to her purpose so much as her conviction that she was doing right—that she was delivering Leslie as well as herself. She was more than one day over her task, for Evelyn Everard, an exceedingly girlish girl, who had taken a violent fancy to her, was constantly running into her room with her work, or book, or for the avowed intention of "enlivening" her.

It was accomplished at last, however; but Mona waited to post it till she was safe in town, even though she left two of Waring's epistles unanswered. Indeed, her replies had always been few and scanty, so much so, that even he had become restless and dissatisfied. He hoped, however, that a personal interview would put all matters right.

It was a gray blustering afternoon when she reached St. Pancras, and found Mme. Debrisay waiting for her.

"My dear, you do look bad! Come, get into the cab, and I will find your things."

"I have only this small portmanteau and bonnet-box for the present."

"That's right. I am sure you are not fit to be out in such weather; get in, dear."

"I must post this letter first," said Mona, her lips quivering.

"Very well. Give it to me. Oh, yes; quite right," glancing at the address. "You must keep him informed of your whereabouts. It's hard times for him, poor fellow, all this delay." The long drive to Westbourne Villas passed almost in silence on Mona's side. To Mme. Debrisay silence was abhorrent, and she poured out much information respecting the changes she had made in her dwelling—the additional pupils promised her next month. "I am glad I have the rest of this one comparatively free. I can give a little time to you, my dear child. And here we are, thank God! You will be the better of a cup of tea."

Mona was, indeed, thankful to have, so far, accomplished her purpose as to be under the roof of her only sympathetic friend; but her heart fainted within her at the thought of the confession she had to make. If Mme. Debrisay refused to harbor her, what was she to do? Meantime that busy woman flitted to and fro. She stirred the already glowing fire, made the kettle boil up, infused the tea, and cut brown bread and butter with immense energy.

"There now," said madame, placing a small table with a cup of tea and plate of bread and butter beside her young guest; "take that, and get warmed. Then you say yours-say, for I can see your heart is full. It's like a ghost you are—an uneasy ghost, dear, that hasn't contrived to deliver its message."

"I have no doubt of it," returned Mona, with a faint smile. "You describe what I feel myself to be exactly."

Mme. Debrisay looked at her with kind compassionating eyes, and stirred her own tea reflectively—remaining silent for an unusual length of time.

"Now," she said, when the refection was finished—"now, come, open your heart to me, dear, for I know you are in trouble."

Don't use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the Bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

A Big Crowd at a Ball Game.

GLOUCESTER, N. J., May 21.—The Athletic and Baltimore Base ball Clubs were billed to play an exhibition game here to-day, but the ground could not accommodate the crowd which gathered. After one inning had been played the surging mass of spectators pressed upon the playing field, rendering it impossible for the game to proceed. Ineffectual efforts were made to move the crowd back beyond the ropes and the game was abandoned.

WHY NOT BUILD A HOME?

I have several fine lots suitable for private residences, in excellent location and which are to-day worth more money than I am asking for them. Men with some means should look at these properties.

I have also for sale a number of lots just the thing for Working Men to build on. The location is good and the price so low that it is not wise to continue paying rent. I will advance money to anyone wishing to build on any of the above lots, at lowest current rates of interest, and easiest terms of re-payment. Workingmen should give me a call and see if I cannot offer them something to their advantage. Just imagine, a beautiful lot, frontage 61 ft. 8 in., by 150 ft. deep, for $150.00. Cheapest property in town.

TURNBULL'S.

We wish to call your attention this week to our Large Stock of Black Cashmeres. They range in price from 25 cents a yard up to $1.20. The one at 25 cents is a good black with sightly appearance which is all we say about it. But when you advance to 45 cents you have a nice rich color, particularly suited for mourning, good weight and fully 44 inches wide. At 50, 60 75, 85, 90 and $1.00, we have a new line by a French maker which is much nicer than the old make and deservedly popular, being much finer in appearance, more like a Henrietta. To be had in blue and jet black.

GERMAN CASHMERES.

These Good are made in Saxony where the makers vie with each other in producing a superior article.

We have secured a make that cannot be spoken of too highly. It is a double warp and finished like a satin. They are now open for inspection, (on 3rd counter to left from George-st. entrance.

In our Custom Made Tailoring Department we show a nice range of Pantings, Worsted Suitings, Light Overcoatings, etc. Only first-class work turned out. (2nd counter to the right.)

Early last fall when the public began gathering around their stoves and were thinking about Flannels and Blankets, we were looking ahead and gave large orders with the leading manufacturers of Chambrays, White and Colored Muslins, Lawns, etc. These Goods are now in stock, and will be found on the first counter to the right.

Our first stock of Sailor Hats has been bought up rapidly which is sufficient evidence that they are the correct thing. Our second shipment bought at a much lower price is now in. All sizes and styles to choose from. The prices will please you when you see the styles and quality.

CHAT FROM THE CAPITAL.

OTTAWA, May 22.—Lord Lansdowne and party will leave Ottawa at 4 p.m. to-morrow. Addresses will be presented to His Excellency by delegat from all societies and organizations of the city.

Damase Deault of St. Timothy, Que., was thought to be sleeping on the side of the road in Hull yesterday, but finally, on attempting to wake him, it was discovered he was dead.

Prorogation takes place this afternoon. The joint address to His Excellency is to be presented in the Senate Chamber at the same time.

Adam Brown said he noted with keen disappointment that no subsidy was given to Ontario railways, and particularly regretted it on account of the Ontario Pacific Railway, which was of the greatest importance to Hamilton and a large section. He alluded to Hamilton as leading Ontario in manufactures, and hoped the Government would revive its policy of assisting roads and not forget the South Ontario Pacific.

The houses on Gatineau Point, along the Ottawa River, are inundated, owing to the floods. Some are living in the upper story, but others have had to abandon their houses.

In reply to Mr. Laurier, Sir John Macdonald said the Government did not intend to aid in the construction of a bridge at or near Quebec. Opposition being shown to the granting of $89,000 to the Qu'Appelle Valley Railway, Sir Charles Tupper withdrew the resolution, he, more than anyone else, appearing extremely anxious to get through.

In Committee of Supply yesterday Mr. Bowell said the outside customs staff had to be increased for more business.

Mr. Mitchell protested against a share in the seizures being given to detectives, and denounced the system.

Sir Richard Cartwright drew attention to the Chinese immigration. Mr. Bowell said that during last year 116 immigrants arrived in Victoria. The number of registrations were 971 and the tickets-of-leave 78. Seven Chinese entered Canada, one at Port Arthur. Legislation had decreased this class of immigrants.

A Sunday cocking main was the absorbing topic among sports yesterday.

A horrible accident occurred here this morning by which a young man named Alfred Jette received mortal injuries. He was engaged in painting near the roof of a house on Queen-street when the ladder on which he stood fell. The young man's head struck the sidewalk with such force that his brain was forced out of his ears. He was about 20 years of age and unmarried. The doctors say he must die within a few hours.

The mortuary statistics for April show the number of deaths registered during the month as follows: Montreal 476, Toronto 193, Quebec 135, Hamilton 69, Halifax 59, Ottawa 86, St. John, N.B., 44, London 14, Winnipeg 34, Kingston 24, Charlottetown 12, Victoria (B.C.) 10, Hull 36, St. Thomas 13, Guelph 19, Belleville 13, Sherbrooke 13, Peterboro 24, Chatham 16, Windsor 12, Woodstock 8, Fredericton 4, Sorel 24, Galt 12, St. Hyacinth 14, Brantford 23.

Mr. Therien, M.P., who is seriously ill, has been taken to a Montreal hospital.

The attempt of the Dominion Government to commute the rental now paid annually to the Archbishop of Quebec for the old Parliamentary grounds in that city by the payment of a lump sum is resented by His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau, who does not want to sell the ground but to keep it as a source of revenue to the Archdiocese. The Cardinal, it is said, will not accept the lump sum which has been placed in the estimates by the Government to pay for the grounds, and regards the proposal to expropriate the ground as little short of an attempt to despoil the property of the church.

Fred Marsden's Suicide.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Frederick Marsden, who was found dead in his bedroom Saturday, was 45 years old and a very successful playright. He was said to have been in receipt of an income amounting to more than $10,000 a year. He wrote a number of plays for Lotta and one for Maggie Mitchell. He is the author of "The Irish Minstrel," now being played by W. J. Scanlan. Joe Murphy also has two of Mr. Marsden's plays. They are "The Donagh" and "Shaun Rhue." For the past six months he was engaged on a play for Annie Pixley, for which he was to have received $4500. He leaves a widow and three children. Mr. Marsden's right name was Silver, and he was born in Baltimore in 1843. He was educated for the bar, but went to play-writing as early as 1871. It is understood that he was driven to the deed by the waywardness and desertion of his only daughter, Blanche, aged 21 years. It seems that he discovered that she was in bad company, and ordered her to stay at home. She then left the house, and when he asked her to return she refused. Believing she had gone to the bad the heart of the father broke down. Every effort he made to recall her was met with rebuff, until finally she was lost sight of and her present whereabouts are unknown. Mrs. Marsden says that two prominent married men of this city who were in the habit of visiting at the Marsden residence are responsible for her daughter's conduct. Marsden left a loving, sorrowful, partly incoherent letter for his wife, in which he referred to letters, marked books and ciphers intended for his daughter which he had discovered, and to the narrow escape which he had had from committing murder as a consequence.

QUEBEC RESOLUTIONS.

THE PREMIER MOVES CONCURRENCE BY THE ASSEMBLY.

Mr. Mercier Delivers a Six Hours' Speech in Support of His Motion—Mr. Flynn's Reply—The Vote to be Taken Friday.

QUEBEC, May 22.—After routine in the Legislative Assembly yesterday Premier Mercier moved concurrence in the resolutions of the Interprovincial Conference. The Premier spoke for six hours from carefully prepared notes. The conference, he said, was not held for the purpose of hurting the basis of Confederation, as the delegates desired to consummate the act which united the provinces, but the sole object was to assert provincial autonomy. If the Federal Government had been represented at the conference the resolutions as regards disallowance might have been clothed in another form, as the Dominion delegates would probably have made suggestions which would have proven acceptable.

There was yet one way in which the Federal Government could meet them: That was to send delegates to England when the Provincial Premiers went, as the Imperial Government would not take action without hearing both sides.

He desired to vest the veto power in the Imperial Government, to save the provinces from arbitrary decisions of the Federal Government and from the caprice of party politics.

He demanded the readjustment of the subsidies to suit the growing needs of the provinces. He had urged the conference to place the figure at $1 per head, but had been overruled, and the figure had been fixed at 80 cents for the first 2,000,000, and 60 cents thereafter.

The Premier went into the resolutions seriatim, and concluded an eloquent, cautious effort by announcing that the boundary dispute between Ontario and Quebec would be settled by a conference of delegates from the two provinces and from the Dominion Government.

Hon. E. J. Flynn, in the absence of Hon. Mr. Taillon, leader of the Opposition, opposed adoption of the resolutions in a speech of 2½ hours, declaring that the conference sought to sweep away the basis of responsible government, for which Canadians had made so many sacrifices, and showed how their action was opposed to the policy of Mr. Blake, who resolutely declared against giving Downing-street any more power in Canadian affairs.

The debate was adjourned after a decision had been reached that the vote would be taken on Friday.

FROM TORONTO.

A Notice of Motion to Abolish the Coal Section of the Board of Trade.

TORONTO, May 22.—At the first general meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade a notice of motion will be offered to abolish the Coal Section of the board, because it is claimed that the evidence given under oath before the Combines Committee of the House of Commons has amply proved that the section has broken faith with the Board of Trade.

The City of Chatham, said to be the largest steamboat ever built in Toronto, was yesterday afternoon successfully launched from the Polson Shipbuilding Yard.

Two policemen were beaten senseless last night by a crowd of roughs in St. John's Ward. The assailants were arrested.

Fatal Accident at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, May 22.—Yesterday as Thos. C. Watkins was taking his usual horseback ride his horse slipped on some pebbles, throwing Mr. Watkins off. In trying to recover himself the animal turned over, crushing Mr. Watkins' right foot.

Fire caused by live coals in the ash box did $150 damage to a building occupied by Mrs. Ross near the corner of Cannon and James streets.

Thomas Daly, the 8-year-old son of Train Despatcher Hugh Daly, was clinging to the box of a teamster's wagon on Saturday when the horses ran away and a sudden jolt of the wagon threw the boy off, and he fell on his head breaking his neck.

A Disgraceful Affair.

HALIFAX, N.S., May 23.—A Digby despatch gives particulars of a fracas there between Lawyer Copp and T. H. Adams, churchwarden of Rev. John Ambrose's Church. Copp persisted in squirting tobacco juice over the floor while Bishop Courtney was holding a confirmation service. Adams twice requested Copp to cease the disgusting habit. After church was out Copp met Adams and struck him in the face, but was promptly stretched upon the sidewalk. He jumped up, and, with a heavy walking stick he carried, hit Adams a violent blow on the head and then ran away.

Mr. Blaine Says He Means It.

NEW YORK, May 22.—A Paris cable says Mr. Blaine in an interview said without equivocation that his Florence letter and his later interview, which Mr. Crawford secured for The New York World, represented his present attitude with complete truth. He did not want to be a candidate for the Presidency, and he had reasons for not wanting to be a candidate which were personal to himself, and which could so readily be imagined he was under no obligation to make known.

Emperor Frederick's Condition.

BERLIN, May 22.—The Emperor passed a satisfactory night. He appeared twice at the window of the castle yesterday morning dressed in uniform.

The Emperor passed a good day and his pulse was better than it has been at any time since the operation was performed on his throat. In the afternoon he drove in an open carriage toward the Schloss Bellevue in the Thiergarten, returning in a closed carriage. He met with enthusiastic greetings along the route.

Montreal Workmen's Protest.

MONTREAL, May 22.—At a meeting of the officers of the trades and labor organizations in the city resolutions were adopted condemning the proposed amendments to the city charter whereby real estate owners shall vote for both aldermen and councillors of the city while owners will only have a vote for councillors, and pointing out that real estate owners only pay $940,000 of the total revenue of the city, which amounts to $1,948,000.

Loss of the Schooner William Elgin.

PICTON, May 22.—The schooner William Elgin, from Oswego for Belleville with 300 tons of coal consigned to the Rathbun Company, sprung aleak and sank about 16 miles off the former port on Saturday afternoon. The crew were picked up by the Ocean Wave and landed at Indian Point Sunday. The William Elgin was built at Deseronto in 1874, and was owned by Capt. James Savage. She was valued at $3000, and was not insured.

Death of a Hamiltonian.

HAMILTON, May 22.—Thomas Mackay, a prominent citizen, died at his residence in this city yesterday. He was 44 years of age, and leaves a widow but no children.

Hon. J. G. Foy is applying to the Quebec Legislature for a bill to authorize him and his descendants to add "de Lotbiniere" to their present name.

There is a rumor current in Montreal that Judge Dugas is to be named Advocate-General of Quebec Province with a higher salary than he has at present.

IN THE EAST

Is Where the Real Danger of War in Europe is Said to Lie.

NEW YORK, May 22.—In an interview, Minister McLane, just from Paris, said: "There is no likelihood of such a thing as civil war in France. The French people do not want it. There is every prospect of the people's happiness and prosperity in the future, the maintenance of peace being the almost universal desire of the mass of the French people."

"You have no apprehension of the Boulanger excitement causing bloodshed, then?" was asked.

"Certainly not. General Boulanger is a very clever politician, that's all. He is not a revolutionist, not by any means. I never expect to see him assume control of the French Government by force of arms."

"Or in any other way?"

"Oh, I cannot speak on that point. It comes within the limit of political affairs that would not be proper for me to touch on. General Boulanger unquestionably is a popular politician."

"Do you mean to be understood that any kind of European war is improbable?"

"Not at all. I was speaking of France only."

"How about the German question?"

"There is nothing new in that—I mean of any importance. Both nations have been glaring at each other for some time, but glaring does very little harm. I am sure the French people do not want any useless bloodshed on that point any more than on the other. The real danger of war lies in the East.

"You refer to the Russian question?"

"Yes. They are trying very hard to have a war, but—well it's very doubtful whether they will succeed or not."

QUAKERS FAVOR HOME RULE.

Mr. Gladstone Replies to an Address Presented by 1200 Friends.

LONDON, May 22.—In reply to an address by 1200 Quakers in favor of Home Rule Mr. Gladstone said it would have been difficult to persuade him that any large number of Friends could be so little in harmony with the noble social traditions of their body as to approve of a coercive policy towards Ireland. He received the address with pleasure as a definite evidence of the Friends' sentiments.

A Mitchellstown Echo.

DUBLIN, May 22.—Thomas Joseph Condon, M.P., has been convicted and sentenced to a month's imprisonment without hard labor for inciting taxpayers to resist the payment of the tax imposed by the Grand Jury of Cork and Clare to compensate Constable Leahey, who was injured in the Mitchellstown riots, and the family of Constable Whelehan.

A Serious Conspiracy.

LONDON, May 22.—It seems that a few weeks ago Europe just missed having a sensation provided for it compared with which the kidnapping of Alexander of Bulgaria was commonplace. Everything was ready in Belgrade for an uprising by army officers, who were to arrest King Milan, the Metropolitan Theodosias, ex-Premier Grashanine and other leaders of the Austrian party, to imprison or exile them, and to proclaim Prince Karageorgevics king instead. This pleasantry was arranged for the Greek Palm Sunday, April 29. From the papers seized by the Belgrade police it is evident that the conspiracy was widespread. Not only were the residences of the ringleaders in Belgrade provisioned as for a siege, with the women and children sent out of town and large stores of weapons and munitions gathered, but elaborate preparations for a revolt were discovered to have been made inside the garrisons in the provincial towns on the Hungarian, Bosnian and Bulgarian frontiers. It was intended that the movement should extend both into Bosnia and Bulgarnia.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE COMMONERS HOLD THREE SESSIONS YESTERDAY.

The Business of the Session Practically Ended—The Estimates Passed—Prorogation to Take Place To-day.

OTTAWA, May 22.—Shortly after the House commenced its sitting yesterday morning, Mr. Dawson, the deliberate representative of Algoma, arose to controvert the series of statements contained in a notice of motion respecting the northern boundary of Ontario given by Hon. David Mills some time ago. Sir Charles Tupper rose with the request that, as a personal favor, Mr. Dawson would desist, because, he said, "although you may only take five minutes, an hour at least will in all probability be consumed in answering you, and you will become responsible for preventing prorogation taking place to-morrow." Mr. Dawson subsided.

Hon. Mr. Thompson, unconsciously, perhaps, gave a very interesting piece of information to the House if he meant what he said in explaining an amendment made by the Senate to the Summary Convictions Act. "I think this will only answer temporarily." Mr. Thompson explained, "I propose to submit a further measure next session." According to this he is not to go on the Supreme Court bench just at present but intends to retain the office of Minister of Justice.

At the morning session the remaining items of the main estimates were passed with the exception of a few reserved for explanation, and considerable progress was also made with the supplementary estimates for 1887-'88.

The afternoon session was uneventful.

The House continued all evening in committee of supply on the supplementary estimates, and at adjournment there were many items of those for 1888-89 not yet passed.

In connection with the appropriation for steamship subsidies Sir Charles Tupper expressed the hope that before next session the Government would be able to make provision for a very valuable West India trade.

The House adjourned at 1.25 until 10 o'clock. Before adjourning Sir John expressed the hope that prorogation will take place at 3 p.m.

A Brace of Accidents.

LISTOWEL, May 22.—John Gay of Elma, aged 60, was thrown under an upsetting rig against a telephone pole yesterday, receiving a serious wound on the right side of his head, his cheek being literally torn from the mouth to the ear.

Mrs. James Ferris fell while cleaning the dining-room ceiling, and her head struck the stove, smashing her teeth and cutting the nose and chin to the bone. Her shoulder and two ribs are also fractured.

Anti-Chinese Legislation.

LONDON, May 22.—A despatch from Wellington, N.Z., says a bill directed against Chinese immigration has passed the House of Representatives of that colony.

A despatch from Sydney, N.S.W., says 40 Chinese immigrants possessing exemption passes have been permitted to land there. The Government will compensate those sent back to China. The admiral in command of the Australian station has declined to comply with the request of the captains of the immigrant vessels that an armed guard be sent to their vessels to prevent a mutiny among the Chinamen forbidden to land.

Wafted From Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, May 22.—It is probable that Beverly Robertson will receive the Conservative nomination for South Winnipeg, Ald. Hutchins for Centre, and efforts are being made to induce Mr. Drewry to oppose Treasurer Jones in North.

Tenders for track laying on the Red River Valley road were not opened to-day, owing to the absence of the Railway Commission.

Boys playing with matches started a fire which burned two stables.

Poisoned by Mistake.

ORILLIA, May 22.—Last night after returning from the Presbyterian church Mrs. William Blain asked her maid to prepare some gruel. By mistake the maid used meal which contained "rough on rats." Mrs. Blain died within an hour after partaking of the gruel. She leaves a husband and three children.

A Fishing Fleet Wrecked in a Gale.

LONDON, May 22.—The Danish steamer Laura has landed at Leith fifty-three fishermen belonging to Dunkirk boats, which were wrecked off the coast of Ireland. These boats belonged to the French fishing fleet which was caught in a recent gale. Fifty boats have not been heard from.

He Got Off Easy.

GUELPH, May 22.—Tom Kenny was before the County Judge yesterday, sent up for trial by the Police Magistrate on a charge of brutally assaulting his aged mother. He was sent to the Central Prison for six months.

Death of an Eccentric Millionaire.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., May 22.—James Eddy, an eccentric bachelor millionaire who accumulated an immense fortune by speculation in gold during the rebellion, died in this city yesterday in his 82d year. He was for years the leading light in the Free Religious Society Church. His peculiar religious views finally caused a rupture, as no one could be found to agree with him. He then built a costly and spacious brick church close to his own residence for his own individual use. Clergymen were invited to come there and discourse before him, and at different periods some accepted. He at one time extended an invitation to anyone assenting to his peculiar belief to attend services there. Usually, however, he was found to be the only worshipper, and this with a clergyman in the pulpit conducting a regular service.

The Daily Review.

TUESDAY, MAY 22, 1888.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

The anniversary of Her Majesty Queen Victoria's birthday, will be celebrated in Peterborough in right royal style and the citizens are offered an extensive and varied bill of fare.

DOWN THE RIVER.

The formal opening for the season, of Jubilee Park, at the mouth of the river, will give our citizens an opportunity of getting some fresh air. The rejuvenated steamer Golden Eye will run two trips, morning and afternoon, and at the park a regatta for single and double canoes and shells, for $50 cups, will take place.

LACROSSE.

A strong team from the Riverside Lacrosse Club will go to Barrie to play a championship match with the players of that town.

BASEBALL.

At 9.30 a. m. the baseball game between Toronto and Peterborough will commence on the P. A. A. A. grounds.

THE MILITARY.

At noon the battalion and band will perform a series of evolutions on the P. A. A. A. grounds, concluding with the firing of a feu-de-joie.

THE SPORTS.

At 1.30 p. m., sharp, the athletic sports and games will take place, also on the P. A. A. A. grounds. The programme is a long one, embracing as it does no less than twenty-one events, of all kinds from races, jumping and tilting at the ring to catching a greased pig.

HORSE RACES.

Horse races will take place on the Driving Park, commencing at 1.30 p. m. The events are three in number (1.) Free for all, pacers and trotters for a purse of $100. (2) Named race, open to fifteen horses owned in this locality, for a purse of $60, (3.) Novelty race, in saddle, one mile and a half. Horses to walk first half mile, trot second half mile and run third half mile. The judges will be Messrs. M. B. Williams, Cobourg, Jackson Reid, Bobcageon and Gus. Sawers, Peterborough.

THE SALVATIONISTS.

In the afternoon the corner stone of the new Salvation Army barracks will be laid with imposing ceremonies by Mr. John Sawers. Afterwards a grand parade and special services will pe held.

IN THE EVENING.

The band of the 57th Battalion will give a grand promenade concert, at the Lansdowne rink, in the evening, when they will play for the first time in public numerous new selections.

THE RAILWAYS.

The different railways offer reduced rates to all who desire to visit friends in other places and doubtless many will take advantage of it to visit the neighboring towns and cities.

In chronic diseases, medicines should be restoring, and not debilitating, in their action. The wonderful strengthening and curative effects, realized from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, sustain the reputation of this remedy as the most popular blood purifier.

DISTRICT MEETING.

The Methodist Ministers of Peterborough District in Conference.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough District of the Methodist Church commenced this afternoon in the lecture room of the George-st. Methodist Church. The Rev. I. Tovell, Chairman of the District, presided. In addition to the clergymen of town, the Rev. Messrs. I.Tovell, J.C.Wilson (Financial Secretary), and S.J. Thompson, the following clergymen were present, the names of those in whose homes they are billeted being also given:—

Rev. J. McFarlane, Lakefield—Mr. R. Parnell.

Rev. W. H. Buckler, Lakefield—Mr. J. J. McBain.

Rev. A. L. Adam, Hall's Bridge—Mr. Jas. Keadry.

Rev. J.Tozeland, Warsaw—Mrs. E Brown.

Rev. R. T. Courtice, Bethany—Mr.J.Hart.

Correspondence of the Review.

THE CROPS.—Seeding is mostly over. Of course, some one has to be last. Fall grain appears to be about the average. Spring crops are slowly coming forward; growth has been so very backward.

BUILDING.—The mason work of one new building is completed, and is a credit to any place, the style in which it is done.

LECTURE.—The Rev. Mr. Johnson gave a lecture on Tuesday evening of last week in the Methodist Church, "A trip through Ireland and five days in London." Though a busy time, we learn that a large number were present. No doubt those who stayed away missed a treat.

ALL OLD VALUES BLOWN OUT OF SIGHT!

PRICES OF SIX WEEKS AGO SPLIT TO SPLINTERS.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 7th June, 1888, for the delivery of Indian Supplies during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1889, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c., duty paid, at various points in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

Forms of tender containing full particulars relative to the Supplies required, dates of delivery, &c., may be had by applying to the undersigned, or the Indian Commissioner at Regina, or to the Indian Office, Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods (or for any portion of each description of goods) separately or for all the goods called for in the Shedules, and the department reserves to itself the right to reject the whole or any part of a tender.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque in favor of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs on a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tender which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract based on such tender when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

Each tender must, in addition to the signature of the tenderer, be signed by two sureties acceptable to the Department for the proper performance of the contract.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

This advertisement is not to be inserted by any newspaper without the authority of the Queen's Printer, and no claim for payment by any newspaper not having had such authority will be admitted.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead; town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

What Can I Afford?

This is the question every one must ask and reply for themselves. If you leave it to the golden lion we reply that at our low prices and good values, you can afford anything we have in stock, for so little money can things be bought from us. Come to fair's for your steady everyday bargains.

At the Drill Shed.

There was a good attendance of members of the 57th Battalion at drill last night. The various companies are showing the beneficial effects of steady drill and they promise to present a fine appearance on parade, on the 24th.

Wanted.

A Pig, Hen, Frog, Cat, Dog, Goose, Duck Turkey and a Rabbit, to be delivered not later than 6 p. m., Wednesday, to the Secretary of Sports Committee. Tenders are also asked for the refreshment booth on the grounds for the Queen's Birthday, to be sent in notlater than 6 p. m., Wednesday, to the Secretary. d120tf

A Row.

On Monday night two men walked into Condon's Temperance House, Simcoe-st., and started a row. They made chairs and other articles of furniture fly in a pretty lively manner, but the arrival of Officer Stewart had a soothing effect and hostilities ceased.

Teachers' Association.

The annual convention of the Teachers' Association of the county and town of Peterborough will be held on Friday and Saturday next. On Friday evening a public meeting will be held, when a lecture will be delivered by Mr. Wm. Huston, M. A., Librarian of the Ontario Legislature, on "Industrial Education."

Flash It.

Yesterday the weather was fine and those who were on the streets last night got the full benefit of the stinking smell from the George-st sewer. As it is at present it is a public nuisance and the Street Inspector or some person else in authority should see that it is flushed at once. It should be cleaned out at least once a fortnight during the summer.

For the next few days W. J. Morrow is making a run on groceries, giving 18lbs good sugar for $1.00, tomatoes "fresh," 10c. per tin, baking powder 15c per lb., and all goods cheap. Opera House block. Free delivery of goods. Telephone.

Early Closing.

The early closing law went into force last night and the only people who do not close up are the grocers and confectioners. The change is much appreciated, especially by the clerk, and it is not at all likely to cause any inconvenience to the public at large.

You may come to us with a sour face, but you will laugh before you leave at the excellent Tea you can get at the Pantry for 20 cents a pound. d119-tf

Dog Tags.

The dog tags for 1888 are ready for distribution and the Town Clerk will be pleased to hand them out to all comers on payment of the customary fees. The tags are of brass and of no particular shape, being made out of tags left over from a former year.

A Friend In Need.

The Gananoque Reporter says:—"The Claire Scott Company left for Clayton, to which place they were assisted by a kind-hearted hotel keeper from Kingston, Mr. McLaughlin, whose object in coming here was to try and collect what he had advanced them in Kingston."

A New Boom.

Superintendent Rogers, of the Trent Valley Navigation Works, has a number of men at work building a new boom and pier near the lock. The old boom is being extended about two hundred and fifty feet, from the old piers to the new Grand Trunk Railway bridge. This work is found necessary on account of the dangerous cross current at that point.

Personal.

Mayor Stevenson, M.P., is home to spend the Queen's birthday.

Mr. Hicks, of Brighton, the well known horseman is here. It is said by the knowing ones that he has been endeavoring to purchase "Sleepy Dan" and that he has made a pretty nice offer for him.

Mr. J. M. Ridler, of the Ridler Company, Toronto, was in town yesterday. He finds Peterborough the most go ahead town in Canada.

Mr. R. Orr, of Chicago, formerly stationed at the Bank of Commerce here, is visiting friends in this vicinity.

Mr. Wm. Green, a member of the Fire Department has fully recoved and is about as usual.

We are pleased to notice that Mr. F. W. Gladman, son of Mr. Thomas Gladman, has passed his matriculation examination for entrance to the Law Society. He was trained at the Collegiate Institute here.

Mr. B. A. Ludgate is among the surveyors appointed by the Provincial Government for this year's work. The new townships to be surveyed are now under consideration.

Mr. Wm. Matthews reached home last night, after a six week's trip to the old country, during which time he visited Birmingham and other large centres. He is enjoying the best of health.

"The Royal" Flavoring Extracts are not only true to their names, but are prepare of fruits of the best quality.

Sundry Complimentary Remarks.

The Sunday Morning Herald, of Saginaw, says:—"The Aiden Benedict 'Monte Cristo' company had a $500 house at Bay City last night. Mr. Benedict will put up a forefit of $1,000 on, when he reaches Peterborough, that he will guarantee as good an entertainment as ever given here." The Grand Rapids, Mich., Democrat, remarks:—"Aiden Benedict and company closed their engagement at Powers' Grand last evening; the performance ran smoothly, and was enthusiastically received by the house. The stage settings were beautiful, and Mr. Benedict acquitted himself creditably." The Columbus Transcript says:—"The largest house of the season greeted Aiden Benedict's Monte Cristo Company last night, and Alexander Dumas' masterpiece was rendered in a manner to satisfy the most critical. Mr. Aiden Benedict, as Edmond Dantes, looked the ideal of the part, and played it only as a finished actor could. Miss Sarah Farley, as Mercedes, was excellent, showing herself to be possessed of an emotional power of a high order. The marvelous setting of the second act provoked rounds and rounds of applause." 1d120

Civic Committee.

A special meeting of the Street and Bridge Committee for the transaction of important business is called for Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock sharp, and every member is requested to be on hand, by acting chairman Langford.

The Ball Game.

The baseball match on the 24th of May will commence at 9.30 a.m. sharp, and the Toronto team, who are to play, will reach town at 11.30 p.m to-morrow night. This promises to be one of the great events of the day and fine play may be looked for all around as the visitors are one of the best teams to be found in the country.

After Delinquents.

Unless those who should do so, pay up the necessary five dollars per year, for eating houses, and that too without any further delay, the chances are that there will be some trouble and police court cases. The great majority have paid, but some utterly refuse to do so. The chief says he is bound to proceed against all delinquents.

Here's a Go!

Something new. What is it? Why, the Canton members have made another move in their popular excursion. A good move? Of course, they would do nothing else. Their excursion has been amalgamated with the St. Luke's C.E.T.S. excursion. It will be a grand affair, two excursions in one, tickets good for two days, first class coaches, fast time, over the C. P. R. at 7 o'clock. All get ready. At 7 o'clock, or may go at 5 10 a. m., June 12th. Tickets $2, children $1.

On a Serious Charge.

A young man named James Shannon, a printer, who recently arrived in town, was arrested this morning on a serious charge, by the chief constable. It is alleged that on Monday evening he endeavored to commit an indecent assault upon a fifteen year old girl, in the vicinity of the Court House. Her screams brought atsistance and the young man decamped. The girls uncle lost no time in securing a warrant and causing the arrest. The case will come before the Police Magistrate at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Called Out for Drill.

The Kingston Whig says that the military camps for districts Nos. 3 and 4 will be the largest held for many years in Eastern Ontario. On Saturday orders were issued calling out the following corps for 12 days' drill commencing 19th June:—

	Officers	Men
Fourth regiment of cavalry	19	128
Prescott troop cavalry	3	32
Kingston field battery	6	74
Durham field battery	6	74
Ottawa field battery	6	74
Gananoque field battery	6	74
16 battalion, infantry, (Prince, Edward)	26	267
42nd battalion, (Perth)	26	262
47th battalion, (Frontenac)	36	420
49th battalion, (Hastings)	26	252
59th battalion, (Stormont)	29	284
Total	189	1,906

Col. Straubenzie, D.A.G., spent Saturday inspecting the grounds suitable for camping, and will report as between Gananoque and the grounds surrounding Kingston. It will thus be seen that our cavalry, troop who belong to the third regiment, will not be called out this year.

Mission Band Concert.

The concert given under the auspices of the young ladies' Mission Band in the lecture room of the George-st. Methodist Church on Monday evening was largely attended. The Rev. S. J. Thompson presided. The following programme was carried out:—

Vocal music..."The Harvest Moon"..Y.M.C.A. [Quartette
Reading...."The Deacon's Masterpiece"..Mr. [A. E. Scott
Song....."White Wings"....Mrs. Hamilton
Recitation....."Lady Clare"..Miss Sanders
Song....."The Storm Fiend"....Mr. Mulligan
Debate....."Is Novel Reading Beneficial?"
Vocal music....."Sail John"....Y.M.C.A. [Quartette
Instrumental duet....Misses Smart and Jones
Song....."O, How Delightful"..Miss Butcher

Each number of the programme was well given and applause was liberally awarded the singers and musicians and the recitation and reading. The Y.M.C.A. Quartette were encored on their second appearance and responded with the "Tame Crane," and Mr. Mulligan was also encored. The debate was decided by three judges, Messrs. S. H. Griffin, G. S. Bean and J. S. I. Wilson, who sat in the audience and gave in their decisions separately by ballot. The affirmative of the question was argued by Messrs. A. Clegg and A. Tebb, representing the Otonabee Canoe Club, and the negative by Messrs. F. H. Dobbin and S. R. Armstrong, from the church. This was Mr. Tebb's first appearance in a public debate, and his easy and pleasant style of speaking created a favorable impression. The judges decided in favor of the negative. On motion of Mr. Bean, seconded by Mr. Wright, a vote of thanks was tendered those who took part. The very successful entertainment was concluded by singing the National Anthem.

The Canton.

The Canton will drill on Wednesday night, and on Thursday morning at nine o'clock, headed by the band, the members will parade from the Lansdowne Rink to the Horticultural Park.

The Secret Out.

People are astounded at the amount of property sold by Jno. Carlisle. Why has he sold so much? Simply because he leaves money every time in said properties for the buyers. Many can vouch for the truth of this statement. 45 parcels sold the last few months.

All Is Ready.

The track at the Driving Park presents a busy appearance. About a dozen of the horses entered for the three events on the Queen's birthday are being trained on the park and some pretty lively travelling is being done. Several of the animals are evenly matched and some fine sport is on the cards. A large number of visitors are coming from all the neighboring towns and an enormous crowd is looked for. The races will commence at 1 30 p. m.

Quashed.

At Toronto on Monday, the following case of local interest was disposed of at Osgoode Hall;—

Queen v. Ambrose.—Motion on behalf of defendant on the return of a writ of certiorari for a rule absolute to quash a conviction under the Canada Temperance Act. Riddell, (Cobourg), for the motion. Watson for the informant and the magistrate. Delamere for the Attorney-General. Conviction quashed on the ground that the magistrate had no power to divide the penalty equally between the defendants and at the same time impose a penalty of imprisonment on each in default of payment of the whole penalty."

—The walks in the Horticultural Park are being well rolled.

—There were no cases before the Police Magistrate this morning.

—Good progress is being made with the Chemong Lake railway, at the north end of the town.

—The sidewalk around the market house is being patched up in places where it was badly needed.

—It is hinted that there is considerable illegal fishing being done in this county just at present.

—The bicyclists were out on the streets in full force last night and apparently they enjoyed themselves.

—A regular meeting of the members of the Typographical Union was held at the K. of L. Hall, Water-st., last evening.

—The Kingston and Belleville papers are full of baseball and each place will probably have very fair professional teams.

—The band are practising up a splendid programme of new music for their concert on the night of the Queen's birthday.

—The Horticultural Park will probably be opened to the public on Thursday. Everything is about ready and the place looks splendid.

—The Scott Act case against the O'Brien's, of Indian River, has not yet been settled, although it has been adjourned no less than eight times.

—The matting at the fire station for the horses to tramp on is already commencing to show the effects of the corks in the shoes. The impression is that basswood would have been far better, —The Queen's Own regiment, of Toronto, will pass through town to-morrow night, on their way to Ottawa, on the C. P. R. They will leave Toronto about ten o'clock and expect to take down about six hundred men.

—The Lindsay Town Council has made an additional grant of $7,000 to the Board of Education of that town, to be used in covering the expense of building the new Collegiate Institute. This makes in all $28,000, to be devoted to the object in view. There was only one dissenting voice among the Council when the proposed grant came up for discussion.

—With regard to the fire on Dublin-st. on Sunday afternoon, Mr. T. Lush desires it known that the fire did not originate on his premises, as reported, but in the driving shed or stable adjoining, the property of Mrs. Robinson, who owns the next house although not occupied by her. The stable was built directly on the line dividing the properties, and consequently in a position to communicate the fire to the rear of Mr. Lush's premises, as resulted. The stable was in use, but fortunately the horses had been taken out some time before the fire occurred.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

AGAIN, CLOTHING!

Fathers and Sons are alike interested in the subject of New Clothes, and the approach of summer hastens preparations for bodily comfort.

Our stock of Cloths affords scope for gratifying any fancy, as to fabrics, color or price. We have some especially neat things in Scotch and Canadian Tweeds.

Our suit stock defies description. Such variety in pattern and cut as we offer includes every one's want—man or boy. Prices high enough to ensure trusty clothes, low enough to meet all requirements.

Where else do you find better proposals?

"In discussing this question of presents for the wedding on Thursday" said Mrs. Ketcholder to her mother-in-law, "there is really no use going to Toronto as you propose. There is the expense, which is something, and besides as time is limited you make a hurried selection. Why not adopt John's view and go to CHINA HALL, here in town. Why, bless you, from the look I've had at the goods you can get perfectly splendid things for presents, and so cheap too. Mr. Wilson displays great taste and I'm certain the things you might buy would be not only suitable but look particularly handsome."

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 2 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"I am, indeed," returned Mona, in a voice that faltered and shook in a way far more touching than the most violent burst of tears. "I have determined to break off my engagement!"

"And you within a day of being his wife, if your dear sainted grandmother hadn't been swept away in a minute! No, I won't listen to you. It's mad, and bad, and not like yourself at all! Who'd have thought you'd be so cruel and false? I must say it, dear! Indeed, I knew there was misfortune coming, since I had your note. Ah! my poor Waring! you deserved better at her hands!"

"I knew you would be angry," said Mona sadly, "but I cannot help it. I cannot marry him, or any one. Life is too hard!"

"Ah! then do you think you'll make it softer by keeping single? I know better. Life is cruel to a single woman that's poor, and pretty, and delicately reared, as you are. How do you mean to live? What can you do to earn a crust?"

"Not much, certainly; but I have the will, and I am persevering; and don't speak so cruelly, Deb, for I feel heart-broken."

"God forgive me!" said madame, solemnly. "He knows I would share my last loaf with you, and will, too; but I am angry with you, my darling. You are flying in the face of Providence, and driving an excellent young man to an early grave."

"I do not think that, Deb. Nay, I suppose in a month or two he will be in love with someone else. I do not think he is the sort of man who will destroy himself for an ideal!"

"Tell me the truth, Mona, my dear child. Are you in love with another—some poor creature you can't marry?"

"No; in truth I am not. There is not a man on the face of the earth at this moment I would willingly marry."

"I believe you, for I never knew you speak falsely yet; but there is something under it all I can't make out. Now, listen to me. If you ever cared for your dear, good, generous grandmother, don't be in a hurry; just say your prayers and think. Believe me, it's awfully hard to pick up a living, especially when you haven't anyone to take you by the hand. Take a day or two to think what you're doing."

"I have done it, Deb," stretching out her hand, and laying it on her friend's plump arm. "You posted the letter to him yourself, just now."

"Ah! that was base of you—base, to take my hand to deal the blow. I'll never forgive you, never!"

"Yes, you will—you must," rising and kneeling beside her, while she clasped her arms round her waist. "I have no one in the world to turn to but you, Deb, and I cannot marry this man—I cannot, indeed!"

"Don't be too sure of that. Now tell me, have you told Lady Mary?"

"Not yet. I thought I would wait till I had his answer."

"That's right. He'll come and speak his answer himself, or I am much mistaken, and—well, we'll wait and see what it will be."

"He will not hold me to my word?"

"I am not so sure. Any way, I'll talk no more to you about him this day. You are just tired and done for. We'll leave the matter to Heaven; and you must rest. Do you remember what you said in your unlucky letter?"

"Yes. I told him I was driven by my grandmother's position to accept him; that I was heartily ashamed of having misled him; that I felt it was only just to tell him that I did not, and could not, love him as a wife ought to love; that I deeply deplored the pain I gave him, and humbly begged his forgiveness; that I thanked him for his goodness, and prayed that he would forget me, and soon be happy with some one more worthy than myself."

"Ah! I know—the usual sort of thing. It would serve you right if he never replied. Ah! Mona, Mona! this is the biggest mistake ever you made. Still, I'll not turn my back on you, my poor child, and may be—may be your luck won't leave you yet."

CHAPTER VI.—THE TUG OF WAR.

The change from the luxurious elegance of the Chase to Mme. Debrisay's London lodgings, was about as great as can be imagined.

Yet the house was not mean. The "widow woman" who owned it had a certain refinement. Instead of the usual extremely unlaced and unkempt "slavey," she had an elderly servant of neat and imposing aspect, who had been with her for years, and who was rather a terror to Mme. Debrisay.

The lodger who occupied the upper floor was a steady elderly city clerk, of remarkable punctuality and precision. Still the tone of the homely dwelling was new to Mona, who had been accustomed to the aristocratic, if narrow, nicety of her grandmother's house, or the distinction of her relatives' establishments.

Fatigue made her sleep so profoundly that it took some moments of waking consciousness before she recognized where she was. The sound of someone moving reminded her that she was sharing Mme. Debrisay's room, and presently that lady came out fully dressed from behind a large Japanese screen, which converted one corner into a dressing-closet.

"And how did you sleep, dear?"

"Oh, well; too well!" exclaimed Mona.

"Well, stay where you are. I'll bring you a cup of coffee and a bit of toast, for I have a long, busy day before me."

She hurried away, and soon returned with a fragrant cup of cafe au lait and a slice of buttered toast.

"I'm off now, make yourself comfortable ... there are some books in the next room; with splendid stories in them, they make your hair stand on end, and forget the time. Good-bye, dear."

Mona dressed slowly, and went into the sitting-room. It was a stormy, wet day. The fire had been hastily loaded with coal, and had succumbed to the load. The handbell evoked a tall, hard-featured woman, with thick, grizzled hair, a spotless cap, and a dark print dress.

"The fire's gone out" she repeated, in a high-pitched tone. "I dare say madame thinks coals 'll light of theirselves; she just pitches them on, whether there is a spark alive or not. I'll fetch a few sticks miss."

The fire burning, the hearth swept, and a few tidying touches bestowed on the room, made a vast improvement.

Mona threw herself into an arm-chair, and tried to think what was best to do. The previous evening she had posted a few lines to the Chase, announcing her safe arrival; she might therefore postpone her next letter for twenty-four hours.

She could hardly expect an answer from Waring till the next day. He was staying—not very far away—with the gentleman who had been his guardian, and for whom he had a great regard.

She strove to swallow a morsel or two of the dinner set before her; she tried to gather the sense of an agonizing tale and interest herself in the tremendous persecutions of the heroine. All in vain. Time, however, was rolling on; she might soon expect Mme. Debrisay. Four o'clock struck when she had gone into the bed-room to seek for some piece of fancy work, when the sound of the front door-bell, followed by a step in the next room, made her hope that her kind hostess had returned. Going quickly in to greet her, she beheld Jane, the servant, in the act of lighting the gas, while by the window, looking paler—sterner than she thought he could, stood, Leslie Waring!

BOSTON EGG MARKET.

Receipts for the week, 31 boxes, 473 bbls., 13,511 cases; last week, 76 boxes, 929 bbls., 11,339 cases.

There was a slow trade early in the week, but prices have been held fairly steady, and at the close there is a firmer feeling on choice stock. The first direct steamer from Prince Edward Island has arrived with 4000 cases which are offering at 14c, but the quality is rather ordinary and they are meeting with a slow sale. Choice western are quite firm at 14½c. Extra eastern in light supply and generally held at 15c.—Journal of Commerce report.

CHEESE MARKET.

ALTMER, May 21.—Eleven factories offered 1040 boxes first half May and 6 to 15 May; no sales were reported; 880 was offered and refused; five buyers present.

Little's Aim Was Poor.

CHICAGO, May 22.—As P. J. Rolander, a real estate agent, was passing a saloon at Fulton and Ann streets about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, Lillie Richmond, disguised in men's clothes and wearing a heavy mustache, leveled a revolver and fired a shot which grazed but did not injure him. Rolander formerly lived with the woman for a time. Both are married.

John Silver & Co., dry goods merchants, of Halifax, N.S., have suspended. The liabilities are between $60,000 and $65,000, with assets nominally of the same amount.

The appeal of M. J. Powell, who was convicted of complicity [illegible] bounds in the War Department, has been dismissed, but it is not expected that Prince Ferdinand will confirm the sentence.

It is estimated that 250 vessels will be required to convey east the surplus of last year's grain crop still held in Manitoba and the Northwest. Over 2,000,000 bushels are stored at Fort William alone.

In the Quebec Legislature a resolution has been adopted providing that the unpaid balance of the grant to agricultural societies shall be devoted to the establishment of an experimental station, with a laboratory of agricultural chemistry attached.

Dust from the Diamond.

The two previous seasons the Stars were in the lead when they came here and lost three straights each time.

There never were so many injuries and accidents in the field as there have been this season. New York and Chicago are about the only clubs that have not been crippled in this way.

Shock, of the Washingtons, has accomplished the feat twice this season of hitting for a home run when there were three men on bases.

It is a peculiarly noteworthy, yet absolutely correct fact, that no club has ever had anything that employed the Cleveland deserters of 1884—Briody, Glasscock and McCormick.

Higgins ran from first base on a foul yesterday and in coming home did not touch second. Umpire Hoover declared him out and the game was protested on that decision.

McLaughlin's play at short is very costly to errors yesterday nearly losing the game.

WHY NOT BUILD A HOME?

I have several fine lots suitable for private residences, in excellent location and which are to-day worth more money than I am asking for them. Men with some means should look at these properties.

I have also for sale a number of lots just the thing for Working Men to build on. The location is good and the price so low that it is not wise to continue paying rent. I will advance money to anyone wishing to build on any of the above lots, at lowest current rates of interest, and easiest terms of re-payment. Workingmen should give me a call and see if I cannot offer them something to their advantage. Just imagine, a beautiful lot, frontage 64 ft. 8 in., by 150 ft. deep, for $150.00. Cheapest property in town.

Some Things to Say

If there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods; We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line "80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1.25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

"DETECTIVES" M'CRAE AND DENNIN JUMP THEIR BAIL.

The Law and Order League Out $400 Bail in Addition to Large Advances Made to the Myrtle Heroes.

MONTREAL, May 23.—For some time past war has been waged between the liquor sellers and the temperance people, the latter of whom have formed a Law and Order League, the better to carry out their campaign against the liquor traffic. This league brought a number of private detectives from American and Western Canadian cities, who played havoc with the liquor men and reaped a big harvest of fines as the reward of convictions for illicit selling.

Now, however, the tables are turned, and the saloonkeepers are for the moment at the top of the heap. Last week two of the league's detectives, Wm. McCrae of Toronto and Pat. Dennin of Hamilton, were arrested for selling indecent pictures, and although the case against them was clear, the league brought sufficient influence to bear to secure their release on bail. The cases were fixed for hearing to-day, but the accused were not to be found, and the temperance people are not only out the $400 bail but several thousands as well, which they have advanced to the pseudo detectives.

The league's officers now allege that the missing men were bribed by the saloon men to stay away, and that they have proof that in several cases they extorted money from liquor men on the promise that suits against them would be dropped.

The Cotton Combine.

MONTREAL, May 23.—There are indications which point to the early breaking up of the cotton combine, if not indeed to closing some of the mills. The annual ratification agreement takes place in August, before which time a $1000 bond must be deposited as a guarantee that the agreement will be faithfully carried out. Some of the mills have so far failed to make the deposit, and are discussing the advisability of withdrawing from the association. It is charged against certain mills in the combine that they are not acting fairly, and are resorting to trickery and other underhand means to undersell their competitors. Over-production also is said to be once more threatening the prosperity of the cotton industry. Several mills are carrying heavy stocks.

Not in Accord With the Party.

WINNIPEG, May 23.—Bills have been filed here to void several mortgages on the ground of usury. It is expected that the legislation assented to by the Governor-General to-day will prevent wholesale repudiation on the same ground.

Mr. Hespeler, the President of the Winnipeg Conservative Association, who defeated Mr. Scarth, M.P., for that office, has resigned, not being in accord with the party in opposing the Greenway Government.

St. Boniface, being dissatisfied with its fire organization, seeks to disband it and arrange with Winnipeg for fire protection.

Dr. Lavallee's Case.

MONTREAL, May 23.—The preliminary investigation in the case of Dr. Lavallee, Legislative Councillor, charged with forgery, was begun in the Police Court yesterday. The only witness was Detective Lapointe, who admitted that he never knew accused or Lafreniere, whose name Dr. Lavallee was alleged to have forged. Witness had laid the information because Hon. Mr. Mercier as Attorney-General requested him to do so. The enquete was continued until to-morrow.

The taking of evidence in the Naegele case was concluded yesterday and the addresses to the jury commenced.

Commissioner Putnam's Reward.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

CANADA'S LEGISLATORS END THEIR LABORS YESTERDAY.

The Speech of His Excellency—The Widow of the Hon. Thomas White Give a Gratuity of $4800 Without Discussion.

OTTAWA, May 23.—The House set with closed doors for some time yesterday morning engaged in hearing a statement from Mr. Perley (Assiniboia) respecting what he considers a gross abuse existing in the Parliament building, this being the bar-room in the basement. He thought that instead of devoting all their energies to endeavoring to improve the morals of the public with regard to the use of liquor, the Prohibition party of the House should devote some attention to their fellow legislators, using influence with them at least to have the bar closed in the building. He appealed especially to Hon. Mr. Foster, the Cabinet representative of the Prohibition party, to endeavor to secure a mitigation of the evil. Mr. Perley said even on Sunday there were to be seen about the corridors drunken men who had presumably obtained liquor on the premises

In consequence of privately threatened opposition to the proposed gratuity of $8300 to the widow of the late Hon. Thos. White, being salary up to June 30, 1889, Sir Charles Tupper announced this morning just as the item was reached in the supplementary estimates that he wished to change the date to Jan 1, 1889, which reduced the amount to $4800. The item then passed without discussion or opposition.

At 3 o'clock the Commons proceeded to the Senate Chamber, where the joint address of both Houses was presented to His Excellency and Lady Lansdowne, being read in English by Speaker Allan and in French by Speaker Ouimet.

"Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
"Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

"I thank you cordially for the generous terms in which you have been pleased to take leave of me. The unanimous expression of your good-will, coming, as it does, from the whole Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, falls from your lips with an authority which admits of no question. I accept it from you as the representatives of the Canadian people, and to that people as well as to you I offer my grateful acknowledgment for the signal honor which you have conferred upon me.

"A residence of nearly five years in this country as the representative of Her Majesty has given me a deep and abiding interest in its affairs. I feel that I cannot overrate the advantage which it has been to me to have had a part in the administration of the Dominion and to have watched at close quarters the working of the wise and liberal institutions under which your community is governed. I shall rejoice if at a future time the experience which I have thus been able to gain should, as you have been good enough to suggest, enable me to guard the interests or to promote the welfare of the Dominion. Be this as it may, I can never entertain towards this country other feelings than those of a friend bound to it by the deepest gratitude and respect.

"I may, I hope, congratulate you on the fact that during the years which I have had the good fortune to spend in your midst the principles of the Federal Constitution have successfully stood the test of experience, and are regarded at the basis of an enduring political system, well adapted to the requirements of your people.

"I cannot pass over in silence your reference to the fact that Her Majesty has been pleased to entrust to me the duty of representing her in another portion of the British realm, differing no doubt in every respect from that for which you are called upon to legislate, but forming like it a splendid and integral portion of the Empire which is the common inheritance of all Her Majesty's subjects. Your congratulations and your readiness to regard with favor my selection for so arduous and important a post will inspire me with courage to undertake the heavy responsibilities which are inseparable from it. I feel sure that your good wishes for our welfare are sincere, and I have heard from you with a feeling of the deepest gratitude that you regard our approaching departure from this country with regret.

"Your kindly and appreciative mention of her who has shared with me the happiness of the last five years has touched her heart and mine. I thank you in Lady Lansdowne's name, as well as in my own, for your personal courtesy to us both. During our residence in Canada it has been our good fortune to become acquainted with a large number of the members of both Houses. We shall always look back with satisfaction to our intimacy with these representatives of the Canadian people, a satisfaction which is increased by the assurance which you have now given us that the regard which we have felt for you has been mutual.

"I shall not fail to convey to Her Majesty the expression of your unaltered devotion to her and of your loyalty to her Empire. I thank you in her name, and I pray that there may be conferred upon the people who have reposed in you the sacred trust of watching over their interests in the councils of the nation every blessing which can serve to establish upon sure foundations the greatness and prosperity of your country. I trust that under the will of Providence it may long continue to present to the world the spectacle of a united and contented community, not only proud of its own present and confident of its own future, but glorying in its connection with the British throne, and determined to bear its part in adding to the greatness and the renown of the Empire."

At 4 o'clock the Commons received the customary summons and proceeded to the Senate Chamber, where His Excellency prorogued Parliament with this speech:

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In terminating the present session of Parliament, I desire to record my appreciation of the earnestness and zeal which you have shown in the performance of your public duties.

The measure for the ratification of the Fisheries Treaty, agreed upon at the opening of the present year between Her Majesty's plenipotentiaries and those of the United States, to which I have given the Queen's assent, will, I believe, be viewed with satisfaction by the people of the whole Dominion as affording a crowning proof of Canada's constant desire to arrive at a just and honorable settlement of all questions arising out of the interpretation of the convention of 1818. I venture with some degree of confidence to hope that the several authorities whose sanction of the treaty is necessary to its operation may not be insensible to the great advantages to both countries which the removal of so fruitful a source of ill-feeling is calculated to entail.

The arrangement under which the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has relinquished the exclusive privileges possessed by it in virtue of article 15 of the original agreement between Her Majesty and the company will, I anticipate, meet with general acceptance, and, by increasing its financial strength, enable the company to keep pace with the ever-growing requirements of the vast region which the railway serves.

The extension to the people of the North-west Territories of a larger measure of self-government than they have hitherto enjoyed is satisfactory evidence of the rapid development of that important portion of the Dominion, and will, I trust, be attended with beneficial results.

The prospects for a large immigration this year of a desirable class of settlers are, I am glad to believe, exceptionally good.

The various amendments to the laws relating to the inland revenues, railways, the Civil Service and to the other acts affecting the public interests which you have passed seem well adapted to meet the circumstances which have rendered them necessary.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In Her Majesty's name I thank you for the supplies which you have readily granted for the carrying on of the public service.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I cannot take leave of you for the last time without placing on record my deep regret that my official connection with your country should be at an end. It is a source of no slight satisfaction to me to call to mind under these circumstances the fact that within the last few hours you have been pleased to assure me of the favor with which you have regarded my endeavors to discharge the task committed to me by Her Majesty. My interest in the Dominion will not cease with my departure from its shores, and I pray that in years to come its people may enjoy in abundance every blessing which it is in the power of Providence to bestow.

LORD LANSDOWNE'S DEPARTURE.

Arrangements for To-day's Farewell—An Imposing Demonstration.

OTTAWA, May 23.—All arrangements for to-day's farewell demonstration to the Governor-General and Lady Lansdowne are now complete. The chief features of the farewell will be the escort of the Governor-General from Rideau Hall to Parliament Hill by the Dragoon Guards and mounted citizens, the presentation of the civic and other addresses on the hill, and the march to the Canada Atlantic station. The representatives appointed by fifty of the city's societies to take leave of Their Excellencies will meet at the City Hall and proceed to the hill in a body. The order of proceedings will be: Presentation of the citizen's address, His Excellency's reply, presentation of the Mayor and Corporation, then of the representatives of the societies, and finally of the representatives of the Citizen's Committee.

From Ottawa Their Excellencies go in a special car decorated by the Citizens' Committee through to Quebec, not entering Montreal at all, and will sail the next day.

The Royal Society of Canada.

OTTAWA, May 23.—The Royal Society of Canada opened their session for the year 1888 in the Railway Committee room of the House of Commons yesterday, amongst those present being Messrs. Thomas E. Hamel, G. J. Stewrrt, jr., Faucher de Saint Maurice, C. Baillarge and W. Wood of Quebec, John Read and Alex. Johnson of Montreal, S. Lunny, J. F. Whiteaves, E. Duell, R. Bell, A. Lusignan, Abbe Casgrain, J. M. Lemoine, F. N. Gisborne, Mgr. Tanguay, A. R. Selwyn, G. M. Dawson, J. Marsan, J. Monnette, Louis Frechette, H. B. Small and J. G. Bourinot of Ottawa, G. Carpmael of Toronto, G. Lawson of Halifax, M. Baine of St. Polycarpe, and F. T. W. Burgess of Hamilton.

After the formal opening of the meeting the business of the session was suspended and the members adjourned to Rideau Hall, where they presented His Excellency the Governor-General with an address. His Excellency having thanked the society in a short but eminently suitable speech, the society withdrew to assemble in solemn conclave again this afternoon and carry out the regular program. President Dawson will give a review of the scientific progress of the year and of the work of the society this evening.

Capital Notes.

OTTAWA, May 23.—Sir Charles Tupper leaves Ottawa to-morrow for New York, from which place he will sail on Saturday for England to resume his duties as High Commissioner for Canada. Pending the reconstruction of the Cabinet, which is likely to take place within a week or two, Hon. Mr. Bowell will act as Minister of Finance.

When the Supreme Court meets on June 12 it will be for the delivery of judgments only. The court will meet Oct. 2 for the hearing of appeals.

Mrs. Olive Scatchard, Vice-president of the National Woman's Suffrage Association of Great Britain, spent yesterday in the city. She was one of the three British delegates to the international council of women recently held in Washington.

St. Thomas Wants the Handle Works.

ST. THOMAS, May 23.—The bylaw granting a bonus of $6000 to J. H. Still to remove his handle works from Tilbury Centre to St. Thomas was carried yesterday by 812 to 47.

Mary Wilton was brought up on remand yesterday on a charge of keeping a house of ill-fame and enticing young girls to the same for immoral purposes, and sentenced by the Police Magistrate to the Mercer Reformatory for two years less a day.

The Deadly "Two-For."

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 23.—Friends of August Edson, a Swede, say he was killed by a "two-for" cigar. Saturday night he "set up" the cigars to a friend. Both smoked, and on the way home Edson was taken sick. His friend also felt squeamish. About midnight Edson was found dead in his bed.

Burglars at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, May 23.—Thomas Morris' store at the corner of King William and Wellington streets was burglarized last night. The thief got in through a side door by picking the lock, and extracted $6.50 in coppers from the safe, which had been locked by Mr. Morris. The safe had not been tampered with.

Back to His Bench in Madison-square.

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 23.—Citizen Train took a last look at Canadian soil last night, when he took the train for Boston. He expects to be in Madison-square, New York, to-morrow: after a six months' expatriation.

THE "TIMES" ON CANADA.

COMPLIMENTARY REMARKS ABOUT LORD LANSDOWNE.

Kindly Reference to Lord Stanley of Preston, the New Governor-General—Canadian Financial Interests.

LONDON, May 22.—The Times devotes its first editorial to Canadian affairs in view of the change of Governor-General. It eulogizes Lord Lansdowne and says Canada has gained an importance to the world as well as in the Empire which reflects lustre on his period of administration. It notes the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway, refers to the Fisheries Commission, and regards the fact that Lord Lansdowne is appointed Viceroy of India and his place in Canada is to be filled by an experienced and popular Cabinet Minister both complimentary to Canada's growth in the rank of nations. Canada, it says, is fortunate in the appointment of Lord Stanley, who can be trusted not to deviate in the least from loyal obedience to parliamentary principles.

The Times further devotes two columns to a review of Canada's progress during Lord Lansdowne's term.

The Manitoba Land Company reports an increased debit balance from £554 to £1534. The directors propose to issue 8 per cent. cumulative preference shares to meet current maturing debentures, and are hopeful.

The Northwest Land Corporation of Canada reports continued belief in the future of the Northwest. The directors propose to write off ten shillings per share as capital lost so as to start with a clear sheet, and call up ten shillings per share in order to provide for liabilities; then divide each share into three fully paid-up shares of one pound each.

The Trust and Loan Company reports increased business activity during the past six months. Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba new loans amount to $577,073; repayments, $368,924.

TEUTON AND GAUL.

A Projected Decree in Regard to Frenchmen Entering the Reichsland.

STRASBURG, May 23.—A decree under preparation in regard to Frenchmen entering Alsace-Loraine will require them to present their passports for examination by the German embassy in Paris. They must also be endorsed by the governor of those provinces.

Germany Hasn't Complained.

PARIS, May 23.—The Temps denies that the Government has received any complaint from Germany regarding charges of interferences with German subjects on the French frontier, and says that nothing has transpired to support the statement that Germany is preparing to take measures of retaliation on account of such interference.

One Year's Service Required.

PARIS, May 23.—The Senate has adopted a proposal exempting schoolmasters and students of theology from three years, but requiring one year of military service.

Proposed Evictions Abandoned.

LONDON, May 23.—Mr. Morley has gone to Dublin. The Mayor of Cork has convoked a public meeting for Sunday to endorse the Parnellite manifesto.

The Town Commission of Ballivarloe has unanimously adopted a resolution declining to accept the Pope's ruling in political matters.

The proposed evictions on the Marquis of Conyngham's Glentics estate, which were on the eve of being carried out, have been abandoned, the Marquis having agreed to terms favorable to the tenants.

Emperor Frederick's Progress Gratifying.

BERLIN, May 23.—Yesterday's bulletin says that the Emperor's progress is gratifying. His cough and expectorations are moderate, and he is without fever.

The Emperor, accompanied by the Empress, left the palace at 5.30 p.m. in a closed carriage, the weather being windy. They were driven to the Thiergarten, returning to the palace in about an hour. Dr. Mackenzie and Adjutant Broesicke followed in another carriage.

Prince Henry of Prussia and the Princess of Saxe-Meiningen dined with the Empress this evening.

From Toronto.

TORONTO, May 23.—Mr. D. E. Cameron of Lucknow has been appointed Provincial Deputy Treasurer, vice A. R. Harris, resigned.

A two-year-old-child was killed on Spadina-avenue yesterday. He was struck by the guard of a street car while the driver was glancing around to see if there were any fares. The jury brought in a verdict of accidental death. Appended to the verdict were two recommendations: (1) That the roadway be improved; (2) that conductors be placed on all one-horse cars.

Dom Pedro Suffers a Relapse.

MILAN, May 23.—The Emperor of Brazil suffered another relapse yesterday, and his condition is considered quite serious.

The Emperor appears to be stricken with paralysis. He has lost the power of speech and his breathing is labored. Oxygen was forced into his lungs and caffeine was injected under his skin with the result that he became less inert and partially conscious, but there is little hope of his recovery. The last sacrament has been administered.

A Substitute Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Senate Committee on Finance yesterday ordered an adverse report on the fractional currency bill, but in its place a bill will be reported reducing the fee upon postal notes for less than one dollar to one cent.

Two Methodist Bishops Elected.

NEW YORK, May 23.—In the Methodist Conference yesterday Rev. Dr. J. H. Vincent of the Rock River Conference and Rev. J. W. Fitzgerald of the New Jersey Conference were elected bishops.

ORGAN RECITAL.

St. Luke's Church new Organ—Choruses and Solos by a Large Choir.

An organ recital was held in St. Luke's Church on Tuesday evening on the occasion of the the opening of the large new organ that has been placed in the church. There was a large attendance, the church being filled. Mr. J. S. Parker was solo organist for the occasion, and in the various numbers he brought out the power and the purity of tone of the large instrument, and gave the large congregation an opportunity of hearing to advantage the capabilities of the organ, as well as of enjoying some excellent music. A chorus of sixty-five voices, made up from the choirs of St. Paul's, St. John's and St. Luke's choirs, sang the choruses. The chorus was well balanced, the voices blending harmoniously, and they sang in good time and the leads were taken up with precision. The effect was very pleasing. Mr. J. E. Jacques played the accompaniments for the vocalists with his usual ability. In the third number of the programme the first half of the verses were sung by the ladies in unison, and the whole chorus joined in the latter half, producing a pleasing effect. Among the audience were a number of musicians, and the whole audience were evidently delighted with the new organ, as well as with the whole programme. The soloists, Mrs. Daly, Mr. Baguley and Mr. Davis, each sang in good voice and in a pleasing manner. The offertory, in aid of the organ fund, was a liberal one. The following was the programme:—

PART ONE.

1 Hymn 166.....Tune, Old Hundred
2 Grand Offertoire, D Minor.....Batiste
3 Chorus...."Jesu, Lover of My Soul"...Berg
4 Aria, (a) Waft her Angels.....Handel
(b) Cavatina.....Raff
(c) Govotte.....Popp
5 Vocal Solo....."Flee as a Bird".....Dana
Mr. Baguley.
6 (a) Hymn Tune, varied.....Pleyel
(b) Transcription, "Home Sweet Home" Buck

SECOND PART.

7 Vocal Solo....."Consolation".....Hatton
Mrs. Daly.
8 Prelude and Fuge, B b Major.....Bach
9 Barcarolle, 4th Concerto.....Bennett
10 Chorus, Kyrie from 12th Mass.....Mozart
11 Vocal Solo...."Abide with Me".....Ambrose
Mr. A. L. Davis.
12 Chorus....."Vesper Hymn".....Jaques

The "Vesper Hymn" was sung to music composed for the occasion by Mr. Jaques and was a fine piece of music and was prettily sung.

METHODIST DISTRICT MEETING.

The meeting opened on Tuesday afternoon with devotional exercises, the first hymn being sung, the 4th chapter of II. Cor. read and the Rev. J. McFarlane leading in prayer.

The Rev. H. Thomas, of Millbrook, was elected Secretary, and the Rev. B. Greatrix, of Fraserville, Assistant Secretary.

The characters of all the ministers were examined and passed satisfactorily.

The Rev. S. J. Thompson having spent five years on probation was unanimously recommended for ordination at the meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference, to be held at Lindsay, which commences on June 7th.

Mr. George W. McCall, B.A., of South Monaghan circuit, was unanimously recommended as a candidate for the ministry.

A discussion ensued on the spiritual state of the churches of the district and continued until the hour for adjournment, and the meeting then adjourned until 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning

The meeting reassembled at 9 o'clock this morning and was opened with devotional exercises, the Rev. D. F. Gee and the Rev. R. T. Courtice leading in prayer. The following laymen (who are billeted with the clergymen from their circuits) were present:—Messrs. W. J. Mason, George-st church, Peterborough; J. L. Hughes, Charlotte-st church, Peterborough; Wm. Wand, Ashburnham; R. W. Clarke, Millbrook; Samuel Staples, Cavan; James Brock, South Cavan; Ed. Kerr, South Monaghan; John Howell and Wm. Harper, Lakefield; A. R. Kidd, Warsaw; T. H. Richardson, Bethany; Samuel Grandy, Janetville; John Barnecutt, South Manvers; John R. Clarke, Hall's Bridge.

The financial and other reports from the various circuits were handed in. The total church membership for the district was returned as 3,357, an increase of 67 over last year. The financial reports were very satisfactory. The total sum raised for all church purposes was $28,100.83. The total number of Sunday school pupils (for all except one mission) is 3,101, and the average attendance 2,195.

The consideration of the reports occupied the attention of the meeting until the hour for adjournment at noon arrived.

Sports on the P. A. A. A.

Given a fine day and the sports on the P. A. A. A. grounds to-morrow will be the finest ever held here. The committee give notice that every competitor must be at the starting point at the time mentioned on the programme or the event will be started without him. They are determined that the programme will be carried out wthout any delay. Every arrangement that can possibly be made to ensure the success of the sports has been made. The Toronto baseball team will arrive to-night on the 11.30 train.

On Parade.

The six companies of the 57th Battalion, headed by the band, under the command of Colonel J. Z. Rogers, had a march out on Tuesday night, and they had a long tramp around the town. The boys presented a very creditable appearance, and their marching was favorably commented on by thousands of people who occupied the sidewalks along the line.

Cheap Excursion Fares.

We have received a letter from Mr. Wm. Menzies, Secretary of the Masonic Excursion Committee, in reference to a letter which appeared in the REVIEW on May 18th, signed "Queerist." Queerist wanted to know why excursion rates were cheaper from Toronto to Peterborough than they were from here to the city, and as our space is crowded, we summarize the answer given. The reasons given are:—

1. The Canadian Excursion Association, composed of railway and steamer line magnates, have an agreement to charge at least 50 per cent. more for fares for excursions to city business centres, than they do for excursions from business centres—the object being to protect the merchants of the smaller places. 2. Toronto having so many outlets by both rail and water, the keen competition naturally cuts the rates for out-going excursions. The compensation is gained from the large numbers patronizing these excursions. 3. It is against the interest of merchants and business men in towns like Peterborough to have cheap excursions to business centres, permitting excursionists to buy goods in large quantities which they would otherwise have procured at home.

Mr. Menzies adds to these explanations the following:—

I know that the Masonic fraternity of Peterborough have always been able to get the very lowest rates for their excursions. This year, in placing the round trip tickets for their annual excursion from Peterborough to Toronto, on the 7th of June, at $1.75 (the lowest possible figures), they have left only the narrow margin of 25 cents on each ticket, a very small premium to cover the cost of printing, advertising, etc., when it is considered that 150 tickets will have to be sold to cover the bare cost of printing and advertising alone. If the Masonic Committee had made their tickets $2, which would not be too much, and got 50 cents on each ticket sold instead of 25 cents, they would only require to sell half the number of tickets to realize the same amount. The Masons could not certainly run their excursion any cheaper, the ticket account standing thus:—

Dr. To Railway Company.....	$1 50
	$1 75

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

McCausland & Son, of Toronto, are beyond question the easy leaders in the Ornamental Stained glass trade in Canada. Their vast business extends form Nova Scotia to British Columbia, and thousands of public and private buildings bear testimony of this firm's ability to execute beautiful and durable windows of every description.

Correspondence of the Review.

DEPLORABLE ACCIDENT.—A very sad and probably fatal accident occurred here on Monday afternoon. Messrs. James and William Davis were driving into the village with a colt. As they were near Mr. Shieldrake's the buggy wheel struck a small stone, which frightened the horse and it sprang forward. The buggy was run to the side of the road and James Davis was thrown out, alighting on his head. The unfortunate man's skull was fractured from his temple back along the side of his head. William was almost immediately afterwards thrown out over the back of the buggy, and his back was strained, his shoulder injured and his wrist sprained. William was picked up and cared for, and at first it was thought that James was dead, but on being placed more comfortably, his breath returned. Physicians were summoned, and the Drs. Fraser responded, and Mr. J. H. Davis, brother of the unfortunate men, was also sent for, and conveyed the injured men to his home. James Davis has been living in Nebraska, where his wife and family now are, and returned to attend the funeral of his mother, remaining to dispose of his farm in Smith. William is seriously injured, but the physicians hold out no hope of James' recovery. He was unconscious from the first and is still unconscious at this writing. Much sympathy is felt for the victims of the accident and their families.

ALL OLD VALUES BLOWN OUT OF SIGHT!

PRICES OF SIX WEEKS AGO SPLIT TO SPLINTERS.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

All Filled.

The well-known trotters, "Tariff Jr." and "Lady Tariff," of Cobourg, arrived in town last night, and they will take part in the races at the Driving Park to-morrow afternoon. A number of other fliers including "Maud S," of Cannington, are expected to-night and in the morning. All the events are well filled and great sport is anticipated. The novelty race is looked forward to with much interest and the "open" will be a big card. The events will commence at 1.30 p. m. sharp.

It's Wonderful.

What is? Why, the great talk there is about the grand excursion that is going to take place on Tuesday, June 12th, over the C. P. R. to Toronto. Canton No. 10 and St. Luke's C. E. T. S. have combined for this great event. Will there be music? Yes, of the best; the 57th Battalion band will attend and furnish music. Further, the Canton chevaliers will go in their beautiful and attractive uniform. The Canton never does things by halves and does not consider expense when it gets up something for the good of the people. The tickets are bound to sell quickly, so many are saying "I want to buy a ticket," and no wonder, for the attractions will be great. Expect news from Bowmanville and Belleville. Look out for it.

Completed.

Final arrangements have been completed for the sports on the P.A.A.A. grounds on the Queen's birthday, under the joint auspices of the battalion and the association. Already many of the events are filled and the bicycle races promise to be the most interesting and exciting ever seen here. Tilting at the ring is always a taking feature and those cavalrymen and mounted officers who desire to take part in it can obtain lances from any of the officers of the association. The menagerie race and the catching of the greasy pig will certainly cause much amusement. Col. Rogers, Captain Miller, Lieut Mason, Mr. G. C. Clark, Dr. Burnham, Mr. R. B. Rogers, Lieut Hammond and Captain Hill, will all take part in the former, each of them driving a different animal. In addition to a splendid programme of athletic sports and caledonian games, there are the baseball match in the morning and the military evolutions at the noon hour.

'Twas recently said, and as recently read,
For a city the town would bid,
And as recently said, while surely 'twas read
The premier shoe dealer is kidd.
For he leathers your woes, instep and toes,
Be you laborer, sailor or mid,
The fame of his goods fairly rings in the woods
No dealer sells cheaper than kidd.

Local Legal.

The following case of local interest was disposed of at Toronto on Tuesday:—"Robinson v. Leary.—Judgment. Appeal by the plaintiff from the judgment of Ferguson, J., dismissing the plaintiff's action to recover possession of land under a deed, which the defendant claimed was intended to operate only as a mortgage, dismissed with costs. W. Cassels, Q. C. and Peck (Peterborough) for appellant. W. Nesbitt and Edmison for respondent."

Mr. C. I. D. Moore, who has been selected by the students of Victoria College as missionary teacher to Japan, will preach in the George-st. Methodist church next Sunday evening. Mr. Moore or the Rev. S. J. Thompson will receive contributions for this work.

Their Spring Display.

Porter Bros. of this town, the well known builders of carriages and wagons, announce a grand display of work in all lines at their shops on Saturday next, May 19th and also on the Saturday following, May 26th Those who purpose buying a wheeled vehicle of any description will do what is judicious and well by calling and seeing what the firm offer. The show room adjoins the factory, corner of Charlotte and Aylmer-sts, near the G.T.R. station. They invite particular attention to the new style buggies, phaetons and road carts, built and finished in the best possible manner. There is hardly a special want in their line that the firm cannot supply, the resources of the shops being ample for any emergency Farmers are specially asked to look the display over, while local horsemen who desire a light, graceful, handsome buggy or road cart will find much worth of favourable comment. 4d115-2w20

Obituary.

We exceedingly regret to be called on to record the death of Mr. G. Toker Barlee, which sad event occurred at New York, on Tuesday. The deceased was only 18 years of age and was a son of the late Mr. George Barlee. He was a student at the Royal Military College, Kingston. For some time he had been suffering from a serious throat disease and went to New York to consult eminent physicians there, but his ailment proved fatal. His illness took a serious turn a few days ago and Miss Barlee and Mr. Cope Clementi left for New York immediately on receipt of a telegram announcing that such was the case. Deceased was a young man of much promise, highly esteemed by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance and his untimely death will be heard of with deep and general regret by a large circle of relatives and friends.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all Druggists.

An Improvement on the Original.

"Benedidct's Monte Cristo," says the N. Y. Union, "is a new version of this always popular play, and in some things a great improvement on the original. It works better on the road, curtails dialogue and strengthens the situations of the piece. Benedict's Company has been doing good business South, as all companies will who are as strong and have as good a manager. If all managers were as punctual in their engagements, as correct in their dealings, as temperate in their habits, as good artists, and as courteous to the public and their employes as Mr. Benedict is, there would be less companies left on the road." 1d121

There is the expense, which is something, and besides as time is limited you make a hurried selection. Why not adopt John's view and go to CHINA HALL, here in town. Why, bless you, from the look I've had at the goods you can get perfectly splendid things for presents, and so cheap too. Mr. Wilson displays great taste and I'm certain the things you might buy would be not only suitable but look particularly handsome."

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 Ex-Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 2? years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

WEDNESDAY, MAY 23, 1888.

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"Good morning," he said, slimy, "I thought I would find you in."

This while Jane pulled down the blind and retired. Then he made a step forward to where Mona stood, motionless—her trembling hands locked together, her eyes wide-opened, gazing at him.

"Do you seriously mean what you have written here?" he asked, in a thick, unsteady voice, as he drew forth and opened her letter.

"Yes," she said; "I do."

"Then I have a right to ask the reason of this sudden change. What have I done to deserve it?"

"You have deserved nothing but good and gratitude from me," faltered Mona, sinking into a chair, as she felt her limbs unable to support her.

"Then why do you desert me?"

"I told you in my letter—the whole truth. I cannot love you as a wife ought to love."

"We agreed to get over that difficulty. I hoped to win your affection if you were quite free from any other attachment."

"And I am, Mr. Waring! There is not a man in existence whom I would accept at this moment. But"—she was growing calmer under the desperate necessity of explanation—"I also told you—what, indeed, I blushed to write—that my grandmother's wish, her overpowering need, induced me to consent to what, otherwise, I should not have accepted."

"I understand. Then, Mona, you have treated me very badly. You took me when I was necessary to you; you throw me aside when you think you can do without me! And I love you so! I thought I was going straight into heaven when you promised to be my wife! I had faith in your promise to try and love me; and, after all, you were only sacrificing yourself to maintain your grandmother—a sacrifice you gladly escape as soon as you can! You have broken your contract!"

"You are justly angry. I cannot defend myself. But do you not think you will be happier with some woman fairer and better than I am, who will love you heartily, and—"

"No one will ever be so fair and good as you seem to me; and as you reject me, how am I to believe any one will love me? You had every reason to love me, yet you could not."

"Love cannot reason."

"Then you know what love is?" cried Waring, sharply. "There is something still in your heart which you will not speak out! Ah, Mona! why can I not please you? Why are you so cruel? You have destroyed my life!"

There was such passionate despair in his voice that Mona was profoundly moved. She felt guilty, culpable, to the last degree; and wavering in her resolution—wishing, if possible, to do the right thing, she stammered—

"If—if you think it worth accepting, I will retract that letter, and—and do my best."

"No!" interrupted Waring, with a dignity of which she did not imagine him capable. "You cannot endure me! I do not want a victim! I love you too well for that. But, ah, Mona! it is an agony to think you will have to face the roughness of life! Whether you love me or not—whether you desert me or not—I would gladly give half I possess to shield you from all you dare to face. Promise you will let me help you if you need help—promise, Mona!"

"Surely," she cried, greatly touched—"surely Heaven has cursed you with something of a woman's heart, or you would not feel so tenderly and generously for one who has pained and wounded you! I feel your superiority, and I humbly beg your forgiveness. I will always think of you as a true gentleman. May you find greater happiness than I could bestow. Here—take this back!"

"Pray keep it," he said, as she held out her engagement-ring of diamonds.

"I cannot, Mr. Waring; you must take it back!"

He thrust it on his finger.

"Then it is all over between us!" he said, passionately; "all quite over! Perhaps it is better so. It would have broken my heart to try in vain to win your love; and, dear as you are, I would not have you without it. Good-bye, Mona!—you have taught me how unlovable I am; yet I might have made you happy."

With a slight despairing gesture of the hand he turned and left her. She did not expect to be so completely routed, so utterly ashamed. He was stronger and nobler than she thought. She had broken with him, and she had lost him. She had offered to retract, and he had rejected her.

"He will forget me soon," she told herself. "To-day his bearing was dignified and earnest, his feelings were deeply moved—to-morrow his eye will be caught, by some one of the many charming girls he meets, and he will be far happier than with one whose heart is dead, like mine."

She sat long quite still, thinking painfully, confusedly. Then she nerved herself to seek her writing materials, and begin a letter to Lady Mary.

She had not completed her difficult letter, when Mme. Debrisay came in.

"I am quite done up!" she cried. "Such vile weather! I will change my boots, and be with you in a minute. But I have a new pupil, so my Wednesdays will be well filled at Kensington. We'll talk over everything at tea."

The kindly woman's horror and amazement when Mona disclosed the dreadful fact that Waring had come to answer her letter in person, and had gone away in sorrow and indignation, can be better imagined than described.

She was too deeply affected for speech. She pushed back her chair from the table, and sat a silent image of grief.

"And is there nothing to be done!" she ejaculated. "Dieu des Dieux! It was my last hope, that when he came himself and you saw him face to face, drowned in sorrow, you'd have given way. How had you the heart to refuse him again?"

"But he did not ask me, dear Deb. He very properly said he did not want a victim. I think more highly of him than I ever did before; but I am sure I have done right in acting as I have, and he will thank me yet."

For the rest of the evening Mme. Debrisay kept silence, or nearly complete silence, which was, of course, pain and grief to her—while Mona finished and dispatched her letter.

In due time it was answered, in rather a distracted fashion, by Lady Mary. She said she thought dear Mona must be under the influence of temporary insanity; that Sir Robert was going up to London to see what was really the matter; and that she prayed Heaven there might not be any secret mischief at the bottom of this unfortunate affair.

"He will certainly be here to-morrow. Could you manage to stay at home dear, dear Deb?" she said, imploringly.

"Well, and I don't wonder you are frightened to see him! He will be like a raging lion—small blame to him! There, don't turn so white. I'll write and put off my early lessons, for you may be sure he will come up hot foot the first thing in the morning to row us out of the place."

As madame had anticipated, Sir Robert came between eleven and twelve. A glance at his broad, usually good-humored face, showed how great was the wrath he had accumulated.

He came abruptly into the room, and without a word of greeting, exclaimed—

"What the deuce is the meaning of your extraordinary conduct, Mona? Have you quite lost your senses?"

On Straight Party Lines.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Senate decided by a vote of 28 to 27 not to consider the Fisheries Treaty in open session. The division was upon strict party lines except in the case of Senator Hale, who voted with the Democrats adversely to the Riddleberger resolution. Upon the announcement of the result the body went at once into legislative session. No time has yet been fixed for taking up the treaty.

Another Colonist.

PITTSBURG, May 23.—Peter J. Quinn, chief bookkeeper for Chris. G. Dixon & Co., large contractors and builders, has been missing for several days, and it is supposed that he has gone to Canada. An examination of his accounts show a shortage of $15,000.

A Dublin Defaulter.

DUBLIN, May 23.—Mr. Burne, the agent in this city of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of New York, has disappeared. It is supposed he has gone to America. Serious defalcations have been discovered in Burne's accounts.

Burnt to Death.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—A quantity of varnish exploded yesterday in the basement of Hackett's chair factory, and a few minutes later the interior of the basement and first floor was a mass of flames. John Cullen, 15, and David Clayton, colored, were burned.

A Steamer Ashore.

PANAMA, May 23.—The Pacific mail steamer City of Para, which left Colon on May 16, went ashore off Old Providence Island on May 17, and is still there. No danger is anticipated unless heavy weather sets in, which is unlikely at this season.

Gold at Burk's Falls.

BURK'S FALLS, May 23.—A reported discovery of gold has greatly excited this usually quiet village. A number of specimens have been sent to Toronto to be analyzed.

ABOUT EARLY CLOSING.

We have decided to close our store during the Summer months at 7 p. m. each day, Saturday excepted.

We would ask our customers and friends to aid us in this matter by sending in orders or calling to make purchases as early as possible in the day.

The early closing movement will be a benefit to all who carry out the plan we feel assured and we hope that our request for early buying will meet with a general response.

WHY NOT BUILD A HOME?

I have several fine lots suitable for private residences, in excellent location and which are to-day worth more money than I am asking for them. Men with some means should look at these properties.

I have also for sale a number of lots that are the very things for Working Men to build on. The location is good and the price so low that it is not wise to continue paying rent. I will advance money to anyone wishing to build on any of the above lots, at lowest current rates of interest, and easiest terms of re-payment. Workingmen should give me a call and see if I cannot offer them something to their advantage. Just imagine, a beautiful lot, frontage 61 ft. 8 in., by 150 ft. deep, for $150.00. Cheapest property in town.

Some Things to Say

If there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods, We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line '39" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Sh t. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. TORNADOES IN THE SOUTH.

Churches and Dwellings Destroyed—Great Damage Caused by Hail Storms.

CORSICANA, Tex., May 25.—One of the worst storms that ever visited this section occurred last night. The damage to business and residence property will exceed $25,000, and the damage to crops is very great. The colored Methodist Church and Oddfellows' Hall were blown to pieces.

A Destructive Cyclone.

BONHAM, Tex., May 25.—A destructive cyclone swept over Brownton, 25 miles east of here, yesterday afternoon, destroying the Methodist, Baptist and Congregational churches, and eight dwelling houses.

Hailed With Anything but Delight.

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Tex., May 25.—A destructive hail storm passed two miles east of this place, doing great damage to crops and fruit trees.

It Cut a Wide Swath.

WELLINGTON, Kas., May 25.—A cyclone struck Argonia, a few miles west of this city, about 6 o'clock last evening, cutting a wide swath through the most thickly settled portion of the place. Among the buildings destroyed are the Methodist Church, Palace Hotel and a considerable number of stores and dwellings. No fatalities are reported, but several persons were severely injured.

GEN. SHERIDAN'S ILLNESS.

An Apoplectic Attack—The Crisis Said to be Passed.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The Herald's Washington special says: From thoroughly reliable sources it is learned that from Monday at the dinner hour Gen. Sheridan's condition was such as to cause his family and physicians to fear his demise at any moment. He had a stroke of apoplexy, being the second he has had. The alarm of the family and physicians can well be understood.

No less than five physicians were in consultation on Monday night and Tuesday morning and three surgeons, Dr. O'Reilly and Harvy of the army and Dr. Yarrow, were in attendance all night on Monday. All Monday night the General was in a semi-conscious state. He experienced great difficulty in breathing, and on that account the physicians would not allow him to lie down.

It was not until noon on Tuesday that he showed signs of improvement. He was then able to sleep naturally when sitting in an easy chair. He has continued to improve and is now believed to be past the critical stage.

Says It Isn't Apoplexy.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Col. Sheridan said about noon yesterday that Gen. Sheridan continues to improve steadily. He says the General is not suffering from paralysis, apoplexy or anything serious, and whoever says he is knows nothing whatever about the case.

THE RECENT FIRES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 25.—Attempts were made Saturday night to burn St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum at San Rafael, and they were renewed Tuesday night and yesterday morning. The asylum has within its walls 600 orphans. The fire in each case appeared to have been started by one or more of the children in the building. One boy has confessed having aided in starting the fires. From the partial confession made it would seem that the boys simply tried to burn the building in order to escape.

An Anti-French Demonstration.

TOURS, May 25.—During the performance of a French operetta in the theatre here a serious anti-French demonstration took place. The police were compelled to clear the building.

The Crofter Emigration.

LONDON, May 25.—It has been found impossible to raise in Scotland the £2000 required to secure the Government grant of £10,000 for the emigration of 120 families of Crofters to the Northwest. About one-quarter of the sum required was forthcoming. Twelve families have just been selected from Harris, making 20 in all. The scheme will not extend beyond these limits this year. One-quarter of the promised Government grant only will be given. It is stated that the families have been most carefully selected.

A Thibetan Attack Repulsed.

LONDON, May 25.—A despatch from India says that 3000 Thibetans recently attacked Gnobang, which is defended by a small British force, and that after several hours' fighting the Thibetans retreated, leaving 100 dead. The British loss was three killed and seven wounded.

Alexander's Summer Vacation.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 25.—The Czar in the course of the summer will attend the manœuvres of the troops in the Odessa district, and from there will proceed to the Caucasus, extending his tour probably to Turkestan.

The New Catholic University of America.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of the university building of the new Catholic University of America took place yesterday.

Reducing the Troops.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 25.—The Government has reduced the number of troops in the trans-Caspian territories by 1008 men and 13 officers.

Dom Pedro Improving.

MALAS, May 23.—The Emperor of Brazil had a good night and his condition is improving.

To be Tried in June.

NEW YORK, May 25.—A number of people visited the Court of General Session yesterday expecting the trial of the spook manufacturers, Ann O'Delia Salomon, and her side partner, Gen. Diss DeBar, to begin, but they were disappointed, as it had been decided to postpone the case. Judge Gildersleeve set the case for June 4.

A VICTORY FOR HOME RULE

SOUTHAMPTON ELECTS A LIBERAL FOR THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Various Theories as to the Cause of the Ministerial Defeat—The Pope Will Not Interfere in Irish Politics.

LONDON, May 25.—The Parliamentary elections at Southampton have resulted in a victory for the Liberals, their candidate, Mr. Evans, receiving 3751 votes and Mr. Guest (Conservative) 3266. The news of the Liberal victory caused a sensation in this city.

The Daily Chronicle attributes the Conservative defeat to the scare about the national defences and says that "The idea of the Government's weakness in this matter readily takes root in the south coast towns exposed to the danger of a French invasion."

The Standard says the result is vexatious, but it cannot be claimed to be anything more than a verdict on the licensing clauses of the County Goverament Bill. "The Gladstonians have carefully kept the Home Rule question in the background."

The Times says: "If the result at Southampton could be read as a triumph of Gladstonian principles, it would certainly be discouraging to the Conservatives, but the contest turned upon obscure petty local squabbles, complicated by a teetotal onslaught on the compensation clauses of the County Government Bill."

The Pall Mall Gazette says the defeat of the Conservative candidate was the worst shock the Government has received this session.

The Star says the Government defeat was the beginning of the end, and means the triumph of the Home Rule cause through the break up of the Liberal-Unionist party.

The Pope and Irish Politics.

DUBLIN, May 25.—At a meeting of the corporation yesterday the Lord Mayor read this telegram from Archbishop Walsh, dated at Rome: "Assure the municipal authorities of Dublin that all apprehension of interference by the Holy See in Irish political affairs is groundless. The cause of Ireland has nothing to fear from Leo XIII. Accept my most distinct assurance upon this point. Protest by all means at your command and in the strongest terms against the action of the London journals which insult the Holy See by representing the Pontiff as a political partisan, and at the same time make it plain that as Irishmen and Catholics you are not to be misled by any such devices of the enemies of the nationality and faith of Ireland."

THE ROYAL MARRIAGE.

Solemnized in the Chapel of Charlottenburg Castle Yesterday.

BERLIN, May 25.—The marriage of Prince Henry, second son of Emperor Frederick, and Princess Irenee, third daughter of Grand Duke Ludwig of Hesse, was solemnized in the chapel of Charlottenburg Castle yesterday. Emperor Frederick and the Dowager Empress Augusta were present. Thousands of people were assembled outside the castle. When Gen. Von Moltke arrived he was enthusiastically greeted by the multitude.

Prince Henry and his bride left by a special train at 3 o'clock for Erdmannsdorf, where they will spend the honeymoon. They received a continuous ovation along the route.

The Kaiser's Condition.

BERLIN, May 25.—The Emperor and Empress drove through the streets of Berlin at 6 o'clock last evening. They received an immense ovation from the crowds lining the streets.

The Emperor rested better last night than he has any night since his arrival at Charlottenburg. He slept without coughing for a period of three hours. He went into the park at 10 o'clock this morning.

Converted into a Party Song.

VIENNA, May 25.—The police have forbidden the public singing of "De Watch am Rhein," the anti-Semitics having converted it into a party song.

CLEMENCEAU DENOUNCED.

He is Charged With Having Increased the Republican Divisions.

PARIS, May 25.—The Republique Francaise, commenting on the meeting of the Republicans last night which denounced Boulangerism, reproaches M. Clemenceau with having increased the division in the Republican ranks.

The Intransigeant describes the new society which the meeting decided to organize as a re-election league.

Resolved to Prevent Cæsarism.

PARIS, May 24.—At a meeting of the Republican members of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies it was resolved to combat Boulangerism and to employ every means to prevent Cæsarism, and declaring that a Republican, not a Boulanger, revision of the constitution is needed.

AN INFANT BURNED TO DEATH.

TORONTO, May 25.—Yesterday morning the infant son of Wm. O'Neil, restaurant keeper, 239 King-street, was fatally burned. About 6.30 the nurse, a Mrs. Rogers, went into the kitchen and left the boy Alphonso in the back bedroom, first floor. He was partly dressed. The little fellow got hold of a coal oil can and poured some of the oil on the kitchen stovepipe, which runs up through the first floor hall and was hot. In a moment the flames darted up and the boy was in a blaze. The nurse rushed upstairs and tried to put the fire out by wrapping her skirts around him, but these being of a light material she too was speedily in flames. By this time Mrs. O'Neil and Mr. O'Neil had come to their aid and by wrapping blankets around them put the fire out. In doing so Mrs. O'Neil burned her hands severely. The boy and the nurse were taken to the General Hospital, where the little fellow died three hours subsequently. Mrs. Rogers is severely burned on the hands and legs, but it is expected she will recover. The brigade was summoned and the fire extinguished after doing about $600 to $700 damage to furniture, etc., exclusive of the damage to the building.

The following corps of the second military district go into camp (probably at Niagara) on June 12 under command of Col. Otter, the D.A.G.:

C Company, T.S.I.; Toronto Field Battery; Hamilton Field Battery; Welland Field Battery; 12th York Battalion; 34th Ontario Battalion; 35th Simcoe Battalion; 36th Peel Battalion; 37th Haldimand Battalion; 77th Wentworth Battalion.

The Dominion brewery on Queen-street east, owned by Robert Davies, is about to change hands, a syndicate of English capitalists having cabled over that they will accept Mr. Davies' terms. It is understood that the price to be paid is nearly a million dollars. The brewery is the largest in Canada.

DEPARTURE OF LORD LANSDOWNE.

QUEBEC, May 25.—His Excellency the Governor-General, Lady Lansdowne and suite arrived at 6.30 yesterday morning. Their Excellencies breakfasted on board the car, and at 9 o'clock, escorted by the Queen's Own Canadian Hussars, they drove down to the Queen's Wharf, where a farewell address was presented by the Mayor and City Council and by the Quebec Board of Trade.

The members of the Local Government, with the exception of Mr. Mercier, attended in a body to pay their respects to His Excellency. Hon. Mr. Mercier left an autograph letter for the Governor-General explaining his absence from the city and bidding him adieu and bon voyage.

At 10 o'clock the party embarked on the River Police steam launch and were conveyed on board the Allan steamship Parisian, which immediately steamed quietly out of the harbor.

Lord Stanley to Sail on Wednesday.

LONDON, May 25.—Lord Stanley of Preston, the new Governor-General of Canada, will sail for Montreal on the steamer Sarmatian on Wednesday.

CABINET CHANGES.

OTTAWA, May 25.—The first change in the Cabinet has been made by the appointment of Hon. Mr. Foster to succeed Sir Charles Tupper as Finance Minister. The latter resigned yesterday and was reappointed High Commissioner. The appointments were the last official acts of Lord Lansdowne.

Other appointments and changes must be made ere long, but Sir John in conversation yesterday intimated that they may not be made immediately.

It is rumored that C. H. Tupper, M.P. for Pictou, will succeed Hon. Mr. Foster, Hon. Mr. McLelan retiring to the Lieutenant-Governorship of Nova Scotia, and leaving Hon. Mr. Thomson and young Tupper as the representatives of Nova Scotia in the Cabinet.

To Make More Room for Members.

OTTAWA, May 25.—It is rumored that during recess arrangements will be made for providing residences for the sergeant-at-arms and other officials who occupy rooms in the House of Commons, so that there may be more accommodation for the members. Something like fifty rooms in the Parliament Buildings are occupied by officials.

A Hamilton Pickpocket Arrested.

HAMILTON, May 25.—As Mrs. Ball and her husband were out walking the lady caught a man's hand in her pocket. When arrested he gave the name of Frances Conroy.

About 6 o'clock yesterday morning a middle-aged man named John Fox was arrested on suppositon of being a thief. Fox is a cabinetmaker and belongs to this city. Upon his back was found a coat which has been identified as part of the property stolen from the house of Mr. Alfred Webber. A set of single harness belonging to Mr. James Warrick that was stolen was also recovered.

Wedding Bells at Montreal.

MONTREAL, May 25.—Judge Loranger was married yesterday to Madame Varin at the Bishop's Chapel. His Lordship the Bishop officiated.

Mdlle. Mercier, eldest daughter of Premier Mercier, was married to S. Gouin, advocate, of this city, in the chapel of the Sacred Heart yesterday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Gouin, brother of the groom. The young couple left for an American trip.

Winnipeg's New Engine.

WINNIPEG, May 25.—The new Roland engine was tested yesterday with satisfactory results.

A BATTLE WITH PIRATES.

THE YARN OF CAPT. REID, OF THE WRECKED SAN PABLO.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—The steamer City of Pekin, which arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama yesterday, brings additional information in regard to the wrecking of the steamer San Pablo near Turnabout Island in the channel of Formosa a month ago. The captain's statement is as follows:

On Monday evening the vessel ran into a thick fog. He kept the ship on her course, though precautions were taken to keep continually sounding. On Tuesday morning the San Pablo struck a sunken rock ten miles north of Turnabout. It was impossible to back the ship off, as the two holds and coal bunkers were filled with water, and there was danger of the vessel capsizing. It was decided that it was hopeless to attempt to save the steamer or cargo, and consequently the passengers and crew took to the boats and made for Turnabout lighthouse, whence they were conveyed to Shanghai.

Just before the lifeboats were ready to be lowered a swarm of Chinese piratical junks came from the neighboring mainland. The queer-looking vessels sailed in line of battle, and Capt. Reid, realizing the danger his charges were in, made preparation to repel the attack. The pirates, however, came in such overwhelming numbers that before any demonstration could be made on board the sinking vessel the pirates were climbing up the ship's sides. They were led by a man armed with a cutlass and a large revolver, and his shipmates were also very heavily armed.

Capt. Reid passed revolvers and guns among the passengers and crew, and after a furious fusillade the Coolies were beaten off. They rallied, however, and made a second and more desperate attempt to board the San Pablo, which was fast settling in the water. Some of the pirates gained the main deck in spite of the gallant stand of passengers and crew, and were swarming toward the promenade deck, where the defenders were busy firing and reloading, when Capt. Reid brought the ship's hose pipe into requisition. The long coils of hose were manned by the crew, and instantly the pirates were again put to flight, the torrents of boiling water from the pipes sweeping many of them off the deck into the sea. The Coolies then beat a retreat, and drawing their vessels up in line cruised half a mile off the sinking vessel, with the evident intention of waiting for its abandonment. During the fight Capt. Reid imprisoned all the Chinese among his crew with the Chinese passengers in the foreshold for fear they would add their countrymen.

As soon as possible the passengers, mail and specie were put into the San Pablo's boats and then all bore away for land. When only a short distance from the wreck they saw the pirates set sail and make upon the San Pablo. They clambered over the ship's sides with grappling hooks and were soon masters of one of the finest boats that ever sailed the Pacific. Whether by accident or design they soon set fire to the ship, and when last seen smoke was pouring from the wreck in great clouds. In a few days tugs were sent to the relief of the San Pablo, but they found only the hulk burned to the water's edge and stripped of everything valuable.

It is estimated that at least a score of pirates lost their lives in the fight with Captain Reid and his men. During the battle the women and children who were on board the San Pablo sought the state rooms where they were in constant fear, not out of failing into the hands of the pirates, but of being drowned in the water which was filling the ship.

PRESBYTERIAN CENTENNIAL.

Mass Meeting at Philadelphia—Methodists Elect Another Bishop.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—Yesterday was the centennial day of the Presbyterian Church, and the members of the two General Assemblies united in great mass meetings in the Academy of Music and Horticultural Hall. The ceremonies began in both buildings at 10 o'clock, and the crowds in attendance at both were enormous.

United Presbyterians.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 25.—The Thirteenth General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America convened here yesterday. Nearly 200 delegates from all portions of the United States and Canada, and some from foreign countries are present. Rev. Dr. W. T. Maloney of Chicago was elected moderator.

Dr. Newman Elected a Bishop.

The Anglican Synod of Niagara.

HAMILTON, May 25.—On Tuesday next the Synod of the Diocese of Niagara will be convened in the schoolroom of Christ Church Cathedral. The proceedings promise to be very interesting, and several important motions are announced for discussion. About seventy clergymen and 100 lay delegates are expected to be present. The Bishop of Niagara leaves soon after the synod is closed to attend the Pan-Anglican Conference in Lambeth Palace, London.

Pasteur Cures Him of the Wolf Bite.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., May 25.—William Chamberlain, a wealthy stockman, who was bitten by a mad wolf three months ago and who visited Paris to be treated by Pasteur, returned home yesterday entirely cured. His friends gave him a grand reception last night. Mr. Chamberlain is brother of Mrs. Thomas King, the largest individual landholder in Texas. Mr. Chamberlain is confident that Dr. Spahn will establish an institute in San Antonio for the treatment of rabies.

VICTORIA'S BIRTHDAY

A Loyal Celebration in Peterborough.

A DAY OF ENJOYMENT.

PROGRAMME OF THE ATHELETIC ASSOCIATION AND BATTALION.

Horse Races on the Driving Park—Laying the Salvation Army Barrack Corner Stone—Down the River—Lacrosse Matches — Cricket — Splendid Weather and Everything Enjoyable.

The 69th anniversary of the birth of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, was celebrated by the people of Peterborough in various ways. In the town there was the programme arranged by the Athletic Association and Battalion, including baseball, military evolutions and athletic exercises, horse races under the auspices of the Driving Park Association, and the ceremony connected with laying the corner stone of the Salvation Army barracks. There was also an excursion down the river, and the lacrosse and cricket players went to other towns and villages.

The weather was all that could be desired. The morning opened bright and fine, and the weather continued clear and warm with a pleasant breeze all day. It was "Queen's weather." Early in the day the streets presented a lively appearance and all day the animated appearance remained. The celebration was a successful one, the various divisions being successfully managed.

MORNING PROGRAMME.

Baseball Match and Military Evolutions—The Canton Parade.

In the morning the Canton, mustering well up in the thirties, paraded along George-st., under the command of Capt. McNeil and Lieut. Mills, and headed by the band. Their evolutions were much admired, and after the parade the members had their photograph taken.

BASEBALL MATCH.

The baseball match commenced shortly before ten o'clock, on the P.A.A.A. grounds and the attendance, while not large, was fair. As was to be expected from the previous record of the visitors, the Atlantics, of Toronto, they found victims in the local players, who on this occasion made their first match of the season, but taken on the whole they exhibited fair form and with steady team practise for the next few weeks they bid fair to develop into amateur players of no mean calibre.

The battery of the visitors was composed of Goodwin and Jones. The former is one of the best known amateur twirlers of the Queen City, while Jones played last year with the Belleville professional team and he can hold his own both behind the bat and with the stick, with many players who have reputations that make them known far beyond the limits of their own immediate neighborhood.

The visitors did not find much difficulty in finding Cameron, all but three being credit with runs and all but the same number having base hits marked to their credit. On the contrary, the curves of Goodwin were not easily solved and the record stands four hits and four runs. Billings as catcher did remarkably well and Metheral with 13 put outs and one assist to his credit took everything that came his way and played an errorless game. If the local men had accepted all the chances that were offered them, the score would have been much closer.

With the stick Moore carried off the honors making the only two base hit of the day. It was a daisy two and should have been good for three bags. Sheldrake also made a fine hit and Metheral followed closely after him. For the Toronto men Blackley handled the willow best, making three hits and four runs out of a total of six times at bat. Jones was not far behind with three runs and two hits out of five times at bat, while he retired no less than 18 men.

Moore in left field made three pretty catches in one, two, three order, but by missing two of the same kind he rather detracted from the glory he had won previously. Brennan also made a fine catch. Cameron filled his position admirably and as short stop Kincaid did fairly well.

In coaching and base stealing the visitors far excelled and in these two important points the home players have much to learn.

Some of the decisions of the Umpire, a Toronto man, were rather questionable, but on the other hand many were objected to with regard to which there could not be the slightest doubt that the umpire was perfectly right. On the whole he acted on the square and gave just about as good satisfaction as any umpire can possibly be expected to give. 'Twas always thus and until some plan for dispensing altogether with umpires comes into vogue, the same class of kickers will always be heard from, at every game.

Taken altogether the local players are to be congratulated and if they will only profit in the future by the wrinkles they should have picked up at this game, they will be heard from the next time they play a match.

For some reason or another ball does not draw in Peterborough and the reason it is rather hard to divine, particularly by a baseball enthusiast. If the people will only patronize games properly it will give the boys nerve and enable them to put a stronger team in the field. To know that their efforts are appreciated and will be backed up by the public goes a long way towards making a winning team.

THE MILITARY.

Shortly before 12 o'clock, the battalion under command of Col. J. Z. Rogers, mustered at the drill shed and after a few preliminary exercises, headed by the band, marched over to the P.A.A.A. grounds along streets lined by thousands of people. The total strength was about 175, officered as follows:—

Col. J. Z. Rogers, Major Grover; No. 1 Co. Captain Edwards, 1st Lieut. Dennistoun, 2nd Lieut. Mason. No. 2 Co., Captain Langford, 1st Lieut. Lee. No. 3 Co., 1st Lieut. Peck, 2nd Lieut. Shaw. No. 4 Co., Captain Hill. No. 5 Co., Captain Millar, 2nd Lieut Matthews. No. 6 Co., Captain Brennan, 1st Lieut. Hammond, 2nd Lieut. Bennett.

At the grounds the battalion went through a few movements and then fired a feu-de-joie, the firing being well done. They then marched back to the shed and were dismissed.

AFTERNOON SPORTS.

Athletic Exercises Under P.A.A.A. and Battalion Auspices.

In the afternoon the programme of sports arranged by the Athletic Association and the 57th Battalion was carried out on the Association grounds. There was a large attendance of spectators—the largest the grounds have contained since the days of the lacrosse boom—and the interesting events, which followed each other regularly, quickly and in smooth and orderly way, entertained, amused and held the attention of the spectators to the last. It was one of the most satisfactory and best entertainments of the character seen for a long time, and was very creditable to those who arranged the programme and had charge of the management. The 57th Battalion band was present and elivened the proceedings by several excellent and well executed selections.

THE EVENTS AND WINNERS.

The following is a list of the events, with the names of the contestants and prize winners, the prizes and by whom presented:—

100 YARD RACE, (Association)—1st D. Miller, medal, $6, by Association; 2nd A. Moore, silk umbrella, $2.50, by Thos. Kelly. This was a very close race. Time, 10½ sec.

BICYCLE RACE, (1 mile.)—1st Wm. A. Lingham, medal, $6, by Dr. Halliday; 2nd Jas. McNamara, camping shirt, $2.50, by T. Dolan & Co. McNamara led until on the fifth lap, when Lingham passed him. On last half McNamara pulled up and there was a nice race, but Lingham came in ahead. Time, 4.37½.

COMPANY RACE.—A squad of 10 men from each company of the battalion, tied together. At the start it was a pretty sight, the men rushing in line up the grounds, but towards the end it was most amusing. No. 2 company won. Prize, pair military gloves to each in team, by A. Mercer & Co., ($3) and Lieut. Peck ($1).

100 YARDS RACE.—1st A. Forrester, (silver cup, $5, by R. W. Muncaster); 2nd D. Miller, (pipe, $2, by George Rubidge); J. Moore, J. Rose, L. Ross. Time, 10¾.

BOYS' RACE, (under 15 years, 220 yds.)—1st Jerry Flaherty, suit clothes, $5, by Gough Bros., 2nd Michael O'Brien, pair vases, $1.50, by Chas. Butler; 3rd Albert Butler, watering can, $1, Baguley & Co. Time, 29½.

440 YARDS RACE (Association).—1st A. Moore, silver medal, $4, by Association; 2nd D. Miller, album, $1.50, by C. B. Routley. In this race Miller took the lead, but on the last half Moore passed him. Time, 1 m. 8 s.

BICYCLE RACE, (2 miles).—1st W. A. Lingham, silver cup, $10, by Geo. W. Hatron; 2nd J. McNamara, dry goods, $5, by J. Hackett. A. Mooney started but did not finish. McNamara led till on the last round, when after a close run Lingham got ahead. Time 10m. 51⅝s.

MILE RACE (professional.)—1st M. Bird, $10; 2nd H. Clark, $5. This race was a procession. Time 5.23¾.

440 YARDS RACE.—1st J. J. Moore, silver cup, $6, by J. Stevenson, M.P.; 2nd L. Ross, silk umbrella, $3, by R. Fair; J. Rose, D. Sullivan, A. Forrester. Time, 58 sec.

100 YARD RACE (boys).—About 50 entries and an amusing race. 1st Wm. Heffernan, call bell, $2, by Allan Hall; 2nd Jerry Flaherty, goods, $1.50, Salisbury Bro., 3rd Miles McDonough.

CATCHING GREASY PIG.—A smarm of boys and young men took after the pig, and after being caught three times, each time by a number at once, the entries were cut down to six. L. Squires caught the animal. Prize, the pig.

DISTRICT MEETING CONCLUDED.

The Rev. I. Tovell's Departure Regretted and Representatives Elected.

The concluding session of the Methodist District Meeting was held on Wednesday afternoon. It was opened with the usual services, Mr. J. L. Hughes leading in prayer.

The reports of the collections for missionary purposes this year showed an increase of $168. Resolutions were adopted asking for a grant from the Sustentation Fund of $150 for the minister of Asnburnham circuit and also recommending South Manvers to the favorable consideration of the committee for a grant of $[illegible].

A resolution was moved by the Rev. D. Williams and seconded by the Rev. D. F. Gee, expressing the sympathy of the meeting with the Rev. A. L. Adam and wife on account of the protracted illness of Mrs. Adam and a prayer for her full and speedy recovery.

The following delegates to the annual conference and representatives on the Conference Committee were appointed:—

LAY DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE.—Messrs. John Hall and Wm. Harper, Lakefield; E. Kew, Bensfort; R. W. Clarke, A. Ferguson and James Brock, Millbrook; A. R. Kidd, Warsaw; J. Barnecott, Manvers; W. J. Mason, D. W. Dumble, R. Neill and J. L. Hughes, Peterborough; Wm. Wand, Ashburnham; Samuel Staples, Ida; J. H. Richardson, Bethany, and Samuel Grundy, Yelverton.

STATIONING COMMITTEE.—Rev. J. C. Wilson.

SUNDAY SCHOOL COMMITTEE.—Rev. J. McFarlane and Mr. John Hall.

MISSIONARY COMMITTEE.—Mr. J. L. Hughes.

The following resolution was moved by the Rev. J. C. Wilson, seconded by Mr. J. L. Hughes and unanimously adopted by a standing vote:—

"Resolved, that we the members of the District meeting take this opportunity of expressing our regret at the removal from this district and conference of our esteemed brother, the Rev. I. Tovell, chairman of the district, who, by his uniform kindness, his urbanity, his untiring zeal for the prosperity of the cause of Christ, together with his able pulpit and platform efforts, have won for him a place in the affections and best wishes of those amongst whom he has labored, and we assure him that we shall follow himself and family by our prayers for their continued prosperity in the field to which in the Providence of God they shall shortly remove."

It was moved by Mr. R. W. Clarke and seconded by the Rev. Mr. Cragg,—That the thanks of the meeting be given to the friends of Peterborough for their kindness in entertaining the members of the district meeting, and that this resolution be read from the Methodist pulpits of the town.

It was decided that the next financial district meeting be held at Millbrook.

The meeting closed with prayer, led by the Rev. J. C. Wilson.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The School Teachers of the Town and County in Council.

The Teachers' Institute of the Town and County of Peterborough met at the Court House this morning. Mr. George S. Bean, President, was in the chair, and Mr. J. J. Rooney filled his post as Secretary.

The following Committees were appointed:

Audit—Messrs. Mark and Campbell, Nomination—Messrs. Campbell, Hutchison, Rooney, Brown and Whittington. County Examinations—Messrs. Mark and Campbell and Miss McDonald. Township Conventions—Messrs. Mark and Stone, Miss Becket and Miss Munro.

Mr. J. COLE BROWN, Inspector, gave an instructive address on reading, dwelling on the pronounciation of words separately and groups of words. He also dwelt on inflection, which was neglected, and gave examples of when the voice should be sustained, should be raised and should be lowered. He gave illustrations of emphasis and tone.

Discussion followed, in which Miss Munro, Mr. Hutchinson and others took part.

The Institute then adjourned till 2 o'clock.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

Matrimonial.

The residence of the Rev. Dr. Shaw, of Toronto, formerly pastor of the George-st. Church, Peterborough, was the scene of a pleasant event on May 24th, when Miss Minnie E. V. Shaw was married to Mr. Alexander Mills, a rising young barrister of Toronto. The happy couple left the city in the afternoon for a trip down the St. Lawrence and around to New York by the Hudson. Miss Shaw's many friends in Peterborough join in best wishes for a happy future for Mr. and Mrs. Mills.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Mortuary Statistics.

The return of mortuary statistics for the month of April show that the deaths in Peterborough numbered 24, 10 males and 14 females. The causes of death were, diphtheria 2 females, erysipelas 1 female, constitutional diseases 2 females, local diseases 8 males and 6 females and developmental diseases 3 males and 3 females. The deaths in other places were Toronto 195, Brantford 23, Hamilton 69, Ottawa 86, London 31, Kingston 24, Belleville 18, Guelph 19, St. Thomas 16, Galt 8 and Montreal 276.

In chronic diseases, medicines should be restoring, and not debilitating, in their action. The wonderful strengthening and curative effects, realized from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, sustain the reputation of this remedy as the most popular blood purifier.

Extending.

Mr. Geo. Matthews finds that his pork curing and packing business is reaching such proportions that it is necessary to make several changes in his establishment to secure more room. He proposes to build quite a large extension at the north side and use fans for cooling purposes, drawing the cold air from the ice houses.

"The Royal" Flavoring Extracts are not only true to their names, but are prepared of fruits of the best quality.

Discharged.

Geo. Clark, arrested on Wednesday night by P. C. McGinity, was before J. E. Menzies on Thursday morning on a charge of drunkenness. The acting Magistrate was in a gracious mood and allowed George to depart.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $16.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

A GREAT SUCCESS

The Ludgate Lots, the disposing of which was supposed to be the work of a year, all accomplished in a week. How was it done? By the liberal use of printer's ink, by meeting industrious and intelligent young men and young women as well as heads of families on the ground in the evenings after work and after tea, presenting to their intelligence beautiful City Lots at Village Lot prices, and on terms to suit all buyers. This plan is patented and counterfeiters will be prosecuted. Of the Ludgate Lots four only remain unsold, and as I have a great many customers still unsupplied, I have obtained instructions from Mr. Carlisle to sell a few Choice Lots on Carlisle and Monroe Avenues. The manner in which this annex has been fitted up with beautiful avenues nearly all planted on either sides with trees in perfect order; the number of respectable dwellings erected and in course of erection speak volumes for the energy and enterprise of Mr. Carlisle, to whom the corporation of Ashburnham owes a debt of gratitude for the incentive he has given to building operations in their midst. In this connection I claim first mortgage for having induced Mr. Carlisle to purchase that property which has been so profitable to himself, to the Corporation and to those who have bought from him, and which will be still more profitable to all those who may patronize my Sales on the grounds,

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead; town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need—that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

What they are Saying.

A young lady in Ashburnham was heard to say last evening, "I think M—— is very forward." "Why" asked her friend, "Why he had the impudence to propose to me in leap year!" Just so, and had he followed up the proposal with the information that nice carpets and housefurnishings were to be had cheap at the golden lion the offer might have been clinched on the spot.

It's Wonderful.

What is? Why, the great talk there is about the grand excursion that is going to take place on Tuesday, June 12th, over the C. P. R. to Toronto. Canton No. 10 and St Luke's C. E. T. S. have combined for this great event. Will there be music? Yes, of the best; the 57th Battalion band will attend and furnish music. Further, the Canton chevaliers will go in their beautiful and attractive uniform. The Canton never does things by halves and does not consider expense when it gets up something for the good of the people. The tickets are bound to sell quickly, so many are saying "I want to buy a ticket," and no wonder, for the attractions will be great. Expect news from Bowmanville and Belleville. Look out for it.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all Druggists.

Legal.

The Globe in referring to the Scott Act appeal case of Winslow & Ambrose adds this explanation:—"The conviction, as is usual in these cases, contained not only an adjudication but also a penalty, viz., a fine of $50, and in default of payment, distress; and, in default of distress, imprisonment; and the conviction being against partners, the fine was divided between them, each to pay $25; but it was so drawn up that it was clear that if one partner paid his share of the fine he would still be liable to imprisonment if the other failed to pay his share. This part of the conviction the Court held was bad, and that the insufficiency was not one that was cured by secs. 87 and 88 of the Summary Convictions Act. The Court with reluctance felt bound to quash the whole conviction for the error in the part awarding punishment.

The Drama of Monte Cristo.

To-night (Friday) is presented at the Opera House the play of Monte Cristo, by the Alden Benedict Company. Very favorable notice has followed the representations given in american cities by this Company in regard to which we clip the following from the Frederick News.—"MONTE CRISTO.—The presentation of Alexander Dumas' masterpiece, "The Count of Monte Cristo," by the Alden Benedict Company, of New York, was witnessed last night by a large and perfectly satisfied audience. The strong and stirring situations of the drama were portrayed with force by all the members of the cast, the scenery was very beautiful and realistic, and upon the whole the performance was about the best that has been here this winter. Mr. Benedict is an accomplished actor himself, and he has an excellent support in the various members of his company. In the several closing scenes and the prison scene Mr. Benedict was truly great. The company have won a warm place in the hearts of Frederick theatre goers." 1w21-1d122.

MILE RACE.—1st. A. Forester, silver cup, $5, by Col. J. Z. Rogers; 2nd J. Rose, pair shoes, $2, by T.L. Bayeur & Co. Four others entered, but only the two prize winners finished. Rose led till on the last lap. Time, 5 min. 16 sec.

HURDLE RACE (120 yds).—1st J. J. Moore, silver medal, $6, by Lieut. H. A. Hammond; 2nd A. Moore, two white shirts, made to order, $4, by G. C. Clarke; L. Ross, D. Davidson, E. Milburn. A good race. Time, 14½ sec.

MENAGERIE RACE.—One of the best events of the day. Each competitor had an animal to drive across the grounds and between two poles, as follows:—Col. J. Z. Rogers, a duck; Capt. Brennan, a pig; Lieut. Hammond, a cat; Capt. Miller, a turkey; G. C. Clark, a rabbit; Lieut. Mason, a chicken, and R. B. Rogers, a goose. The audience cheered as the race commenced and laughed until it was finished. R. B. Rogers with his goose came in first; prize, the menagerie. Capt. Brennan with the pig was second; prize, goods, $2.50, by Elliott & Tierney.

TUG OF WAR.—By teams from companies of the battalion. No. 5 and 6 pulled, and the latter won. No. 1 defeated No. 4 and won the prize, a dozen silver spoons, with names engraved, by Fortye & Phelan.

THE OFFICIALS.

The manner in which the programme was carried out was a credit to the Battalion and Association and especially to those immediately in charge. The judges were Judge Weller, Col. J. Z. Rogers, Col. H. C. Rogers, Dr. Halliday and Dr. George Burnham. The starters, Capt. Brennan and R. B. Rogers. Time keeper, Mr. R. W. Muncaster. Committee of Management, Messrs. R. B. Rogers, G. C. Clark (Secretary), Capt. Brennan (Chairman), Capt. W. Miller, Capt. W. H. Hill, Lieut. E. A. Mason (Treasurer), and Lieut. H. A. Hammond.

NOTES.

There were no tiresome delays between the events.

There was, as usual, a large number who enjoyed the sports free from the top of sheds.

Mr. R. M. Roy, the enthusiastic amateur photographer, who photographed the battalion while firing the feu-de-joie, secured a number of views of the various events.

AT THE DRIVING PARK.

The Horse Races—A Novel Race to Begin With—The Named and Open Events.

In the afternoon a race meeting took place at the Driving Park. It was announced to commence at 1.30 sharp, but it was nearer three when the bell sounded to bring the horses out for the first race. The attendance was fair, about 400 people being on the grounds. The track was in good condition and as the sun was extremely hot those who sat on the "bleacher" grand stand got the full benefit of old Sol's rays

The management was not by any means what it should have been. There was too much time lost between races and heats and as it was it took over three and-a-half hours to get off three small races. A hint is as good as a nod and the managers of the Park evidently noticed that a majority of those who were present left the grounds before the races were concluded, so that in future if public patronage is to be expected a great deal more hustling must be done than was done on this occasion.

The judges were Messrs. A. Santers, F. Scrimiger and Elias Thompson, the foreigners who had promised to attend not turning up.

THE NOVELTY RACE.

The novelty race was the first on the programme and it proved to be a novelty indeed. The horses had to walk the first half mile, trot the second and run the third. Five horses entered but one dropped out after the first heat. "Nettie," owned by Mr. James Bickle, of Smith, started off with the lead and fair heel and toe, she soon left all the others in the rear, "Greybird" being second, "Nettie" winning by nearly half a mile. In the second heat the same thing occurred, except that "Parnell" took second place soon after the start and finished in that position, the winner this time being fully a quarter of a mile in the van and the others being nowhere. The The winner covered the half mile walking in the second heat in less than five minutes and trotted and ran in good time. In the race for second place "Greybird" was the only starter, "Parnell" being lame.

The following is the summary:—

NOVELTY RACE.—Mile and a half. Best 2 in 3. Open to all horses in the County of Peterborough that never started for public money. Purse, $20. 1st horse, $10, 2nd, $6, 3rd, $4. In saddle. Horses to walk first half mile, trot second half mile, run third half mile.

NAMED RACE.

This was a soft thing for "Lady Tariff," of Cobourg, who captured three straights in good style. In the first heat "Lady Tariff" led for a time, but she was soon collared by the trotter from "Sleepy Hollow" and easily beaten to the wire. In the second and third heats "Lady Tariff" led from start to finish and won the second by about two lengths and the third in a jog. A good deal was expected of the pacer, but the company was two fast for him and he had to be satisfied with third place.

The following is the summary:—

NAMED RACE.—Open to certain horses named on the bill. Purse, $60, divided. 1st $35, 2nd $15 and 3rd, $10.

J. Beatty's "Lady Tariff," Cobourg.....1 1 1
E. Brown's "Lady B," town.....2 2 2
T. Pettit's "Jerry," Lakefield.....3 3 3
Time, 3.02, 3.01 and 2.56.

THE OPEN.

This was looked forward to as the big event of the day. Four well known fliers started after much scoring.

In the first heat the horses kept positions as follows for some distance, "Tariff," "Little Ned," "Royal Jim" and "Billy W," the pacer. Just before turning into the quarter-stretch the leader broke and for some distance "Ned" kept at his wheel, Tariff however soon regained his feet and drew away, while "Billy W" took third position. They passed the judges stand in this order and kept it until the turn into the quarter stretch was reached again, when the same thing as occurred before was repeated and "Tariff" was jogged in an easy winner, "Ned's" driver having apparently given up. "Billy" 3rd and "Jim" fourth.

The second heat the order of starting was much the same as in the first. "Ned" again drew up on "Tariff" at the same spot. "Tariff" broke, found his feet and passed the wire about three lengths ahead. On the second round, "Tariff" again broke, as usual ran for some distance and passed under the wire a winner, "Ned" trotting squarely all the way along the course. When the judges announced that "Tariff" was first and "Ned" second there was some tall kicking among the drivers, owners and crowd, who were almost unanimous in agreeing that "Tariff" should be placed back for running, but the judges were firm in refusing to do so and the storm blew over.

But the fun took place after the third heat. The four got a good send off, "Billy W." being as usual somewhat in the rear, out of choice. "Ned" again forced "Tariff" to do his best, hanging on his wheel in great shape. When the leaders had traversed about a quarter of a mile, Tom McEwan, "Ned's" driver was seen to fall back and it was thought that the seat had broken, but he soon regained his proper position and a race for blood resulted. Paul, the coon, who was driving Daly's "eldewheeler" took it in his head to how the people what "Billy" could do, so he used the whip with a vengeance, and from fourth place he advanced to first, but he did not hold it long, however, as "Tariff," when he struck the homestretch came in like a whirlwind with the pacer in second place. Then the crowd rushed to the judge's stand to see what decision would be given, and McEwen trotted up with a broken sulky, which he alleged the driver of "Tariff" had caused by cutting across him when the two horses were almost neck and neck. The other drivers back McEwan up and so did the crowd and the judges after consultation decided to put "Tarif" back to fourth place and give the heat to "Billy W." A rousing cheer greeted this decision.

FREE FOR ALL (unfinished).—Open to pacers and trotters. Purse $100, divided, 1st $60, 2nd $25 and 3rd $15.

J. Beatty's "Tariff," Cobourg.....1 2 4
A. P. Morgan's "Little Ned," town.....2 2 2
F. J. Daly's "Billy W.," town.....3 4 1
W. Clancy's Royal Jim," town.....4 3 3
Time, 2.38, 2.38 and 2.41.

This afternoon the race was completed and "Tariff" won in 2.28, with quite a number of lengths to spare. "Ned" was second.

THE ARMY'S BIG EVENT.

A conspicuous feature of the day's proceedings was the laying of the corner stone of the new Salvation Army Barrack, on Simcoe-st., by Mr. John Sawers. Although the construction of the fine building has been somewhat advanced, provision had been made to allow of the ceremony taking place on such an auspicious occasion as the birthday of Her Majesty, and arrangements with that end in view were completed some time since. The edifice when finished will be the finest structure erected by the army outside of the cities. The seating capacity is estimated at 1000 with platform accommodation for 200 in addition. The basement will be fitted up in rooms for the officers in charge and staff who will live on the premises.

The army gathered at the barrack on Aylmer-st. at 2 p.m. Adjutant Bolton had been named as officer for the day, and was ably assisted by local members of the staff, including Capt. Woodgate, Capt. Savage, Lieut. Stolliker, and from a distance were Capt. Sharpe, Cobourg, Capt. Webber, Norwood, Capt. Eddis, Lakefield, and Capt. Carnardine, Warkworth, a lady officer. Several stirring hymns were sung, after which the soldiers formed in line and headed by the army band marched around the block. They halted at the new barrack where a platform had been erected to accommodate the speakers and officers. At the top of the foundation, to right of main entrance, a cavity in the wall showed where the corner stone would be placed. A large concourse of people gathered to witness the ceremony.

Capt. Bolton stepped to the front of the platform and addressed a few words of welcome and encouragement to the army. A short prayer by Capt. Woodgate was followed by the singing of "When the Mighty Angels Trumpet Blast," prayer by Adjutant Bolton, and the song "Bless Our Army," with a brief speech from soldier Joe Spencely who finished by singing "I Want to Hear the Flipping of the Angel's Wings" and a short address by sister Valois closed the first part of the ceremony.

Adjutant Bolton made a stirring address in support of the army and its objects, and particularly as it carried the gospel to the doors of those who would not come to the house of God. The army was prospering, as the new temple they were erecting amply proved being no shabby affair but a credit to the street and the town.

Mr. J. Sawers came forward and earnestly spoke of the worth of the army, its officers and soldiers, their zeal and energy and self-sacrifice. It was within his knowledge of the good accomplished in town. The doors of the new barrack would ever be open and a warm welcome always ready for all comers.

Mr. Sawers then turned and with the assistance of those at hand the corner stone was lowered to its place, and declared well and truly laid. Underneath the stone were placed copies of the DAILY and WEEKLY REVIEW, Daily Examiner, War Cry and Little Soldier. Several of the officers passed through the crowd of spectators and received a very substantial subscription to the funds of the army.

For an hour and a half afterward an interesting time was held. Many soldiers related their experience and expressed their confidence in the work of the army. Capt. Davis, who had served thirteen terms in prison, Capt. Jack Eddie, Soldier J. Baker, Capt. Sharpe, the saved Scotchman, Lieut. Robbins and others spoke. Cadet Boller and other lady members gave songs which were sustained by rousing choruses.

In the evening a grand turn out was made and a general jubilee service held in the barracks on Aylmer-st.

DOWN THE RIVER.

The steamer Golden Eye ran two trips down the river to the pleasant resort, Jubilee Point. She went down at eight o'clock in the morning and again at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and took quite a number of passengers on each occasion.

The high wind prevented the boat races being held; but an enjoyable time was spent at the Point, and the boat returned to town at an early hour.

OUT OF TOWN SPORTS.

Championship Lacrosse Match—Cricket at Campbellford—Junior Lacrosse.

A twelve of the Riverside Lacrosse Club left on the C. P. R. in the morning for Barrie, to play the team of that town a game for the championship of the district. They returned on the late train, but they were beaten. Mr. M. Tierney, who acted as field captain, protested against Hartley and James playing, and from information since received Manning and Agnew should should have also been protested. On the part of Barrie, Patterson was protested, but the referee who happened to know that the player was all right said so, and the protest was dropped.

The boys upon their arrival in the town were met by a large delegation of citizens and a brass band and escorted up town to their hotel, and during their sojourn in the capital of Simcoe they were used so well, that they will never forget the place. Among the names of those who used them like kings, outside of the lacrosse team, they mention particularly "Chip" Fairbairn and Mr. Lennox.

As regards the match it is not necessary to say much. The outside men on the Barrie team, did the work and Peterborough was beaten without winning a game. The Barrie players with the able assistance of the foreigners played an elegant team game, while on the Peterborough side the play was well sustained. The attendance at the game was large, ladies largely predominating.

For the Barrie players, the professionals did the work, while for the home men Joyal, Phelan, Rose, Patterson, Halpin, Meagher and Duncan, are well worthy of mention.

CRICKET MATCH.

A Peterborough team won a cricket match at Campbellford. "Wrighton's Lambs" went to that village and played the Campbellford club, the team being composed as follows:—Messrs. G. Medill, W. D. Parker, F. J. C. McDonnell, E. H. Ratallack, M. Hamilton, W. H. Wright, W. Hartley, Wm. Hamilton, Geo. Boucher and J. H. Burnham. Campbellford went to bat and scored 37. The "lambs" followed and made 42. Wrighton and Hartley made "good stand and scored 8 and 10. Wm. Hamilton also made 10 runs. In the second innings Campbellford made 50, R. Bonnycastle played a brilliant innings for 20. Peterborough made 49 in the second, with one wicket to fall thus winning by one wicket. In this innings Max. Hamilton played a fine game and rolled up 22. J. H. Burnham made a stand with Hamilton and added 11 to the score. Max. Hamilton bowled well, of course, and in the second innings performed the hat trick, a feat which was also accomplished by a Campbellford player. Hartley also did good bowling. The attendance was large, and the Peterborough players returned with their favorable opinion of Campbellford cricketers strengthened.

AT MILLBROOK.

The Ætnas, a junior lacrosse club, played the Millbrooks at that village. The Ætnas played their first match well, holding their own in good style. After an hour and a half of exciting play the match was declared a draw.

Promenade Concert.

The promenade concert at the Lansdowne Rink was the closing event of the day. The attendance was larger than ever seen in Peterborough before and the band appeared to acknowledge the event by playing in a style that surpassed, if anything, their previous efforts. That they were appreciated was amply testified by the applause.

—Port Hope's rate of taxation this year will be two cents, twenty mills on the dollar.

—To the credit of the town be said that there were no cases at the police court this morning.

—The result of the recent examinations in the Collegiate Institute will be published in the REVIEW to-morrow.

—On Wednesday afternoon one of Snowden's busses broke down near the C. P. R. hotel. Cause a broken axle.

—The Salvation Army parade on Thursday evening was headed by a drunken man, supported by two of the officers.

—The Horticultural Park was opened to the public for the season yesterday, and a large number took advantage of it.

—Lindsay and Port Hope Y. M. C. A. lacrosse clubs played for two hours at Port Hope on May 24th and won three games each.

On Tuesday Miss Bradley, of Rathbun Station, was struck by a train on the Central Ontario railway and died the same evening.

—Mr. Samuel Horton, of Stirling, was thrown out of a waggon on Wednesday, by his horses running away, and was killed instantly.

—The omnipresent dog was at the race course yesterday, and as usual he got in the way of the horses, but as luck would have it, he did no particular harm.

—A flag floated from the top of Ludgate's Hill yesterday. It was probably the highest point in town, or neighborhood from which the Union Jack was flung to the breeze.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1888.

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

[illegible] I have been making up my mind to break off my engagement ever since my grandmother died," she said, gaining courage when absolutely under fire.

"By George! you ought to be ashamed to confess it. To throw off a young fellow that is a great deal too good for you, the moment a pressing necessity was removed. I never was so humiliated in my life as when Waring came to speak to me last night. What's to become of you, I'd like to know?"

"I will try to take care of myself and not to trouble anyone."

"Take care of yourself! Why you have acted like a perfect idiot. I haven't patience to listen to you, and—and I wash my hands of you. I don't suppose Waring would accept any overture now."

"And I shall certainly not make any," said Mona, quickly.

"Then what is to become of you? You haven't a rap, and my doors shall be closed against you!"

"But mine are open to her," said Mme. Debrisay, with dignity.

"I suspect, and I told Lady Mary so," he continued, without heeding her, "that there is some clandestine love affair under all this. You have inherited your mother's taste for a low-born lover."

"If I find as good a husband, I shall be fortunate," cried Mona, with spirit; "nor should I be marrying beneath me. I have no wish to deny my kind, good father."

"Then, why did you drop his name?"

"I did not; poor grannie called me by my second baptismal name before I knew what a surname meant; but from this time forward I will resume my father's."

"But you are known as a connection of my wife's. I will not have you disgrace us; and I will not support you, unless I know we shall be spared that—"

"Disgrace you, indeed!" cried Mme. Debrisay. "Who mentions disgrace in the same breath with Mona's name? You are forgetting yourself, Sir Robert! You may have a right to be angry perhaps, but don't let your anger make you forget you are a gentleman."

Sir Robert looked at her amazed, then in a changed tone, and with a gleam of amusement in his eye, he said—

"If I seemed rude, I regret it. Your young friend's unprincipled conduct to a worthy gentleman—who intereeded for her, madame, absolutely interceded for her—has irritated me beyond endurance."

Mme. Debrisay bowed her forgiveness.

"I only wish to stay here, and to be forgotten," said Mona.

Sir Robert played with his watch-chain for a minute in silence.

"I believe it would be best," he said at last. "I renounce you from this time forth, nor will I allow Lady Mary nor my girls to hold any communication with you. I have a couple of hundred pounds still in my hands of Mrs. Newburgh's money, after paying funeral expenses and other things. I will send you a check for it, and whatever belongs to you at the Chase."

"I have already put everything together, anticipating this expulsion," said Mona.

Sir Robert made a step or two toward the door, and paused irresolute.

"I'll give you another chance. Will you authorize me to make overtures to Waring? I'll do my best for you, if you will."

"It is impossible I could consent to such a proposal!" cried Mona.

"Then I have no more to say, nor shall I ever see you again if I can help it."

He turned to go.

"Though you are so angry, Sir Robert, I am not the less grateful for all your kindness," sobbed Mona. "I do love Lady Mary and Evelyn dearly; it is a cruel punishment never to see them again."

"I have no patience with sentimental bosh," he returned harshly. "Your action proves how much of real regard you have for any of us." And seizing his hat he left the room.

CHAPTER VII.—A NEW LIFE.

Mona's boxes arrived in due time from Harrowby Chase, and a formal list of disbursements on account of the late Mrs. Newburgh from Sir Robert Everard, accompanied by a check for a hundred and fifty-three pounds, thirteen and fourpence, the balance due to her.

"There, dear Deb, there is my whole fortune! What shall I do with it?"

"We must take care of it, ma belle—great care. Let me see. I had better lodge it to my account, and I will give you an acknowledgment that I owe you that amount. I am proud to say I have an account at a bank. Began with the Postoffice Savings Bank, dear; but as my connection grew, through your dear grandmother and others, I gathered enough to move a step higher. I make a fair amount for four months of the year—more than, I ever hoped to do once—then rather less for four more—a trifle for two—and two don't count at all. If my health is spared, I hope to provide for my old age."

"I know you are a wonderful woman, dearest Deb. But I cannot live upon you. What scheme had you in your head for me the other day?"

"I will tell you. Now I am getting a name, people begin to bother me to teach quite little children, and I believe I have reached that point where a few airs would do me good. So I shall say I cannot undertake children under—oh! I'll fix an age by and by; but that I should like them to be trained for a year, or whatever time it suits to say, by my pupil and assistant; that I will see what progress they are making occasionally, and that they may be considered as under my tuition, though at half price. It will take, my dear, like wildfire. You are a very fair musician. We'll go into partnership, and make a good thing of it."

"What a splendid idea! Do you really think I can teach?"

"Not a doubt of it; but I can tell you it's horrid work, and needs the patience of Job. I begin to believe there is nothing on earth so rare as a good ear! You will get on, I am certain, only don't be too anxious, and be sure you give yourself airs. The public is a nettle that stings if it is too tenderly touched."

"I am not naturally meek, but I shall certainly feel anxious."

"Have faith in yourself, dear; it's the only way to get on. Here's a book on teaching the piano in German. You study it, and follow it. Practice up a few of your noisiest pieces. People seem to think you can teach music with your fingers, instead of your head. They are so taken with a few gymnastics on the keyboard."

"Yes, Deb, I will practice diligently. I haven't touched the piano since poor grannie died."

"Well, it's time you began. You have a pretty touch and a fluent finger. As to singing; come, let us try that duet, Signor Boccaricho taught you last winter. What ages away that winter seems to have gone!"

"Ah! does it not?" said Mona, with a deep sigh. "Where is the book? I will begin my preparations at once. I must do credit to your recommendation. I long to make a start in real life."

Reality is a serious thing, yet it has its inspirations. The sense of doing real work—of earning hard money, has a dignity in its laboriousness which scarcely anything else bestows; and Mona would have rejoiced in this new development of energy, had she not been so deeply wounded. Her sudden, complete renunciation by her valued friends at Harrowby Chase cut her to the soul, especially as she felt she had in a measure deserved it. Her bitter disappointment in Lisle was more regret for the loss of an illusion than sorrow for a personal bereavement. In her short experience of society, she had no friendships or intimacies save with Sir Robert Everard's family. It was this abandonment that depressed and saddened her.

JOHN CURRAN KENT AGAIN.

The U. S. House Foreign Relations Committee Will Investigate.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 25.—Mr. Belmont (N.Y.) introduced in the House yesterday the following resolution, which was adopted:

"Whereas, John Curran Kent, a naturalized citizen of the United States, has been convicted of complicity with one Dr. Gallagher in an alleged dynamite plot in England, and is now suffering a term of imprisonment therefor in Millbank Penitentiary, London:

"Whereas, it is reported by the United States Consul-General in London that the conviction of said John Curran Kent was contrary to the charge of the judge who presided at the trial and is believed to have been obtained on insufficient and improperly considered evidence, and

Whereas, it appears that the American citizenship of the said John Curran Kent was not made known at the trial of his case, and therefore proper representations could not be made in his behalf;

"Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Affairs be and is hereby instructed to inquire into the facts of the case of said John Curran Kent and report them to the House.

CAPITAL AND FUNDS OVER - - - - - - - - $9,000,000
ANNUAL INCOME OVER - - - - - - - - - - $1,800,000

The continued steady [illegible] his Company's business NOW EXCEEDING THE AGGREGATE OF ALL THE OTHER CANADIAN COMPANIES, and being more than a fourth of the entire Life Assurance business of the Dominion, its favorable morality; its moderate expenses, and the high character of its investments, afford good grounds or highly favorable and satisfactory profits to its assurers and EXPLAINS THE CAUSE OF THE UNPARALLELED SUCCESS OF THE COMPANY FOR THE LAST 41 years.

BANKERS.—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce
SOLICITORS.—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITERS.—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS.—The five and ten years five per cent debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS.—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be paid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

WHY NOT BUILD A HOME?

I have several fine lots suitable for private residences, in excellent location and which are to-day worth more money than I am asking for them. Men with some means should look at these properties.

I have also for sale a number of lots just ready for Working Men to build on. The location is good and the price so low that it is not wise to continue paying rent. I will advance money to anyone wishing to build on any of the above lots, at lowest current rates of interest, and easiest terms of re-payment. Workingmen should give me a call and see if I cannot offer them something to their advantage. Just imagine, a beautiful lot, frontage 61 ft. 8 in., by 150 ft. deep, for $150.00. Cheapest property in town.

Some Things to Say

Is there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods. We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Satin. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line "80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1,25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

A SLIGHT DECREASE IN THE EXPORTS FOR APRIL.

Free Imports for the Month Greater and Dutiable Less than for the Corresponding Period Last Year.

OTTAWA, May 26.—Judge Fournier and Acting Assistant Clerk of the Privy Council Bourbee left for Halifax yesterday, where Sir John Ross, Commander of the Forces of British North America, will be sworn in to-morrow. It is not likely that he will visit Ottawa, but it is probable that Chief Justice Ritchie will be appointed Deputy Administrator to sign warrants, etc., so as to avoid delay in sending documents to Halifax for signature.

Lord Stanley sails for Quebec next Thursday, and will come right through to Ottawa for a few days, after which he will spend a short time at Quebec and then go fishing in the Cascapedia.

The arbitrators on the Canadian Pacific Railway claim on account of the Onderdonk section of the road met here yesterday, and agreed to meet at Vancouver June 26 for the hearing of evidence.

Hon. Mr. Pope continues to improve in health, and attended the meeting of Council yesterday.

To-day's Canada Gazette contains the appointment of Sir Charles Tupper as High Commissioner and of P. Pelletier as chief clerk of the Secretary of State's Department.

The total exports for April were $3,228,653, of which the produce of Canada was $3,077,719 and of other countries $150,934. Compared with the same month last year this shows a decrease of $153,588 in the former and $75,074 in the latter. In the produce of Canada the decreases are:

Mine	$ 9,199
Animals and their produce	96,173
Agricultural products	219,463
The increases are:
Fisheries	$ 67,441
Forest	43,145
Manufactures	46,943
Miscellaneous	13,509

Dutiable goods	$5,098,180
Coin and bullion	41,149
Free goods	2,243,411
Total	$7,382,742
Duty collected	$1,611,400

Compared with last year this shows a decrease in dutiable goods of $682,122, an increase in free goods of $511,482, a decrease in duty of $131,739, and an increase in coin and bullion of $22,598.

The Post Office Savings Bank statement for April shows:

Deposits	$ 570,234
Withdrawals	786,943
Balance at credit of depositors	19,822,279

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of London, Canada, is called for June 19.

Recruits for the Mounted Police will be sent to Port Arthur by steamer from Owen Sound, at which place the recruiting officer will make his appearance next week.

Plastering the interior of the new Department block will be commenced next Monday. The work has been sub-let by Contractor Charlebois to James Strachan of Ottawa. The amount is about $20,000. It is expected that the new block will be completed and occupied before winter sets in.

The contract for the Aylmer Postoffice has been let by the Public Works Department to D. Macdonald of Aylmer. The price is in the neighborhood of $7000.

Sir Charles Tupper has resigned for Cumberland, and available successors in Parliament mentioned are R. G. Leckie, manager of the Spring Hills mines, a personal friend of Sir John, William Oxley and Barrister Arthur Dickey, son of Senator Dickey.

Sanford Fleming, C.M.G., has been elected President of the Royal Society of Canada.

FROM TORONTO.

A Committee Appointed to Inquire Into The Working of the Coal Section.

TORONTO, May 26.—A committee has been appointed by the Board of Trade to enquire fully into the working of the coal section of the Board.

A special Convocation of the University of Toronto for conferring degrees in Medicine was held in the Convocation Hall yesterday afternoon at 3.30. Among the spectators were many ladies; who smiled on the blushing graduates. The students mustered in strong force and cheered their favorites as they came forward to receive their honors. The degree of M.D. has previously only been conferred on a few men, but in future it is expected that the great majority of the profession will take up this degree.

A meeting of scientific men interested in the matter of copyright was held at the Press Club recess last night, and steps were taken to form an organization to be known as the Canadian Copyright Association. Another meeting will be held shortly, when a permanent organization will be effected. The various bodies throughout the Dominion will be solicited to assist in furthering the objects of the association.

For Ten Years.

MONTREAL, May 26.—Detective Naegele was yesterday sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. In passing sentence Judge Baby remarked that the reason he did not give Naegele as long a term as Fahey had received was because he was not the chief promoter of the Grand Trunk robbery.

Drowned at Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Ont., May 26.—Geo. Billings, a resident of this town, was found drowned yesterday in the River Maitland, opposite Vanstone's flouring mill. He was fishing from a pier on a high bank, was seized with a fit, and fell in about three feet of water.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

AN UNEXPECTED RESULT.

THE SOUTHAMPTON ELECTION A SURPRISE TO BOTH PARTIES.

The Liberals Claim a Victory for Home Rule, and the Conservatives Say the Fight was on a Local Issue.

LONDON, May 26.—Southampton is a surprise to both sides; the Liberals did not expect to win it; the Tories did not expect to lose, wherefor though prior to the election it was admitted by both that the contest was conducted chiefly on a side issue, the Liberals having won naturally claim the result as a victory for Home Rule and a protest against coercion. The Tories say: "No, you chose to fight on local matters, some peculiar to Southampton and some broader, involving one of the critical points in the Local Government Bill." But even this they say with wry faces.

Whatever may be true of Home Rule, our Conservative friends have clearly got a blow. They took issue with the temperance party, which is very strong in Southampton. They softened to some extent their proposals about compensation for quashed licenses, but they stood by the principle of Mr. Ritchie's measure. On that, at any rate, they have been beaten: Southampton is the first constituency in which this question has been fought out, and the result is plain enough. Mr. Ritchie will have to modify, if not abandon, these licensing clauses of his bill.

Looked at more broadly with reference to Home Rule, Southampton is not, they say, a cause of unmitigated grief either to Lord Randolph Churchill or to Mr. Chamberlain. Lord Randolph is likely to see in this defeat another proof of his Preston argument about broken pledges and the futility of mere coercion as a permanent policy.

Mr. Chamberlain, now Sir William Harcourt's guest at Lyndhurst in New Forest, has been flying a kite. A journal, which sometimes serves him as an organ, published this week a new draft of his old scheme of Irish councils as a substitute for an Irish Parliament. It cannot be said that the reception of this suggestion was on the other side very flattering. The Tories, for the most part, passed it over in silence. The Gladstonians said: "This will never do." Still they found it interesting as evidence that Mr. Chamberlain, like Lord Randolph, felt that something must be done and some policy offered to the country. The Parnellites scornfully rejected the Birmingham boom, avowing moreover, cynically enough, that if they got all that Mr. Chamberlain offered they would use it as another lever to agitation for entire Home Rule.

What Southampton comes opportunely as a reinforcement to that party of discontent inside the Tory-Unionists' camp, of which Lord Randolph and Mr. Chamberlain are beginning to be regarded as the leaders. Southampton may not denote open hostility to coercion or to the general Irish policy of the present Ministry, but it certainly does not denote enthusiastic approval.

The Calvinist Methodists have, perhaps, an idea that it is possible to annex Mr. Spurgeon to their denomination. They have been passing a vote of sympathy with him in his present ecclesiastical troubles. He replies in a remarkable letter. "Mourning," he says, "over a great evil in some of the churches I sacrificed place, friendship and repute to be clear of it, my protest was resented and judged to be needless." But he considers that the discussions have more than justified his charges, and repudiates again the compact which was made without his concurrence. He then adds: "It has cost me many wounds and much dishonor to have been the accuser of my brethren. It is still more painful to find their great errors not regarded as serious by the mass of professors. My only course is to follow a separate path, not, however, separating myself from any denomination who hold the faith once delivered to the Saints." This is Mr. Spurgeon's way of saying that the Calvinist Methodist who agrees with him is a better Christian than the Baptist who follows the "down grade" with the Baptist Union. Wider than ever before is the breach between the Baptists and their great teacher.

Catholics Warned.

DUBLIN, May 26.—Bishop O'Dwyer of Limerick has sent a letter to the Mayor of Limerick giving warning that Catholics who attend the League meeting announced to be held on Sunday will be guilty of a grievous sin in view of the admonition of the papal rescript. The Bishop regrets that the national organization should be risked for the sake of upholding the plan of campaign, which is condemned by both Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell.

AT THE GERMAN CAPITAL.

Princess Irene's Wedding-Dress—The Retaliatory Decree.

BERLIN, May 26.—At the Royal wedding yesterday the bride, Princess Irene of Hesse, wore a low body dress, trimmed around the neck and set with large diamonds, and a large necklace of gold. She held a fan set with diamonds. Her breast ornaments, which were diamonds, and her bracelets, were all ancient royal jewels. The Empress was dressed in pale green silk, with a plastron of silver brocade and a pale blue silk train. She wore a splendid diadem of diamonds, white feathers, reviere diamonds on her neck and carried a boquet of orchids. The Crown Princess was dressed in white, decorated with the Russian Order of St. Catherine.

After breakfast, while the bride was dressing for her journey, her garter was cut up and distributed according to an old German custom.

Germany's Reprisal.

STRASBURG, May 26.—The Strasburger Post, Prince Von Hohenlohe's organ, in a strong article with reference to the recruial decree, recounts Prince Bismarck's magnanimous advances since 1870 to bring about friendly relations with the French, who have always responded churlishly and discourteously, and says: "If Germany now says 'come, we have had enough of this,' nobody can accuse us of being disturbers of the peace."

Considered Purely Vexatious.

PARIS, May 26.—The French press is unanimous in protesting against the decree which has just been published in Germany in regard to the forms to be observed by persons going to Alsace Lorraine. It is considered as purely vexatious that no foreigner should be allowed to cross the Franco-German frontier unless he has a passport bearing the vise of the German ambassador in Paris. The newspapers call attention to the fact that these measures are all the more unjustifiable since the French do not disturb the 200,000 Germans who live among them.

Windthorst's Proposal Rejected.

BERLIN, May 26.—The Lower House of the Prussian Diet has rejected, by a vote of 179 to 148 a motion of Dr. Windthorst altering the administration of the popular schools. The vote assures the passage of the proposal that the state undertake to contribute 20,000,000 marks toward the support of the schools, on the condition that the communes renounce the right to collect fees.

French Politics.

PARIS, May 26.—The groups of the Right held a meeting to-day and reaffirmed the necessity of a revision of the Constitution and a dissolution of Parliament. A committee was appointed to organize an agitation throughout the country in favor of the dissolution.

The Quebec Resolutions.

QUEBEC, May 26.—The debate on the Interprovincial Conference resolutions was continued in the Assembly by Messrs. Lareau, Lynch, Taillon and others up till 12 o'clock last night, when a vote was taken and the resolutions carried by 31 to 17, Dr. Cameron (Huntingdon) voting with the Opposition.

U. S. SENATORS AND THE TREATY.

Several Hours of Yesterday's Secret Session devoted to the Fisheries.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—The Senate spent several hours again in session yesterday, ostensibly discussing the motives of Senator Sherman (Ohio), to proceed to the consideration of the Fisheries Treaty with open doors, but in reality debating the merits of the Treaty itself. Senator Morgan (Ga.) was the principal speaker.

The afternoon session is reported to have been remarkably dull as a general thing, but it is said that a colloquy between Senators Edmunds and Morgan, in regard to things the President was likely to do if the Senate does not ratify the treaty, would be read with interest if made public.

No action was taken and the treaty, though under discussion, has not yet been formally taken up.

Which Is It.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The Tribune's Washington special calls attention to a curious phase of the Fishery Treaty matter in the Senate: "There is one feature of the attitude assumed by the Democratic Senators in this business to which attention has not yet been drawn, though it is hardly a novel thing. It is the utter disregard with which the recommendations of the President are treated by the Democratic Senators. The President recommended a discussion of the treaty with open doors; his Secretary of State invited it with boastful pompousness. Now that the Republicans have met the wishes of the Administration, they are confronted with a solid Democratic opposition. The conclusion to be drawn is either that the President in making his recommendation was not sincere, or that the Democratic Senators are anxious to administer a snub to the President in public.

A Small Committee's Big Job.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The Senate Committee on Finance held its first meeting yesterday, at which a general discussion of plans and purposes took place. The subcommittee will probably hold daily meetings hereafter. From developments at to-day's meeting it appears probable that there will be substantial agreement upon the administrative features of a tariff bill, in short that the Senate Underwaltzation Bill will be added to any tariff bill that may be sent over from the House, also that the two sides will substantially agree in respect to the removal of the incongruities and inconsistencies of the present customs laws, many of which have been called to the attention of Congress by various secretaries of the treasury. It is also thought probable that both parties will assent to the putting of a number of new articles on the free list, but beyond this point it is expected that the sub-committee will divide upon strict party lines; that is in respect to new rates to be established upon dutiable goods.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The business failures occurring throughout the United States and Canada for the past seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 213 and for Canada 12, or a total of 225, as compared with 189 last week and 200 the week previous to the last. The figures for the corresponding week of last year were 175, being 153 in the United States and 22 in Canada.

Ancient and Honorable Artillerymen.

NEW YORK, May 26.—On the steamer Trave from Bremen, which arrived yesterday, is a committee of twenty-one members of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of London, the oldest military organization in existence. They have come here to attend the 250th anniversary of the Boston branch of the Order.

Called at the White House.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 26.—Cardinal Gibbons and all the other church dignitaries who took part in the laying of the corner stone of the Catholic University Thursday, called at the White House at noon yesterday by special appointment and paid their respects to the President.

Beecher's Successor.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott was last night elected by a vote of 400 to 60 permanent pastor of Plymouth Church.

A JOURNALISTIC COMBINE.

EDITORS IN WINNIPEG WASHING DIRTY LINEN IN PUBLIC.

Interesting Facts in Connection With Certain Manitoba Newspapers Brought to Light.

WINNIPEG, May 26.—Some interesting facts in connection with Manitoba journalism are being developed by a newspaper war now being waged in this city. Editor Luxton of The Free Press, a candidate for South Winnipeg, published an open letter to his constituents explaining his acceptance of the printing contract from the Greenway Government while he was a member of the Legislature. He asserts that he helped Burrows to start The Manitoban, now The Call, and acknowledges that there was a combine for protection from disastrous journalistic competition. He offered to resign when he found that acceptance of Government printing violated his independence in Parliament, but was advised not to do so, and holding that contract neither influenced his vote nor the policy of The Free Press.

The Call replies with a letter written a year ago by Burrows to Luxton, when the latter brought the existing printing matter up in the House, setting forth the history of the contract, alleging that Luxton negotiated with the Norquay Government to publish a Tory paper for them—still issuing The Free Press as the Reform organ, and when the negotiations were broken off by Luxton becoming a candidate in 1885 in South Winnipeg, that he urged Burrows to start a Conservative paper, offering to sell out The Free Press for that purpose.

A large number of American farmers who went to Washington Territory and Oregon are returning and settling in Manitoba.

YESTERDAY'S FIRES.

The Business Portion of Fonthill Almost Wiped Out—A $10,000 Blaze at Iona.

ST. CATHARINES, May 26.—At 7.35 last night fire was discovered in J. J. Savigny's grocery store at Fonthill, and the building being frame the fire rapidly spread to the adjoining buildings, consuming George Gamble's shoe store, J. P. Pauly's paint shop and the old tin store and workshop owned and occupied by Wm. H. Helms. All the destroyed property was insured. Yesterday's fire, in conjunction with the one of about three weeks ago, has swept away the entire business portion of the village, with the exception of Mr. F. Kingsman's general store and postoffice.

IONA, Ont., May 26.—At Iona Station at 2 o'clock yesterday morning Wm. Henderson's large flour mill, grain warehouse and a stable adjoining were discovered to be on fire, and in an incredibly short time the whole, together with the valuable contents, were burned to the ground. Loss about $10,000; insurance not known.

OSHAWA, May 26.—The house of Lewis Grass of Columbus, north of Oshawa, was burnt yesterday. The loss is about $8000; insured in the Lancashire for $1500. This morning about 4 o'clock fire was discovered in the block here occupied by Lowes & Co., King-street, but was checked before much damage was done.

HAGERSVILLE, May 26.—The dwelling and barns of David Pickle were burned yesterday. The loss is about $2000; no insurance. Mr. Van Buskirk's dwelling was also burned. Both were in the Township of Townsend.

HAMILTON, May 26.—A small fire occurred this morning in a bedroom of W. Carter's house. The loss is about $100 on building and $100 on furniture.

FOUND IN THE LAKE.

HAMILTON, May 26.—The mystery connected with the disappearance on March 19 of William Sharpe, baker and confectioner, who had for thirty years carried on business in this city, was practically cleared up yesterday when Fisherman McGillivray discovered his body floating in the lake. Mr. Sharpe had met with serious losses through endorsing notes for a friend, and it is thought that his business may have unhinged his mind. A coroner's jury viewed the body and adjourned until Tuesday. The remains were buried to-day.

A small boy from St. Mary's, who is visiting at James Garner's residence on Locke-street, had his face severely scorched and his eyes slightly injured by an explosion of fire-crackers. A 7-year-old son of Mr. James Pett and 9-year-old Richard Lyons were terribly burned about the face yesterday by an explosion of gunpowder with which they were playing.

Mrs. Callon was severely injured by a runaway in the market this forenoon.

There were two large cocking mains on the Queen's Birthday. About daylight four boat-loads of sports stole away through the mist on the bay and headed for the Desjardines Canal. The battle was held on Princess Island in the Dundas marsh. Another crowd had a main on the Dundas-road not far from the toll-gate.

Suicide at Brantford.

BRANTFORD, May 26.—Thomas W. Hall has committed suicide by hanging himself. He retired early. Having secreted a piece of rope, he fastened this on a large nail on the wall of his room and made a slip-knot on one end, pulling it round his neck and swung off. When found about midnight life was extinct. Deceased had not been of right mind for some time past. An inquest will be held.

Four Hundred Families Homeless.

BUCHAREST, May 26.—The village of Berlan was destroyed by fire yesterday. Four hundred families are homeless.

UNDER THE HEAD OF BUILDING NOTES

The Oshawa Vindicator says:—"Messrs. Rowse Bros., enterprising merchants, O. C. Rowse, of Peterborough, and E. J. Rowse of this town, are building another store on King-st. east, in rear of their present block. When completed it will be an ornament to the street and will make one of the largest blocks in town. Mr. Edwards has the contract for the stone and brick work, and Mr. S. Gliddon for the woodwork. We say success to such enterprises."

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Lecture on Industrial Education—Other Subjects Discussed.

At the afternoon session there was a still larger attendance. Mr. Brown continued his address on reading, taking up again its rules regarding inflections after comma, sustained voice; semi-colon, colon, period, and exclamation, falling inflection; interrogation, rising inflection. These rules were liable to change in some circumstances.

Mr. A. HUTCHISON gave an address on a method of teaching arithmetic by "carrying the old into the new." He carried the method into reading, grammar and geography, illustrating the steps on the blackboard.

Mr. W. HOUSTON, M. A., of Toronto, took up the subject of "Grammar." Although grammar was the science of language, he would, he said, confine it to "the science of the sentence." The fundamental law of thought was that a sentence was a mental assertion of something about something. If these conditions were not fulfilled the sentence would be incomplete. To build up the science of grammar in teaching, a systematized examination of sentences should be made. He pointed out the usefulness of grammar as a mental training and discipline. Of the inductive sciences, grammar was the best. A wide field for investigation was open in the classification of the elements of English grammar. Grammar was a science that was of practical benefit to those who use the language. An English sentence could be subjected to a more perfect inductive treatment than any other material. The difference between the English and Latin sentence was explained, the first being described as intellectual and the latter as mechanical. A Latin sentence had to be analyzed to be understood and an English sentence had to be understood to be analyzed. The science of sentences should be early studied by rational and scientific methods. The use of text books tended to make the system mechanical and to deprive it of interest. He demonstrated by examples that the relation of words to sentences was determined by sense, position and accidence. Much depended on how a pupil viewed a sentence and for that reason scientific teaching was necessary. He urged teachers to get the pupils to do the work of analysis as much as possible themselves. The various constructions of sentences were then discussed, and examples were taken and divided and rearranged as illustrations. Many of the teachers took part, and many questions were asked. The construction of sentences got a thorough investigation.

A short intermission followed, and Mr. Houston then took up the subject of "Philology." Philology, he said, consisted of investigating words in two ways, as to the meaning and as to its form, the later including the sound. Formerly the affixes were called prefixes and affixes; now the common names were perfixes and suffixes. All the affixes in the English language were at one time separate words, but their meaning, as used as affixes, had been greatly changed. The use of affixes was illustrated. The composition of words was dwelt upon, and illustrations given of how compound words had been changed in spelling and formed one word. These were subjects for investigation that could be followed out. Other peculiarities of words were illustrated. The classical language of any country was only a combination of dialects. In the classical English the dialects of a small number in north east Midland England predominated, owing to historical circumstances. He emphasized the importance of method in teaching words.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

There was a fair attendance of members of the teaching profession and others interested in educational matters at the Court House chamber, on Friday evening. Mr. W. Houston, who had during the afternoon addressed the teachers convention, had consented to speak and the meeting was called for eight o'clock.

REV. W. C. BRADSHAW took the chair and briefly referred to the circumstances under which the meeting was held. He spoke of the teaching profession and the responsibilities involved in successfully carrying on the work, and further on introduced Mr. Houston who at once addressed himself to his lecture, the subject being "Industrial Education."

MR. HOUSTON on opening defined what was meant by the term education, in Canada at any event. Without discussing the merits of the scheme we were now committed to a system of state education. It was proper that elementary education should be seen to by the state, whether this function should be extended he would not definitey, state. He referred to the views regarding education held by the greatest modern thinkers and said that education must take a new direction if we were to look for the best possible money value out of it. He claimed that a child should receive a sound physical education, along with a good intellectual training, not a scientific or cultured education, but a practical teaching to fit a child for gaining his living in after life. The child should get a good moral education, be made manly, courageous in truth and tolerant of others views and opinions. He took pleasure in stating that drawing was one of the best possible ways in which to develope a child's love for the beautiful. The child should receive a good political education and a knowledge of his country's government, of public law and public institutions.

After asking the question, was our school system now successfully carried on as it should be, Mr. Huston went on to say that the tendency was to acquire bookish knowledge instead of information fitted for industrial pursuits. He discussed the question as to why education developed the tendency to draw people away from the farm instead of fitting them for an industrial life. If this was a weak point in our system then it might well be changed. He would add to the present system such branches as would fill the want. European countries were referred to where an industrial education had been made

Scott Act Cases.

After somewhat of a lull there are five town Scott Act cases on the Police Court docket for Monday morning. One is for a first offence and the others are for seconds. The defendants are all hotelkeepers.

R. R. Notes.

The G. T. R. track from Smith-st. to the cut is being torn up and the old bridge has been tightened up to allow of the passage of trains over it, from Ashburnham to Hilliard's until the new line is graded and ironed....The corner is being taken off the lot at the corner of Smith-st. and the present track owned by Mr. John Gamble. The company always put up new fences before they take possession of any property.

The Nine Hour System.

The local Bricklayers' Union have decided on and after June 1st to adopt the nine hour system, working that number of hours each day, beginning work at 7 a. m. and quitting at 5 p. m. It is understood that the work will be executed by the hour, not by the day. Under this arrangement the men will be paid for the work done at the rate per hour, not on the basis of ten hours' pay for nine hours' work.

A Saturday Night Entertainment.

The officers of the Y. W. C. T. U. have arranged for an entertainment to be given weekly in their rooms, the first of which will be given on Saturday next, June 2nd. The programme will include music, both vocal and instrumental, and a cheerful debate on some popular topic. Further announcements will be made and the programme for each entertainment will be in Saturday's issue of the DAILY EVENING REVIEW. 1d123

In addition to the foregoing, the following clubs have promised dates:—Belleville (two matches), Oshawa (two matches), East Toronto, at Peterborough, Campbellford (two matches), and Lindsay, at Lindsay. Arrangements are also being made with the Irish team and the secretary is in correspondence with the Rochester, N.Y., club, who desire to play here.

FROM MONTREAL.

Thirty Engines For the Pacific—Destitute Immigrants—The Double Track.

MONTREAL, May 26.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company commenced building at their works in Hochelaga thirty Mogul engines.

J. A. McMahon, of St. Catharines, Ont., has just been awarded the contract for laying the double track on the Grand Trunk railway from Cteau to Cornwall, a distance of 30 miles.

Two bucket shops were found practically closed yesterday, as the Bucket Shop Bill came into force.

Chief of Police Hughes has given orders that no police officer be allowed to give any official news to reporters or to publish it in any manner whatever.

Carrying out the promise made to the people of Hamilton some time ago, Mr. Cotton will shortly take up his residence in Hamilton to act as district freight agent for the Grand Trunk.

They Opened Love Letters.

HORNING'S MILLS, May 26.—For some time past there have been suspicions that unregistered letters passing through Horning's Mills Postoffice have been opened. This suspicion was conveyed to Postoffice Inspector Daniel Spry of Barrie, who visited Horning's Mills on Friday last and made enquiries, which led to the arrest of R. McKinney, son of the postmaster, and Thomas Cockle, a former assistant in the postoffice. The young fellows were brought before Mr. Hartable, J.P., who, after hearing the evidence, committed them for trial, and they were taken to the county jail at Orangeville, and subsequently admitted to bail. It appears the young men were desirous of knowing the contents of letters passing between local lovers, and opened some ten or twelve loving epistles.

HIAWATHA.

Correspondence of the Review.

PRESENTATION.—On Thursday evening, the 17th, a pleasing event took place here. The Indians met in force at the Mission House and presented Miss M. F. Cragg with a handsome set each of china and glassware, together with an address expressing their high appreciation of the efficient services she has so long rendered as organist and in many other ways. The whole affair was a real surprise. The ladies, who came provided supper, after which an enjoyable evening was spent.

I. O. G. T.—The Good Templar Lodge is in a flourishing condition. The entertainment it provides is of itself worthy and there is no doubt that it exerts considerable influence for good in the community. The officers who have just been installed for the present quarter are as follows:—C. T., R. Lukes; P.C.T., J. Crowe; V. T., Miss M. F. Cragg; Sec., Miss Cragg; M. B. McCul; Fin.-Sec., T. McCul; Treas., Mrs. J. Lukes; G., Miss Naugon; Sent., D. Crowe.

PERSONAL.—Miss A. M. Downer, of Peterborough, is visiting at the Mission House.

“Monte Cristo.”

The three thousand dollars in American bills and two thousand dollars in gold exhibited by the Alden Benedict Company, in the window of McClelland's jewelry store, on Friday, did not prove to be a drawing card at night. The audience that assembled to witness “Monte Cristo” at the Opera House was exceedingly slim. This is the third occasion on which this same play has been seen here in as many months. Alden Benedict, who personated half a dozen characters, did very well, but the support was poor. The version of the play, as presented by this company, is different to any other seen here. The costumes were excellent and the scenery was of the very best.

THE BAKING POWDER DISCUSSION.

Official Tests to Determine the Best—Why they are Superior Leavening Agents—The use of Carbonate of Ammonia.

The official analyses by Prof. W. G. Tucker, of New York state, have afforded some of the most valuable evidence yet produced relative to the actual character of the food and drugs in every day use. Some time since Professor Tucker was directed to analyze the various brands of baking powder and report which was the purest and best. He procured samples from the grocers in Albany, and after a series of exhaustive tests reported that the Royal was the purest and best of all examined. The accuracy of the published report being questioned by a local manufacturer, a reporter of the Albany Journal obtained an interview with the Professor, which is reported as follows in that paper:

“Doctor,” said the reporter, “it appears that one of our local baking powder manufacturers attempts to discredit the report some time ago published in the Journal with reference to baking-powders, for which the analytical examinations were made by yourself and Prof. Mason. Were your analyses and opinion printed correctly?”

“They were,” replied Prof. Tucker, “literally.”

“You say, Doctor, that the Royal baking powder is superior to any other baking powder which you have examined?”

“That is my report.”

“Wherein, Doctor, consists the superiority which you find in the Royal over other brands?”

“As stated in my report, in the great purity of its ingredients, in the unquestioned propriety and wholesomeness of those ingredients, in the exact proportions of the same, and the chemical accuracy and skill with which they have been combined. As I said before, it is, I believe, a baking powder ‘unequaled for purity, strength and wholesomeness.’”

“Doctor, the Journal's lady readers would like you to inform them what are the peculiar virtues of a good baking powder over other and more old-fashioned methods of raising bread, biscuit and cake?”

“That would require a long answer, something in the nature of a lecture. Briefly, however, the advantage of the Royal baking powder over yeast consists in the quicker work it accomplishes, in the preservation of some of the best elements of the flour, which are destroyed in the production of the carbonic acid gas by the use of yeast, and in the absolute certainty of sweet, light and digestible food. Over other methods for quick raising, the merits of a pure baking powder are great. It is always ready for use, the acid and alkali are combined in exact proportions to produce definite results, or to render the largest amount of leavening gas and leave nothing more than a neutral residuum, which is not the result where cream of tartar and soda are bought separately and mixed in the kitchen, for it will always occur where this is done that one or the other of these substances will predominate, making the food yellow, heavy, bitter and unwholesome. Besides, the cream of tartar which can be procured by the housekeeper is mostly adulterated, adding to the uncertainty of the results or the unwholesomeness of the food. All these difficulties are avoided in the use of a pure, properly-made baking powder.”

“Will baking powders keep? How long will they hold their strength?”

“If properly made, until used. A perfect baking powder must combine superlative strength with power to retain it indefinitely. Baking powders generally are robbed of the necessary preserving agent in order to give present strength, or else have efficiency largely destroyed by the addition of large quantities of flour to prevent premature decomposition. The method by which both these qualities are retained in the highest degree produces the perfect article, and this I believe is fully accomplished in the Royal baking powder.”

“Carbonate of ammonia is sometimes used in the higher class of baking powders.”

“It is injurious or objectionable?”

“Nonsense! Quite the contrary. It has been used for generations in the finest food. It is a very volatile agent. Heat entirely evolves it into gas, leaving no residuum. Were it used in sufficient quantity to do the entire work of aeration, I am inclined to believe it would be the acme of leavening agents. Some of the highest authorities, as Hassall, recommend its exclusive use for this purpose in preference to yeast or other kinds of leaven. It is universally admitted to be a wholesome and valuable agent, and no chemist of reputation will class it otherwise. I have become indignant when I have read the silly charges that have frequently been made through ignorance or otherwise against it.”

“Then those manufacturers who advertise that their powder does not contain it”—

“Its origin and method of preparation are no more filthy than are the origin and preparation of bread. All this talk about ammonia in baking powder and its filthy origin is the veriest rubbish. A man disgraces himself when he lends himself to any such statements. It is particularly unfair for baking powder manufacturers to seek to pervert the truth, or prejudice the ignorant or unwary by statements that it is either harmful or dirty. Ammonia exists in the very air we breathe, and is largely present in nature as a wholesome substance.”

Home for the Friendless.

The Woman's Journal says:—“The Home for Friendless Women,” under the auspices of the Y. W. C. T. U., of Ottawa, is a benevolent and much needed enterprise, which has been undertaken by a few of the young ladies of the union. It has been begun on the ‘faith’ principal, as the Superintendents circular says: “We have asked funds from no one, but our Blessed Lord, nor does it seem desirable that we should do so.” For four months the Home has been opened, and during that time twenty-six friendless ones, many of them from the jail, have been cared for, several of whom have since gone to good situations procured for them by the committee in charge. As the object of the Home is becoming more widely known, it is receiving a generous support from the citizens of Ottawa, yet there are times when the last few dollars are handed, and the question will arise, ‘Where is the next to come from?’ But the need has been met and the want always supplied, and that without solicitation from friends. Miss Bertie Wright, to whom great credit is due for the establishment of this Home, is the superintendent, while associated with her are Miss C. Ross, assistant superintendent; Miss F. Living, secretary; Miss K. Falconer, treasurer. The advisory committee consists of Lady McDonald, Mrs. A. C. Chisholm, Mrs. J. Tilton, Mrs. James Gibson, Mrs. (Rev.) McDiarmid, and Mrs. C. Falconer.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

A GREAT SUCCESS

The Ludgate Lots, the disposing of which was supposed to be the work of a year, all accomplished in a week. How was it done? By the liberal use of printer's ink, by meeting industrious and intelligent young men and young women as well as heads of families on the ground in the evenings after work and after tea, presenting to their intelligence beautiful City Lots at Village Lot prices, and on terms to suit all buyers. This plan is patented and counterfeiters will be prosecuted. Of the Ludgate Lots four only remain unsold, and as I have a great many customers still unsupplied, I have obtained instructions from Mr. Carlisle to sell a few Choice Lots on Carlisle and Monroe Avenues. The manner in which this annex has been fitted up with beautiful avenues nearly all planted on either sides with trees in perfect order; the number of respectable dwellings erected and in course of erection speak volumes for the energy and enterprise of Mr. Carlisle, to whom the corporation of Ashburnham owes a debt of gratitude for the incentive he has given to building operations in their midst. In this connection I claim first mortgage for having induced Mr. Carlisle to purchase that property which has been so profitable to himself, to the Corporation and to those who have bought from him, and which will be still more profitable to all those who may patronize my Sales on the grounds, of first importance with beneficial results. Taking up industrial pursuits, the speaker discussed with much clearness and logicality phases of the labor question, and remarked that division of labor, introduction of machinery, failure of the apprenticeship system, all tended to lower the skill of the artisan, and create a want which would have to be supplied by education. In Ontario the newest stage of industrial education was the Kindergarten, a system admirably adapted to impart information intelligently. It was to be regretted that this system was not more extended. In its own sphere it was tremendously in advance of the public schools routine, and the best possible change that could be effected would be to carry the Kindergarten methods into the public school forms and the result would be marked and favorable. It must come to this within the next ten years and then our public schools would be both in name and practice industrial schools. It was not a question, either, of additional experience but of different method. Mr. Houston here referred to the institutions throughout the province where boys, who were or were on the road to be criminals were held in detention and while there taught useful trades and employments. The mechanical and practical skill required in the building and working our railroads called for a high order of intelligence, and this was a want that must be supplied by our industrial schools of the future. So important is this field that one great railroad in the States has established schools for the education and training of its own employees of the future. After some further comparisons, the speaker pointed out in conclusion that what we needed was to infuse more intellectual thought and energy into the common occupations of life. Some training in this direction must come from the public schools of the future.

Mr. J. COTT S BROWN made a few remarks supporting the premises laid down by Mr. Houston in the course of his remarks. He was in favor of devoting a part of each day of school life to mechanical labors on the part of the pupils and students.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, M. P., moved and Mr. B EARLE seconded a vote of thanks to the speaker for his able address, in presenting which the chairman mentioned some circumstances which had come under his knowledge, which very strongly supported the views and confirmed the impressions which had emenated from Mr. Houston during the course of his remarks.

Mr. HOUSTON replied to several enquiries referring to points in his address, and Mr. R. Earle and Mr. Duff gave a suggestion or two, after which the programme for Saturday was read over and the meeting adjourned, having placed on record a vote of thanks to the chairman.

SATURDAY.

Mr. CAMPBELL reported for the Audit Committee that they had found the books correct. The report was adopted.

Mr. MARK, on behalf of the Township Conventions committee, reported endorsing the conventions, but recommending that the consideration of the subject be deferred till the semi-annual meeting.

Mr. CAMPBELL reported for the Nominating Committee, recommending the following officers:—

PRESIDENT.—Mr. A. Hutchinson.
VICE-PRESIDENT.—Mr. W. Smith.
SECRETARY-TREASURER.—Mr. J. J. Rooney.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—Misses Scott and Mark and Messrs. H. B. Anderson, Peak and Raddon.

The report was adopted.

Mr. BROWN moved the teachers would not oppose the examination, as that would be opposing a test of their work.

Mr. ROONEY took the ground that the examination would not be fair to all teachers and that it would encourage cramming. For these and other reasons he thought the examination was not advisable.

The discussion was continued by Misses Becket, Munro and McDonald, and Messrs. Campbell, Brown, Mark and others.

Mr. ROONEY moved, seconded by Mr. CAMPBELL,—That in the opinion of the teachers of this convention, it is not advisable to hold the proposed examination and that the present method of inspection be retained, and that the County Council be asked to carry this out.

The motion was adopted.

Mr. W. J. CAMPBELL then gave an address on "Writing." He briefly referred to the origin of the art. The first requisite of a teacher was the ability to write a good, plain, round hand, and he gave advice as to how to obtain it, the being way being to take lessons from a competent teacher. He illustrated his method of teaching writing by the use of lines as guides, advised to prevent the children from scribbling and urged the necessity of practice.

Mr. HOUSTON took up the subject of "Rhetoric." Rhetoric was a science and composition and art, and rhetoric was the science of discourse. The study of rhetoric as a science was an excellent mental discipline and had a utilitarian value. Rhetorically they were two great classes of sentences, those in which the reason is given before the statement is made, periodic sentences, and those in which the statement precedes the reason, loose sentences. An analytical study of sentences written by men of genius would show how sentences should be constructed. He gave several illustrations of rhetorical construction of sentences. Rhetoric consisted of the selection of words, construction of sentences and the construction of paragraphs. In paragraphs, sentences closely connected in thought followed each other. In teaching do not state the principles to the pupils; illustrate and let them see the principles. The elements of style were words, sentences, paragraphs and figures. The qualities of style were clearness, brevity, force, pathos, sublimity, humor, &c. It was all nonsence to say that the best way to learn English was to study Latin and Greek, a better way was to study English. Taking up a text book Mr. Houston spent some time in illustrating the effect of words and construction of sentences.

The convention then adjourned till 2 o'clock.

Open Air Concert.

Bandmaster Miller desires us to announce that the band of the Fire Brigade will give the first open air concert of the season, in the Horticultural Park, on Tuesday evening next, when they will render a fine programme of new and choice music. The concert will be continued weekly, each Tuesday evening thereafter, during the season.

Let Go.

A man named John Wilkins, who has been in gaol for a week on remand, for assaulting his wife, was before the Police Magistrate this morning. The prisoner claimed that several members of his family were insane and that he had a bad temper, which was very easily aroused. The P. M. gave both him and his wife some good sound advice and allowed him to go, upon promising to behave himself better in the future.

Personal.

Mr. Frank Sanderson, B.A., actuary for the Manufacturer's Life Insurance Company, Toronto, is in town to-day. He is staying with his brother Capt. E. Sanderson.

The Lindsay Post says:—"Mr. R. B. Hall, for some years student in the law office of Messrs. Barron & Campbell, has passed his final examination, and is now a fully fledged barrister, Mr. Hall's standing was excellent. He is an industrious and talented young man, liked by all who know him. We understand he intends to remove to Peterborough, where he will enter into partnership with Mr. W. A. Stratton, a rising and clever young barrister of that town. Mr. Hall's departure will be greatly regretted; but what is our loss will be Peterborough's gain." Mr. Hall, who is a nephew of Messrs. Adam and Robert Hall, attended the Collegiate Institute here before entering the study of law. He is a clever young man and we will be pleased to see him locate here.

Peterborough Boating Club.

The annual sale of racks will take place at the Club Boat House on Monday evening, the 28th May, at 8 p.m.

You may come to us with a sour face, but you will laugh before you leave at the excellent Tea you can get at the Pantry for 20 cents a pound.

Society Sermon.

The annual sermon to the members of the Sons of England Benevolent Society will be preached by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, at St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, to-morrow morning.

Headache, Billiousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion relieved and at once by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. Try it. Samples free.

Well Pleased.

NORWOOD, May 14.

To G. B. Sproule, Photographer, Peterborough,

DEAR SIR.—I am very much pleased with the photo's which you sent me of my son. They are all that I could wish.

Yours truly,
JAMES STARR.

The Market.

The market to-day was fairly well attended and a large quantity of produce found ready sale. Lamb, mutton and veal were plentiful and cheap, and in consequence they sold rapidly. The supply of butter and eggs was fair. Garden truck was in profusion. Flowers in bloom were offered by several parties, as were some extra fine fresh maskinonge. Prices ruled about the same as previously quoted.

The Gun Club.

Only six members of the Gun Club turned up at the regular weekly match, on Friday afternoon, but as will be seen by reference to the annexed score some good shooting was done. The following was the score:—

R. Tivey	1	1	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	—8
H. Calcutt	1	0	1	0	1	0	0	1	0	—5
Judge Weller	0	0	1	1	1	0	0	0	1	—5
J. D. Collins	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	—8
H. W. Kent	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	—7
H. Nell	0	1	1	0	0	0	1	1	0	—5

Unnecessary Delay.

The Lakefield Chronicle says:—"Lakefield should now be entitled to and receive two mails a day now that the train service is at the command of the postal authorities. As it is now, the mail matter arriving in Peterborough during the night does not reach here until 7.05 in the evening. This matter should be brought under the attention of the postmaster of Peterborough P. O., and we have no doubt but that the complaint would soon be remedied."

Malarial poisons contain the germs of dangerous diseases. If these poisons accumulate in the system, Typhoid, Billous, Intermittent or Chill Fever is sure to follow. Ayer's Ague Cure is a warranted specific for malaria.

A Small Fire.

On Friday afternoon the sidewalk on Charlotte-st. a short distance from George-st. was observed to be on fire. A passer by obtained a pail of water and quenched the flames, before any damage was done. It is probable that a match or a cigar stub thrown carelessly down was the cause.

'Twas recently said, and as recently read,
For a city the town would bid,
And as recently said, while surely 'twas read
The premier shoe dealer is kidd.
For he leathers your woes, instep and toes,
Be you laborer, sailor or mid,
The fame of his goods fairly rings in the woods
No dealer sells cheaper than kidd.

Services To-morrow.

The following is a list of services in the several churches to-morrow:—

Brevities.

—"Livery Maid" won the three minute trot at Cobourg, on the 24th.

—Mr. E. J. Toker, Toronto, of The Empire staff, called on us this morning.

—The welcome rain did much good to the crops and the benefit can be plainly seen.

—The Ashburnham Court of Revision on the roll of 1888 will meet on Monday night.

—The regular debate of the Otonabee Canoe Club will take place on Monday night.

—Cobourg and Port Hope played baseball on the 24th. The score was 15 to 10 in favor of Cobourg.

—A man upset out of a buggy in front of Mr. J. G. Craig's store, last night. He was not injured.

—The first cheese market of the season will be held at the old Music Hall, on Tuesday afternoon.

—Mr. James Davis, Lakefield, who was injured by being thrown out of a buggy, died on Wednesday.

—Carpenters are at work at the Town Clerk's office fitting up nests of shelves for bound files of the local papers.

—C. E. Cochrane & Co., druggists, of Omemee, have assigned, according to the Empire.

—The Rev. I. Tovell will preach the anniversary sermon of the Bridge-st. Church, Belleville, to-morrow.

—There were several private displays of fireworks on the night of the 24th of May, including one at the C. P. R. hotel.

—A lady in Norwood, Mrs. Angus Marcus, weighs 349 pounds and the Register says she is as spry as a girl in her teens.

—The Horticultural park is in fine shape and never looked better than it does at present. It is largely patronized by the citizens.

—Two men were thrown out of a buggy between Peterborough and Faucher's Point on Thursday evening. Both of their faces were badly scratched.

—The funeral of the late Mr. Toker Barlee, took place on Thursday and was largely attended. A number of friends and relatives from a distance were present.

—A runaway took place last night at the lower end of the town. The rig was pretty well smashed up, but the occupants of it were not hurt, a shaking up being the result.

—At the Sunday afternoon Gospel Temperance Song Service to-morrow at 4 o'clock Miss Ritcher and Miss Cox will each sing a solo and Mr. D. J. Bannell Sawyer will give an address.

—The much talked of professional baseball team, of Belleville, did not make a brilliant opening. A team of Kingston amateurs defeated them by 14 to 2 and the professional team from the same city did them up to the time of 13 to 9, making no less than seven runs in the first innings.

—The fourth ward is taking the lead in building operations this year. Property is rapidly changing hands. Among those who have recently purchased are Messrs. A. Clegg, S. Clegg and J. Pentland who have secured some fine sites (five lots in all) on Barnardo Avenue. The property was purchased from Mr. J. J. Hartley.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth it relieves the little suffer at once: it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or otherwise. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other ind.

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. Mott, Brentwood, Cal., writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Phthisis, Scrofula and Wasting Diseases. It is very palatable. Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

"In discussing this question of presents for the wedding on Thursday" said Mrs. Ketchelder to her mother-in-law, "there is really no use going to Toronto as you propose. There is the expense, which is something, and besides as time is limited you make a hurried selection. Why not adopt John's view and go to CHINA HALL, here in town. Why, bless you, from the look I've had at the goods you can get perfectly splendid things for presents, and so cheap too. Mr. Wilson displays great taste and I'm certain the things you might buy would be not only suitable but look particularly handsome."

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

It was a curious, crying sensation the giving of her first lesson. If the well-dressed, demure little damsel to whom it was administered only knew how awfully afraid her elegant-looking teacher was of her, all chance of discipline would have been over. But silence, backed by gravity, is a splendid cover for nervousness; and Mona did not utter a word beyond what teaching required, nor did she ever feel the same panic again.

"She has beautiful frocks, mamma," was the sentence of the little ten-year-old. "Her black cloth must be tailor-made—it fits like a glove; and she has such beautiful jet ear-rings!"

Nor did the young lady doubt that a music teacher so attired must be deserving of all attention.

So the new life was fully inaugurated soon after Christmas—that Christmas which poor Leslie Waring had hoped would be so heavenly bright—which Mme. Debrisay and Mona quietly and sadly celebrated together. The former accompanied her young proteges to church, and enjoyed a particularly crisp French novel over the fire for the rest of the day; while Mona sat long at the piano, playing from memory and dreaming over the past. She gave few thoughts of the future.

So the days and weeks flew past, and Mona, with the blessed facility of youth, began to revive. A simple life, plenty to do, the society of a kindly and amusing companion, are wholesome tonics. Mme. Debrisay was extremely amusing. She had been largely educated by observation. She was at once skeptical and credulous; her mind was utterly untrained—yet a certain keen mother-wit and largeness of heart made her judgment, on the whole, clear. She was still quick in temper, though it had been much chastened, and also extremely resentful of small slights.

Things had settled down to a regular routine. The depth of the winter was over, and Parliament had met, and Mona had nearly as much to do as she could accomplish without fatigue, though she was quite willing to do more. Madame even talked of making a little excursion to the sea-side at the dead season, if things continued to prosper.

Mona was returning late one afternoon, after one of her busiest days. She was weary, but more hopeful, though she was thinking how this time last year she was looking forward to the mingled joy and terror of being presented. It was a little hard to be so suddenly dragged down, and carried away from all the gayeties and pleasures, the society and distinction, that she had enjoyed a few months ago, and to which she felt she should never return. Yet there was no bitterness in her regret; she felt that she was singularly fortunate in having found such a friend and such a home.

Her reflections were suddenly broken in upon by a familiar voice exclaiming—"By Jove! it is Mona! Mona Joscelyn!" and she found her further progress barred by Bertie Everard, Sir Robert's only son, who was studying law, having no military proclivities, and thinking legal knowledge would be useful in managing the family estate, which was by no means flourishing under his father's munificent rule.

"Bertie! I never dreamed of meeting you," as though the ban which had fallen on her had been "banishment"—that an encounter between two inhabitants of the same town had been thereby rendered impossible.

"Nor did I. I thought you had emigrated, or been sent to a penitentiary, or some such thing. You see, when anyone drops out of sight in London, it is such a drop in the ocean, that he or she leaves no trace behind. I am quite glad to see you. Come, tell me all about yourself. Evy has wept gallons over you. She wanted to write, and the Lord knows what, but my mother strictly forbade her. You are an awful black sheep, you know—a lost mutton."

"Of course I am," said Mona, smiling. She understood her cousin's dry bluntness. "But you must acknowledge I have kept out of sight and not troubled you."

"Yes, it is quite true. Now I have met you, I am amazed to find you still exist. How have you managed it, Mona?"

"Why trouble about details? I exist, and want nothing—that is enough. Now, tell me some news. How is your dear mother? She was always so good!"

"She is exceedingly flourishing and busy, for Evelyn is going to be married—very good match—to Lord Finistoun. He is a pleasant, easy-going fellow—rather an ass, but that will suit Evy. She hasn't much brains herself."

"She has sense enough not to think she has all the brains of the family, as you do, Bertie."

"Yes, I do, and I am no great things after all. Your troubles have not taken the sharp edge off your tongue, Miss Joscelyn," he said, laughing.

"There is no Miss Joscelyn now. I have resumed my poor father's name. It is more suited to my fortunes and fancy."

"By Jove! And what is it? Craig? Um! It was a queer notion of Mrs. Newburgh's to suppress it. I suppose you haven't heard or seen anything of Waring?"

"No; of course not."

"Nor anyone else either! Can't think what's become of him. Some one did say he was training a colt for the Derby. I dare say he is glad enough now that you have broke with him. Can't understand why men marry!—must be an awful bore."

"I have no doubt he is obliged to me."

"And you are decidedly sorry you gave him the chance, eh?"

"You would not believe me if I denied it."

"Well, no, I would not, though you are a rum sort of a girl, Mona. I always liked you. You say what you think, sh- you held your own with that grandmother of yours, who was as big a tyrant as I have met. You are a fool, too, in many ways—ready to cut your own throat for an idea; but there's something taking about you. I never thought St. John Lisle would lose his head as he did on your account. I had a letter from him some time ago—asked why he had not seen your marriage announced—asked it in a postscript—always a bad sign of womanish weakness. Where do you live, for Heaven's sake? We must be approaching the far west."

"Do not come any further, Bertie—you will die of fatigue."

"No, I will not, but you will, if it's a few miles further out; let me secure a cab, before we leave the haunts of civilization behind us."

"I think ten minutes more will bring us to our destination; but to copy your own amiable candor, I would rather you did not come."

"Ah, but I will. I am determined, to see your lair."

"Well, I cannot prevent you, but I do not want you," rejoined Mona.

In a few minutes they reached Mme. Debrisay's abode, and on opening the door that individual was discovered resting in an arm-chair, beside a table set for tea. Her bonnet lay on the floor beside her, and her thick and undeniably disordered black hair was uncovered.

"This is Bertie Everard," said Mona, quietly. "Evelyn's brother."

"Very pleased to see him, I'm sure," said madame, rising bravely to face the intruder, and not deigning to pick up her bonnet. "Your sister was one of my most charming pupils."

"Oh, indeed!" returned Everard. "I should not have thought it."

"And you find your sweet cousin looking well! I have done my best to take care of her."

"My cousin!" elevating his eyebrows. "Can you tell me the exact degree, Mona?—first, second, twenty-fifth?"

"Oh! a cousin removed to the vanishing point of relationship. I have not the faintest wish to claim you, Bertie."

THE SPORTING WORLD.

The Walking Match in Montreal—Baseball Games Yesterday.

MONTREAL, May 26.—It is now certain that there will be no record breaking in the Victoria Rink six-day race, and it now looks as if Noremac would win. The score at the close last night was as follows: Noremac 309 miles, Cartwright 300, Moore 275, Taylor 260, Corkey 227. Both Panchot and Paul have dropped out. The police stopped the sale of liquor and pool selling, and the affair was very dull.

At Toronto—Toronto, 4; Hamilton, 5.
At Buffalo—Buffalo, 16; Troy, 7.
At Rochester—Rochester, 6; Syracuse, 8.
At London—London, 8; Albany, 1. Called on third inning on account of rain.

National League Games.

At New York—New York, 1; Washington, 3.
At Boston—Boston, 1; Philadelphia, 4.
At Chicago—Detroit, 2; Chicago, 3.

American Association Games.

At Brooklyn—Brooklyn, 4; Louisville, 1.
At Philadelphia—Athletics-Kansas City; postponed on account of wet grounds.
At Cleveland—Cleveland-St. Louis; postponed on account of wet grounds.
At Baltimore—Baltimore-Cincinnati, postponed on account of wet grounds.

Championship Games To-day.

International Association: Hamilton at Toronto, Albany at London, Troy at Buffalo, Syracuse at Rochester.

National League: Philadelphia at Boston, Detroit at Chicago, Washington at New York, Indianapolis at Pittsburg.

The Western League is reported shaky, and it is thought Dugdale may be secured in a week or two by the Bisons.

Williams has been suspended and will probably be released.

Old Jack Nelson was released yesterday. He was expected to be a source of strength to the team, but instead has been a weakening influence.

The Bisons have now four pitchers, Hart, Walsh, Fanning and Gibbs; two catchers in Graves and Kappell, and if Dugdale is secured Kappell will be kept in right field.

Ottawa lacrosse men are in high feather over their four victories on Thursday. The Ottawas defeated the Brockvilles in the N.A.L.A. championship series; the Capitals beat the Young Shamrocks; the Ottawa Juniors scored a victory over the Young Torontos, and the Oshkoshs defeated an Almonte team.

John F. and Charles G. Fuhrman, bachelor brothers, aged 70 and 80 respectively, were found dead in their room at St. Louis, and it is supposed they committed suicide.

The report of a riot at Tougaloo, Miss., was caused by fighting among drunken excursionists. Two persons were wounded.

It is estimated that 105 fishermen were lost in the recent gale off the coast of Ireland.

Mr. Noyes of Shefford is suing Le Monde newspaper for $10.000 for having called him an Orangeman and a Freemason.

The preliminaries are being arranged for the construction of a branch of the Northern Pacific Railway running into Manitoba in the neighborhood of Boissevain.

Mr. Munderloh, German Consul at Montreal, is in Ottawa endeavoring to secure the former grant of $24,000 each to the Hansa and White Cross steamship lines in place of the reduced grant of $15,000 provided for this year.

At a meeting of mutual benevolent societies in Ottawa it was decided to ask the Government to amend the Savings Bank Act so as to allow benevolent societies to deposit to any amount instead of limiting them to one thousand dollars.

...ive them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

Some Things to Say

IF there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods, We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line "80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1.25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

THE DOMINION CABINET.

THE VACANCIES LIKELY TO BE FILLED AT ONCE.

The Latest Rumors at the Capital About Possible Appointments—Clarke Wallace Mentioned for the Interior.

OTTAWA, May 28.—There was a meeting of the Cabinet Saturday at which it is understood only routine business was transacted. There will be another meeting to-day, at which it is believed the two vacancies in the Cabinet will be filled. All ministers have been requested to be present, one who wished to go away to-morrow being asked to remain until Tuesday.

Rumor is still busy with the names of possible appointees, one of the latest stories being that Lieut.-Gov. Dewdney will get the Interior and run for Saskatchewan in place of Mr. McDowall, who will be given the vacant Senatorship for the Northwest. Clarke Wallace and Peter White are also mentioned for the Interior, and there is some talk of Hon. Mackenzie Bowell being transferred to the Interior, but it is not likely that he will give up the Customs unless it is to take the new department of Trade and Commerce when it comes into existence.

Senator Schultz is still here. It is expected that his appointment as Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba and that of Mr. Royal as Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories will be gazetted in a few days.

THE DOMINION VOTERS' LISTS.

A Company Organized to Work the Phosphate Lands Near Buckingham.

OTTAWA, May 28.—Judge Taschereau will leave Rome Wednesday next, and is expected to be here in time for the opening of the Supreme Court on June 10.

Nearly 2000 pages of the Dominion voters' lists are now set up in the temporary Government printing office. The whole work will probably not be completed before December, when the lists will be sent to each constituency for revision. Fifty thousand pounds of new type and two new presses have just arrived.

A deputation of Chaudiere lumbermen had an interview with Sir Hector Langevin Saturday with reference to the sawdust nuisance. They want a new survey of the Ottawa River made this summer by an engineer appointed by the Government and one appointed by themselves. Sir Hector promised to bring the matter under the notice of his colleagues.

The appeal of Mrs. Mary Fellowes of London, Ont., against the decision of the Dominion arbitrators will be heard by Judge Burbidge in the Exchequer Court to-morrow morning. Mrs. Fellowes was awarded about $20,000 for some ninety acres of land, taken for the Experimental Farm, but is not satisfied, and wants $350 per acre.

Hon. J. H. Pope leaves for his home in the Eastern Townships to-morrow.

It is understood that A. F. McIntyre, who has been absent for some time in England, has succeeded in organizing a company to work the valuable phosphate lands owned by him in the vicinity of Buckingham.

Hamilton Notes.

HAMILTON, May 28.—Miss Isabella Gillies, third daughter of Alex. Gillies, died suddenly on Saturday.

The Hamilton Brass Manufacturing Company has purchased $10,000 worth of new machinery.

Patrick Hyde has been arrested charged with stealing a watch from the porter in the St. Nicholas Hotel. He confessed his guilt and the watch was recovered.

Lighting the Fire With Coal Oil.

DUNDAS, May 28.—James Kent, jr., living near the Canal Basin, met with a serious accident on Saturday. There was an explosion caused by his trying to light the fire by pouring on coal oil from a can. His clothing took fire quickly, and, the flames spreading rapidly, Mr. Kent was severely burned before the fire could be extinguished. His eyelashes and beard and most of his clothing were burned off, and his face, hands and feet in particular were badly burned. As the burns are not very deep Mr. Kent will recover, but will be confined to the house for several weeks.

The Portage la Prairie Fire Bugs.

WINNIPEG, May 28.—On the confession of Henry Mick, who was arrested for firing buildings at Portage la Prairie, the police arrested Jim White, a well-known hotelkeeper, whose place was burned last spring. Mick says White hired him to set fire to the buildings. Willis, formerly jockey for White, is also implicated. The investigation next Wednesday promises startling revelations; amongst others, that White offered a man $25 to burn the postoffice. All recent fires are being traced to the same quarter. Great excitement prevails.

Charged With Abduction.

LONDON, Ont., May 28.—A young man named James Gilmore from Clandeboye, is under arrest here for abducting a girl named Bice, who is stated to be under 18, and whom he married on Wednesday last in this city. It is alleged Gilmore drugged the girl before he got her away from home, and that he swore falsely when he received the license. Rev. J. A. Murray married them and Gilmore answered the questions correctly.

She Had Refused to Marry Him.

ALBANY, N.Y., May 28.—Last evening Joseph H. Scherr, aged 22, a German restaurant waiter, shot and killed Lizzie McCarthy, aged 25, then shot himself and died about an hour later. The girl had refused to marry him.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

LONDON'S LATEST TOPICS.

AN OMINOUS NEWSPAPER WAR RAGING ON THE CONTINENT.

The Rescript Applied to Practical Politics—The Irish Exhibition in London—Matthew Arnold's Will.

NEW YORK, May 25.—G. W. Smalley cables from London: A war has been going on through the week all over the continent—a war of newspapers. The Czar has let fall, carelessly enough, a word of hope for peace, but the Russian press has been once more unmuzzled and Moscow has assailed Berlin in tones that recall ancient comments on the Treaty of Berlin. The German capital replies with true Prussian asperity. The quarrel for the moment is a quarrel about tariffs. "Are we to pay tribute to Russia, to starve the German farmer that the Russian peasant may get a higher price for his corn?" asks Prince Bismarck's organ with natural indignation. Prince Bismarck has already answered his own question in the negative.

Almost at the same time appears an article in a semi-official journal of Alsace-Lorraine still more ominous. "We have borne with these French," says Prince Hohenlohe—for he it is who is really speaking—"for eighteen years. Bear with them longer we cannot. It is our turn to be heard." And so follows that amazing new order requiring all foreigners entering Germany by Alsace-Lorraine to have passports countersigned by the German Ambassador in Paris. All foreigners—not Frenchmen only, but Americans meditating a Franco-German tour—may take note. "It is an act of real hostility," answers one Paris journal, not among the most frivolous. "Prince Bismarck is working for General Boulanger," whispers another; "every fresh cause of irritation is a help to him."

The first specific attempt to apply the Pope's rescript to practical politics has been made by the Bishop of Limerick. Dr. O'Dwyer's letter to the Mayor of Limerick might have been dated before the Reformation. "You must not," he cries, "agitate against the Pope. His decree binds the conscience. It is a grievous sin to disobey, and more grievous to question his authority to issue it. The people equally with the priests are bound to obey. If you hold this meeting you will disobey." The Roman Catholic Members of Parliament are becoming daily more outspoken; Mr. Healy has announced himself an unrepentent rebel, and a conflict between the League and the Pope seems imminent.

The Irish Exhibition promises to be one of the most interesting sights of London during the rest of the summer. Everything is Irish, art and manufactures, ancient or modern, and the space could be filled three times over. A great part of the exhibits will be for sale. There will be fetes, also, and scenes from Irish life. Blarney Castle is to be set up on the grounds. Concerts will be given, horse shows are promised, and Mr. Parnell himself sends two hunters.

The national defences, though no longer the topic of the day, are still discussed. Panic there is not, but in certain quarters there is agitation enough to make a fitful blaze. The Lord Mayor's refusal to grant the use of the Mansion House for a meeting quenched this flame for a while. Now the embers have been rekindled. The London Chamber of Commerce is going to hold a meeting on Monday, with Lord Charles Beresford to preside and Admiral Hornby to speak. Lord Charles meantime has been making another speech, once more explaining that he resigned, not because the service was starved, but because it was not efficiently organized. Nobody doubts that the organization in many respects is clumsy enough.

The publication of Arnold's will has made some impression. The property he leaves amounts to $5000. "I leave everything of which I die possessed to my wife, Frances Lucy Arnold."

The scholarship of English literature at Oxford, suggested as a memorial to Arnold, is obviously going to give rise to a controversy. The senior tutor of Christ Church publishes a letter of protest against it. He professes to approve of the study of modern languages, but only as subsidiary to ancient languages. A student ought, in his opinion, to know French and German enough to read French and German books about the Latin and Greek or other proper university studies.

Oxford moves, nevertheless. She is going to admit women, not into men's colleges, but to compete for honors in final classical examinations. On this she is but following the example of Cambridge

Mrs. Corner Held for Trial.

MALDEN, Mass., May 28.—Judge Pettingill rendered his decision Saturday in the case of Mrs. Abbie H. Corner, the "Christian Scientist." He found her probably guilty of manslaughter in causing the death of her daughter, Mrs. Lottie James, in neglecting to provide proper medical assistance at the time of her confinement on April 18. She was held in $5000 for trial.

Henry George to be Expelled.

NEW YORK, May 28.—Henry George is to be expelled from the Twenty-third Assembly District Association of the United Labor party for dickering with the Democrats by advocating the renomination of President Cleveland on a Free Trade platform, and urging the United Labor party to assist in his re-election.

A Lovers' Quarrel Ends in Death.

READING, Pa., May 28.—Ada Christman, a highly respected young lady, aged 20 years, of East Greenville, Montgomery County, had a quarrel with her lover, and after his departure swallowed in the presence of her father a quantity of Paris green, which caused her death after terrible suffering.

A Lynching Looked For.

DELPHIA, Ind., May 28.—Chamberlain, the murderer of Miss Wettenberg of Monticello, who broke jail the other night and brained Sheriff Henderson, was captured near here on Saturday. The authorities expect a lynching, but all possible precautions have been taken to prevent it.

A Life Sentence.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Mathias Busch, who cut his wife's throat about four months ago, and who was found guilty of murder, was given a life sentence at Joliet Penitentiary by Judge Garnett Saturday. Busch's attorneys tried to save their client on the insanity plea.

Dom Pedro Considered Out of Danger.

MILAN, May 28.—The Emperor of Brazil continues to improve, and the danger of a relapse is now regarded as over. The doctors propose to remove him to Aix-les-Bains on Thursday.

Poor Trade in Cattle.

LONDON, May 28.—Mr. Swan of Edinburgh reports that the first large shipment of Canadian cattle met a decidedly worse trade, 7s. 3d. to 7s. 6d. a stone being the current rate for prime quality. There is a very bad trade in the rougher descriptions. The present outlook does not promise a large margin of profit for the shipper.

Assessed to Help the Company.

MITCHELL, Dak., May 28.—All employes of the Milwaukee road here were notified on Saturday that they have been assessed one-third of their pay for the first six days of the month to help the company pay damages sustained through the "Q" strike. Much indignation is felt.

SHOCKING CALAMITY.

Explosion of a Gas Reservoir at Hochelaga—Six Persons Killed.

MONTREAL, May 28.—An explosion that smashed the windows in the outlying ward of Hochelaga and threw pedestrians flat on their faces startled all Montreal at 8.40 Saturday morning. The explosion took place at the Hochelaga Gas Works, and was that of a big gasometer that holds all the gas necessary for lighting the city. There were nine men employed by the gas company, when the work of stopping a leak was begun. One of them carried an ordinary lantern, lighted, in his hand, and as soon as the water was drawn off he descended into the pit and entered the interior of the gasometer. Instantly the explosion occurred. The roof of the building, nearly half an acre in extent, was lifted high in the air and the walls thrown out in all directions, bricks flying 300 feet from the scene and tearing through windows and wooden shanties as if they were solid shot. The men working on the outside of the building were hurled high in the air or caught in the flying walls and buried under the falling masonry.

The names of the dead are: Jos. Angell and Jas. Angell (brothers), Samuel McAfee, Samuel Bell, George Brigard and a young man named O'Brien. Those fatally injured were: Angus Gay, a Caughnawaga Indian, fractured skull, burned face and hands; George Fisher, frightfully burned; Tom Stacey, a Caughnawaga Indian, compound fracture of the legs and burns on the hands, face and legs.

The damage of property will amount to $60,000.

Kingston Wants an Agricultural College.

KINGSTON, May 28.—At a largely attended meeting in the council chamber Saturday night a resolution advocating the establishment here of a college of practical science and agriculture was unanimously carried.

The mayor and chief of police have each received a letter, purporting to be written by Socialists, threatening them with death on June 1.

The training school for nurses, established two years ago in connection with the Kingston General Hospital, sent forth its first graduates Saturday afternoon, when Miss Jessie Macirow and Miss Maggie Hall received their diplomas.

Canadian Stock Market in England.

LONDON, May 28.—Despite the favorable conditions generally the stock markets last week were very dull. The Canadian market was almost stagnant. Grand Trunks are fractionally higher. Canadian Pacific shares and bonds are each ½ lower. In the produce markets Canadian cheese is still higher at 52s. 56s., the latter quotation applying only to small lots of fancy white. Best American is only 56s. The canned goods market is very firm. Good salmon, Columbia fish, fetches 31s. Lobsters in tins are also very scarce and go at high figures.

Sunday's League Meetings in Ireland.

DUBLIN, May 28.—Mr. John Dillon, speaking at Kildare yesterday, denounced the Bishops who support the Papal rescript regarding Ireland.

Mr. Healy in a speech at Waterford twitted the Pope with working his own plan of campaign when the Sardinians grabbed his territory and with boycotting Victor Emmanuel.

Mr. Wm. O'Brien addressed 20,000 people at Limerick, but the better class of citizens and most of the local clergy were absent.

The Ottawa Memorial.

LONDON, May 28.—There was a private view on Saturday of Percy Wood's statue for the Ottawa memorial of the Halfbreed revolt. The statue represents a private in the Governor-General's Foot Guards in an attitude expressive of grief, with rifle reversed. The bas reliefs and medallions show the two Ottawa privates who fell in the Northwest. The work has been altogether very successful.

A Chicago Boodler Pardoned.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Capt. R. S. McClaughey, the boodle County Commissionor, was Saturday afternoon granted a pardon by Gov. Oglesby, and will be released from Joliet Penitentiary to-day. McClaughey was the only one of the boodlers who accepted his sentence, going to prison and paying his fine, while the others fought against their fate to the last quibble in the highest courts in the State.

Continuation of Kerr's Trial.

NEW YORK, May 28.—In the "boodle" trial of Thomas B. Kerr ex-Ald. Miller testified that he had received $5000 from Ald. DeLacey about the time that the witness voted for the Broadway Railroad franchise. This transaction, however, was not in pursuance of a corrupt bargain. Several other witnesses testified to the fact that sundry aldermen who voted for the franchise subsequently lifted considerable sums of indebtedness held against them, or bought United States bonds, paying for them with large bills.

Brought Back to Buffalo.

BUFFALO, May 28.—An officer returned Saturday night from London, Ont., and handcuffed to him was Frank Murray, whom he brought from that town, where the arrest was made on a description sent out from Buffalo. Murray boarded with J. C. Auld and stole about $70 last Sunday, skipping to the Dominion. The charge against him in Canada was bringing into that country stolen money. Murray's home is in Hamilton. He has done a term in the prison at Clinton, N.Y., and is regarded as a tough case.

Tehuantepec Ship Railway.

PITTSBURG, May 28.—The new company recently organized to build the Tehuantepec Ship Railway will purchase the rights of the Eads Concession Company next month. A meeting of the new company has been called for June 8 at Newark, N.J. Work will probably be begun next winter. The promoters of the scheme feel assured that success will attend their efforts to raise $40,000,000 or $50,000,000, which, it is calculated will be required.

UNCLE SAM'S SENATORS

THE FISHERIES TREATY REMAINS THE FOREMOST QUESTION.

A Vote on the Open Doors Question Likely to be Taken at Once—Only One Instance of an Open Executive Session Known Within Five Years.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The Fisheries Treaty remains the matter of dominant interest in the Senate, and promises to displace the special orders and all other business except appropriation bills until it is acted upon. The course of events, however, depends largely upon the action of the Democrats in a caucus to be held to-day. They have the power to delay action indefinitely upon the motion to consider the treaty with open doors, which is the pending question, but actual filibustering, though so long threatened, has not yet begun.

The belief is expressed by Senators of both parties that in the next secret session a vote will be reached and that the Democrats will content themselves with voting in the negative. They will thus make a quorum and show the majority to be responsible for admitting the public to hear the discussion. Should this take place, however, it will still be in the power of any two Senators, under a rule which is applicable to legislative as well as executive business, to eject the public and close the doors at will. The rule has been invoked in recent years only to summarily shut off some Senator who wished to have an open vote on a proposition to admit the public to executive session, and it seems to have been invented for use in just such a measure. But it is well adapted to other uses, and, inasmuch as a strong minority of senators are bitterly opposed to the present proposed innovation, it is apprehended that its use may become common during the fisheries debate.

Only one executive session with open doors can be recalled by men whose memory covers the proceedings of the Senate for a period of more than five years. This was a session of two or three minutes held on the last day of President Arthur's administration, on which occasion the message nominating Gen. Grant was received and acted upon. The exceptional course was recommended by the President, and adopted in defiance of rules by the Senate as an extraordinary mark of respect to the nominee.

Will Propose Remedies.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The Select Committee of the House, which investigated the late strike on the Reading Railway, will immediately begin the preparation of its report. It is learned that this document will recommend some drastic legislation. Briefly outlined, the propositions under consideration are, first, an absolute provision for placing in the hands of a receiver any railroad company which, as the result of differences with its employes, fails for a period of ten days to operate the road; second, a requirement that all train crews, but no other class of employes, shall give ten days' notice of an intention to quit work; and, third, that the railroad companies must give ten days' notice to their employes of a reduction of wages.

Tascott's Latest.

CHICAGO, May 28.—The supposed murderer of Millionaire Snell, William B. Tascott, has been heard from again. Yesterday afternoon some men fishing in the lake near Waukegan, picked up a bottle sealed carefully, and on breaking it found inside a copy of the $10,000 reward circular and a letter dated Milwaukee, March 26, signed William B. Tascott. The writer acknowledges having killed Mr. Snell, but says he did it in self-defence and hopes heaven will forgive him the crime for which man would hang him. He professes to be unable to live longer as a fugitive from justice, and says that his body will be found under the ice near Milwaukee.

The Islanders Defy France.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—The brig Tahiti, carrying the French mails, arrived here on Saturday from Tahiti, and reports matters on the island in an unsettled condition, and that an outbreak of the natives against the French authorities is liable to occur at any time. A number of French war vessels are watching the various ports ready to quell any disturbance. It is stated that the natives of the Islands of Baiates and Huhani claimed their independence and pulled down the French flag, which had been raised over the islands, and then armed themselves. They are said to be well supplied with rifles and they have built temporary forts.

Threatened Outbreak in Hayti.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The Secretary of State has been informed by the United States Consul at Port-au-Prince, Hayti, that fears are entertained of another revolutionary outbreak on that island. The report was of such a character that it was deemed advisable to send a naval vessel to the island for the protection of the lives of American citizens there, and a telegram was sent to Rear Admiral Luce, commanding the North Atlantic squadron, now anchored off Port Royal, S.C., to despatch one of the vessels of his squadron on that mission.

The Lutheran Synod.

ZURICH, May 28.—The Lutheran Synod have expressed their wish to form an English community at Toronto. The President was asked to arrange the matter. These missionary grants were adopted: Auburn $150, Muskoka $175, Denbigh $300, and Thorn $75. Two candidates for the ministry, Mr. Maurer and Mr. Lamerton, were examined Saturday.

Reform Convention in Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, May 28.—At the Reform convention for Minnedosa a difference of opinion occurred and two candidates were put in the field. The Rapid City delegates withdrew from the hall, and nominated Mayor Head. The Minnedosa delegates remained and nominated Barrister Myers. Bitter feeling prevailed. Both candidates are in the field to stay.

UNDER THE HEAD OF BUILDING NOTES

The Oshawa Vindicator says:—"Messrs. Rowse Bros., enterprising merchants, O. C. Rowse, of Peterborough, and E. J. Rowse of this town, are building another store on King-st. east, in rear of their present block. When completed it will be an ornament to the street and will make one of the largest blocks in town. Mr. Edwards has the contract for the stone and brick work, and Mr. S. Gliddon for the woodwork. We say success to such enterprises."

A Fast Ride, Good Company and Low Expenses are indentified with the Masonic Excursion to Toronto, June 7th.

The Daily Review.

MONDAY, MAY 28, 1888.

THE PARLIAMENTARY SESSION.

The session of Parliament recently concluded was fruitful of important results, although, as compared with some former sessions, it was not a long one. Among the more important questions dealt with was the fisheries dispute, and the treaty arranged by the commissioners at Washington was ratified. The Liberal party did not vote against the treaty, thus testifying to the wisdom of the Government's course. The treaty has not been ratified by the United States Senate, and there is not a bright prospect of that body accepting it, but whether it does or not the negotiations will do good, as the United States Administration has placed on record its opinion that the United States has no rights beyond those set forth in the treaty.

The annulling of the Canadian Pacific railway's monopoly right in the Northwest has set at rest an agitation that was fanned by the Liberals for party purposes and that had to be dealt with. The railway company had stipulated that roads running to the United States should not be constructed for a certain number of years, and it was believed that by that time the Canadian Pacific would be in a position to hold the traffic. However, by [illegible] guaranteeing a loan [illegible] the Government way that the com[illegible] the company, in a company [illegible] country can lose not[illegible]ng, the that [illegible] was placed in such a position [illegible] felt free to drop the monopoly privilege—it was enabled to do sooner what, in the ordinary course of events, it need not and perhaps could not well have done till the stipulated time had expired.

A system of government has been given to the Northwest Territories, not as full or free as will be necessary in the future, but a step in advance. Thus attention is called to the continued growth of the Dominion. Wilds are becoming settled communities and new provinces are growing up and being added to confederation. The Mackenzie basin investigation has thrown new light on the vast resources of the Northwest and given Canadians, and the world, a better idea of the greatness and possibilities of this country.

The system of gambling in bucket shops was abolished by an Act introduced by the Government and improvements were made in the railway and customs laws. The financial discussions showed that the credit of the country has improved and that the financial position, despite the evil prophecies of unpatriotic croakers, is very satisfactory. Other beneficial legislation was also passed.

One of the important events of the session was the position in which the Liberal party placed itself on the tariff question. That party now stands pledged not only to abolish the National Policy, which a short time ago it promised to respect, but also to establish absolute free trade with the United States and to form a combination with that country against Great Britain and the rest of the world—a policy that would injure Canadian industries, destroy our trade with Great Britain, and that could scarcely fail to bring about political as well as commercial annexation to the United States.

Important work was also done by committees during the session. A committee presided over by Mr. Clark Wallace enquired into the subject of trade combinations, and Mr. Adam Brown's committee investigated the methods by which farmers were deceived and defrauded by a certain class of agents. The results of these enquiries will lead to legislation.

On the whole the session has been an important and useful one. A reason for gratification is the way in which the veteran Premier, Sir John Macdonald, bore the work of the session with unimpaired health and cheerfulness. The aged statesman evidently has many useful years yet to devote to his country.

THE EDUCATIONALISTS.

The Closing Session of the Town and County Teachers' Institute.

The closing session of the Teachers' Institute began at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. HOUSTON took up the subject of "Composition," which he defined as the expression of thought. The child commenced composition long before he came to school, the mother being the first and most influential teacher. More attention should be paid to spoken thanto written language. Teach children to speak correctly and they will invariably write correctly. The first requisite in successful training was that the teacher should speak correctly. There no way so good to teach composition to give to pupils a subject to write upon as in this way they were led to use their powers of thought better than in any other way. Object lessons should be given in order to cultivate powers of observation. All pupils should be made to write with pens and paper. In correcting errors rules of syntax are of very little use. All errors in composition might be classed under the four heads—usage, sense, adiquacy and symmetry.

Mr. F. C. COLBECK, B. A., gave his method of teaching Geography and showed himself to be a thorough and systematic teacher of the subject. In fact Mr. Colbeck could not but be successful in teaching any subject, as he possesses the power, in no small degree, of the true teacher.

Mr. HOUSTON followed with the subject of "Literature." He said literature should be taught to give pleasure and would not allow pupils to have no annotated text book in their hands, as it tended to create a dislike for the whole pleasure. No subject, if properly taught, would give greater pleasure in after life. The first requisite in teaching literature was to get the meaning conveyed by the writer, and in order to do this the selection should be read over repeatedly. He condemned the method of selecting scraps for teaching the subject, as the whole piece should be used.

This was the last subject on the programme. A vote was passed requesting the Secretary and President to ask the County Council for a grant of $25 towards the association, as ordered by law.

Votes of thanks were tendered the President and all those who took part in the convention, which brought the session to a close.

Neither mind nor body can act healthfully if the blood is vitiated. Cleanse the vital current from impurities by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This remedy purifies the blood, recuits the wasted energies, and restores health to the debilitated system.

T.V.C.

A meeting of the Trent Valley Canal Commissioners was held at Toronto on Saturday, Judge Weller presided. The Empire, referring to the proceedings, says that Messrs. A. M. Smith and Gardner Boyd, two leading Toronto merchants, gave evidence before the Commissioners on Saturday relative to the expediency of constructing the canal for through trade from the west to the east. The Commission will sit again at 11 a.m. on Monday to hear the evidence of several prominent business men and forwarders of this city. The Commission will go over the route early in July and hold meetings in the various places through which it passes for the purpose of ascertaining what advantages the canal, if constructed would afford local traffic. After finishing in Toronto, the Commission will sit in Peterborough.

A Public Benefactor.

Mr. John Carlisle is a man overflowing with push and energy, and he is now coming to the front as a public benefactor. He is the owner of the property known as Ludgate's or Armour's Hill, and he has set aside a large plot of ground for the use of the public as a park and recreation ground. He intends to run walks and avenues through it and plant a large number of trees. The view from the spot is magnificent and cannot be surpassed in this vicinity. A more desirable place for dwellings it would be difficult to find. Mr. Carlisle certainly deserves the thanks of the public, and as a compliment we suggest that the new park be named "Carlisle." It is also the intention of the owner to decorate the property with a large number of flags and in other ways make it attractive.

James Again.

James Farley got on another of his old time whirls on Saturday night and, as usual, he made things hum near the corner of London and Harvey-sts. where he resides. The police were sent for and James was soon landed in the cooler. At the court this morning his wife appeared as complainant against him, but as she did not want to punish him, desiring only that he would keep away from her. No charge was laid and James was allowed to depart with an injunction to behave himself.

An Italian Row.

An Italian complained to the police on Saturday afternoon, that a lodger had pulled a revolver and threatened to shoot him. Half a dozen live together in a house in the west end of the town and the row was caused by a dispute over paying for some food. No harm was done.

Pulled a Pop.

On Saturday afternoon two young men walked into a hotel and endeavored to obtain a drink without paying for it. The bartender objected and a wordy war followed. In the middle of the row one of the men pulled a revolver and threatened to use it, but the proprietor interfered and no shooting was done.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver s misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wenderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

McCausland & Son, of Toronto, are beyond question the easy leaders in the Ornamental Stained glass trade in Canada. Their vast business extends form Nova Scotia to British Columbia, and thousands of public and private buildings bear testimony of this firm's ability to execute beautiful and durable windows of every description.

To Discuss the Rescript.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 28.—President Fitzgerald and Secretary Sutton of the Irish National League in America have telegraphed to the different members of the Executive Committee to call for a meeting of the committee at Cleveland, O., June 12. The object of the meeting is not given, but it is undoubtedly in regard to the action necessary in the face of the Pope's rescript.

Became Insane on the Train.

UTICA, N.Y., May 28.—About 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon a man with his hands tied with cords was brought to the police station. He was insane and had been taken off a West Shore train. Upon the man's person was found $105, and among his papers was a pass made out to C. Kothe, editor of The Onward, Peoria, Ill.

Trying to Check Extravagance.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

THE WONDERFUL CHEAP MEN.

A GREAT SUCCESS

The Ludgate Lots, the disposing of which was supposed to be the work of a year, all accomplished in a week. How was it done? By the liberal use of printer's ink, by meeting industrious and intelligent young men and young women as well as heads of families on the ground in the evenings after work and after tea, presenting to their intelligence beautiful City Lots at Village Lot prices, and on terms to suit all buyers. This plan is patented and counterfeiters will be prosecuted. Of the Ludgate Lots four only remain unsold, and as I have a great many customers still unsupplied, I have obtained instructions from Mr. Carlisle to sell a few Choice Lots on Carlisle and Monroe Avenues. The manner in which this annex has been fitted up with beautiful avenues nearly all planted on either sides with trees in perfect order; the number of respectable dwellings erected and in course of erection speak volumes for the energy and enterprise of Mr. Carlisle, to whom the corporation of Ashburnham owes a debt of gratitude for the incentive he has given to building operations in their midst. In this connection I claim first mortgage for having induced Mr. Carlisle to purchase that property which has been so profitable to himself, to the Corporation and to those who have bought from him, and which will be still more profitable to all those who may patronize my Sales on the grounds,

AT REDUCED PRICES

Next Monday, Tuesday and Friday evenings, May 28th and 29th and June 1st,

From 5.30 o'clock until dark. Don't fail to attend and bring your friends. I will give you good bargains.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead; town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

Two Drunks.

On Sunday morning officer McGinty collared two drunks on the street. They gave their names as John O'Brien and Samuel Detcher jr. At the police court they pleaded guilty and in default of paying $2 and costs each they were sent up on the bill for ten days.

Fainted.

The heat on Sunday was very oppressive, particularly to those who were confined inside. At St. Luke's church in the the morning, a lady was overcome and had to be assisted outside, where she soon recoverd. At St. John's church dufing the morning service a young lady also fainted, but fresh air and a glass of water soon brought her to.

Struck a Stone.

On Sunday afternoon a young son of Mr. Mac. McGregor was running along the side of the road when he tripped and fell. He struck his head against a sharp stone and cut his forehead. The cut was rather a bad one and three stitches were necessary to close it up.

Scott Act Cases.

There were five Scott Act cases before the Police Magistrate this morning. Messrs. W. H. Chamberlain and R. N. Roddy were charged with second offences and were fined $100 and costs each. Messrs. A. Giroux, T. Dunn, and J. McFarland, for first offences, were fined $50 and costs each.

Rather Peculiar.

On Saturday maskinonge were sold openly on the market by a man hailing from the vicinity of Rice Lake. As these fish cannot be caught legally until the 15th of June, there is something peculiar about this fact. It is claimed that the Inspecter issues permits to fish. Inspector Cochrane, who has charge of this division, is investigating the matter and more will probably be heard of it at an early date.

Church Notes.

At the George st. Methodist Church a sermon of special interest was preached at the evening service by Rev. C. I. D. Moore, B.A., of Victoria College. Mr. Moore goes to Japan shortly, under the aupices of the Students' Missionary Society. He takes a position in one of the Government schools at Tokio, Japan, and will in addition engage in missionary work.

Mr. J. W. Flavelle visited the George-st. Methodist Sunday School on Sunday afternoon and addressed the school, to the delight of the children, who remember with pleasant feelings Mr. Flavelle's energy and ability as superintendent.

District Freight Agencies.

The Empire says that "heretofore the district freight agencies of the Grand Trunk main line, the Great Western, Midland and Northern and North-western have been in the city of Toronto. The Grand Trunk Company propose, since the amalgamation of the Northern and North-western with that road, to re-arrange the district agencies, leaving only Mr. John Earls, who has charge of the Northern and Grand Trunk main line as far east as Kingston, at Toronto. The company propose to make Mr. Quinn, formerly freight agent of the Northern and North-western, freight agent of the Great Western and the Northern and North-western divisions with headquarters at Hamilton, with Mr. White, agent of the Midland and Grand Trunk East, at Montreal." Owing to a request of the Toronto Board of Trade, however, Mr. White will remain in Toronto.

I Have Got Mine.

"Emma, did you get your ticket?"

"What ticket, Annie?"

"Well, I guess I did. I was told they are being disposed of at a rapid rate. And no wonder, for the band is going. Think of that! And then see the beautiful road we travel over, such fast time they make on the C. P. R. And you have the privilege of going on the 5.10 a. m. train, so you can be in Toronto for an early breakfast and have the whole day or two to stay in the Queen City. And you can come home on any train you wish. Look at that also. The fast special leaves at 7 a. m. Such a jolly time we will both have."

"Yes, and the Canton has arranged with the cyclorama managers for the excursionists to see the Battle of Sedan at reduced rates by presenting their railway tickets at the office. I hear so many talking of going by this grand union excurson the I. O. O. F. and the C. E. T. S. will have, I believe, the excursion of the season."

Tickets good for two days, adults $2; children under 12 years $1. By the fastest line in America. Tickets may be had from members of the Canton, or at the stores of Messrs. W. Sanderson, J. D. Tully, Sailsbury Bros., and Geo. A. Schofield & Co.

SONS OF ENGLAND.

Lansdowne Lodge Attends Divine Service—A Sermon by the Rev .W. C. Bradshaw.

Following their usual custom the members of Lansdowne Lodge of the Sons of England Benevolent Society attended church in a body on Sunday. St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was the church chosen and the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw officiated. The attendance was large, the sacred edifice being filled to the doors. The S. O. E. B. S. turned out about one hundred strong and occupied seats reserved for them in the body of the church.

The occasion was Trinity Sunday and the musical portion of the services were of an extra elaborate character. On this occasion, for the first time, the new organ was used and the effect was noticeable.

After the usual prayers, the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw took as his text the 9th verse of Matthew, 23rd chapter, reading: "And call no man your father upon the earth: for one is your father which is in Heaven." In opening the reverend gentleman said that he was glad of the privilege of preaching to such a society, in whose objects and aims he fully concurred. As he understood them the objects were the bringing together of Englishmen and Protestants for their mutual benefit and protection, the maintenance of British connection and to render assistance to the needy of their own race. All Englishmen love liberty and justice and have an undying love for the mother land. He advised them all to practice strict justice and to maintain at all hazards the freedom that is known all over the world, wherever British rule maintains, and all should stand by their principles faithfully. Never in the history of the world, he said, was there more necessity for united action on the part of Protestants than at the present time and all should unite to maintain the principlee that their forefathers fought and bled for. The text contains the germ of all truth and all should live up to it and abide by it. British rule is synonomous with fair play and justice. As our beloved Queen has admitted the open Bible is the great secret of her greatness, and as long as her people remain true to their present faith there will be no decadence. One of the principles of the Sons of England is the maintenance of British connection and wherever the red cross of St. George flies the feeling is the same. In ancient days it was a proud boast to say "I am a Roman citizen," but in modern times a far prouder boast is to say "I am a British citizen." He referred to the civil and religious liberty that the British enjoyed, their free institutions, their commercial importance, their great literature, their powers of colonizing and said that the little island known as England was the peer of all other countries on the face of the globe, and he hoped that the day was far distant when Canada would cease to be a portion of that great and glorious empire. The present condition of affairs, he ascribed as largely due to the English revolution. Previous to that time, he said, the head of the Roman Catholic church assumed all civil and religious power and still claimed that power, and as the Sons of England loved freedom they should conserve the liberties at present enjoyed. He argued that St. Peter was not the supreme ruler of the church, and that St. Paul and and St. James took higher rank. The Protestant denominations were separated by unnecessary barriers, as after all the differences between them were only matters of detail, and he looked for a union of them on some common platform. It would be a grand thing if the Sons of England would devise some sensible, well digested plan to bring this about. He advised the listeners to be righteous, steadfast and true, to cultivate charity, to deal gently with the erring, and to oppose all errors.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Mr. Walter Anderson, an Auburn Employee, Lost an Arm.

On Saturday afternoon, Mr. Walter Anderson, an old employee of the Auburn Woollen Company, met with a serious accident, by which he lost his left arm.

Mr. Anderson is overseer of the carding department and while at work about 3.30 o'clock the serious event occurred. He was examining the cards, when his left hand was caught between the tumbler and the cylinder. The arm was broken at the wrist and a short distance below the elbow, while the teeth of the card cloth tore the flesh and strips from his arm and hand.

As soon as possible medical assistance was secured and Dr. Boucher, assisted by Dr. Halliday, found it necessary to amputate the arm at the elbow. At last accounts the injured man was progressing favorably.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"Really, Mona, my dear, that is not the retort courteous."

"If you knew Mr. Everard better, dear madame Debrisay, you would know that he despises courtesy in himself and others."

"I only hate shams," said Bertie, frankly.

"Let me offer you a cup of tea," said Mme. Debrisay, rather scandalized.

"Thank you; I shall be glad of it, after our long, dusty walk. Really, it's not so bad, now we have got here," looking round with visible examination. "It is a better room than mine in the Temple. Now, tell me, how do you manage to rub along?"

"Madame Debrisay and I have entered into partnership; she takes the big pupils, and I take the little ones."

"By George! Does the squalling and strumming pay for all this?" waving his tea-spoon comprehensively round.

"It does; but then you must remember it is all in the fourpence three farthings style of expense," said Mme. Debrisay.

"Gad, what heaps of money we waste!" exclaimed Everard, putting down his cup. "What sums my father gets through! I suppose you never go to parties or things of that kind, so living out here is no consequence. Why one might live for half nothing up here."

"There are no rooms to let in this house, Bertie."

"That is a pity. Good-morning, Mrs. Debrisay; good-bye, Mona."

"Happy to see you again," said Mme. Debrisay. "You are really quite a character."

"What the deuce does she mean?" asked Everard of himself, as he took up his neatly rolled umbrella, and opened the door, while Mme. Debrisay screamed after him to turn right and go on to a large church where the city omnibuses passed every ten minutes.

CHAPTER VII.—AN ACCIDENT.

The variable spring, the hot dusty summer days, succeeded each other, and the partners worked steadily through all.

They had gleams of diversion too, for Mme. Debrisay had friends and acquaintances of her own profession who often gave her tickets for concerts, and orders for the theatre. These were amusements of which Mona had enjoyed but little during her residence with her grandmother, whose fixed principle it was never to pay for anything of the sort. They were a source of great enjoyment, for Mona was peculiarly alive to beauty and harmony, and had something of the dramatic gift herself.

A very hot July had driven away all Mme. Debrisay's pupils, save two or three. The ranks of Mona's were also thinned, and both were planning a course of needlework and reading during the approaching time of rest.

Mona had been out one morning to do some small housekeeping errands as Mme. Debrisay had a headache, and on re-entering the house with a latch-key, was surprised to hear a sound of snarling and scuffling in their sitting-room, the door of which was open. Going in quickly, she beheld Mme. Debrisay, her cap slightly awry, endeavoring to drag a lace shawl from the fangs of Dandie, who, snarling and yelping, held on like grim death, stretching the shawl to its fullest length, and dancing backward, while she struck at him ineffectually with a small hearth brush.

"Diable de bete!" she exclaimed. "Keep away from him, Mona. I believe he is going mad."

"I believe he is only frightened and angry. Let it go, and probably he will, too."

Thus diverting Mme. Debrisay's attention, she relaxed her grasp. The dog gave a vigorous pull, and trotted triumphantly with the lace in his mouth—head and tail erect—into the hall, where he proceeded to tear it vehemently.

"Just look at that! The only decent thing I have to put on my shoulders when I go out. Get away with you, you cur!" —a thrust of the brush—"Call him off, Jane!"—another thrust—"Take that"—throwing the brush at him finally.

"Me beautiful Chantilly shawl," almost wept Mme. Debrisay. "I got it at a sale the last year you were with us in Paris. Thirty-five francs seventy, and it's worth two hundred! It was as good as new. I will not live in the house with such a brute!"

"I am sure, ma'am," said the landlady, coming in, "I am that sorry—I don't know how to express it. I don't know what's in the dog. He is always trying to run up here, as if he knew it worried you."

"I have no doubt he does," returned Mme. Debrisay, examining her lace. "Look here! There's a tear for you! Here's another! It's just ruined."

"I think I can mend it, dear," said Mona, sympathetically.

"Now, Mrs. Puddiford," insisted Mme. Debrisay, impressively, to her landlady, "I give you your choice—either that savage brute leaves the house, or I will. Be sure you explain matters to Mr. Rigden this night, and let me know the result. Either he sends away his dog—or goes away with his dog—or Miss Craig and I go, this day week!" tragically.

"I will, ma'am!—I will!" sniffed the little landlady. "I foresee a heap of trouble. Mr. Rigden—he is that obstinate and touchy!"

The landlady retired, pressing the corner of her duster to her eyes; while the yelps of the dog were heard from below, where he was being tied up.

The next day was stormy, with heavy thunder-showers, and Mme. Debrisay would not hear of Mona taking a journey to town in search of materials to repair the damage done by the delinquent Dandie. Moreover, a council of war had to be held.

Mr. Rigden was observed that morning to draw his umbrella from the stand with a degree of violence which upset all the other umbrellas and sticks, and "banged" the front door with a recklessness which was in itself a casus belli. Soon after, Mrs. Puddiford appeared with a rueful countenance.

"Well'm, I have spoken to Mr. Rigden. He is noways inclined to hear reason!"

"He wouldn't be a man if he did, unless it were on his own side!" ejaculated madame.

"He spoke most disrespectful," continued the landlady, beginning to play with the corner of her apron. "He said he would stand no more d——d nonsense (them was his words, ma'am), and was sorry he had just begun a month, as he would have to pay for it (he is a monthly tenant); that he would look out for rooms, and as soon as ever he found another place, free from cantankerous old women, he'd leave, if he forfeited a fortnight's rent. I am sorry to say he so far forgot himself, but them was his very words, ma'am."

"I assure you, Mrs. Puddiford, it is not of the slightest consequence whether Mr. Rigden considers me old and cantankerous or not. I congratulate you on getting rid of a troublesome, ill-bred inmate!"

The next day was bright and fresh after the thunder, and Mona having given a lesson in Gloucester Place early in the afternoon, went on to Regent's Circus to match the lace, intending to make madame's shawl as good as new.

Having done her shopping, she crossed to the other side, and walked a little way toward Tottenham Court Road, hoping to find room in an omnibus, without having to struggle at the regular stopping-place. Presently a Royal Oak omnibus came up, and paused before she hailed it. Mona hastened to enter as soon as an elderly and somewhat decrepit-looking man had descended, with the help of a stick and a baggy umbrella.

The omnibus moved on before the old gentleman had one foot clear of the step and he fell prone on the damp, profusely watered ground. The driver of a hansom could hardly draw up quickly enough to prevent his horse from trampling on the prostrate figure, which seemed unable to recover the perpendicular.

ABOUT EARLY CLOSING.

We have decided to close our store during the Summer months at 7 p. m. each day, Saturday excepted.

We would ask our customers and friends to aid us in this matter by sending in orders or calling to make purchases as early as possible in the day.

The early closing movement will be a benefit to all who carry out the plan we feel assured and we hope that our request for early buying will meet with a general response.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—"Civil Service Gazette."

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 7th June, 1888, for the delivery of Indian Supplies during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1889, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c., duty paid, at various points in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

Forms of tender containing full particulars relative to the Supplies required, dates of delivery, &c., may be had by applying to the undersigned, or the Indian Commissioner at Regina, or to the Indian Office, Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods (or for any portion of each description of goods) separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules, and the department reserves to itself the right to reject the whole or any part of a tender.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque in favor of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs on a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent, of the amount of the tender which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract based on such tender when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

Each tender must, in addition to the signature of the tenderer, be signed by two sureties acceptable to the Department for the proper performance of the contract.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

This advertisement is not to be inserted by any newspaper without the authority of the Queen's Printer, and no claim for payment by any newspaper not having had such authority will be admitted.

L. VANKOUGHNET,

Some Things to Say

IF there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods. We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line "80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1.25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

IT RESEMBLES TASCOTT.

Indications that Millionaire Snell's Supposed Slayer Committed Suicide.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 29. The body of a young man, shot in the abdomen, was found in the lake south of the city limits. Several fishermen at Waukegan found a bottle containing information that W. B. Tascott, the supposed murderer of A. J. Snell in Chicago, contemplated suicide, and that his body would be found in Milwaukee Bay.

The latter fact led a reporter to examine the body of the young man, which lay in the morgue unidentified. He found that it answered the description of Tascott as given by the Chief of Police of Chicago—5 feet 8 inches in height, weighed about 150 pounds, was of slight build, had full round face, heavy eyebrows, fair complexion, light hair, thin on top. The right leg shows a distinct scar of a bullet wound. There are also scars on the elbow. There was nothing found on the body which could otherwise lead to identification.

Down on Darwinism.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 29.—In the Southern Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday Rev. Dr. Smoot, of the committee on the vote in the complaint of Rev. Dr. Woodrow against the Synod of Georgia, reported that the sense of the General Assembly is that God made the body out of dust of the earth, and that it was not evolved from a lower animal. A substitute for the report was presented declaring that the action of the Synod of Georgia did not annul the action of the Presbytery of Augusta nor affect the ecclesiastical standing of Dr. Woodrow, and, further, that the views held by Dr. Woodrow were not contrary to the standards of the Church. The substitute was rejected and the report of the committee adopted. Rev. T. C. Whaling of South Carolina read a protest against the action of the General Assembly in the matter, which without action was ordered spread on the minutes.

Is James G. Out of the Race?

NEW YORK, May 29.—The World to-day says editorially in addition to a statement already published in reference to Mr. Blaine's withdrawal: We repeat with absolute confidence our previous announcement, and add to it this further information: Mr. Blaine has already written to one of his most intimate friends a letter positively refusing the use of his name as a presidential candidate, and declaring that he would not, under any circumstances, accept the nomination. Our Republican friends may accept this information as absolutely true. Mr. Blaine is out of the race.

The Injunction of Secrecy Removed.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Senate at 1.20 proceeded to the consideration of executive business, and continued in secret session till 5 o'clock, when the doors were reopened and the Senate proceeded, still in executive session, to adopt this motion without a revision:

"Resolved, That the injunction of secrecy be removed from all the proceedings of the Senate in reference to the treaty with Great Britain now under consideration."

Is She Insane?

CHICAGO, May 29.—Mrs. Hester A. Foley, on trial before Judge Prendergast as a lunatic, charges Magnetic Healer "Dr." McFadden with teaching that immorality is the only means by which a woman can become influential, magnetic or metaphysical. Judge Prendergast continued the case for a week to get at the bottom of the story.

He Should Burn His Letters.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A despatch from Augusta, Me., says Mr. Blaine's house was broken into some time ago while he and his family were absent, and all his political and business correspondence and private papers, involving financial operations, which were in his library, were overhauled and a portion of them abstracted.

Ten Years' Imprisonment.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

RUMORS OF COMING CHANGES IN THE DOMINION CABINET.

The Modus Vivendi Appended to the Fisheries Treaty Brought into Force—Post-office Returns.

OTTAWA, May 29.—A meeting of the Council was held here yesterday, and it is understood that Mr. C. H. Tupper will shortly enter the Cabinet, probably as Minister of Marine and Fisheries. With regard to the Interior the impression gains ground that Mr. White's successor will be Lieut.-Gov. Dewdney.

A prominent Cabinet Minister said yesterday that it was felt that the new Minister of the Interior must possess a thorough knowledge of the Northwest, and there are few men better qualified in that respect than Lieut.-Gov. Dewdney.

It is not regarded as probable that any changes in the Cabinet will be made at present beyond filling the vacancies in the Interior and Marine and Fisheries.

An order-in-council has been passed bringing in force the modus vivendi appended to the Fisheries Treaty under which for two years American fishing vessels can be granted license to purchase bait and other supplies and transhp cargo on payment of a fee of $1.50 per ton for the season. The collectors of customs have been supplied with forms of license and instructions, and it is understood that a number of applications have been already made by Americans. This license gives no right to fish or to prepare to fish within the three-mile limit, and the fisheries protection service will be maintained the same as last year. Already three vessels are in commission, the steamer Acadia will be ready in a few days, and other vessels will be added as the season advances.

Hon. Mr. Foster left for the Maritime Provinces yesterday to visit his father, who is very ill. On his return he will be sworn in as Minister of Finance and take charge of his new department.

Mayor Stewart has received from Lieut.-Col. Allan of the Queen's Own a letter of thanks for the reception tendered the regiment during the visit here on the Queen's Birthday.

The 6-year-old son of Mr. Scarth, M.P., who died here of congestion of the stomach, was buried yesterday.

A Cheap Boodler.

PETROLIA, May 29.—Thomas C. Ide, bookkeeper for McKee & Marwick, machinists, went to the bank Saturday afternoon and drew $150 for his employers in order to pay off the men, and when one of the firm went to the safe for the pay roll and cash he found the safe locked and no key and Ide missing. It has since been learned that Ide procured a horse and buggy from the livery and drove to Sarnia. The owner of the outfit secured his horse and buggy in Sarnia yesterday.

A Sad Sunday in a Lighthouse.

KINGSTON, May 29.—A week since Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Orr, keepers of the light near Snake Island, in the harbor, caught cold while crossing to their home at the lighthouse. They contracted pneumonia and sank gradually, Mr. Orr, aged 70, being in a hopeless state from the first. On Sunday husband and wife died within a few hours of each other. The deceased have been life-long residents of the islands about Kingston, were most industrious and were held in general respect.

The Movement of Wheat.

PORT ARTHUR, May 29.—The wheat movement for the week ending May 27 was as follows: Arrived and inspected at this port, 21 cars No. 1 hard, 10 cars No. 2 hard, 72 cars No. 1 Northern, 11 cars No. 2 Northern and No. 2 rejected. Shipments, 521,028 bushels. Eighteen vessels in all were loaded.

Made a New Contract.

KINGSTON, May 29.—J. G. Kavanagh of Gananoque, who discovered some errors in his calculations, declined to go on with the work of constructing the double track between Sidney and Belleville at the prices of the contract awarded to him. He made a new tender, which will be accepted.

St. Kitts' Printing Tenders.

FOUND FLOATING IN THE BAY.

Probable Suicide at Hamilton—Ministerial Association Closing Meeting.

HAMILTON, May 29.—The body of an unknown man was found floating in the bay yesterday. Deceased was apparently about 45 years old, of sandy complexion, wore a goatee and side whiskers and was quite bald. He was well dressed, wearing a black frock coat and striped pants. In his tie was a gold pin, the design being a hand holding a diamond. The body had apparently been in the water about three weeks. There were no marks of violence and all indications point to suicide. Several blank receipts of the Merchants' Publishing Company of Toronto were found in the pockets, and on the back of one is the name George Stafford. There were also several blank membership cards in the Retail Grocers' Association signed by Henry Lindsay. A description of the body was telegraphed to Toronto and it was discovered that the deceased was George Stafford, who boarded at 163 Terauley-street. He was married, but had been separated from his wife for the past 11 years. Mrs. Stafford formerly lived on Pearl-street, but now resides somewhere in the West End. It is probable that the body will be brought to Toronto for interment.

At the closing meeting of the Ministerial Association Rev. James Murray, the new pastor of the Wentworth-street Presbyterian Church, was elected a member. It was announced that the Parks Committee had decided to change the dates of the open-air concerts to Thursday evenings, so as not to interfere with prayer meetings. The question of holding temperance mass meetings on Sunday afternoons was laid over until October.

Among those expected to deliver addresses at the Wentworth Farmers' Institute's first annual picnic at Ancaster on June 6 are: Hon. Charles Drury, the new Minister of Agriculture; Thomas Bain, M.P.; James Mills, M.A., President of the Ontario Agricultural College; V. E. Fuller, F. M. Carpenter, M.P.; James Carpenter, M.P.; James Somerville, M.P.; D. Henderson, M.P.; Dr. Montague, M.P.; N. Awrey, M.P.P.; Dr. McMahon, M.P.P.; D. W. Kerns, M.P.P.; Dr. Baxter, M.P.P., and Joseph Rymal.

At Christ Church Cathedral yesterday Miss Beulah Howells, daughter of the late Dr. Howells of this city, and George Clark, an old Wentworth County boy, now a prosperous citizen of Panama, were married, Rev. Dr. Mockridge performing the ceremony.

Wm. Raycroft, a loom-fixer employed in the Dundas Cotton Mills, fell dead from heart disease under the railroad bridge on the Sydenham-road yesterday.

MEETING OF CREDITORS.

Poisoned By Spiced Meat—A Victim of Last Saturday's Fire.

TORONTO, May 29.—The creditors of Hughes Bros. meet to-day in the warehouse on Yonge-street. The statement to be submitted will include: Liabilities—Bank of Commerce, $400,000; other creditors, $200,000; assets, $150,000, leaving a difference of $420,000. Besides the assets there is $75,000 worth of real estate held by the bank as collateral. Since the last statement some of the notes under discount in the bank have been paid off. At that time the amount due the bank was over half a million. The bills under discount aggregate $260,000; the rest of the account represents an overdraft. It is not likely that much will be done to-day unless the creditors outside of the bank are willing to accept an offer that may be made them in the interest of the bank. If that is done there is a possibility of a resumption. So far the firm has only suspended; the fight to-day will be between the other creditors and the bank as to whether the firm shall assign or not. A syndicate of Mr. Hughes' friends, it is stated, will give him a lift if anything like terms can be had from the creditors.

Robert Davies stated yesterday that the report of the sale of his big Dominion Brewery to an English syndicate was premature.

The Bedson family, who were poisoned by spiced meat, are fully recovered. Meat purchased from the same place was eaten by Dr. W. W. Geikie and his son, and as a result they were very ill, but are now all right. The meat should be analyzed.

Mrs. Rogers, who was so seriously burned in the fire at O'Neil's eating house, Queen's Birthday, died last night at the General Hospital.

The Waterworks committee has cancelled the Burns coal contract, and tenders will be again called for. It appears that there are firms ready to supply coal at lower prices than have been previously bid. Mr. Burns is also to be sued for the price of one thousand tons of coal alleged to have been paid for and not delivered.

Coroner Johnson last night held an inquest at the Morgue on the body of a female infant found on the roadway near College and Shaw-streets. Dr. Spencer, who made the post mortem, stated the child was three weeks old, and had evidently died from the result of a blow on the left side of the skull, being previous to the infliction of the wound in perfect health. The jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against a party or parties unknown.

Saving Quebec the Go-as.

QUEBEC, May 28.—There was considerable excitement here yesterday over the announcement that in future the different steamship lines running to the St. Lawrence will carry all their immigrant passengers past Quebec and land them at Montreal.

AT THE ANCIENT CAPITAL.

THE CONFERENCE RESOLUTIONS BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE.

An Amendment Moved by Mr. Flynn Defeated—27 to 18—The Bill to be Opposed to the Bitter End.

QUEBEC, May 29.—It is evidently the intention of the Conservatives in the Assembly to oppose the Quebec resolutions at every stage, and it is hinted that the Council may follow the example of their Lower Province brethren and throw out the resolutions. When Premier Mercier moved the second reading of the bill concerning the resolutions in the Assembly yesterday, Hon. Mr. Flynn, who is now really the leader of the Opposition, moved in amendment:

"That several of the resolutions are inimical to the fundamental principles of the constitution, and, if adopted, would in many cases deprive us of the advantages of responsible Government, that a certain number of the resolutions are not of sufficient importance to justify an amendment of the constitution, and that relating to subsidies paid by the Dominion to the Provinces is not in keeping with the principle sanctioned by the House in 1883-4, and that the House does not feel it to be its duty to approve the resolutions in their entirety."

No discussion took place and the House at once divided, the amendment being defeated, 27 to 18.

The Resolutions Bill was then read a second time, and will be taken up in committee stage at a later date, when the Conservatives intend to move amendments to each resolution and fight them to the bitter end.

DETERMINED TO BUILD THE ROAD.

The C.P.R. Throwing Obstacles in the Way of a Possible Rival.

WINNIPEG, May 29.—The Local Government is advertising for proposals to build the link from Winnipeg to Portage la Prairie, to connect with the Manitoba Northwestern Railway, in order to secure direct competition with the Canadian Pacific Railway throughout the province. The advertisement asks all companies making the proposals to state what bonus or how much guarantee of bonds will be required. It is the evident intention of the Government to go right ahead and build the road, despite all opposition of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

It is reported here that the Canadian Pacific Railway has conspired with the Beatty line of steamers, which had agreed to bring rails necessary for the Red River Valley Railway to Duluth, to prevent their delivery. According to the understanding the rails were to have been here long before this, but not a rail has yet arrived. The Local Government hoped to get them delivered in Duluth and then shipped over the Northern Pacific to the boundary. The consignment that the Canadian Pacific Railway undertook to deliver has been sidetracked at different points along the latter's line, and it is not expected the company will deliver them, as they are at loggerheads with the Local Government. It is believed they will make persistent attempts to block the building of the road till after the next crop is harvested.

A Gloomy State of Affairs.

LONDON, May 29.—The meeting of the Land Corporation of Canada yesterday disclosed a gloomy state of affairs. Much dissatisfaction was expressed by the shareholders. The directors stated that the company was now owing £4500 stg. The board recommended a call of four shillings per share, payable in two instalments, on the 15th July and 15th Nov.; also a further reduction of the capital by writing off the remaining thirty shillings uncalled. They also recommended the division of the shares, which at present stand at £5 each with £3 paid, into three shares of £1 each, fully paid up. After a discussion, in which the shareholders blamed the directors for lack of energy in developing the property, the proposals of the board were carried.

An Explanation Demanded.

PARIS, May 29.—Reports are circulating in the lobbies of the Chamber of Deputies that the French Ambassador at Vienna has been instructed to ask Count Kalnoky, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, to explain the speech made by Herr Tisza, the Hungarian Prime Minister, in the Lower House of the Hungarian Diet on Saturday, in which he reiterated the Government's refusal to take part in the Paris exhibition, and spoke of the possibility of the property of Hungarian subjects being damaged and the national flag insulted through the excitability of the French popular feeling. The Bourse was agitated to-day over fears that complications may arise from Herr Tisza's utterances.

Gasoline Explosion.

FREDERICK, Md., May 29.—Several barrels of oil and gasoline in the store of Charles E. Zellers exploded yesterday during the progress of a fire at the store. A number of firemen who were in the building at the time were burned, cut and bruised. Chas. Poole, jr., aged 11, was pinned beneath the rafters and killed. The sides and front of the building were thrown into the street and many of the hundreds of spectators were injured by flying plate glass and other debris.

A Rough Passage.

HAVRE, May 29.—The steamer La Bourgogne, which arrived yesterday from New York, had a very rough passage. On Tuesday last she shipped a very heavy sea forward which knocked down six of the crew, one of them being killed and the others badly hurt.

Failed With $250,000 Liabilities.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., May 29.—James McLaughlin & Son, woollen manufacturers of Skaniateles Falls, have failed with liabilities of over $250,000 and nominal assets of about $200,000.

UNDER THE HEAD OF BUILDING NOTES

The Oshawa Vindicator says:—"Messrs. Rowse Bros., enterprising merchants, O. C. Rowse, of Peterborough, and E. J. Rowse of this town, are building another store on King-st. east, in rear of their present block. When completed it will be an ornament to the street and will make one of the largest blocks in town. Mr. Edwards has the contract for the stone and brick work, and Mr. S. Gliddon for the woodwork. We say success to such enterprises."

The Daily Review.

TUESDAY, MAY 29, 1888.

THE G.T.R. TRAIN SERVICE.

THE Madoc Review complains that there is no connection from that place with the Peterborough train in the morning. The morning train from Belleville leaves the city much earlier than formerly. This change is a decided improvement, because it gives a direct through service to Toronto and passengers coming to Peterborough, to market for instance, can reach the town earlier and have longer to remain here. It is a question whether the Madoc people would prefer to have the train leave there at the early hour necessary to make connection with the morning Peterborough train. If the afternoon train, however, could be held longer here it would be an advantage, but the eastern connections and service have to be considered.

The Millbrook Reporter also joins in complaining, and on substantial grounds. Millbrook and other places feel the inconvenience of the train service to the south. It is a short distance to Port Hope and the steamer that runs on the route across Lake Ontario does not leave the port until well on in the morning, yet to make connection with it and to cross the lake one has to remain over night in Port Hope. Instead of taking only one day to reach Rochester from here, two days have to be spent in the journey. And the connection with the western trains, to places between Port Hope and Toronto, is very inconvient. This could easily, and profitably one would think, be remedied by an early train to Port Hope, which could also give a quicker and better service to Toronto then the present arraugement of trains on the Grand Trunk affords. The complaint is one that deserves the best attention of the Grand Trunk authorities.

THE Peterborough REVIEW solemnly protests against our suggestion that the Trent Valley canal item of $88,000 was secured by Mr. Barron's able speech in its support.—Lindsay Post.

We do not know that there was much solemnity about the REVIEW'S protest. The suggestion was obviously ridiculous, because the item was placed in the estimates by the Government, moved by the Minister of Finance, supported by the whole Conservative party, and the only evidence of opposition came from the Liberal side. The Post adds:—"The REVIEW ought to be grateful to Mr. Barron for his energetic assistance in pushing on this great undertaking."

PREPARED TO DO BATTLE.

The Members of the Old Lacrosse Team Respond to the Rally.

According to previous announcement, a meeting of the old lacrosse twelve, who for years held the championship against all comers, was held at the Commercial House. The rally was a grand one, all the players now residing in town, with the exception of two, being on hand and these two were unavoidably absent.

Among those present were Messrs. H. Lebrun, H. Phelan, M. Halpin, Geo. Giroux, R. H. Fortye, M. Tierney, W. Rudkins, Jos. Joyal, Dr. Brennan, J. J. Sheehy and a number of others at present playing with the Riversides.

The boys displayed all their old time fire and enthusiasm. They unanimously decided to get into harness once more and join the existing club, the only change made being that Mr. H. LeBrun was added to the existing committee of management. It was decided to get down to work at once and on the occasion of the first match of the season, on Wednesday, June 6th, the old game will doubtless be heard from.

Some of the players have not handled a stick for years and the necessity of constant and diligent practice is quite apparent to all. With the boys in good shape we feel confident that they will have but little difficulty in securing the same high position among the clubs of the Province that they so successfully maintained for a long term of years.

Another Hydrant.

When the Water Company first laid their mains a hydrant was placed in front of the property known as Blyth mills. It was put there by private arrangement and the town was not called on to pay for it. A deputation from the water Company were to have attended the Council and asked that the town pay for the hydrant in the future, on the ground that it protects a large amount of valuable property that contributes a considerable amount in taxes each year to the town treasury.

No. 2 Ward.

The resignation of Mr. Andrew McNeil, as one of the Councillors for number Two Ward, has not yet been accepted. The Council feel reluctant about doing it and as Mr. McNeil expresses his firm intention to retire, there appears to be no other course open but to accept it. In connection with the expected vacancy, the names of several prominent citizens are mentioned as probable candidates, but so far we have not heard of any person who has definitely announced himself as a candidate.

Lansdowne Rowing Club.

A well attended meeting of the Lansdowne Rowing Club was held at the club house on Monday evening. It was in fact the annual meeting, and a general straightening up of affairs resulted. So favourable are matters in the club that it starts out for the season under capital auspices, and the promise of an active time in the boats. The boats and equipments were looked over and found in good repair and ready for the water. The election of officers resulted as follows:—

HON. PRESIDENT.—H. Calcutt.
PRESIDENT.—H. W. Kent.
VICE-PRESIDENT.—W. Matthews.
CAPTAIN.—K. G. Lech.
VICE-CAPTAIN.—A. Stevenson.
SEC.-TREAS.—Geo. Stevenson.

Higher Poles.

The Eletric Light Company are putting down new poles on George-st. to carry their wires and lamps. The new ones will be much higher than those at present in use, and it is expected that the lamps will give even better satisfaction than they do at present. In this connection it may be said that the lamp at George and Simcoe-sts. is the poorest in town, while from its position it should be one of the best. Frequently it almost goes out altogether. It has been noticeable for months and should be fixed or removed.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

Latest Turf Events—Baseball Games Yesterday—Championship Record.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 29.—Racing was continued here yesterday, with the Southern Hotel Stakes as the attraction. It had four starters, of which The Lioness was the favorite. She failed to get closer than third, Champaigne Charlie winning, with Liberty second. It was a disastrous day for the backers of the favorites, not one being able to finish in front.

Dust from the Diamond.

Rochester received $201 as their proceeds of the opening day. The Torontos received $68 on the opening day in Rochester.

Nine thousand baseballs went to the bottom of the ocean on the steamer Eureka, which was sunk a fortnight or so ago. The mermaids may organize a nine now, and have baseballs enough to last them for several seasons.

Sullivan of the Chicagos, writing to a friend in Boston, says he considers the New York club their most dangerous opponents this season, as they have three fine pitchers in Keefe, Welch and Crane.

Pitcher Smith was released by Manager Cushman yesterday.

Sheppard did not accompany the Torontos to London yesterday, but leaves for Buffalo to-day, where he will pitch in one of the games.

Umpire Sullivan has been notified by Secretary White that no notice will be taken of the fine of $50 imposed upon Pete Wood, for throwing the ball over the grand stand in the first Hamilton-Toronto game, as the fine was inflicted on the testimony of a manager and not on what the umpire saw personally.

N. Y. Sun: Toronto seems to be the only club able to beat Syracuse.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: The umpires of the International League have been instructed to fine every pitcher $25 who works the latest wrinkle of throwing a new ball over the grand stand during the course of a game.

Manager Chapman read a set of rules to the Buffalo players last week. Should any player disobey them or his orders he will be fined not less than $10 nor more than $20 for each offence, subject to expulsion.

Peterborough Boating Club.

The annual sale of racks took place at the club house on Monday evening, a fair attendance of members participating. Good prices were obtained for those selected and a number retained for members not present at last year's figure. The club sat out on the wharf for a time and discussed the probabilities for the future with regard to the proposed line of railway that—if built—will cut off the water front of the property.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2:50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead; town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Weather Probabilities.

Moderate to fresh winds; generally fair weather, with a few local showers; stationary or a little lower temperature.

The Goods Worn by Royalty.

Prints are well in fashion this season. Queens, Princesses and ladies' of the court are wearing for summer dresses prints. A good print is good enough for any one—in its place. If you want to see what the possibilities in prints may reach look at the display in our south window. The golden lion displays a fine display. Plenty of patterns for 12½c. to 15c. per yard. Sold at 8c per yard. For popular prints try the golden lion.

For the Pacific.

Mr. Archie Freeman, late of Norwood, an old member of the Fire Brigade Band, will start for Vancouver, British Columbia, in a few days, where he has secured a permanent situation. He is a first class musician and we have no doubt that he will make his mark on the Pacific coast.

Pulled Down.

The wall on the west side of the post office yard has been pulled down. It will be replaced by the side of the new brick building at present under course of construction by Mr. Geo. A. Cox, and it was not thought necessary to have the two where one would amply suffice. When it was torn down a portion of the wall at the north end gave way, owing to the fact that it supported one of the guy poles of the telephone company. A change will have to be made.

Arrested for Larceny.

An Italian wowan named Maria Vergindella was arrested on Monday afternoon by Chief Roszel on a charge of stealing a sum of money, about $50, at London, Ont. It is alleged that the theft was committed about a year ago, an Italian being the loser. Since that time the woman has eluded arrest until the chief located her in an Italian house on Elm-st. She appeared in the Court this morning with an infant in her arms and was remanded to gaol until she is taken by a London officer to be tried on the charge. She took her incarceration very badly and cried and sobbed for hours at a time.

Town Council.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was supposed to take place on Monday evening, but none was held, in fact the members did not go any farther than the fire hall. As there was really nothing for them to do, there was no necessity for meeting. Those who filed an appearance before nine o'clock were Mayor Stevenson and Councillors Davidson, Winch, Kelly, Hall, Yelland, Douglas, Moore, Kendry, Langford, and Hartley. Various matters were talked over and the Council separated, it being understood that the Mayor will call a special meeting when public business demands it. Quite a number of ratepayers who had assembled to listen to the deliberations of the civic legislators were much disappointed at missing the expected amusement.

PETERBOROUGH citizens for some time past have had a kidd in boots, now they have a kidd in the Pantry, who is reaching out with irresistible energy for the grocery trade of the town and surrounding country. Give him a call. d119-tf

Entertainment To-night.

This evening the Royal Templars will give an entertainment in the W. C. T. U. hall, George-st. The programme includes singing by the Y. M. C. A. quartette and others, an address by the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, recitations, etc. Admission free.

New Literature.

We have received from Wm. Bryce, publisher, Toronto, copies of "Miracle Gold," by Richard Dowling (price 30 cents), and "The Argonauts of North Liberty," by Bret Harte (price 25 cents). These works are the Canadian copyright editions of the latest writings of popular authors.

Spring Cleaning.

The town offices, police station, Police Court and cells, are being treated to a spring coat of whitewash and are in other ways being livened up. If it will tend to keep down the stench around the cells, the change will be much appreciated by all those who have business around the offices.

You may come to us with a sour face, but you will laugh before you leave at the excellent Tea you can get at the Pantry for 20 cents a pound. d119-tf

That Switch.

His Worship Mayor Stevenson has been officially informed that on Tuesday, June 5th, a special meeting of the Railway Committee of the House of Commons will be held at the office of the Minister of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, for the purpose of considering the application of the C.P.R. to construct a switch from the bridge works north, up the bank of the river.

Court of Revision.

A meeting of the Ashburnham Court of Revision, composed of the members of the Council, was held at the Town Hall on Monday night. Reeve Burnham presided. The appeals were few in number and importance, and all were disposed of in about an hour. Several assessements were reduced slightly in amount and a number of changes in owners and tenants of property were made on the roll.

The Rifle Range.

The committee appointed by the Rifle Association to arrange for a range for this year, the range of the Association being on the line of the Chemong Lake railway, have succeeded in completing an arrangement with the company to continue to use that site. The members of the Association will meet for practice at that range on Thursday next and the first match of the season will be held on Thursday of next week.

Personal.

The Minden Echo says:—"Mr. Lech, of Peterborough, has been visiting at Mr. Jno. Steinkrauss this week, and left for Haliburton fur market yesterday."

Mr. J. G. King, anold and highly esteemed citizen of Port Hope, and a gentleman well known in Peterborough, has accepted a responsible position with the Keewatin Milling Co., necessitating his removal to a distant point. Prior to his departure Mr. King was presented with a handsome solid silver coffee urn, in a satin lined case, by the citizens, and a valuable gold watch and chain by the Conservatives of East Durham. Both presents were suitably engraved. The proceedings took place at the Opera House, which was crowded to the doors. His hosts of friends will wish him a long and prosperous career.

I Have Got Mine.

"Emma, did you get your ticket?"

"What ticket, Annie?"

"Well, I guess I did. I was told they are being disposed of at a rapid rate. And no wonder, for the band is going. Think of that! And then see the beautiful road we travel over, such fast time they make on the C. P. R. And you have the privilege of going on the 5.10 a. m. train, so you can be in Toronto for an early breakfast and have the whole day or two to stay in the Queen City. And you can come home on any train you wish. Look at that also. The fast special leaves at 7 a. m. Such a jolly time we will both have."

"Yes, and the Canton has arranged with the cyclorama managers for the excursionists to see the Battle of Sedan at reduced rates by presenting their railway tickets at the office. I hear so many talking of going by th's grand union excursion the I. O. O. F. and the C. E. T. S. will have, I believe, the excursion of the season."

Tickets good for two days, adults $2; children under 12 years $1. By the fastest line in America. Tickets may be had from members of the Canton, or at the stores of Messrs. W. Sanderson, J. D. Tully, Sallsbury Bros., and Geo. A. Schofield & Co.

Launching Postponed.

Owing to the heavy rains having swoollen the timber on the ways Mr. P. P. Young's new steamer at Young's Point was not launched on Tuesday, as was intended, and the ceremony was postponed until Thursday, May 31st.

Factory Inspection.

Mr. James R. Brown, Factory Inspector for Central Ontario, is in town to-day, examining the factories in Peterborough. He finds the requirements of the Ontario Factory Act fairly met, but pointed out where minor improvements were needed in some cases.

Cheese Board.

The first meeting of the Peterborough and Victoria Cheese Boord is in progress this afternoon. There is an unusually large attendance of factorymen, salesmen and home and foreign buyers. The offering was very good for the first sale of the season. Particulars will be given to-morrow.

Turning a Creek.

The G. T. R. propose to change the course of the creek at the north end of the town by diverting it into the river, and for this purpose the Council will probably be asked to contribute financial assistance. The idea is a good one and if it is carried out much trouble, that now occurrs every spring, will be entirely obviated.

C. P. R. Siding.

The solicitors of the Canadian Pacific Railway has written to Mayor Stevenson, regarding the construction of the proposed siding along the bank of the river and up as far as the Dickson mills. The Company desire permission to go on with the work as speedily as possible and promise to compensate fully all property holdeers for any damage that they may sustain.

A New Player.

A new clarionet player reached town last night. He is an old British army musician and for some time he has been with the D. O.B., of Bowmanville. He will play tonight at the Horticultural Park. He is desirous of settling in Peterborough and as he has the reputation of being an A 1 player, some of those gentlemen, who are desireus of keeping our band up to its present high standing, should exert themselves to see that he is not allowed to leave town, as such players are needed very much, the reeds being the only deficient portion of the band.

Open Air Concert.

The Fire Brigade Band will give their first open air concert of the season at the Horticultural Park this evening, when the following splendid programme will be rendered:—

Quick Step.."Let Me Like a Soldier Fall" Wallace
Selection....."Moses in Egypt".....Rossini
Spanish Valse...."Santiago".....Hartmann
Fantasia.."The Relief of Ekowe".H. Round
Overture....."Sybil"....Michael Bieger
Valse....."Blumen am Wege" Karl V. Keller
Overture "Highland Schottische" Hartmann
Polka—Solo....."Sprightly".....R. Smith
God Save the Queen.

Cutting the Hills.

In order to make a level crossing at Smith-st., for the new Chemong Lake Railway, it will be necessary to raise the street considerably, six feet it is said. In order to do this properly a large amout of material will be required and the G. T. R. Engineers have made a proposition to the Street and Bridge Committee that is regarded in a very favourable light by the members of the Committee and the property owners interested. It is proposed to grade the top of Benson-st. and Smith-st. near the residence of Mr. J. J. Hartley and use the earth and gravel that would be thus obtained in levelling up in the hollow, where the present track crosses Smith-st. The company are prepared to go on with the with the work at once and they ask no money from the town, all they want is permission to do the grading. Certain it is that the proposed work would do much good and it is a sure thing that it can never be done cheaper. Doubtless the offer will be accepted.

Last of the Season.

The members of the Otonabee Canoe Club held the last debate of the season at the Commodore's rooms on Monday evening. There was a good attendance and Mr. Gordon Smith, B.A., occupied the chair. The subject for debate was, "Resolved, that Commercial Union would be beneficial to Canada." For the affirmative Messrs. Gallagher, Dobbin, Allison, Stock, F. Hall and W. A. Mason did battle and advanced sledge hammer arguments to maintain their position. For the other side Messrs. E. F. Mason, Dixon, Barrie, Little and A. H. Clegg did the work and did it well, too, but the fates with the able assistance of the chairman decided that the affirmative side had won the day, or rather night. It was also decided to suspend the debates until about the first of October, when the fall and winter campaign will be entered upon with renewed vigor. Until the date named regular meetings will be held, but only for the transaction of business in connection with canoeing.

A second meeting of the Trent Valley Canal Commissioners was held at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, on Monday. Messrs. Barlow Cumberland, W. H. Bleasdell, and W. A. Geddes were examined and gave information regarding the traffic that the canal would be likely to receive, if constructed. The next meeting will probably take place in Peterborough.

Wire Guards.

Wire guards are being placed around the flower beds at the Horticultural Park. The main idea is to keep people from tramping on the grass around the edges. Two long beds are also being put in, one on each side of the main entrance on Water-st. These when planted will add much to the appearance of these beautiful grounds.

'Twas recently said, and as recently read,
For a city the town would bid,
And as recently said, while surely 'twas read
The premier shoe dealer is kidd.
For he leathers your woes instep and toes,
Be you laborer, sailor or mid,
The fame of his goods fairly rings in the woods
No dealer sells cheaper than kidd.

Brevities.

—The G.T.R. Engineers are again taking levels at the Smith-st crossing.

—A steam yacht passed through on the G.T.R. yesterday afternoon, going north.

—Murray-st. from the Separate School west is being graded by the Street Inspector.

—The rain that fell here yesterday must be classed as a local shower, as some places quite near town did not get any of it.

—It is proposed to do some work on Water-st. north, in the vicinity of the Goose pond. It is certainly badly needed.

—A bird has built a nest in the globe of electric light at George and Antrim-sts. There is also another nest in the hood over the lamp.

—It is probable that the first sitting of the Town Court of Revision will take place on Monday evening next. The business will not occupy much time.

—The Belleville Intelligencer says that M. J. Butler and the Messrs. Mann have completed the location of the N. T. and Q. railway to Tweed and the work of construction will proceed at once.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

Mona, by a natural impulse, bent down to assist him, and a burly policeman soon set him on his feet.

"No bones broke," he said, cheerfully, feeling his legs and arms. "Here's your stick and umbrella. You go into the confectioner's there, and take summat. You will be as right as a trivet in five minutes."

So saying, he proceeded on his stately march, leaving the sufferer standing, with difficulty supporting his trembling self on his stick, and looking round him with a pitiful expression of bewilderment.

"I am afraid you are hurt!" said Mona, kindly. She did not like to desert him, for she felt he was not a Londoner.

"I've just an awful pain i' my back," he said, pantingly, "and feel dazed like. If I could sit down a bit."

"Come into this shop and have a glass of water;" and she guided him to a pastrycook's close by, where she found a chair, and feeling alarmed at the old man's extreme pallor, asked if he would not try a little brandy and water.

"Ay," he said; "I must have something to raise my heart!"

His eyes closed partially, and Mona begged an attendant to bring the restorative. Her patient was a small, spare man, with thin gray hair, small whiskers, faded blue eyes, a contemptuously upturned nose, and a wide, thin-lipped mouth. He was neatly dressed in a pepper-and-salt colored suit, and though not a gentleman, was by no means of the working class, nor yet like a city clerk.

"Thank ye—thank ye."

He put the glass to his lips and drank very slowly. "The Lord be thankit," he said, placing it half emptied on the table, "for saving my life; but I am sair shaken!" Again he drank. "Ow!" he uttered a strange sound between a groan and a sigh. "It was near a' ower wi' me! I am much beholden to you, my young leddy. I must try an' get awa' to my bed, but I can scarce stan'. I had better get into a cab."

"You had better rest a few minutes first," said Mona, who felt sincere compassion for him. "I am afraid you are more hurt than you think."

"I am a puir frail bodie. Eh, but my back is twisted! What'll they ask now for a cab"—he called it a "cawb"—"to Camden town?"

"I am not sure—eighteenpence or two shillings."

"It's a cruel, costly place; but," apologetically, "I canna help it; I'll just pay for the spirits and water, and gang my lane."

He dived into a side pocket—he routed out his trousers pockets—his breast pocket—all in vain.

"Guid preserve us!—it's clean gane! My pocket has been picked!"

"Oh! that is dreadful! I hope you had not much in it?"

"Too much to lose! A bit of gold, half a crown, and a saxpence. Now I canna pay for my drap o' speerits."

"That is a mere trifle—I will pay for it." Going to the counter, she said—"This poor gentleman's purse has been taken, I must pay for what he has had."

"I dare say it is an accident that may happen to him again, if he finds kind young ladies to pay for him," said the buxom woman behind the desk, smiling—"sixpence, please."

"Do you feel equal to go home," said Mona, who was beginning to feel a little ashamed of her quixotic attentions to this elderly waif. "I will get you a cab if you like."

"Wait a bit. Where do you bide? I want to pay ye what you've laid out."

"Oh! never mind; it does not matter."

"Ye are a Scotch lassie?"

"No, I never was in Scotland."

"Ah! I thocht ye were, from yer bonnie reed heid."

"Indeed!" said Mona, laughing.

"Weel, I'll no leave this till I know where I'll find ye."

"There is my card then, but I live ever so far away. Pray do not trouble about me; I am very glad to have been of any use to you."

"Ah! but you were—you saved my life! If you had not stood between me and that cawb, I'd have been a deid mon!—I'll try and get home."

Struggling to his feet, and seizing his umbrella, he hobbled to the door. Mona followed him.

"You'll hear from me," said the old man, thrusting the card into his breast pocket; "and I'll never forget ye, never. Could you find me a shut-up cawb? I canna bide yon things, wi' the driver stuck up behind."

Mona hailed a passing cab, and, after some haggling, with infinite difficulty and many groans, he scrambled in, dropping his umbrella during the process. Mona picked it up and gave it to him. He seated himself with his back to the horse, smiling and nodding to his young protectress as he drove slowly away.

"What a funny adventure!" thought Mona. "I wonder if Madame Debrisay will scold me."

But Mme. Debrisay was in a placid mood when Mona reached home—for madame had her moods. She had passed the morning and some of the afternoon auditing her own and Mona's accounts. The result was on the whole, satisfactory, though—"The way money slips through your fingers is most amazing," she observed; "though we have done pretty well, we couldn't afford a trip anywhere—not prudently; and you cannot put by anything. At all events, you have not reduced your own bit of money much, that's a comfort; keep a tight hold of it, dear."

Having heard her friend's summary; and assisted to reduce the sea of small account books, scribbled scraps of paper, bills, and receipts to something like order, Mona related her adventure, and madame did not scold.

"Well, it was funny! May be the old gentleman is a millionaire in disguise; they are generally queer. May be your sixpence will prove the sprat that caught a whale."

"You have too much imagination, Deb," said Mona, laughing. "There was nothing of the millionaire about my old man. He was too humble for a moneyed man. If they are queer, they are generally consequential. I fancy he will make his way here. He is very feeble, however, and I imagine 'cawbs'—as he calls them—are too costly for his taste."

"Well, I shall be curious to see what will come of it! It is my belief that your meeting didn't happen for nothing," and Mme. Debrisay shook her head solemnly. "I believe you are a lucky girl, Mona."

"Only lucky in having you to befriend me! Your cap is very crooked, dear—go and put on your bonnet! I am not a bit tired. Let us indulge in a hansom to Kensington Gardens, and stroll about till it is time for a late tea."

The Saturday following Mona's rescue of the old Scotchman, she was surprised and delighted by the receipt of a letter from Evelyn Everard, now Lady Finistoun.

After voluminous apologies for her silence, she expressed her warm sympathy with her "dearest cousin."

Some Things to Say

IF there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods, We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line "80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1,25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

THE FISHERIES TREATY

BITTERLY DENOUNCED IN THE U. S. SENATE.

President Cleveland and Secretary Bayard Roundly Abused by Senator Frye—A "Surrender" to Great Britain.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The Senate went into executive session with open doors and proceeded with the consideration of the Fisheries Treaty. Senator Morgan gave notice that upon the conclusion of Mr. Frye's remarks he would move the postponement of the treaty till December.

Senator Frye said the question before the Senate was not a trifling one. It involved the dignity and honor of the great Republic and the rights of citizens. The question was, should citizens of the United States—fishermen, but still citizens—be protected against injustice and wrong and outrage inflicted by a neighboring nation, emboldened to it only because it rested under the ages of a mighty power beyond the sea? He proceeded to pay a glowing tribute to the valor and patriotic services of the "Yankee fishermen" in the wars of the revolution of 1812 and of the rebellion, and asked whether such men were entitled to be treated with contempt. He declared that this powerful Republic had utterly neglected the rights of the fishermen.

The Treaty of 1818, Senator Frye said, was negotiated at a very unfortunate time for our country, when we were struggling under the effects of the war of 1812. Great Britain was arrogant and aggressive, having just conquered at the battle of Waterloo. Under these circumstances we made a dishonorable, humiliating, cowardly surrender of our rights, but we did have courage enough to insist that if our fishermen were driven by stress of weather into any of those surrendered waters, they should be sheltered; if out of wood they could buy it, if out of water they could fill their tanks, if their vessels were out of repair they could repair them, and they could enter for no other purpose whatever. The United States grew in power, population and importance, and grew immensely as to her markets.

Great Britain and Canada looked at these markets with avaricious eyes and determined to possess them. There was no hesitation—no question of rights, or decency, or hospitality. Great Britain said, "your markets we propose to have." "What for?" "So that the Canadian fishermen might be quadrupled, so that when she needed sailors she would know where to go to find the bravest and the best in the wide world." And so Canada commenced by every conceivable outrage, wrong and injustice to drive our vessels away. She drove them to sea in storms, she seized them on the high seas and searched them. She put armed men aboard and literally confined their captains and crews in the Crown vessels with the American flag flying over them. They were tried in colonial courts and their vessels confiscated, one after another, until the perils of the sea were not half as many as the terrors of the law on shore.

Under the Treaty of 1854, known as the Reciprocity Treaty, we were permitted to fish within their waters and they within our waters, and they were permitted free access to our markets for their fish, and they thus had all they wanted, just what the Senator from Alabama, the Senator from Delaware (Salisbury) and the Senator from Ohio (Payne) within two days had threatened that they should have again if this treaty was not ratified.

Mr. Morgan and Mr. Payne both disclaimed having made any such threats.

Mr. Frye criticised the actions of Secretary Bayard, and said he was profoundly ignorant of fishery matters. He then proceeded to recount in detail cases of the different vessels seized by Canada and their treatment by the Dominion authorities, paying particular attention to the case of the schooner Marion Grimes, whose flag was hauled down by Capt. Quigley of a Canadian cruiser, and he declared that seventy-five years ago Capt. Quigley would have been immediately displaced by his Government or there would have been a declaration of war.

At this stage Mr. Frye complained that the air was exceedingly oppressive, and suggested that if the Senate would give its consent he would finish his speech to-morrow. There being some dissent to that, however, a recess was taken for half-an-hour and the gallery windows were ordered to be opened. At the close of recess (3:10) it was ordered that, to-morrow being Memorial Day, the adjournment to-day shall be till Thursday.

In conclusion Mr. Frye said: A year ago in the United States Senate and House of Representatives we were all for the rights of American citizens; we were united to a man; nobody dreamed of raising a political issue in this matter. Nobody talked as a party man in relation to it, and where are we to-day? The President of the United States taking practically the Canadian side of this controversy; the Secretary of State taking practically the Canadian side of this controversy; the great Democratic party of the whole nation arrayed on the side of Canada and against the United States fishermen. I say to you, Mr. President, that a most grievous wrong has been wrought by this treaty making. I say that these steps which have been taken can never be retraced, that in the long future we shall never be permitted to stand where we stood only one year ago when we claimed here in the Senate that we would defend the rights of American fishermen against Great Britain or any other power on earth. We have surrendered that right; we have yielded it; we have said through the President of the United States in solemn language that the treaty is just and fair and is all that could be demanded by us, and hereafter and forever our mouths are closed. Again I declare that this treaty is dishonorable, humiliating and a cowardly surrender.

At the close of Mr. Frye's speech at 5 o'clock Mr. Gray obtained the floor to make a speech upon the treaty. But its further consideration was, on motion of Mr. Beck, who said that he and other senators desired to attend the St. Louis Convention, postponed till Monday, June 11.

The motion to postpone until December next was entered by Mr. Morgan and is now pending. Motions to publish the proceedings in executive session, past and future, in The Congressional Record were agreed to.

Pauper Emigration.

LONDON, May 30.—The Daily News publishes an anonymous letter from Toronto protesting against Canada being made a dumping-ground for the paupers and the indigent poor of the Old World. The complaint is endorsed editorially by The Daily News and The Star.

THE STEAMSHIP LINES.

MONTREAL, May 30. Proceedings were commenced yesterday against the Beaver Steamship Line, and will also be taken against the Allan and Dominion Lines with a view of breaking up the alleged insurance combine, of which the cattle shippers have of late complained.

The proceedings are in form of an injunction, and are instituted by cattle shippers in the Dominion to compel the Beaver Line to accept fifty head of cattle offered them for shipment, the company refusing to take them except on payment of the charges for insurance as well as freight. The petition states that a common carrier is obliged to carry freight offered at the regular rates, leaving the shipper the right of placing his insurance wherever he pleases.

It is understood the cattle have been shipped under protest, and that the shipper has paid for the company's insurance as well as his own. All the prominent shippers and steamship agents will be witnesses.

The General Easter.

WASHINGTON, 8.30 p.m., May 29.—The doctors' bulletin says Gen. Sheridan's condition to-day has been satisfactory. His pulse, respiration, vigor of mind and body have improved. His sleep has been more normal and restful, and his natural functions are nearer the line of health.

Conferring a Grade.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The Senate has passed the bill to revive the grade of "General of the Army" and conferring it on Lieut.-Gen. Sheridan.

The Chinese in Australia.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., May 30.—The Cabinet has resolved to appeal to the Legislative Council against the decision of the Supreme Court granting writs of habeas corpus to Chinamen paying the poll tax. Orders have been issued to strictly enforce the penalties upon vessels carrying more Chinamen than the number allowed in proportion to their tonnage. The steamer Benmuir has returned to Hong Kong with 35 Chinese who were not allowed to land. The steamer Chang-Sha is off the harbor with 150 Chinamen, She is being watched by the police.

The Saloons in Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The Common Council has adopted an ordinance providing that no license shall be granted to keep a saloon not already located within 200 feet of a church or school or in residence blocks without the consent of two-thirds of the property owners in said block. The Sunday closing provision of the new ordinance is to the effect that saloons must provide blinds and shutters or curtains to obstruct the view from the street on that day. Mayor Roche refuses to state whether or not he will veto the measure.

The Montreal Gas Explosion.

MONTREAL, May 30.—The inquest into the catastrophe at the gas works was continued yesterday, the evidence of George Fisher and Angus Skye, two of the injured men, being taken in their beds at the Notre Dame Hospital. It is continued to-day. The body of Joseph Angell was found in the centre of the ruins imbedded in clay. There were a number of iron plates over the corpse, and great difficulty was experienced in getting at it.

Sir Charles' Arrival.

LONDON, May 30.—Sir Charles arrives here on Monday. In addition to the various duties of High Commissioner it is understood that he will promptly undertake, on behalf of the Government, negotiations in conformity with the new Dominion Loan Act; also to complete the mail subsidy and confer with the Imperial Government respecting Newfoundland's entry into the Dominion and the Fisheries treaty.

Mr. Lynch's Dairy Lecture.

LONDON, May 30.—Mr. Lynch's address to the Dairy Farmers' Association on "How to make good butter" has aroused some attention in agricultural circles. The special features of the water-washing process, which Mr. Lynch advocates, are discussed to-day by the agricultural editor of The Times, who views the process with considerable favor.

The Result of a Family Quarrel.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 30.—Miss Jenny Mullins, living on Webster-avenue, was murdered in the presence of her little children by a neighbor named Scholer. The murder was the result of a family quarrel. Scholer cut her throat with a razor.

A FAMILY OF FIVE BURNED TO DEATH AT UFFINGTON, ONT.

GRAVENHURST, Ont., May 30.—A terrible fire occurred at Uffington, twelve miles from here, Monday night, when Frederick N. Toye, the old and faithful Township Clerk, his wife and three children were burned to death. A small mosquito smudge, placed near the corner of a workshop adjoining the dwelling of Mr. Toye, was during the high winds fanned to a flame and soon enveloped the shop and dwelling. Wm. Matthews ran to the assistance of the occupants. Mrs. Toye in her night dress had carried out little Bella, aged 13, and returned for others. Evidently Mr. Toye had also been out, as two pails were found on the way to the well, and on second thought he had returned to rescue the children and books. When Mr. Matthews arrived Bella was on a rock near the house crying, and immediately the roof fell in, enveloping Mr. Toye, his wife and three children, two boys and a girl, aged respectively 5, 9 and 11. The records of the municipality of Draper and Oakley have been lost.

ADVERSE TO REV. MR. LONGLEY.

The Ministerial Investigating Committee Want Him Deposed from the Ministry.

TORONTO, May 30.—At the annual meeting of the Toronto District Methodist Church yesterday, Rev. Dr. Potts presiding, a formal complaint against Mr. Longley was made by Rev. Dr. Sutherland, Rev. Dr. Shaw and Rev. James Gray. On receipt of this official complaint Rev. Dr. Potts, Rev. Dr. Parker, Rev. Coverdale Watson and Rev. G. J. Bishop were appointed a committee to investigate the charges against Mr. Longley. Rev. E. A. Stafford acted for him. The committee met several times and went into the charges thoroughly, when they unanimously agreed to recommend the District to suspend the accused and to recommend Conference to suspend him frum the ministry. The District by only three dissentients adopted the report and recommendations of the committee, and further resolved that, as Mr. Longley was transferred to the Niagara Conference, the whole of the papers relating to the case be sent to the President of that Conference. The ministers declined to be interviewed on the subject. All that could be learned was that several ministers desired the evidence to be read, but this was rejectd by a large majority, Knocked Overboard and Drowned.

COLLINGWOOD, May 30.—Last night J. G. Gidley and George Barker were out fishing up their nets at the Christian Islands when a heavy gale struck them. They got the boat under way for shelter, but the boom jibed in the squall and struck Barker, knocking him overboard. Gidley made every effort to rescue the drowning man, but without success. Barker was an Englishman lately out from the Old Country and leaves a young wife. The body has not been found.

MONTREAL, May 30.—A fatal accident happened at Pointe-aux-Trembles yesterday. Madame St. Armour was driving past the church when an arch erected for the fete day fell upon her.

Meeting of Niagara's Anglican Synod.

HAMILTON, May 30.—The Anglican Synod of Niagara Diocese opened yesterday in Christ Church Cathedral. Provost Body of Trinity College preached the sermon. When business began in the afternoon Rev. W. R. Clark, Ancaster, was elected honorary clerical secretary, and Mr. J. J. Mason, honorary lay secretary, Mr. J. J. Mason was also elected secretary-treasurer, Bishop Hamilton reviewed diocesan affairs in his annual address. His Lordship said Sunday railway traffic is still increasing and advised that steps be taken to stop it. He expressed himself highly pleased with the manner in which Trinity College is conducted and nominated Edward Martin, Q.C., and J. Stuart to represent the diocese on the corporation of the college in room of Mr. Elliott, Guelph, and Henry McLaren, of this city, resigned.

THE DOMINION CABINET.

Two changes have recently been made in the Dominion Cabinet, the Hon. George E. Foster taking the department of Finance made vacant by Sir Charles Tupper returning to London as High Commissioner, and Mr. C. H. Tupper succeeding Mr. Foster as Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Sir Charles Tupper was a very able and useful member of the Cabinet and it is satisfactory to know that, though he retires from the Ministry, he will continue to serve the country in a capacity in which he has heretofore done good service.

Mr. Foster was first elected to Parliament for King's, New Brunswick, in 1882, and each time he has since sought re-election at the hands of his constitutents he has been returned by an increased majority. He entered the Cabinet as Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and while in that department had to deal with important matters. To his industry, cleverness and good judgement in preparing the fisheries case for the Commissioners much of the success of the Commission was due. Mr. Foster is a careful and painstaking administrator, an able speaker and a gentleman of marked ability. He has from the time he first entered public life upheld the National Policy, and in debates in Parliament and in addresses delivered outside of the House he has shown an aptitude for clearly comprehending financial matters. There is every reason to believe that Sir John Macdonald has shown his usual good judgment in selecting Mr. Foster to succeed Sir Charles Tupper in the Finance Department.

The Hon. C. H. Tupper is the second son of Sir Charles Tupper, and is in his thirty-third year. He first entered Parliament at the same time as did Mr. Foster, and though one of the youngest members he soon took a prominent place in the House. He is a young man of ability and a good speaker, well able to uphold the honor of the name he bears and to do his country good service.

There is still a vacancy in the Cabinet, the office made vacant by the lamented death of the Hon. Thomas White not having been filled. There is a feeling that the new Minister of the Interior should be, to some extent at least, acquainted with the Northwest and familiar with the requirements of that part of the country. Among those who have been mentioned for the post is Mr. H. H. Smith, at present Dominion Land Commissioner, and formerly Mayor of Peterborough. Mr. Smith's duties as Land Commissioner have familiarized him with the needs of the Northwest and the manner in which he has discharged the duties of that position has led to his name being mentioned in connection with the Interior portfolio. It is creditable to Mr. Smith that he should be endorsed for the Cabinet position by Liberal newspapers—by the Winnipeg Free Press, a bitterly partisan journal, which, being published where Mr. Smith now resides, is cognizant of his official acts as Land Commissioner and has a knowledge of his administration in that office, and by the Peterborough Examiner, published in his former home. If Mr. Smith is given a place in the Cabinet his host of friends in the east will be pleased with his promotion and will feel satisfied that the very important Interior department will have an efficient head.

EIGHT CENTS EVEN

Was the Price Paid at the First Cheese Board of the Season.

The first meeting of the season, of the Peterborough and Victoria Cheese Board, was held at the Old Music Hall, on Tuesday afternoon. President Drummond presided, Vice-President Galvin looked after the blackboard and Secretary Taylor collected the shekels.

The buyers present were Messrs. McCargar, Warrington, Cook and Bird, of Belleville; Leary and Flavelle, of Lindsay, and Wrighton and Cluxton, of Peterborough.

The following factories boarded the number of boxes, given after each, four of them Norwood, Westwood, South Dummer and Melrose Abbey, being accepted only after the representatives of each had promised obedience to the rules of the board in the future:—

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

Factory.	No. of Boxes.
South Dummer	50
Keene	92
Warminster	103
Lakefield	58
Melrose Abbey	25
Shearer	85
North Smith	50
Central Smith	34
Norwood	75
Cherry Grove	50
Westwood	55
Warsaw	20
Total	607

VICTORIA SECTION.

Bobcaygeon	20
Grand total	717

The Liverpool quotation was 46s.

The bidding soon commenced and soon ended. Leary started at 7½ for the board, Wrighton bid 7⅝, Leary raised to 7¾ and Cook bid 8, at which figure all the factories sold, Mr. Flavelle taking the Bobcaygeon cheese off Mr. Cook's hands.

After some discussion it was decided to hold future meetings from 11.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m., for the convenience of buyers from a distance.

Mr. McCargar, President of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, by request, spoke of the appointment of milk inspectors and the important duties they had to perform. He advised all factories to forward the fee to Prof. Robertson. The fee was a mere bagatelle, $5 for each factory making over 50,000 pounds per annum and $5 per year for all factories making under that amount. In addition to skimmed and watered milk, much of it went bad from other causes, such as allowing the cattle to drink impure water and keeping the milk in an unclean place. He said that the Selwin, Lakefield, Pine Grove, Warsaw, North Smith, Central Smith, Warminster, Cherry Grove, South Dummer, Glenthorn, Norwood, Melrose Abbey, Westwood and Shearer factories had already paid their fees and he hoped that all the others would soon follow suit.

Mr. Warrington also referred to the great importance of pure milk as a factor in making first class cheese.

The meeting then adjourned for two weeks.

BOBCAYGEON.

DROWNED.—Mr. Thos. Gilgore received the sad intelligence on Thursday morning, that his brother Samuel had been drowned the day previous. The body arrived in the evening, and was buried this afternoon, Friday. About three weeks ago he left home, and engaged on Strickland's drive of logs, under Mr. David Ritchie. On Wednesday the men were walking over the logs as they floated down Eel's Creek, making their way to the caboose for dinner. Gilgore was last and some distance behind, and the man nearest him afterwards recollected hearing a splash, but took no notice of it at the time. After dinner Gilgore was missed, and on the men returning his hat and pike pole were found floating in a little eddy. Search was then made, and in a few hours the body was discovered. He was 25 years of age, and is so common with men engaged on the water he could not swim. He was unmarried but leaves a large family of brothers and sisters, and an aged mother whose grief is most distressing.—Independent.

THE ABSORBING TOPIC.—There are about 500 Reform voters in the County of Haliburton of whom it is computed that 497 think they would make a good county registrar. It is said that 452 applications have already been received for the appointment, and that the balance of 45 will be sent in as soon as they can get some one to write an application for them, not having learned how to write themselves. It is a deeply interesting subject of general conversation north of this village, and the Snowden people are highly excited about it, the Glamorgan folk can think of nothing else and away in Monmouth and Cardiff the gentle Reformer can't sleep at night thinking of his chances for the Registrarship.—Bob. FENELON FALLS.

A PRIVATE CANAL.—John Thomson & Co., of this village have recently cut a canal for their own use between Trout Lake and Hawk Lake in the township of Sherborne, where there lumber shanties are located. It is three-quarters of a mile long and twenty feet wide, and cost about $1,200; but it was much cheaper than cleaning out and building a dam on the old route, which is six miles longer than the new one. The company have about 60,000 logs, 40,000 ties and 4,000 telegraph poles on their way to Fenelon Falls, where they will arrive during the last week in June.—Gazette.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead; town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

Month's Mind.

The month's mind for the late Archbishop Lynch will be held at St. Michael's cathedral, Toronto, on the 20th of June. His Lordship Bishop Dowling, of Peterborough, will preach the sermon.

Over the Gully.

Men are at work putting down the posts for a bridge over the gully, on Water-st. near the Goose pond. It will be on the west side of the road and after the same style as the one on George-st. In a few years it is expected that the road will be filled up level with the walk.

50 cts. on the Dollar.

The great slaughtering sale at Dawson Bros. old stand, Hunter-st., is calling scores of customers. That the public appreciate the bargains is evidenced by the number of customers who attend each day. Those in want of of genuine bargains should not fail to see the stock, as they are certainly selling goods at less than auction prices. 2d126-1w22

To Couchiching Park and Orillia.

Peterborough Lodge S.O.E., recently established, will run an excursion to Couchiching Park and Orillia on July 31st, at which time the Northern Division of the American Canoe Association will be in camp at Couchiching Lake. Orillia is always an attractive place for excursionists and parties intending to visit the A.C.A. camp would do well to go by this excursion, as the fare will be low.

Should Know Better.

Officers McGinty and Stewart were on duty at the Horticultural Park on Tuesday night, during the band concert, and they had their hands full too in keeping people from walking over the terraces. It is not the children who give the trouble, it is the grown up people who are supposed to know better, but in such cases it is mere supposition that they know anything. Fine, wide stone steps are provided for reaching the upper portion of the grounds and these are for the use of the public. The terraces are for ornament and are not intended to be tramped on and torn down.

He Was Surprised.

The London detective officer who came after the Italian woman, spent a couple of hours in seeing the town. He was surprised and delighted, as previous to his arrival here he had an idea that Peterborough was a small town in the middle of the woods, but instead he found as he put it "the smartest town in Canada and one that can give London pointers in many important respects." It is a remarkable fact that Peterborough is so little known in the west, where, although there are some smart towns, none can compare with Peterborough in size and importance.

PETERBOROUGH citizens for some time past have had a kidd in boots, now they have a kidd in the Pantry, who is reaching out with irresistible energy for the grocery trade of the town and surrounding country. Give him a call. d119-tf

At the Park.

The Fire Brigade band gave the first open air concert of the season at the Horticultural Park on Tuesday night, before an immense audience, who appeared delighted and applauded vigorously. The band played a fine programme and never did they play to better advantage. The new clarionet player was on hand and created a favorable impression. The band starts the season with a full number of well trained players and the citizens will doubtless highly appreciate the concerts during the coming summer.

Templars' Entertainment.

An entertainment was held on Tuesday evening in the W.C.T.U. hall under the auspices of Peterborough Council of Royal Templars of Temperance—a temperance and beneficiary society. There was a good attendance. The Rev. S. J. Thompson presided, and the meeting was opened with devotional exercises. The following programme was then carried out:—Singing, by the Y.M.C.A. Quartette; duet, the Misses Knight; recitation, Miss Sanders; song, Miss Lillie Bell; reading, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw; solo, Mrs. T. Moore; reading, Miss Lizzie Sanderson; address on Templarism, the Rev. S. J. Thompson. Mr. Dingle and Miss Smart played the accompaniments. Each number was well received and the entertainment was very successful. The proceedings closed with the doxology and benediction.

Taken To London.

Detective Rider, of the London police force, reached town on Tuesday evening with a warrant for the arrest of the Italian woman, Marie Verginella, on a charge of larceny. He had his warrant properly backed and left on the 5.11 C. P. R. train this morning. The woman, who was a servant in an Italian family in London, suddenly disappeared in the month of May, 1887, and as she was missed, the family that she resided with announced that she had decamped with $50 belonging to the head of the household. A warrant was accordingly issued for her arrest, but no trace of her whatever could be found. Some other Italians residing in the city scouted the story of the alleged robbery and intimated to the police that the woman had been murdered and buried in a back yard. The police soon heard the rumor, but upon investigating they came to the conclusion that there was nothing in it. Some weeks ago an Italian from London visited Peterborough and saw the woman here. The police were notified and the arrest made. If Detective Rider made his connections all right he reached London at noon today.

I Have Got Mine.

"Emma, did you get your ticket?"

"What ticket, Annie?"

"Well, I guess I did. I was told they are being disposed of at a rapid rate. And no wonder, for the band is going. Think of that! And then see the beautiful road we travel over, such fast time they make on the C. P. R. And you have the privilege of going on the 5.10 a. m. train, so you can be in Toronto for an early breakfast and have the whole day or two to stay in the Queen City. And you can come home on any train you wish. Look at that also. The fast special leaves at 7 a. m. Such a jolly time we will both have."

"Yes, and the Canton has arranged with the cycloram a managers for the excursionists to see the Battle of Sedan at reduced rates by presenting their railway tickets at the office. I hear so many talking of going by the grand union excurson the I. O. O. F. and the C. E. T. S. will have, I believe, the excursion of the season."

Tickets good for two days, adults $2; children under 12 years $1. By the fastest line in America. Tickets may be had from members of the Canton, or at the stores of Messrs. W. Sanderson, J. D. Tully, Sailsbury Bros. and Geo. A. Schofield & Co.

About Some Land.

Roadmaster John Cheer, of the Grand Trunk, finds that he cannot work to advantage, just at present in making the connection with the Chemong Lake branch. A strip of land between Smith-st. and the property formerly owned by Mr. H. Denne is required before operations can be proceeded with, but as the company and the owners of the land in question cannot agree on a price, and as the work of making the embankment has progressed to the boundary fence, work must stop at that point unless an agreement is reached.

A Capital Picnic.

The annual picnic held on Tuesday in Graham's Grove, Otonabee, was a big success. Hundreds of people from the neighborhood and adjoining townships were there and a number of townsmen with their ladies drove out and participated in the fun. The bill of fare of amusements was ample and interesting, and included a tug of war between teams representing the country and town. Mr. Wm. Buck captained the country brigade, while Mr. P. D. Doran bossed the town contingent. There was some mighty hauling done by both sides, the country winning by a close shave. The farmers of the district are to be congratulated on the success of the day largely contributed to by the exertions of the able committee with Mr. Robert Hallihan as chairman, who worked hard to make the picnic so enjoyable.

who gives an organ recital in the George-st. Methodist Church on the 12th June, was born in Oxford, England, in 1838, and educated in that classic old city. In 1862 he was selected to give the recitals on the four great organs in the exhibition of London. In 1875, in connection with Mr. Henry Willis, he designed the great organ in the Alexandra Palace, London, said to be the finest instrument in Europe, on which he gave over two thousand performances to audiences often numbering over fifteen thousand people. He also held the position of Musical Examiner to the University of Glasgow. Since his arrival in America he has designed several of the finest organs on the continent. He is the author of several fine works on the organ, and has earned a high reputation as a composer for his favorite instrument. 1d126-1w22

—Mr. Chas. Legros has placed two electric lights in his cigar store and barber shop. They were in operation on Tuesday night for the first time.

—The Toronto Methodist District meeting passed a resolution complimentary to the Rev. S. J. Shorey, who will become pastor of the Charlotte-st. Church.

—A navvy named Wm. Flynn, was seriously injured by some earth falling on him, at the Chemong Lake R. R. cut, on Tuesday. He was removed to the Hospital.

—Big Ed Rice, the man who robbed an express messenger at Port Hope, five years ago, has been remanded until Monday next, when he will be tried at Cobourg.

—The small garden at the G.T.R. depot is one of the prettiest in town, and if station agent Brundrett can find out the thieves who have been stealing flowers from it, he will prosecute rigorously.

—Amateur gardeners, and professionals too for that matter, complain of the damage done by hens usually owned by a neighbor. One angry man killed five egg producers, but paid for them rather than face the P.M.

—The Belleville cheese buyers are loud in their complaints against the G.T.R. time table. They are compelled to leave Belleville at 5 a.m. to attend a cheese market here at 2 p.m., and they cannot get home again until midnight.

CAMPBELLFORD.

SENTENCED.—The trial of Fairman, the man who was sent up to Cobourg for robbery, was closed on Saturday last and he was sentenced to serve a term in the penitentiary while the boys are to spend a few years in the reformatory.

NOT TO BE BUILT THIS YEAR.—The move which the Grand Trunk authorities made a short time ago, for the erection of a new railway station in Campbellford, has been abandoned for the present, and probably it will remain as it is till another year.

FLOATING DOWN THE RIVER.—Logs are now coming down the river, the advance ones of an immense drive of 300,000 pieces. There is a large "jam" of them in Crow Bay, three miles up the river, covering the water from shore to shore, and extending a long distance up, and Crow River which flows into the Trent at the head of Crow Bay, is so full of them that they are piled up in heaps all along its banks and wherever there are obstructions. A gang of men is stationed at the foot of Crow Bay picking out the logs intended for the Rathbun mill.—Herald.

The good opinion of the public, in regard to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, is confirmed by clergymen, lawyers, public speakers and actors. All say it is the best remedy for affections of the throat and lungs.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether rising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other ind.

"In discussing this question of presents for the wedding on Thursday" said Mrs. Ketcholder to her mother-in-law, "there is really no use going to Toronto as you propose. There is the expense, which is something, and besides as time is limited you make a hurried selection. Why not adopt John's view and go to CHINA HALL, here in town. Why, bless you, from the look I've had at the goods you can get perfectly splendid things for presents, and so cheap too. Mr. Wilson displays great taste and I'm certain the things you might buy would be not only suitable but look particularly handsome."

for people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"They were all so angry with you, Mona, without giving myself the trouble to think (my usual way, you know), I took for granted that you were a dreadful criminal; still I was as fond of you as ever—but mother would not hear of my writing. Then I was so bewildered about Finistoun. He came and went, and some people thought he was going to marry Lady Georgina Fitz-Maurice; but I did not. At last it was all settled; then we were frantically busy, and then I was traveling so much, and so selfishly happy, I never gave a thought to any one, which is disgraceful, I know. Now, dear, that I am married to the nicest, kindest, pleasantest of men, I feel you were quite right to refuse Mr. Waring. Poor man—I liked him very much! It must be quite awful to be united to anyone you cannot love with all your heart. Of course if Mrs. Newburgh had lived, it would have been different. I have told Finistoun all about you. He remembers you last year, and admires you very much. He says you are a plucky girl, but does not think you were wise to throw over Leslie Waring. The best of men, dear Mona, have very little sentiment about other people's marriages. Let us hope they have about their own. I do trust you are not very unhappy.

"We are getting tired of moving about, and intend returning in August to Scotland. Finistoun has a deer forest in the Western Highlands. We shall be there almost all the autumn. If I can at all manage it, I will come and see you as I pass through London; and you must come and stay with me. I am sure you will like Finistoun; he is not exactly handsome, but distingue, and really very clever. My father thinks very highly of him; and he is a sound Conservative. The dear mother is flourishing, and looks forward to presenting Geraldine next season. It is lonely, not having a daughter 'out.' Good-bye, dearest Mona. You will forgive my neglect, and grant I had a good excuse.

"Ever your attached

"EVELYN FINISTOUN."

"I am not so sure about that," said Mona, smiling, as she put the letter which she had read aloud, back into its envelope. "But I am most grateful to her for writing at all. She is really a nice, dear thing."

"So she is," replied Mme. Debrisay. "Why, Mona, there's a little man trying to open the gate—an old man, with a stick and an umbrella. It must be your millionaire."

CHAPTER IX.—"OH, MY PROPHETIC SOUL, MY UNCLE!"

In a few minutes the severe Jane entered, and told them there was "a—gentleman"—she hesitated before pronouncing the term—"wanting to see Miss Craig."

"Show him in at once, Jane," said Mme. Debrisay, graciously, and the hero of Mona's adventure came in slowly, having left his hat in the hall.

"You'll excuse me," he said, falling on to a chair, rather than taking a seat, "but I am varra frail. It's a long way from the station here. I told you, missee, I would not forget ye, and I haven't."

"Very pleased to receive you, sir," said Mme. Debrisay, bluntly.

"But you should not have taken the trouble," added Mona, compassionately.

"I wanted to come," he said, wiping his brow with a red cotton pocket-handkerchief. "First, I wanted to pay ye back your siller"—he extracted a small bag purse from his trousers pocket, and took out sixpence; "and there it is," laying it on the table. "Next, I wanted to ask you a few questions, if you don't mind."

"Certainly not."

He drew forth her card, and looked at it, slowly reading it, "Miss M. J. Craig."

"What does the M. and the J. stand for?"

"Mona Joscelyn."

"They are not very Christian-like names. Where did your father live?"

"In Glasgow."

"Ah! And now, what was your mother's name?"

"Newburgh."

"Ay, just so. Your father's name was John Craig, and he was a clerk in the Western Bank of Scotland?"

"His name was John; but I know little else about him. I remember faintly that he was kind and loving."

"Well, I knew him—knew him from his babyhood. My name is Craig—Alexander Craig, and I am your father's eldest brother."

"Indeed!" cried Mona, touched, nay, even pleased, to meet anyone of her father's blood. "Then you are my uncle—my own uncle?"

"I am that," he returned, earnestly.

"But, my dear sir," ejaculated Mme. Debrisay—"forgive the caution of an old woman of the world—can you supply some proof that you are this dear child's nearest relative?"

"You are right to be cautious, mem. I have a letter from my niece's grandmother, written near fifteen years ago, offering to take her and provide for her, if her father's people would undertake never to come nigh her or interfere with her. I was a bachelor, and a busy man. I never approved of my brother's marriage. He took a wife from a class that despised his own, so I just let the poor wean go. I loved your father," he continued, looking at Mona; "almost like a son. You have a look of him, and a bonnie reed heid like his. Your mother was a pretty, dark-haired lassie; but I lost him when he married. She was too fine for me, and I lived away from them. Here's your grandmother's letter." He took out a large pocket-book; from the recesses of which he drew a letter, and, handing it to Mona, observed—"It's not over ceevil. She is just ane of those aristocrats that think a' the world's dirt but themselves."

Mona took it, and read the short, sharp statement of Mrs. Newburgh's requirements, which was addressed to "Mr. Alexander Craig."

"It is indeed poor grannie's writing," she said, passing it to Mme. Debrisay. "I am glad to find you, uncle!" and she gave her hand to her new-found relative.

"Thank you!" he exclaimed, holding it a minute. "It was just the guidin' o' Providence that brought you to yon fearsome street to help me. When I looked in your face I felt you were nae that strange. But whar's your grandmither?"

"In her grave," said Mona, sadly. "She died suddenly—in my arms."

A LETTER FROM BLAINE.

He Does Not Intend to be the Republican Candidate for the Presidency.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The Tribune of today publishes the following:

"PARIS, May 17, 1888.

"Whitelaw Reid, Esq., Editor New York Tribune,—My Dear Sir: Since my return to Paris from Southern Italy on May 8 I have learned (what I did not before believe) that my name may yet be presented to the National Convention as a candidate for the presidential nomination of the Republican party. A single phrase of my letter of Jan. 25 from Florence (which was decisive of everything I had the personal power to decide) has been treated by many of my most valued friends as not absolutely conclusive in ultimate and possible contingencies. On the other hand, friends equally devoted and disinterested have construed my letter (as it should be construed) to be an unconditional withholding of my name from the National Convention. They have in consequence given their support to eminent gentlemen who are candidates for the Chicago nomination, some of whom would not, I am sure, have consented to assume that position if I had desired to represent the party in the presidential contest of 1888.

"If I should not, by speech or by silence, by commission or omission, permit my name in any event to come before the convention I should incur the reproach of being uncandid with those who have always been candid with me. I spoke, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their suffrages and their confidence. I am not willing that any of my faithful supporters in the past should think me capable of paltering in a double sense with my words. Assuming that the presidential nomination could by any possible chance be offered to me, I could not accept it without leaving in the minds of thousands of these men the impression that I had not been free from an indiscretion, and therefore I could not accept at all. The misrepresentations of malice have no weight, but the just displeasure of friends I could not patiently endure.

"Republican victory, the prospects of which grow brighter every day, can be imperiled only by lack of unity in council or by acrimonious contests over men. The issue of Protection is incalculably stronger and greater than any man, for it concerns the prosperity of the present and of generations yet to come. Were it possible for every voter of the Republic to see for himself the condition and recompense of labor in Europe the party of Free Trade in the United States would not receive the support of one wage-worker between the two oceans. It may not be directly in our favor as philanthropists to elevate the European laborer, but it will be a lasting stigma upon our statesmanship if we permit the American laborer to be forced down to the European line. In the end the rewards of labor everywhere will be advanced if we steadily refuse to lower the standard at home.

"James G. Blaine."

In brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so wealthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happines to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

COBOURG.

ACCIDENT.—On Friday evening, while Mr. P. McDonald was attempting to drive a load of hides into Appleby's hide house, he was caught between the load and the top of the door and badly crushed. He became insensible and for a time showed no signs of life, but he afterward revived. Though out again, he is still suffering from internal injuries and hemorrhage. Pat is a good-hearted fellow, and we wish him a speedy recovery.—World.

OMEMEE.

SUDDEN DEATH.—It is with regret that we record the sudden death of Mr. John Young on Friday night last after a short illness. Deceased was born in Port Hope in the year 1837 where he lived till he was about 20 years of age, after which he resided at Ottawa for about two years where he held a contract on the Parliament buildings in that city, and after travelling the States for some time he settled in Lindsay, where he held the position of chief constable for a number of years, when he moved to Omemee in June, 1881, and resided up to the time of his dea. The funeral on Sunday was largely attended by friends and acquaintances from Lindsay, Peterborough and other places. He leaves a widow and six children, three boys and three girls, all of whom have the sympathy of the entire community.

FELL OFF.—On Tuesday as the 11.20 train was near Sturgeon-st. a boy named Arthur Donald fell off the rear platform of the last car. Mr. Geo. English who saw him fall says he thought it was a parcel thrown off by some person on the train, but on closer examination found it to be a boy. He brought him down to the village and soon willing hands were at work under Mr. Tisdall's awning, washing off blood and examining the wounds which were chiefly on the head and face, and the boy complained of a pain in his legs. He is now at the residence of Mr. S. Cromwell where he is made as comfortable as possible. The boy stated that he had been working at Fenelon Falls with a man named Johnson. How he escaped instant death is a wonder, as the train was running very fast at the time he fell.—Herald.

Some Things to Say

IF there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods, We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line '80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1,25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE LT.-GOVERNORSHIPS OF NOVA SCOTIA, MANITOBA AND THE N. W.

Mr. McLelan Not Likely to Remain Much Longer in the Cabinet—Mr. Kirkpatrick to be Made a Minister.

OTTAWA, May 31.—Senator Schultz will leave for Winnipeg on Monday. Neither he nor Mr. Royal will enter into their Lieutenant-Governorships until after the Manitoba general elections and probably not until the beginning of the new fiscal year. It is most likely that the new Minister of the Interior will be sworn in about the same time.

T. E. McLelan, son and private secretary of the Postmaster-General, left for England yesterday.

Hon. Mr. McLelan is in Nova Scotia, where he will probably remain until sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor, which may not be immediately, but it is pretty generally admitted that he will not remain long in the Cabinet.

Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick is regarded as the coming Postmaster-General, unless Hon. Mr. Chapleau prefers that portfolio, in which case the member for Frontenac will take the Secretaryship of State.

The next meeting of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council will be held on June 5, when the application of the Ontario and Quebec Railway with reference to the construction of a branch line to form a connection with Dixon Mills at Peterboro will be considered.

THE FRANCO-HUNGARIAN INCIDENT.

PARIS, May 31.—In the Chamber of Deputies M. Reach asked M. Goblet, Minister of Foreign Affairs, if he could reply to a question regarding Herr Tisza's recent speech in the Hungarian Diet. M. Goblet requested that the question be postponed until he had received necessary information on the subject.

The Temps, commenting on Herr Tisza's speech, says: Seldom has one state been heard to speak of another with such license. The action of Hungary in permitting herself to use such language regarding vanquished France authorizes us to ask at what period and on what occasion her subjects have suffered from the violence or hostility, or even the distrust, of the French people. Our politicians, historians and poets have treated the Hungarians as allies, friends and brothers. When we preached the independence of nations and the liberties of men, it was Hungary, Poland and Italy was thought about. We have suffered with Hungary's misfortunes, we have deplored her miseries, we have rejoiced over her revival. Yet now it is Hungary that guarantees Germany the possession of Alsace-Lorraine. Herr Tisza convokes the Hungarian Delegation and asks for money, declaring after the example of Bismarck that France is guilty of every misdeed. Since this procedure has become part of international manners, and parliaments are found to permit it, we must be content to laugh at it, especially as the language of Herr Tisza is less insulting to France than to the memory of Hungary's patriots and liberators.

It Will Not Work.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 31.—Herr Tisza's speech is regarded in Russian court circles as an aggressive but vain attempt to induce France and Russia to abandon their passive attitude.

Kalnoky's Explanation.

VIENNA, May 31.—Count Kalnoky has received M. DeGraiz, the French Ambassador, and has given him an explanation of Herr Tisza's speech which it is hoped will end the incident.

The Effect of the New Passport System.

PARIS, May 31.—The Government is negotiating with the Eastern Railway Company to alter the route of its trains in order to prevent eastern bound passengers from going through Alsace-Lorraine.

It is reported that the delay in getting passports for Alsace-Lorraine only applies to Frenchmen. English and American passports will be examined immediately.

Suicide at Norwood.

NORWOOD, May 31.—Mr. James Martin, a farmer about 60 years old, committed suicide Saturday morning. He left his home early unnoticed by the family, and after the absence of about a day they became uneasy and orgauized a searching party, who scoured the woods and swamps in the vicinity on Tuesday evening and discovered his remains in a swamp about half a mile from his house. He had evidently taken poison. Of late he had been despondent, and had before threatened to end his life.

An Indaunted Editor.

PARIS, May 31.—A number of Anarchists invaded the office of The Intransigeant last night and threatened Editor Henri Rochefort with violence unless he apologized for an offensive article which had appeared in his paper. Rochefort drew a revolver and defended himself until the arrival of the police, when the Anarchists were driven from his office.

Conferring Diplomas at McGill.

MONTREAL, May 31.—The annual public meeting for the conferring of diplomas on teachers in training at McGill Normal School was held last evening. Four first-class academy diplomas, seven second-class, fifty model school and forty-six elementary school diplomas were granted.

Scaring the British Lion.

LONDON, May 31.—A French gunboat has hoisted the tricolor on Maitre Ile, the largest of the Minquieres group, between the Island of Jersey and Brittany. Maitre Ile has hitherto been recognized as a part of the Channel Islands, and Lord Salisbury will maintain England's claims to its possession.

FIRES YESTERDAY.

Mr. McMaster's Residence and a Church Burned to the Ground.

WESTON, May 31.—The explosion of a lamp about 2 o'clock yesterday morning set fire to the residence of Mr. McMaster, and it was burned to the ground. St. Philip's church was fired by the burning dwelling and completely destroyed. The church was a large old-fashioned frame dwelling standing in the eastern part of the village. It was built about 1820, and has an interesting history. The rectory has been vacant for some time, the last incumbent having been Rev. Mr. Brick, who removed to the Northwest. The rectory building was close to the church, and its escape from destruction was rather remarkable. The church building was valued at about $2500 and insured for $1160. Mr. McMaster's loss is about $1500.

WELLAND, June 1.—Fire broke out in the house of Frank Kennedy of Gainsboro yesterday afternoon, and the building and its contents were entirely destroyed. It is supposed a defective chimney caused the fire. Loss about $1000; partially insured.

OUTRAGES IN NORTH CAROLINA.

A Bride Elect Assaulted by Four Negroes A Negro Flayed Alive for a Like Crime.

DURHAM, N.C., May 31.—At about 1 o'clock yesterday morning a wagon, in which were seated two men and a woman, drove up to Harden's stables, near here. They had come from Granville County, and one of the men, Oldwell Sampleton, had come especially to marry the young woman, whose name is Emeline Brodie. The other man left Sampleton and his intended bride at the stable door while he went up the lane. They waited awhile, expecting some one to open the stable door and put the horse away. While they were standing there a party of four negro men came by and, eyeing them closely, walked on. Presently they returned, and with drawn pistols charged on Sampleton, who was entirely unarmed, and separated him from the young woman. Then each one of them committed a criminal assault upon her, although she made a desperate resistance. Several times she tore the gag from her mouth and her piercing screams rent the air. The scoundrels did not hear the approach of footsteps until they were surrounded by a party of men attracted to the scene by their victim's cries. There was a short chase and a hard fight, but all four were captured and brought to jail here for safe keeping. They proved to be Dan Summons, Henry Brattle, York Gibson and John Justice.

Much excitement exists in this region over this dastardly outrage, which is but a sample of the kind that have been occurring with alarming frequency in the remote North Carolina counties recently. The last occurred in an adjoining county, where a negro caught a young woman on the road, dragged her into the woods, and after accomplishing his purpose tied her to a tree and left her. In this position she was found by some men, to whom she related her experiences. They loosened the cords so that they would not hurt her, and told her to remain in that position, for they guessed that the negro would return. They were not disappointed, for he returned in a short time and was captured. His captors tied him to the same tree to which he had tied his victim, and she was then asked to dictate his doom. She said she wanted to see him flayed alive. Her sentence was executed to the letter, the wretch being literally cut up in strips with the blows from the heavy switches in the hands of his captors. It is said, however, that his poor victim cannot recover.

The United States and Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 31.—The Turkish Government have refused to permit a number of Armenians to emigrate to America, claiming that they are contract laborers and that their emigration would be a violation of the American law in reference to contract labor. Mr. Strauss, the United States Minister, has been informed of the refusal, but seen no reason to interfere.

The negotiations between Turkey and the United States in regard to the tariff have not been resumed. Mr. Strauss has been instructed to accept everything done by the more interested powers and endeavor only to obtain modifications in the import duties on articles of special interest to America. Mr. Strauss will proceed to New York in July.

Kearney to be Hanged on July 18.

ASBURY PARK, May 31.—Richard Kearney, the negro convicted a few days ago of the murder of Margaret Purcell at Long Branch on Feb. 13 has been sentenced by Justice Scudder at Freehold. He will be hanged on Wednesday, July 18. Mrs. Purcell was the aged housekeeper of Mrs. Daniel R. Lyddy of New York, and had charge of Mrs. Lyddy's seven cottages at Elberon. Kearney was Mrs. Lyddy's coachman. On Feb. 13 he assaulted Mrs. Purcell in the cellar of one of the cottages. He beat her terribly and tried to kill her by throwing her downstairs. She died in about a month.

The Flour Output.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 31.—The week's production of flour was 162,000 barrels, against 164,160 the previous week and 107,800 for the corresponding time in 1887

The Live Stock Trade.

Exports of cattle from Montreal last week were 3369 head, against 3875 for the same week in 1886. Total exports to date were 9525 head, against 10,702 in 1887, 9393 in 1886; and 9269 in 1885. To show the importance of Montreal as a cattle shipping point, whether there is a combine in freights or not, it is only necessary to state that the exports from Montreal for the week ended May 19 were 3843 head, whereas the combined exports from New York, Boston and Philadelphia were 4156.

Stanstead Repeals the Scott Act.

COATICOOKE, Que., May 31.—The result of the voting for the Scott Act in Stanstead County to-day is a majority of 159 against the Act.

GOSSIP FROM ENGLAND.

Violent Utterances at Last Sunday's Meetings—No Priests Present—Murder as a Last Resort.

LONDON, May 31.—The issue between the Pope and the Nationalist leaders has now been drawn as sharply as it well could be. Sunday's meetings at Kildare, Limerick, Bray, Waterford and elsewhere breathed one and all a spirit of defiance. Mr. Dillon, Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Healy and Mr. Davitt all spoke, all attacked the Bishop of Limerick, and all agreed that the plan of campaign and boycotting must be persevered in. Mr. Dillon borrowed a text from Jefferson Davis and appealed to Rome to let Ireland alone. Mr. O'Brien, as usual the most fiery of all, proclaimed the Bishop's letter the most disgraceful that ever came from the pen of an Irish ecclesiastic, full of calumny, intimidation, libels and falsehoods. He gloried in the plan of campaign and boycotting. "I want," cried Mr. O'Brien, "no lectures in fidelity to the Holy Father from Lord Emly or from the rest of the silken, canting Catholic rackrenters who are yelping with joy in Dr. O'Dwyer's trail to-day. Little the faith of Ireland owes to their fathers or to their fathers' sons; and little it owes to the ecclesiastics who instead of taking part with the suffering people dangle about the drawing-rooms of the great!" Mr. Healy went a step further and charged the Pope himself with boycotting. Mr. Davitt went furthest of all, denying the authority of the Pope over laymen outside of doctrinal matters. "I never," said Mr. Davitt, "intended for one moment to obey the rescript myself, and I represent ninety-nine out of every one hundred lay Nationalist Catholics in Ireland. We owe it to Ireland and to our Protestant countrymen to protest and to withstand political dictation. We are not going to exchange the servitude of Westminster for that of the Inquisition, or the coercion of Mr. Balfour for that of Dr. O'Dwyer."

If these bold counsels be followed, but one conclusion is possible. The National League, already hard pressed by Mr. Balfour, is about to enter on a life or death struggle with the Pope. Two things, meanwhile, are noticeable in these Sunday demonstrations. First, no priest was present at any of them. Second, both Mr. Dillon and Mr. O'Brien regard murder as the tenant's only resource if the plan of campaign and boycotting be suppressed. Mr. Dillon more cautiously referred to murder in the past. Mr. O'Brien said this: "They are the only weapons of a wronged and disarmed people. If you strip the Irish people of these weapons, I defy any practical man who knows Ireland to point out to us what other resource except murder would be left to save tens of thousands of Irish tenants from the horrors of eviction."

Once more Mr. Gladstone thinks that he sees a chance of shaking the Ministry on a side-issue. Accepting Southampton as a victory won on the licensing question, he takes that question as the basis of his next attack in the House of Commons and in the country. He failed to break up the Tory-Unionist alliance on the Budget, and he expects to fail again; but with each successive attack he believes that he will make an impression on the public. The Ministry, no doubt, are perplexed by this licensing business. Their hope of squaring the temperance party by offering them local option has been disappointed. They would like to drop these licensing clauses, but cannot. What Mr. Gladstone hopes is to reduce the majority by which they will be carried.

The Anglican Synod.

HAMILTON, May 31.—The Synod of Niagara met again yesterday, when the standing committees were appointed and delegates to the Provincial Synod elected. A resolution for the appointment of a Sunday school committee as well as one directing the adoption of the scheme of Sunday school lessons put forth by the Toronto diocese was carried. A long discussion followed on a motion to repeal the claim of the constitution requiring any clergyman elected to be a bishop to resign any preferment or benefit held by him at the time of such election.

A Brutal Assault.

MONTREAL, May 31.—On Monday evening Mrs. Black, while walking past what is known as the Haunted House, on the canal bank, was attacked by several men, dragged into a neighboring barn and criminally assaulted. A young man who saw the commencement of the affair from a distance gave the alarm. A number of policemen at once proceeded to the scene, but the roughs escaped. A man was subsequently arrested on suspicion of being one of the gang. The police authorities are reticent over the affair, probably wishing to make other arrests before making the details public.

The General's Condition.

WASHINGTON, May 31, 12.45 a.m.—At 10 o'clock last night Gen. Sheridan was suddenly threatened with suffocation from pulmonary effusion, and for a while was in imminent danger. At this hour the immediate danger has apparently passed. All the doctors are at the General's bedside and fear death may occur at any moment.

Quebec's Loss.

OTTAWA, May 31.—Mr. Foote of Quebec was here yesterday interviewing the Government regarding the steamship companies booking European passengers through to Montreal, which he says is a terrible blow to the trade of Quebec. The Government informed him that it was a matter they could not in any way interfere with.

Nicolet Election.

QUEBEC, May 31.—The writ for a new election in Nicolet is to be issued immediately. The candidates are Dr. G. Turcotte, Conservative, and Mr. L. H. Frechette, Liberal. Mr. Dorais, the unseated member, intends running for the vacant seat in the Commons.

THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1888.

THE MILITIA.

In regard to the militia, as well as other branches of the administration, the Dominion Government has to defend itself from two fires. Its political opponents, inside and outside of Parliament, call upon it to reduce the expenditure and condemn it for not doing so; while at the same time political opponents characterize the Government as careless and indifferent because it does not spend more. It is morally impossible to satisfy such critics. If the expenditure is not curtailed the Government is assailed, and if it is not increased it is attacked.

The ordinary expenditure for the militia service in 1887 was $1,193,692, which included the cost of the batteries and of the cavalry and infantry schools. Did the Liberal party ask that the appropriations be increased, in order that the service might be improved and better accommodation and equipment furnished? Well, one of the leading members of the party, Mr. Charlton, referred to the expenditure and he thought it might be reduced to the modest extent of $1,000,000. This would leave $193,000 which the Liberal party would be willing to have expended on the whole militia service—about enough to maintain the batteries alone, not enough to keep up the schools, and not enough to supply ammunition and stores. In fact, the expression simply meant that the service might be abolished. And while the Liberal party is giving expression to such opinions in Parliament, the Government is assailed outside for being careless and not incurring further expenditure.

As we said, it is morally impossible to satisfy such critics. In fact, the Government and the people should pay no attention to them. Such methods of partisan criticism are not worthy of attention on the part of either. But the Government should keep a careful eye on the requirements of the force—as we believe it does—and it should not allow inane carpings of political oponents to deter it from incurring necessary expense in connection with the volunteer force. We do not believe the people of Canada are willing to have the country placed in an entirely defenceless condition, at the mercy of invaders or insurrectionists, as Mr. Charlton proposed, and we believe they will sustain the Government in incurring the necessary expense for the proper equipment and accommodation of the battalions. Believing that such is the feeling of the people, we hope the Government will see its way to provide better accommodation for the 57th battalion, as it is necessary, despite the desire of Liberal members of Parliament to have the militia force crippled or abandoned.

QUITE A VARIETY.

A Long Session of the Police Court and a Mixed Bill of Fare.

Instead of the usual fifteen minutes or less the sitting of the Police Court to-day lasted well on into the afternoon, and the bill of fare was a varied one.

A DRUNK.

John Doig was charged by the Chief with being drunk in a public place on Wednesday. He pleaded guilty and was allowed to go, as he has been keeping very quiet for a number of years.

SELLING "LUNGE."

William Throop, who resides near Rice Lake, was charged with selling maskinonge on the Peterborough market, during the close season, Inspector Cochrane being the complainant. He pleaded not guilty.

R. H. ADAMS, constable, was sworn and deposed that he saw defendant on the market on Saturday last. He had a buggy load of Maskinonge which he was offering for sale.

CHAS. GILCHRIST, Fishery Inspector for Rice Lake, said that he granted the permit produced to defendant allowing him to catch Maskinonge from May 24th. Under the statute the close season for "lunge" is from April 15th to June 15th. Acting under instructions from the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries he granted permits from May 24th to the end of the season in January. He granted such permits to the Rice Lake Indians. The Indians depend on fishing for their living and sell their catch. The defendant keeps a shop near the lake and buys fish from the Indians and sells them again. On the 26th of May the permit to the Indians was in force. He never knew defendant to violate the law. As he understood it the permit to the Indians not only allowed them to catch fish but also to sell them. He had no authority outside of his own district. The privilege of granting permits was cancelled on Wednesday, May 30th, this year.

ROBERT PAUDASH, an Indian, swore that he got fish in Rice Lake on the Queen's birthday and sold some of them to defendant.

The Police Magistrate said that under the circumstances he would dismiss the case without costs.

SPEARING.

Walter McIlmoyle was charged with attempting to kill fish with a spear, at the Township of Harvey, in October, 1887. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 without costs.

SCOTT ACT CASES.

John Donoghue, Hunter-st. west, charged with a violation of the Scott Act, between April 1st and May 28th.

Mr. C. W. Sawers, for the defendant, pleaded guilty.

A fine of $50 and cost was imposed, to be paid immediately.

Mrs. Condon was charged with a breach of the Scott Act, a second offence, between March 1st and May 28th. Mr. G. T. Leonard, for the defence, pleaded not guilty.

One witness said that he had not drank anything strong on the premises. A second had asked for liquor, but was refused, while a third had neither asked for or received any.

The case was enlarged until Monday next to secure the attendance of some other witnesses.

A LARCENY CASE.

A larceny case of a peculiar nature was the last on the list. A man was charged with converting certain goods left in his house by a former tenant, to his own use. Some evidence was taken and the P. M. enlarged the case until Monday, with a view to having a settlement effected.

LAKEFIELD.

Correspondence of the Review.

FISHING PERMITS.—Mr. F. James Moore, Fishery Overser, received the following communication from the Department of Crown Lands in connection with the fishery act:—"That the fee of $5 for a permit to angle in the waters of your district heretofore charged to a foreigner having no domicile in the province, has been changed to $1, which sum in future you are authorized to collect."

RESULTED FATALLY.—Mr James Davis, who was reported in last weeks' REVIEW as being seriously injured, died on Wednesday, his funeral taking place on Sunday last from his brother's residence. A very large turnout of sympathizing friends followed the remains to the Lakefield cemetery. Mrs. Davis and son arrived from Nebraska on Saturday last. General sympathy is expressed for the family in their sad loss.

S. HENDERSON, ticket agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., and the steamer Cruiser. Information cheerfully given.

THE 24TH.—The Queen's birthday passed very quietly. There was not much excitement. The steamers Cruiser and Dawn made their first trip to Buckhorn. Quite a number took advantage of the excursion. They speak highly of the new scenery the trip affords. The Lakefield rifle club went out to Warsaw for a friendly match with the Warsaw club. Lakefield club had to pay for the dinner; they were two points behind.

IMPROVED.—Queen-st. has been scraped and the dirt drawn away, greatly improving the appearance.

STREET WATERING.—Mr. Donald McLean has received the contract for watering the streets. Contract price, $40 per month.

PERSONAL.—Miss Crickmore left on Tuesday for England. We wish her bon voyage ....Mr. James D. Graham returned home from Toronto on Saturday last....Mr. Reynolds, salesman in J. C. Sherin & Son's dry goods store, has gone to Markdale for a holiday.

BEST English rubbing varnish for sale at Henderson's pharmacy.

EARLY CLOSING.—To-morrow night (Friday) will be the first evening for the stores to be closed at 7.30.

Correspondence of the Review.

FARM PURCHASED.—Mr. Jonas Nelson has purchased Mrs. Nelsons' farm. Price paid, $47.50 per acre.

PICNIC.—A picnic was held in Fife's grove on May 24th. There was quite a large gathering of both old and young. Dancing was kept up until the mosquitoes drove all hands home.

A BOYS' PRANK.—Some boys going from the picnic on the 24th, took the covering off the culvert at Mr. Johnston's gate. Now boys, there is nothing manly about such work as this. We would advise you to let Mr. Johnston alone for the future, or you may get yourself into trouble.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4 78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7 25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do), Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead; town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need; that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

Weather Probabilities.

Light to moderate winds; generally fair, with local showers; not much change in temperature.

On, Stanley, On!

Stanley is a name frequently heard in Canada. Interest is felt in one Stanley away in the great unknown parts of Africa, and another is coming as Governor-General of Canada. But with the average housekeeper just now the great questions of house cleaning and furnishing exclude the Stanleys, and every householder should know that at the golden lion carpets and oil cloths of the best quality and moderate prices can be obtained, in the most attractive patterns. Call at fair's.

To Fishermen.

Fishery Inspector Gilchrist requests us to state that the permits issued by him this season are of no use whatever now and any person caught fishing before the 15th of June, whether with a permit or not, will be liable to prosecution. As we understand that a number of these permits are held by residents of Peterborough, they should pay particular attention to this notice.

The C. P. R. Siding.

The Boating Club and Mr. Wm. English will oppose the granting of permission to the Canadian Pacific to construct the proposed siding up the bank of the river, before the Railway Committee, at Ottawa, on Tuesday next. The company express a willingness to grant compensation under the railway act and if the amount be not mutually agreed upon, arbitration, of course, will follow.

Peterborough Presbytery.

The Port Hope Times says:—"A meeting of the Peterboroug Presbytery was held in Mill-st. church on Wednesday afternoon. Those present were:—Rev. Dr. Jamieson, Garden Hill; Cook, Baltimore; McCrae, Cobourg; Bennett, Peterborough; and Cleland, Mitchell and MacWilliam, Port Hope; Elders Russell, of Cobourg, and Mitchell, of Port Hope. The only business was the translating of the Rev. Mr. Cook from Baltimore to Smith's Falls, from which place he had received a call. This done, the meeting adjourned."

A full attendance of the members of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O. O. F. is requested this evening. 1d127

Won the Prize.

Miss Grundy won the prize offered last week by Mr. P. D. Doran, to the customer purchasing the largest amount of goods during the week.

Cheese.

The greater portion of the cheese sold at last board was delivered at the Grand Trunk to-day, after being inspected at the factories. It is shipped to Montreal and thence to Liverpool. The buyers speak highly of the first lot.

The Derby.

Quite a number of Peterborough people hold tickets in Carslake's Derby sweep, but none of them were fortunate enough to draw a prize. One gentleman drew a horse, but as luck would have it, the name of the animal does not appear among the starters.

The Canal Association.

A meeting of the Trent Valley Canal Association (not the Commission, as was stated yesterday) will be held at Lindsay on Thursday, June 7th. Matters of first importance will be considered and there should be a large and representative attendance.

At Great Speed.

About two o'clock yesterday morning a man on horseback rode along Hunter-st. at a furious rate and never slackened in the least until after he had crossed the iron bridge. On the way he yelled in a manner that would have ashamed a Commanche Indian.

A Fine Beverage.

C. H. Gurd & Co's. and the Imperial Mineral Water Co's Ginger Ale and Soda, a large consignment just arrived. Crosse and Blackwell's Moutarde, Oux Capres, Anchois, etc. Fine, Yellow Sugar, 18 pounds for $1.00. Tomatoes, 10 cents per can. Good Japan tea, 6 pounds for $1.00. W. J. Morrow, Opera House Block.

50 cts. on the Dollar.

The great slaughtering sale at Dawson Bros. old stand, Hunter-st., is calling scores of customers. That the public appreciate the bargains is evidenced by the number of customers who attend each day. Those in want of of genuine bargains should not fail to see the stock, as they are certainly selling goods at less than auction prices. 2d126-1w22

Suspended.

Work was suspended this morning on this end of the Chemong Lake railway and some twenty men, nearly all Italians, were discharged, but they were requested to hold themselves in readiness in case their services should be required again in a few days. It is found that no more work can be done at this point until the question of purchasing a small strip of land is settled.

Wanted Lodging.

About two o'clock this morning two men drove into town and sought the police station, where Officer Adams was on duty. They said that they had just arrived from Fenelon Falls and demanded that the police wake up some of the hotelkeeper to provide them with lodging. The officer asked if they had tried to get into any of the hotels. The reply was that they had not and they considered that that was the duty of the police. Their minds were disabused of that idea, but the officer took pity on them and got one into a hotel, while the other drove off to his home in Douro.

Obituary.

The London Morning Post says:—"Lady Mary Gage, eldest surviving daughter of Charles, fifth Marquis of Queensberry, and sister of Lady Harriet Duncombe and Lady Anne Drummond Moray, died on Wednesday, at Radnor House, Sandgate, in her 81st year. She was widow of the Rev. Thomas Wentworth Gage, whom she married in February, 1831, and who died in March, 1837." Lady Mary Gage was the mother of the late Charles Wentworth Gage, formerly of Peterborough, who left a widow, daughter of the late Claud Buck Toker, and a son and daughter, who are residents of this county.

A Cup for the Lansdowne Club.

As will be seen by the following letter received by the Secretary of the Lansdowne Rowing Club, Mr. H. Calcutt has generously donated a $50 cup to the club:—

Geo. Stevenson, Esq.,

Sec.-Treas. Lansdowne Club.

DEAR SIR,—I will give the Club a $50 cup to be competed for by single scullers, members of the club only, the winner to own it when won three times. The course to be on the river at Jubilee Park. Parties who have entered and intend to compete, to be carried free with their shells to the park. Any person winning one heat to stand to his credit till the cup is won, in case he may be prevented from attending the next meet, each meet to be on separate days—or one heat only to be rowed at a meet. If the club think well of accepting this offer, please let me know at an early date, and oblige, Yours truly,

H. CALCUTT.

P.S.—I propose running the steamer Golden Eye two afternoons in the week, leaving town at 1 o clock and returning at 7. This will give 5 to 6 hours down the there. The river is well adapted for the race, the banks being high, so the race can be seen and the river is shaded from any storm.

Mr. Calcutt has shown commendable interest in athletic sports and this offer will no doubt be of assistance to the club. It is probable that Mr. Calcutt will be asked to change the terms somewhat to allow the cup to be competed for in double or single lapstreak boats.

THE DEPARTING D. A. G.

The Military Banquet Tendered to Col. Villiers at Cobourg.

Col. Villiers, Deputy Adjutant General of this military district, was entertained at a banquet at the Arlington Hotel, Cobourg, on Wednesday evening, by the officers of the district. There were about one hundred present. The 57th Battalion was represented by Col. J. Z. Rogers, Capt. R. E. Birdsall and Assistant Surgeon O'Gorman. The menu was excellent and did the Arlington credit.

Col. Boulton, of Cobourg, presided. After the removal of the cloth the toasts of "the Queen" and of "the Prince of Wales" were loyally honored. The "Army and Navy" was the next toast, and was responded to by Gen. Oliver, Kingston, Col. Straubenzie, the new D. A. G., and Col. Deacon, of Lindsay. Col. R. Z. Rogers, of the 49th, favoured the company with a song. The health of "Col. Villers" was proposed by the chairman. Col. Villiers responded in a neat speech. He thanked them for the honor done him and expressed his regret because he was leaving the district, as the officers in No. 3 district were second to none in the world. Major Hughes sang "Col. Villiers has Gone Away." Then followed "the Royal Military College," responded to by Gen. Oliver. Song, "Larboard Watch" by Messrs. T. and H. Walters, Lindsay. "The Parliament of Canada," proposed by Col. Lazier, of Belleville, brought to their feet Col. Kirkpatrick, M. P., of Kingston, Mr. Hudspeth, M. P., and Mr. Barron, M. P., of Lindsay, and Major Ward, M. P., of Port Hope. "The New D. A. G." was well received, and Col. Straubenzie responded. Col. Vance Gravely proposed "The American Consul," and Mr. Robertson, the consul, acknowledged the honor. "The Surgeons of the Militia," was proposed and responded to by Dr. Boulter, of Stirling. "The Wounded of the Northwest Rebellion" was received with enthusiasm and elicted a capital speech from Capt. Halliwell. The "health of Col. Boulton" was proposed by Col. Brown, of Belleville, and responded to by Col Boulton. The last toast was "the Secretary and Treasurer," responded to by Adjutant Sam Hughes, of Lindsay, and Col. Vance Gravely, of Cobourg. The National Anthem and "Auld Lang Syne" were sung heartily and the company dispersed at about three o'clock.

Headache, Billiousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion relieved and at once by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. Try it. Samples free

—The cricket match at Toronto, with the east club, cannot be fixed for June 7th on account of a match with the University club being arranged for the same date. The game at Toronto will take place on Sept. 13th.

The good opinion of the public, in regard to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, is confirmed by clergymen, lawyers, public speakers and actors. All say it is the best remedy for affections of the throat and lungs.

BLAIRTON.

Correspondence of the Review.

BASEBALL.—The baseball match which was to be played on May 24th, between the juniors of Blairton and Havelock, did not come off owing to the latter failing to put in an appearance.

PERSONAL.—We learn with much regret that Mr. W. J. Armstrong and family are about to leave this place and make their home in Campbellford. During their stay in Blairton, they have gained many friends who will look upon their leaving with much sorrow.... Miss E. Young has gone to Toronto, to still gain more knowledge of music.... Mrs. Fallis started for Omemee last week, where she will spend a few weeks visiting her friends.

FOR EXHIBITION.—Mineral specimens have been sent from the Blairton mines for exhibition.

CHEESE FACTORY.—Mr. H. Davis, who was engaged to make cheese in the Blairton factory, found that he would have to give up the work, owing to ill health. Mr. Walter Smith has been engaged to fill his place.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A very sad accident took place a few miles east of this place. Miss Bradley, while attempting to flag a train on the C. O. R., was struck by the engine, and died in a few hours.

KEENE.

Correspondence of the Review

PICNICS.—The picnic season is on and we constantly hear of them. There was one on a very large scale on Tuesday afternoon and night last.

FISHING.—A large number of bass are being caught.

DRIVE.—A very large drive is a few miles north of us.

ATHLETICS.—A few young men in this place have tried throwing a 26 lb. stone and several have put it on a standing throw over 21 feet.

ELBOW DISLOCATED.—On Tuesday evening, May 23rd, a little girl of Mr. Wm. Hastie, jr., fell off the fence and dislocated her elbow. A doctor was called in and the patient is doing well.

LEG BROKEN.—On May 24th Harry Burnham, who lives with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin, fell off a land roller and had his leg broken. A doctor attended to the injury and the patient is doing well.

PERSONAL.—Mr. A. E. Scott, of the Sun Life Office, Peterborough, was visiting here on Sunday.... Mr. H. Burnham, of Port Hope, is here.

WEEDINGS.—A few weddings are talked of, but we will reserve congratulations until the happy event really comes off.

KEENE CIRCUIT.—At an adjourned meeting of the Methodist Official Board, Keene circuit, held in Keene on Monday 21st May, 1888, Messrs J. Smithson, Geo. Essen, J. Kindred, sr., Edwin Howson and Chas. Kindred being present, the following resolution was unanimously carried:—"That we deeply feel our obligation to the Rev. F. Johnson for his untiring energy and Christian zeal in behalf of the people of this circuit during the past three years of his ministry. He has displayed ability and tact and proved himself a faithful and judicious pastor."

"In discussing this question of presents for the wedding on Thursday" said Mrs. Ketcholder to her mother-in-law, "there is really no use going to Toronto as you propose. There is the expense, which is something, and besides as time is limited you make a hurried selection. Why not adopt John's view and go to CHINA HALL, here in town. Why, bless you, from the look I've had at the goods you can get perfectly splendid things for presents, and so cheap too. Mr. Wilson displays great taste and I'm certain the things you might buy would be not only suitable but look particularly handsome."

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st. Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1888.

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"I hope she was well prepared. And when was she called?"

"She died last November!"

"Ah, aweel! she'll have fund oot by this time that the poor and lowly of this warld are the elect of the next."

"Mrs. Newburgh was a true Christian and a real lady," put in Mme. Debrisay, emphatically.

"She was very, very good to me," said Mona.

"Any way, you've had a wise-like upbringing. You are not ashamed of your uncle Sandy, though he is a plain bodie?"

"Ashamed! No, indeed."

"Now!"—he called it "noo"—"tell me how ye come to be here with this leddy? I thought the Honorable Mrs. Newburgh"—with somewhat sarcastic stress on "the Honorable"—"was to leave you a fortin'."

"Alas! my dear sir, my dear young friend's story has been a real tragedy," began Mme. Debrisay, who proceeded, with suitable modulations of voice, to "recite" the tale of Mrs. Newburgh's losses, and Mona's consequent poverty—of the necessity for her laboring in order to live, and being reduced to her present position.

"Reduced, ye ca' it," he said. "It's no 'reducing' for an honest lassie to earn her own bread, which is mair honorable than the honors of the peerage! So you live here, my dearie! Ah, there's a good drap of Craig bluid in yer veins, or you would not have set up for yourself, like a wise lassie. If ye can keep a roof like this over your head, you canna be doing so bad."

"Perhaps," said Mme. Debrisay, insinuatingly, "perhaps your uncle would stay and share our modest midday repast. We have but a little cold roast beef, a salad, and 'omelette aux fines herbes,' but at least it will avert the pangs of hunger."

"Roast beef, did you say?" asked Mr. Craig, anxiously. "I canna digest boiled! But you're varra good, and I shall be happy to join you. I am varra frail. I worked hard a' my youth under a fine man, Mr. Kenneth Macnachern, of Macnachern & Leslie's, the great jute manufacturers. He retired, but he just missed the occupation, and went off like a puff of wind. I kept it on, and saved a bit, and my old master remembered me in his will, so, as I found my health failing, and new men coming into the firm, I thought I would rest and try to recover. I took a cottage an' a bit farm awa' in the west, but I got rheumatics, and grew worse, so I cam' up to try a great London doctor, and was recommended to yon place in Camden Town. The son of one of our clerks lodges there; but he is out a' day, and I suspect a' the night, too. I am just wearyin' o't; but I am not half cured yet. I wonder now if this place is much further from Harley street?"

"By no means, my dear sir!" cried Mme. Debrisay. "It is a shorter and a pleasanter drive. I presume you are consulting the famous Doctor Swaithem?"

"That's the man. He is awfu' costly."

"What matter! so long as you can regain your precious health. I think you would find this neighborhood more salubrious, and in every way preferable."

Here Mme. Debrisay slipped quietly from the room—to make some addition to dinner, Mona did not doubt.

"Tell me," said Uncle Sandy—the hoarse whisper in which he usually spoke intensified—"tell me, what does she make you pay her for living here?"

"She does not charge me anything. I pay my share of our food and fire—that is all."

"Ah! and she is no of your blood?"

"No; I came to know her seven or eight years ago, as I told you."

"It is just wonderful!" he ejaculated, and sat silent for some time, with a curious, half-satisfied, half-mocking smile in his face.

Then the prim figure of Jane appeared, and she proceeded to lay the cloth.

The dinner was very successful. Uncle Sandy was exceeding communicative as to what he might and might not eat. At first he said he would take nothing but cold water to drink; then he fancied there was a slight taste—he could not exactly define what—in the water, and when he perceived this, he had always been warned to qualify the water with a drop of spirits. He supposed they hadn't any whisky? No; well he would do with a trifle of brandy. "The next time I come to see ye," he said, with an air of great generosity, "I'll bring you a bottle of real good stuff—it's far wholesomer than brandy." He seemed to enjoy his repast, and afterward made many inquiries into Mme. Debrisay's history. He was also profoundly interested in the prices current of all articles of consumption in London. Then, noticing the piano, he begged his niece to sing him a song. She complied. Before she was half through it he stopped her by observing that he had an uncommon ear for music, but that it must be Scotch music. So Mona changed her tune to "Oh! wert thou in the cauld blast," which gave him great delight. He nodded his head and tapped the carpet with his stick in time to the music, and declared with feeble energy, that there were no songs like Scotch songs—no intelligence comparable to that of Scotsmen—no church system like that of Scotland. Then he looked at his watch, and said he was sorry, but he must leave them; that it was the only cheerful afternoon he had spent since he came to London, and expressed his resolution to look for lodgings in their neighborhood.

"Pray, let me get you a cab," said Mona. "You will be so very tired walking all the way to the station a second time."

"Hoot, toot! I am stronger since lately, and money is not so plentiful as to let me hire cabs everywhere I go. Naw, naw! I'll just walk to the station. I have my ticket to Gower street, and I will get on fine from that for tippence. Good-bye, my lassie. I'll no' forget how ye helpit your uncle. Good-bye to you, mem. May be you'll help me to find a respectable lodging." I can't come again till the day after to-morrow, for I have to see the doctor; but if it is anyway fine, I'll not fail you."

Mona went out to open the garden gate for him, and watched him hobbling down the road for a moment or two, and then returned to Mme. Debrisay.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happines to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

OMEMEE.

SUDDEN DEATH.—It is with [illegible] we record the sudden death of Mr. John Young on Friday night last after a short illness. Deceased was born in Perthshire in the year 1837 where he lived till he was about 20 years of age, after which he resided at Ottawa for about two years where he held a contract on the Parliament buildings in that city and after travelling the States for some time he settled in Lindsay, where he held the position of chief constable for a number of years, when he moved to Omemee in June, 1881, and resided up to the time of his dear. The funeral on Sunday was largely attended by friends and acquaintances from Lindsay, Peterborough and other places. He leaves a widow and six children, three boys and three girls, all of whom have the sympathy of the entire community.

FELL OFF.—On Tuesday as the 11.20 train was near Sturgeon-st. a boy named Arthur Donald fell off the rear platform of the last car. Mr. Geo. English who saw him fall says he thought it was a parcel thrown off by some person on the train, but on closer examination found it to be a boy. He brought him down to the village and soon willing hands were at work under Mr. Tisdall's awning, washing off blood and examining the wounds which were chiefly on the head and face, and the boy complained of a pain in his legs. He is now at the residence of Mr. S. Cromwell where he is made as comfortable as possible. The boy stated that he had been working at Fenelon Falls with a man named Johnson. How he escaped instant death is a wonder, as the train was running very fast at the time he fell.—Herald.

TERRIBLE CRASH!

$500,000 WORTH OF DRY GOODS TO BE SLAUGHTERED.

Another Large Wholesale Dry Goods House Gone up.

This is sad news for the English Creditors, but good news for the Cash Buyers of Peterborough. Who will now be able to get a Portion of this Immense Stock, at less than half the Regular Price, at the Bankrupt Stock Emporium? The Proprietor having purchased at a very low figure a Large Portion of the above Stock consisting in part of:—

10,000 YARDS OF SUMMER DRESS GOODS IN ALL THE NEWEST SHADES.
250 PARASOLS AT PRICES RANGING FROM 50 CENTS TO $2.50.
100 PIECES NEW PRINTS IN ALL STYLES FROM 3C. TO 15C. PER YARD.
FRENCH WOVE CORSETS, A SPECIALTY AT LOWEST PRICES.

Another present to be given on next Saturday to the largest buyer during the week.

P. D. DORAN,

BANKRUPT STOCK EMPORIUM, NO. 3 COX'S BLOCK, GEORGE STREET.

—The new electric light poles on George-st. are being placed in position to-day. They are fine lookers and are much higher than those formerly used. A little paint would much improve their appearance.

COUCHS, COLDS, Croup and Consumption CURED BY ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM 25c. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 7th June, 1888, for the delivery of Indian Supplies during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1889, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c., duty paid, at various points in Manitoba and the North-west Territories.

Forms of tender containing full particulars relative to the Supplies required, dates of delivery, &c., may be had by applying to the undersigned, or the Indian Commissioner at Regina, or to the Indian Office, Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each descript on of goods (or for any portion of each description of goods) separately or for all the goods called for in the Shedules, and the department reserves to itself the right to reject the whole or any part of a tender.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque in favor of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs on a Canadian Bank for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tender which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract based on such tender when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

Each tenuer must, in addition to the signature of the tenderer, be signed by two sureties acceptable to the Department for the proper performance of the contract.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

This advertisement is not to be inserted by any newspaper without the authority of the Queen's Printer, and no claim for payment by any newspaper not having had such authority will be admitted.

L. VANKOUGHNET,

Department of Indian Affairs, Ottawa, May, 1888. 8d12

as viewed by the "Scientific American."

"The bristles of tooth brushes are extremely harsh and unpleasant, producing unnecessary wear upon the enamel, and inducing diseases of the gums." The "conforms to all surfaces of the teeth, thoroughly cleansing and polishing them without undue friction and without injuring the gums."

Dr. W. Geo. Beers, L. D. S. of Montreal, writes:—"It ought to be a luxury as well as a stimulant to use the Felt Brush constructed as it is, and I believe that with that and the floss silk between the teeth, nothing better can be relied upon."

Some Things to Say.

IF there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods. We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe. German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line "80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1.25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

FREE LUMBER FOR THE U.S.

AN ANIMATED DISCUSSION IN THE CONGRESS.

A Proposed Amendment to Levy Duty on all Products on the Free List on Which Canada Imposes a Duty.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—In the House yesterday, discussing the Tariff Bill, Mr. Adams (Ill.) attacked the committee for placing brick on the free list, and pointed out the probable effect of Canadian competition on Chicago brickmakers.

Mr. Kelley (Pa.) proceeded to speak for the Southern lumber interest. He pleaded with the House not to impoverish the people of Tennessee and South Carolina and decrease the value of their splendid timber lands by making lumber free.

Mr. Reid (Me.) said the figures would show that there was no possibility of decreasing the cost of Canadian lumber by making it free. The tariff would go into the pockets of the Canadian lumbermen. The only effect of the reduction would be to injure the American industry without lowering prices.

Mr. Weaver (Ia.) declared that the lumber trust was the most unconscionable trust ever in existence, that it absolutely limited the production and controlled the price of lumber—a criminal proceeding.

Mr. Morrow (Cal.) said that even if there was a lumber trust—which he did not admit—the effect of this legislation would be to transfer it across the line into Canada, where it could not be reached by our laws. He urged in behalf of the vast carrying trade engaged in the lumber traffic that the date of the operation of the free list be made Jan. 2.

Mr. Wilson (Minn.) said if the statement was true that the placing of lumber on the free list would not redruce its price, he failed to see how the carrying trade could be affected. He had seen more millionaires spring up in the lumber trade than anywhere else, while the wages of labor had not been advanced. The lumber tariff was legalized robbery.

Mr. Parker (N.Y.) offered an amendment proposing to substitute Nov. 30, 1889, for the date given in the section, and addressing himself to the lumber clauses said that their first effect would be to reduce the price of lumber until our producers were ruined and the industry destroyed, when the price would go up again.

Mr. Parker's amendment was rejected, 69 to 134. The Democrats applauded the announcement of the vote.

Mr. Boutelle (Mass.) proposed to make the date in Mr. Adams' amendment 1890 instead of 1889. He said the result of the lumber tariff was shown in the fact that lumbermen on this side of the line received from 25 to 40 per cent. better wages than was paid on the Canadian side.

His amendment was rejected.

Mr. Weaver (Ia.) declared that the bill as it stood had been drawn in a broad catholic spirit and that it corrected the inequality of the present law which permitted railroads cut by cheap Canadian labor to come in duty free for use by the transportation pool, while it imposed a duty on the lumber his people wanted to build their houses.

Mr. Peters (Kansas) believed that the American farmer had no desire to jump out of the frying pan into the fire. They did not want to destroy 100,000 of their customers engaged in the lumber business.

Mr. McMillen: "Most of them Canadians."

Mr. Peters: "I don't care who they are so long as they are his customers."

Mr. Payne (Penn.) held that the bill had been drawn on sectional lines.

Mr. McMillen denied the charge. He asked whether the Maine lumbermen did not import Canadian labor to cut timber.

Mr. Milliken: "I answer no; they do not."

Mr. McMillen: "You say what is not correct. You are misinformed."

Mr. Boutelle: "Why does the Canadian laborer come over here; what influences him?"

Mr. McMillen: "Climatic influence." [Derisive laughter on Republican side.]

Mr. Boutelle wanted to inform the gentleman (McMillen) that if the Canadians did come over the line it was because they got better wages here.

Mr. Anderson (Kas.): "Why, then, don't Maine depopulate Canada?"

Mr. Boutelle: "She is doing so, as fast as the law allows."

Mr. Baker (N.Y.), had ready an amendment which he intended to offer providing that in all cases a duty shall be imposed upon products on the free list whenever Canada imposed a duty on like goods.

Mr. Mills asked that the debate on the section be considered as closed, but objection was made and he moved that the committee rise. This prevailed by a vote by tellers of 122 to 89, the Republicans solidly opposing the motion. The committee rose, not having passed over the first five lines of the bill.

PITTSBURG, June 1.—Four men were employed yesterday on some repairs at the blast furnace of the Stewart Iron Company, when an explosion of gas occurred. One man was instantly killed and the three others were so dangerously burned that it is feared they will not recover.

Drowning Accident.

CHICAGO, June 1.—A special from Quincy, Ill., says: While the Mississippi River steamer Inverness was towing a raft to Hannibal, Mo., the two tower lines collapsed and ten men were blown overboard or jumped into the river. Five were drowned.

FIRES YESTERDAY.

OTTAWA, June 1.—The box shook factory of Barnes & Co. of New York at the Chaudiere was totally destroyed by fire about 5 o'clock yesterday morning. The loss will be in round numbers about $100,000, with insurance of $30,000. One hundred and twenty-five hands will be thrown out of employment, and it is not proposed to rebuild the factory. One of the company's mills at Burlington, Vt., went up in smoke about three weeks ago. Quantities of lumber were destroyed, and only after six hours' work was an appalling conflagration averted. The bulkhead of the city waterworks was destroyed; loss $1500. The box factory had only been in operation three weeks, the firm being engaged filling an American order for 125 carloads of boxes. The machinery, which is totally destroyed, was valued at $70,000. The insurance is only $30,000, distributed among tae following companies: Ætna, Royal, North British, Hartford and Glasgow. The factory (owned by Mr. John Rochester) was valued at $20,000; insurance $6000.

BELLEVILLE, June 1.—About 6 o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in the rear of Hambly's old store, now occupied by John McLaren. Over the kitchen was a workroom connected with Saunders & Co.'s tailor shop, and this with its contents were burnt. There were about a dozen suits ready to be sent out which were lost. Mr. Saunders was insured for $300 in the Phœnix. Mr. McLaren's kitchen furniture was destroyed, and this with the damage to the building was covered by the insurance. The block is owned by the Canadian Bank of Commerce. It is not known how the fire originated.

ST. THOMAS, June 1.—A small frame dwelling on Elizabeth-street, owned by Mackey, Davis & Tate and occupied by W. B. Coombs, was partially consumed by fire Wednesday night with the contents. Mr. Coombs had $400 insurance on the furniture. After the fire was extinguished an examination of the house showed that shavings saturated with coal oil had been spread around the sides of the room where the fire originated. Another lot similarly soaked was found behind the sideboard in the same room, and in the closet adjoining an old tick filled with straw and shavings and saturated with coal oil was discovered. As Coombs could not satisfactorily explain he was arrested and arraigned at the Police Court this morning and remanded until Tuesday next.

DETROIT, June 1.—News was received in the city of the burning of the St. Paul Knitting works at St. Paul, Minn. Loss $160,000; insurance $75,000. The origin is unknown. D. D. Thorpe of this city is the president, and the stock is principally owned in Detroit. Mr. Thorpe at once telegraphed to make immediate arrangements to rebuild.

Illegal Practice of Medicine.

KINGSTON, June 1.—A woman named Mde. Monzur, pretending to be possessed with wonderful curative powers over indigestion, salt rheum, consumption, etc., by simply rubbing the parts affected, has swindled many residents of Eganville, some to the loss of $4, $5 and $6. She was arrested on Tuesday and brought before Police Magistrate Reeves, charged with violation of the Medical Act. The case was remanded until Wednesday. During the night she escaped from a room in a hotel which she had been allowed to occupy on account of the unfit condition of the jail by raising the bedroom window and descending upon the roof of the kitchen, thence to the ground. When the case was called the Police Magistrate inflicted a fine of $100 upon Mde. Monzur in her absence. An Almonte picture dealer who assisted her to escape will also be prosecuted.

GEN. SHERIDAN'S CONDITION.

All Hopes Well Nigh Abandoned—A Physician's Summary of the Case.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Gen. Sheridan's condition has been growing worse and worse, and last night hope that he would be able to rally has well nigh been abandoned. There have been several recurrences of the heart trouble, each attack has apparently left him weaker than the previous one, and it is becoming more and more difficult to rally him. His breathing has become labored and heavy, and the lungs are gradually getting more and more cedematous. One of the physicians, summarizing the case, said: "Gen. Sheridan is extremely ill. He is in a very dangerous and critical condition. He has been getting worse for the last week or ten days and to-night he is very bad."

General Sheridan remains perfectly conscious and rational, and suffers no pain except that arising from difficulty in breathing. The action of the heart varies constantly. Sometimes it will be acting with a good deal of vigor, and the next moment the whole situation will be changed and its action will become fluttering and weak. The circulation through the lungs has likewise become slow and very embarrassed. The General has shown a remarkable degree of vitality and composure, and has kept up spirits remarkably.

The Latest Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—At 10.10 last night the following bulletin was issued by the physicians in attendance upon General Sheridan:

"Gen. Sheridan had another severe attack this afternoon. He has recovered very imperfectly and his condition causes the greatest apprehensions."

At the request of Dr. O'Reilly, Dr. Pepper, Professor of Clinical Medicine and Provost of Pennsylvania, has been telegraphed for.

The Customs' receipts at the port of Montreal for May were $760,315.88, an increase of $30,797.88 over the same period of last year. The Inland Revenue receipts were $157,151.80, a decrease of $3017 as compared with last year.

LATEST EUROPEAN NEWS.

LORD STANLEY OF PRESTON SETS SAIL FOR CANADA.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Bonds Issued—The Trust and Loan Company—The Papal Rescript.

LONDON, June 1.—Lord Stanley of Preston sailed from Liverpool yesterday by the Germanian. There was no official reception at Liverpool. His Lordship is accompanied by his wife, sons and daughters.

Baring Brothers yesterday invited subscriptions for £3,093,700 of 3½ per cent. Canadian Pacific Railway land grant bonds; price of issue 95 per cent. The prospectus explains that the full interest up to maturity is guaranteed by the Dominion Government, and also contains a copy of the agreement by which the Government holds in trust funds set aside to repay the principal. The market felt the consequence of the rise in stocks yesterday, more especially as regards American and Canadian railways, and the issue has already been received with favor, market dealings taking place at 3 per cent. premium. Hence, though it is too early to predict the attitude of the public generally, the issue looks like a complete success. As the principal is not guaranteed by the Government, the bonds cannot rank as Government stock, but the guaranteed interest is sufficient to secure them an unusually high place among railway securities.

At the annual meeting of the Trust and Loan Company to-day the dividend of 6 per cent was approved. Satisfaction was expressed with the report and the accounts.

Mr. Parnell has returned to London for the re-opening of Parliament. His health has improved.

The Papal Rescript.

DUBLIN, June 1.—The Irish Catholic archbishops and bishops have issued an address declaring that the Pope's decree relative to Irish affairs, affects morals only, and does not interfere with politics. They warn the people and the league leaders against speaking with irreverence of the Pope, who has assured them that he does not intend to injure the Irish national movement, but desires to remove the obstruction in its way.

United Ireland praises the declaration.

ENCOURAGING PROSPECTS.

Improvement in the Kaiser's Condition—His Approaching Departure for Potsdam.

BERLIN, June 1.—Doubters about the recovery of the Kaiser really took heart yesterday for the first time. They not only saw him again in pretty sound looking flesh, but found that all arrangements have been definitely made for his departure by steamer to the Schloss Freidrichskohn wild park, near Potsdam. The warm weather to-day onticed to Charlottenburg thousands of persons, who saw His Majesty step into his carriage and drive away amid the most enthusiastic cheering. He looked better to-day than usual.

To-day has also witnessed a wonderful popular change toward the Kaiserin. She drove into town and enquired after the condition of the sufferers from Monday's accident now in the hospital, and then visited sundry institutions of an educational and benevolent nature in various parts of the town. It chanced that the society for children's summer holiday colonies was holding a meeting in the street in the west end, where the inhabitants are packed together like herrings in a barrel and where you knock against children at every step. Here Her Majesty again met with a most demonstrative popular reception, a repetition of the hearty display of affection the Empress experienced at the Central Market weeks ago. Every window in the crowded houses was occupied. Bouquets of flowers were thrown into the carriage. As it moved off the horses could scarcely tread their way out of the street, and the cheering and the shouting were deafening.

In the midst of this property is the Pestalozzi Frobelhaus, under the patronage of the Kaiserin, who to-day visited its kindergarten school, kitchen and baths for women and girls. Her interest in the educational and sanitary wants of the poor in Berlin and Germany will always endear the Kaiserin to the people.

HON. MR. DRURY ON THE STUMP.

TORONTO, June 1.—Hon. Chas. Drury, Minister of Agriculture, has made arrangements for an extended tour over Ontario during the month of June, when he will address farmers' institutes on matters pertaining to practical farming. Dairy practice will come in for a large share of attention. He will be accompanied by Prof. Robertson of the Guelph Agricultural College, an eminent authority on cheese and butter making. Mr. W. F. Maclean will also attend a number of the meetings and talk Butter Reform to the farmers.

The prospect of Ontario making a great display of minerals at the Cincinnati Exhibition, which opens July 4, are very bright. The mine owners and prospectors to whom application was made for ores have responded promptly and a large and varied exhibit is the result. The cost of the exhibit, including the commissioners' expenses in Cincinnati, is estimated at a little over $3000.

The duty collected at Toronto in May amounted to $261,586.04, as against $276,294.84 for the corresponding month last year. A decrease of $6,788.80.

Fish for the Northern Lakes.

BELLEVILLE, June 1.—Mr. Chas. Wilkins, Hatchery Overseer for this district, and Mr. Chas. Wilmot, Superintendent of the Newcastle Hatchery, were north on the Central Ontario from Trenton yesterday morning to distribute salmon trout in the northern lakes. They took about 400,000 fry with them.

CHARLOTTE-ST. CHURCH.

Important Matters Discussed at the Meeting of the Official Board

A meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Charlotte-st. Methodist Church was held on Wednesday evening, when several important matters connected with the church were discussed.

The following resolution was moved by Mr. Cluxton, the Recording Steward, and seconded by Mr. James Stevenson, M.P.:

"That at this, the last meeting of the Quarterly Official Board under the administration of the Reverend Mr. Tovell, the board desires to express and record the high esteem it entertains for its beloved pastor. His distinguished abilities, his amiable disposition, his sound judgment and zeal in the work to which he has been called, have won the hearts of the people and endeared him to all with whom he has been brought into contact in Peterborough. The members of the congregation of Charlotte-st. church feel it hard to part with him, and pray that the blessing of God may rest upon him and his estimable family, and that he may be long spared in the work for which he is so eminently adapted."

The resolution called forth some feeling remarks from several members of the board, and was carried unanimously by a standing vote.

The financial matters of the church were then fully discussed, when it was decided to consolidate the debt of the church, and to effect a loan at the present low ruling rate of interest.

A lengthy discussion took place as to the practice of applauding at public meetings held in the church. The practice was strongly condemned by the board, as being irreverent and objectionable and a resolution was carried that it be suppressed.

The board then adjourned.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all Druggists.

THE MARY ELLEN.

Mr. P. P. Young's New Steamer Launched—Christened by Mrs. J. E. McIntyre.

Mr. P. P. Young's new steamer was successfully launched at Young's Point on Thursday, May 31st. There was a large number present, including about twenty from Peterborough, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dolan. Mr. and Mrs. John Hackett, the Rev. Father Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McIntyre, Mr. P. D. Doran, Mr. H. LeBrun, Mr. James Dolan and others. The Peterborough contingent drove up to Young's Point in the morning and reached home early in the evening, after a pleasant day.

THE LAUNCH.

The steamer was launched without the least hitch. There were a number on board, including ladies, as she was lowered into the water. Mrs. J. E. McIntyre performed the ceremony of christening the craft, breaking a bottle of wine across the bow as the steamer slid into the water and giving her the name of "Mary Ellen."

A FLOATING PALACE.

It certainly is no misnomer to apply the above title to the magnificent new steamer. The ever increasing popularity of our northern waters is attended by a steady increase in the number of tourists who annually pay a visit to Ontario's finest summer resort. This continual influx of tourists and campers called for an improved method of transportation. Recognizing this need Mr. Young has had built a fine steamboat peculiarly adapted to the traffic of our inland waters. A glance at the general cantour of the new boat shows that she has been designed on the most graceful lines. The dimensions of the hull proper are as follows:—Length over all 79 feet, length of keel 75 feet, beam 13 feet 4 inches, depth of hold 4 feet 6 inches. The hull—keel, keelson, ribs and planks—is of solid oak selected with great care by Mr. Young himself. She is as staunch and solid as a stone wall. The main deck is divided into two cabins and an engine room, while a space is left unenclosed both fore and aft. The after cabin is both commodious and elegant, being 12 feet wide and 20 feet long. It is well lighted by six windows on each side. The window frames are of oiled ash and the panes are 14 by 28 inches. Very comfortable seats run along each side of this cabin. They are upholstered in crimson rep, which corresponds finely with the window hangings, which are of red damask. The interior painting is done in very delicate tints. From the after cabin to the unenclosed space aft is a hall, on either side of which is a closet and lavatory. The after cabin is as comfortable as a lady's boudoir. The cabin forward is not quite as large, being 10 x 12 feet, and is very nicely fitted up. Forward of the first cabin is an unenclosed space 15 feet in length running to the bow. The gangway is placed amidships and communicates by a hall with either cabin. On the opposite side are the stairways leading from the two cabins and running to the promenade deck, where they terminate in a companion-way. The promenade deck is 12x79 feet, the whole length of the boat, and is surrounded by a splendid railing, both elegant and safe. This railing is composed of turned oak stanchions, through which run two iron railings. On this deck is the octagonal wheel house and the captain's cabin. Over the wheel house is the flag pole from which this proud boat will proclaim her proud name, the Mary Ellen.

The boat will be officered by the ever popular Captain Scollard, and there is no doubt but she will win as high a place in the opinion of the resorters to Stoney Lake as her name deserves.

After the launch a trip was taken up the lake and around the islands on Mr. Young's steamer Fairy. Refreshments were served on board, and a highly enjoyable time was spent, all being most hospitably entertained.

REVIEWS.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE.—The June number of this excellent Magazine contains the opening article of a series which will be printed relative to our railways. Mr. T. C. Clarke contributes the first article "The Building of a Railway," for which he is well qualified, being one of the foremost of railway engineers on this continent. The article is one of great interest to all who are interested in engineering problems of the day, and is superbly illustrated. Written in an interesting vein, free from technical statements, it is clear and explicit to the average reader and of particular interest to mechanics and those who gain their livlihood in constructing or operating our railways. Other papers of the series promise interesting details. "Hospital Life in a great city," finely illustrated, discribes the inside life of such an institution as seen by a patient Mr. A. B. Ward. "London Life," is a new story by Henry James and will prove popular. "First Harvests" is continued and increases in interest. "The Story of a Sand Pile," by G. Stanley Hall, an excellent paper on Cardinal Newman, with other literary matter both in prose and verse, completes a thoroughly interesting number.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little sufer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether rising from teething or othercauses 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

An Electric Circuit.

Electric light poles have been placed up George-st. and along Smith to Water, where another lamp will be placed. A line of poles will run along the railway track and thence across the river to the dynamo station, thus completing a circuit and giving better light.

Lost a Finger.

Mr. William Chrowe, who has charge at the Lindsay-Seldon Furniture Company factory, Ashburnham, met with an accident on Thursday afternoon, by which he lost the index finger of his left hand. He was working at a jointer machine, when, as he expresses it, "I had no business," when one of the saws caught his finger not far from the knuckle and severed it. Dr. Halliday dressed the wounded member. Mr. Chrowe is a prominent member of the Fire Brigade Band and his many friends will hear with pleasure that he is getting along nicely and will not be inconvenienced by the loss he has sustained.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do), Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are fluffing up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need; that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

Millinery and Mantles.

The golden lion is the place to order millinery or mantles. A superb stock, well selected. Our work receives the most favorable comment. Ladies should recollect this fact when ordering.

One Month.

Mr. Adam Dobbin, who for some time has been boss cook at the gaol, was liberated this morning, after serving a six month's term. He did not appear to relish freedom and walked down to the Police Court where he met the P. M., who was in a friendly mood and at Adam's request accommodated him with a month's term on the hill. Adam took the warrant of commitment with him and started off after thanking everybody.

Injured at Montreal.

A telegram from Montreal says:—"At an early hour on Thursday morning the ambulance of the General hospital was telephoned for to meet an incoming freight train from St. Hyacinthe. A man named James McDonnough, who had been stealing a ride, had met with a serious accident by crawling over the moving train in the dark. His right leg is badly bruised and cut and it is feared that he has also sustained internal injuries. He is 19 years old and belongs to Peterborough, Ont."

Acknowledgement.

The Lady Superintendent of the Nicholls Hospital thankfully acknowledges the following donations to the Hospital in May:—

Mrs. (Judge) Dennistoun, 3 jars jelly, 3 jars preserves, 3 bottles raspberry vinegar, clothing, old cotton and muslin, illustrated papers and books; Mrs. T. C. Tucker, one pair feather pillows and cases; Mrs. Morrow, milk; Mrs. Richard Hall, clothing and old cotton; Mrs. Nicholls, rhubarb; Mrs. Minore, daily papers; Miss Rogers, magazines.

Vital Statistics.

The vital statistics for the month of May, as registered by the town Clerk, Division Registrar, for the town of Peterborough, are as follows:—

Births	26
Marriages	7
Deaths	5

The number of births is keeping up wonderfully, while the death rate appears to be decreasing, instead of going up, as would naturally be expected with the increase in population. The number of marriages is perhaps about the average, but as the clergymen are allowed ninety days in which to make their returns, many take advantage of the full time and register their marriages in bulk at the end of the quarter.

A Morning Fire.

Shortly after half past ten o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was sounded from box 1, in the first ward. The hose wagon, truck and Silsby with a full compliment of men were soon off to the scene, the whole five horses being required to draw the apparatus. It was found that the bakeshop of Mr. J. Grady, on Romaine-st. near the "drain road," was in a blaze and that two neighboring dwellings were in great danger of being destroyed. No water could be got to supply the steamer, so the buckets from the truck were brought into requisition and such good use was made of them that the buildings near by were but slightly damaged. The bakeshop, a storey and a half frame, was burned to the ground. The blaze is said to have started from a smudge fire in the yard. Mr. Grady estimates that that the loss will be about $500, on which he has an insurance of $250.

The Pay List.

The regular fortnighly pay list for the men and teams employed on streets and bridges, paid by the Town Treasurer today, amounted to $296.89. Just at present these list are pretty high.

You may come to us with a sour face, but you will laugh before you leave at the excellent Tea you can get at the Pantry for 20 cents a pound. d119-tf

Resuming.

It is probable that the full force of men will be put to work to-morrow on the Chemong Lake railway, as it is understood that the persons interested in the plot of land north of Smith-st., have come to terms with the G. T. R.

Moved to Town.

The household effects of Chief Constable Roszel have arrived in town from St. Catharines and the chief has rented a house near the corner of George and Dublin-sts., on George-st. east, where he will in future reside. His family will reach town in a day or two.

Confiscate Them.

The boy and his catapult are once more numerous, and numerous complaints are heard of the damage done by these dangerous implements. They are even worse than a pistol, as they make no noise. For some years the police have confiscated all they saw and they should commence once more to do the same thing.

Nicholls Hospital Report.

Number of patients in the hospital May 31st, 1888, 6. Diseases—Hip joint disease, 1; cystitis, 1; general debility, 1; heart disease, 1; injury to knee, 1; injury to back, 1. Total number treated during May, 16. Deaths, 1; cause of death, convulsions. Pay patients, 6; non-paying, 10; from Peterborough, 11; from the County, 5. Dr. Halliday attending physician for May; Dr. King in attendance on private ward patients.

"The Royal" Flavoring Extracts are not only true to their names, but are prepare of fruits of the best quality.

Y. M. C. A. L. C.

The meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association Lacrosse Club was held at the rooms on Thursday evening. There was a good attendance of members. It was decided to adopt a uniform consisting of red and black jerseys, blue knickers and hat of the same color. A practice match will be played with the Riversides on Monday evening next, at 7 o'clock. Challenges will be sent to Lindsay to play there on the 14 of June and to Port Hope to play there on Dominion Day. An effort will be made to form a league consisting of the Lindsay, Port Hope and Peterborough clubs, each to play two matches in each town for a handsome pennant.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bradburn have left San Francisco on the return trip and are expected to reach home about the 15th of June. Their friends will be pleased to learn that both have been much benefitted by the trip.

His Lordship Bishop Dowling will administer the sacrament of confirmation in the Roman Catholic Church, at Cobourg, on Sunday next.

Mr. T. Connell, of Rochester, formerly of Ashburnham, is visiting friends here.

Mr. J. Hampden Burnham left on Thursday evening on a visit to the Sault. Mr. W. A. Dixon will leave for the same place on Tuesday next to look after his landed interests there.

Mr. Geo. D. Edwards, of Telephone fame, is in town visiting relatives and friends.

The Protestant Home.

The ladies of the Peterborough Protestant Home thankfully acknowledge the following donations for May:—Miss Brown, parcel clothing; Mrs. Hurley, veal; Mr. W. W. Johnston, Holland gingham, &c.; Mr. Mark Spencley, papers every Sunday; Miss E. Beckett, "The Gospel Light," for one year; Mrs. W. J. Mason, rocking chair and pillow, bed quilt and blanket; from a friend, $1.00 worth bread tickets and parcel reading matter; Mrs. Richard Hall, parcel clothing; Mr. John McKee, receipted account $4.50; Mr. Holland, basket fish; Mrs. George Burnham, quarter veal, and $1.00 worth tickets; Mrs. Tom Rubidge, jar preserves, and delecacies for the sick; Messrs. Craig & Mooney, half dozen chairs; Mrs. James Best, rhubarb; Mrs. C. Fowler, bonnet; Mr. Lee, paper, pens and pencils.

PETERBOROUGH citizens for some time past have had a kidd in boots, now they have a kidd in the Pantry, who is reaching out with irresistible energy for the grocery trade of the town and surrounding country. Give him a call. d119-tf

The Secret Out.

People are astounded at the amount of property sold by Jno. Carlisle. Why has he sold so much? Simply because he leaves money every time in said properties for the buyers. Many can vouch for the truth of this statement. 45 parcels sold the last few months.

No Game.

The cricket match between the Lindsay High School club and the Peterborough second eleven, set down for to-morrow, will not come off, as the foreigners find that they cannot get a team together strong enough to suit them. It will doubtless take place at a later date.

Flying Paper.

The Chief Constable has started out on a crusade against the flying paper nuisance and he has instructed the officers to rigorously enforce the by-law. To-day it was simply a disgrace to the town to see the quantities that were flying about on the principal streets.

The good opinion of the public, in regard to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, is confirmed by clergymen, lawyers, public speakers and actors. All say it is the best remedy for affections of the throat and lungs.

Fire Tanks.

The fire this morning furnishes another illustration of the necessity there is for sinking water tanks for fire purposes, around the outskirts. Until the waterworks system is extended these are an absolute necessity, as no fire brigade in the world can cope with a fire unless they have water.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

FOR IMPAIRED VITALITY.

Dr. F. SKILLEM, Pulaski, Tenn., says: "I think it is a reliable medicine for impaired vitality."

Bad Boys.

Peterborough is infested with small, bad boys, particularly around the outskirts. This morning complaints were made at the police station, by a resident of the west end, against a crowd of boys who make his life miserable. Only a few days ago a son of his was knocked insensible by a stone hurled from a catapult and yesterday he had a large pane of glass in one of his windows broken by some kind of missle thrown by one of a crowd of boys.

Fired at by Tramps.

On Wednesday night, conductor Tamlin of an eastbound freight train put three tramps off near Colborne. They at once drew their revolvers and fired several shots at the train hands. One of the brakeman narrowly escaped being hit. Chase was given but the men escaped. Descriptions of them were telegraphed around the country and a sharp lookout was kept all along. On Thursday evening three men answering the descriptions given were seen in the vicinity of Hastings and steps were taken to arrest them. Constable Harris, Steve Beaupre, a G. T. R. employee, a man named Marshall and another started out to capture them. The tramps showed fight and drew revolvers, but Beaupre procured a shot gun and the trio were made prisoners. They were lodged in the Hastings cooler and will be taken to Cobourg for trial.

Useful Baking Powder Facts.

The following hints may prevent some housekeeper from being imposed upon:

If, when two samples of baking powder are tested by mixing with cold water, one of them boils up quickly, effervescing like seidlitz powder, and the other rises more slowly, foaming like yeast, and perhaps standing over the top of the glass, it is an evidence of the purity of the former and the adulteration of the latter The different action of the second is caused by the addition of flour or lime, or both. Put a little flour in the other and mix it thoroughly, then stir into the water, and the same result is produced, the action being more or less slow according to the amount of flour added.

Presentation.

The Lindsay Post says:—"On Saturday evening last a number of our local law students proceeded quietly to the boarding house of Mr. R. R. Hall, whose recent call to the bar was noticed in our last week's issue. Mr. Hall was about leaving for Peterborough, where he enters into partnership with Mr. W. A. Stratton, and was considerably surprised to find so many of his fellow law students gathered to bid him good-bye. On a table close at hand lay an elegantly bound edition of Dickens' works, with a collection of the poetical works of Byron, Burns and Wordsworth, and a well stocked gentleman's companion, a gift from the members of the bar and the law students to Mr. Hall on his departure from Lindsay. After a half-hour's social chat short addresses were delivered by Messrs McLaughlin, Jordan, Chisholm, Murdock, and H. McLaughlin presenting the testimonial to Mr. Hall, and expressing regret on his leaving Lindsay and their best wishes for his success in Peterborough. Mr. Hall, though confessing that he was completely taken by surprise at this unexpected mark of kindness, very gracefully acknowledged its receipt in a few words. He thanked the donors heartily for this token of their esteem, and would always remember the happy years spent as a law student in Lindsay. He was then accompanied to the train and left for Peterborough. Mr. Hall's abilities have earned for him the best opinions of the profession, and all wish him a successful practice in his new field."

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief, and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use, and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"What an extraordinary encounter!" cried Mona, throwing herself into a corner of the sofa, and laughing unrestrainedly. "I imagine Uncle Sandy is a character, and I really am sorry for his ill health and loneliness; but I am afraid he will be rather a bore if he settles near us. He seems to have fascinated you, Dear Deb."

"Poor creature. I did feel for him, and I think he is naturally a very superior man. But, Mona, me child, it's for your sake I spoke. Now Providence has thrown him in your way, I don't want you to lose your hold on him. Keep him by you, dear, and he will leave you all his money. No one can provide much for old age by teaching, and you must think of the future, ma belle."

"You wicked, grasping Deb!" she exclaimed. "You want to turn me into a legacy hunter! I assure you I will be kind and attentive to my poor father's brother, whether he has a cottage or a castle. He will probably not stay here long, and we may as well make him happy. He must have had a dull life. It must be very hard to feel life slipping away before you have known enjoyment."

"Ah, my dear; don't you be downcast—times will mend."

A few more days brought them to August. The last lesson had been given, and both Mona and Mme. Debrisay were looking forward to a-rest well-earned, when a letter arrived from Mr. Craig, written in what had been a business hand, now run to seed, and exceedingly shaky.

He had been, he said, exceedingly unwell, and confined to the house with a bad cold; that he was now considerably better, and proposed calling on Wednesday first, when he hoped his niece and her friend—the orthography of whose name had escaped him—would assist in finding him suitable lodgings, as his present abode was cold and damp, and most prejudicial to his peculiar condition."

"Wednesday first!" repeated Mona. "Does he mean Wednesday next?—that will be to-morrow."

"He will come just in the nick of time!" exclaimed Mme. Debrisay. "He is the very man for the rooms upstairs, and they are the rooms for him. Now, leave everything to me."

"Very well, dear, I know you only want to serve me."

Mme. Debrisay lost no time in advising Mrs. Puddiford to put the rooms in order, as it was probable that a gentleman would look at them next day.

"A very advantageous tenant, Mrs. Puddiford," added madame, with some importance. "He is wealthy, but somewhat eccentric. He does not wish to be considered rich, or to seem rich—still he is sound and reliable, and will be most punctual."

"I am sure, ma'am, it will be rare luck to let my rooms straight off! and to a relation of Miss Craig's, too."

"I will come up and look at them, Mrs. Puddiford."

"They are all in disorder now, ma'am; but I never let real dirt lay about."

So Mme. Debrisay ascended, and remained some time absent.

When she returned, she took up the needle-work she had left, and said, gravely—

"Mona, my heart, write a line to your uncle, ask him to take his bit of dinner with us to-morrow, and mention that there are rooms to let in this house; but if they do not suit him we will look for others."

"I will ask him to dinner, certainly; but let us leave the question of lodgings to the chapter of incidents."

"Mona, I feel a conviction that you should not let that nice old man slip through your fingers."

"Dearest Deb! why do you talk as if you were a greedy legacy hunter, when you are really the most generous and disinterested of mortals' I will do all I can for my uncle, but I will not let him interfere with my life—nor would I, if I believed he had many thousands to bequeath, which I do not."

"Ah! ciel!" interrupted Mme. Debrisay. "Listen to this. It is a paragraph among 'What people say'—

"'Play has been unusually high for the time of year at Monte Carlo. One trio has lost or won large sums, and the habitues of the Salle de Jeu have, night after night, hung absorbed on the fluctuations of their fortunes. One of these is a Russian prince, well known in fashionable circles, both in London and Paris. Another is an Austrian baron, celebrated for his theatrical speculations. The third, whose luck at first astonished the oldest frequenters of these famous rooms, is a young Englishman of good fortune and respectable connections—Mr. Leslie Waring—whose horse was the favorite for the Derby, and was so unexpectedly beaten, seemed to have recovered the favor of the fickle goddess, but has since lost very heavily. He shows great pluck, and is said to await with confidence "the turn of the tide.'"

Madame laid down the paper with a sigh.

"I am sorry for that poor fellow!" she exclaimed.

"And so am I; heartily sorry," said Mona, stopping short in her task of re-arranging some flowers.

"Ah! if he had a good wife to keep him straight."

"Don't!" cried Mona. "Don't! I cannot bear it. And you are mistaken, Deb; it is not my fault. Mr. Waring told me himself his tendency was to gamble—his natural inclination. He was honest and true, poor fellow! I really liked Mr. Waring. He had a fine nature in some way, and oh! I do hope he is none the worse, really—for having met me."

"Well, there is no use in troubling your head about him now!"

Mona made no reply, but she did not think the less.

Uncle Sandy arrived in a "cawb." Mona, who had been making sauce for the salad, according to Mme. Debrisay's recipe, had just placed the salad bowl on the table, when he stumped in with the aid of a stick and umbrella.

"Weel," he said, tumbling into a chair and holding out his hand to Mona, "I did not think I would live to see you again, but here I am."

"You are looking better than I hoped to see you," she said, kindly.

"Eh! I have been awfu' bad, and I am varra lonely in yon place. Womenkind are aye thoughtful for the sick and weak, and I am pleased to take my bit dinner wi you."

In brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

THE THUNDERER ON BOULANGER.

His Popularity Simply a Protest Against Parliamentarism.

LONDON, June 1.—The Times, commenting upon the speech of Gen. de Charette, says: "The French Government, which for the moment represents Republicanism, exists on a kind of Parliamentary sufferance, which is at once contemptuous and perplexing. It would have been ejected within a month of its installation had the adverse Democrats been able to agree upon a successor. The reprieve it has obtained is due to the sense among its Republican rivals that its ejectment would make room for a not more acceptable combination. The danger of Gen. Boulanger's attempt to storm the citadel of authority has sometimes been supposed to consist in the contingency of a military declaration for him, but the French army has always honorably abstained from becoming an instrument of political agitation. Nothing shows Gen. Boulanger's weight with it to be of a degree to alter its traditional rule. The charm of Boulangism simply is that it is a protest against parliamentarism. Such success as Boulanger has attained proves to the fancy of Royalists only that France is calling for a man to rule it, and necessarily must prefer the line of its ancient kings to an untried and unknown adventurer."

Hosmer Defeats Ross.

BOSTON, June 1.—The single-scull race between George H. Hosmer of Boston and Wallace Ross of St. John, N.B., over the Tyng's Island course on the Merrimac River above Lowell on Wednesday proved a close and exciting contest. The race was for a purse of $500, and the course was laid out for three miles with two turns, but the river was partially filled with floating logs, so that the actual distance was about two and a half miles. Ross obtained a trifling advantage at the second turning stake, when Hosmer's rigger fouled with the stake, but Hosmer quickly regained the lead, and after splendid work finished half a length ahead. Time 16.00. Both men were well winded at the finish.

Some Things to Say

IF there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods, We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line "80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1.25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1888

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE PUBLIC ACCOUNTS FOR THE PAST ELEVEN MONTHS.

An Increase in Both Revenue and Expenditure—The Public Debt Statement—Notices from the Gazette.

OTTAWA, June 2.—The revenue for May ($3,235,539) shows an increase of $261,441 over the same month of last year, and for the eleven months of the fiscal year ($31,856,725) an increase of $724,637 over the corresponding period of last year. The increases are:

Excise	$210,420
Postoffice	140,926
Public Works	30,997
Miscellaneous	576,791

Customs show a decrease of $234,597.

The expenditure for May was $3,547,727, and for the eleven months $29,452,214, being $185,851 more than for the same period last year.

The statement of the public debt at the end of May shows:

Gross debt	$276,067,647
Assets	48,079,230
Net debt	$227,988,417

This is an increase of $521,546 during the month.

The expenditure during the month on capital accounts was $340,882, making the total expenditure on capital account during the eleven months:

Public works, including railways and canals	$2,791,995
Railway subsidies	990,192
Northwest rebellion losses	535,874
Dominion lands	101,787
Total	$4,417,848

It is said that the Grand Trunk will appy to next Parliament for power to build a railway tunnel from Sarnia to Port Huron, and that the Government will probably grant assistance in some manner.

There is some probability that the Gatineau Valley Railway, which has been hanging for several years, will be commenced shortly, as Mr. Rochon, M.P.P. for Ottawa County, states that the Quebec Government will grant a cash subsidy of $6500 for the first ten miles and $4000 per mile for the remainder of the road.

The inland revenue collections at Ottawa for May were $30,983; customs $22,173.

Sir Hector Langevin left for Quebec yesterday morning and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell for Belleville last night. J. R. Hall, secretary to the Interior Department, left for Banff last night on departmental business.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau expects to pay a visit to the Maritime Provinces this summer, and will also probably make a tour west as far as British Columbia.

There is a probability that Col. Oliver will be retained as Commandant of the Royal Military College for some time.

An order-in-council has been passed empowering the Minister of Customs to refund or remit to military tailors importing clothing materials, arms or accoutrements for the use of officers or men of the Northwest Mounted Police, the duty actually paid thereon on the production of evidence satisfactory to the department that such articles have been actually imported or manufactured from imported articles for the purposes of the police.

DIED SUDDENLY.

T. M. Nairn, M.P.P. for East Elgin, a Victim of Heart Disease.

AYLMER, June 2.—T. M. Nairn, M.P.P. for East Elgin, died suddenly at his home here at 7 o'clock yesterday morning from heart disease. He was in good health and his death was wholly unexpected.

[Thomas McIntyre Nairn was born in Dumbartonshire, Scotland, in 1830, and emigrated to St. John, N.B., in 1850. He moved to Aylmer in 1851. For 21 years deceased was warden of Elgin, and he held many other positions of honor in the county. He was prominently identified with railroad interests, being a director of the Canada Southern and other companies. First returned to the Legislative Assembly in 1871, he was defeated in 1883, but carried the riding again at the last general election. In politics he was a Liberal.]

Wedding Bells at Port Perry.

PORT PERRY, June 2.—Society circles in this locality have been on tip-toe for days in anticipation of the marriage of Miss Isabel Willoughby, B.A., only daughter of Rev. W. R. Willoughby, pastor of the Methodist church here, to George R. Watson, B.A., Ph.D., M.D., of Wellington. The ceremony was performed yesterday by the father of the bride, assisted by Revs. W. H. Laird of Woodstock, J. W. Totten of Markham and J. W. Holmes of Guelph, uncles of the bride. The Methodist church, where the ceremony took place, was filled to overflowing with friends and relations from far and near, special trains being run for the accommodation of those wishing to be present. The bride was attired in a gown of creamy white merveilleux en train and high bodice. The honeymoon will be spent in the East and South. Mrs. Watson has the honor of being the first lady graduate in arts of Victoria University.

The Prairie Province.

WINNIPEG, June 2.—The Northwest Ontario and Manitoba Lumber Association have agreed to continue the present price list with a slight advance in some dimensions.

The May customs returns show a falling off in imports and exports from May of last year.

Thomas Gilroy will be the Conservative candidate for Centre Winnipeg.

A new German paper is to be started here.

The first sod on the line of the Medicine Hat Railway, in which Toronto capitalists are interested, was turned yesterday.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE SUFFERING SOLDIER.

No Change in Gen. Sheridan's Condition He Rests Easily Through the Day.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—This bulletin was issued at 9.30 last night: The situation remains about the same. Through the day Gen. Sheridan's mind has been lucid. There has been no renewal of yesterday's attack, though there is but an incomplete recovery from its effects. No new unfavorable symptoms have developed. The unavoidable excitement connected with his promotion has had no bad effect. He has slept quietly through a great deal of the day.

Signed by the President.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The House and Senate have passed the Senate Bill to revive the rank of General of the Army, for the benefit of General Sheridan. The President has signed it, and the nomination will be made and confirmed at once.

The Commission Handed to the General.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Senators Hawley and Anderson drove up to Gen. Sheridan's residence with the commission which the President had just signed making him General of the Army. They were at once admitted and were soon joined by Mrs. Sheridan. As she entered the room Senator Hawley handed her the commission with the remark: "Madame, I hand you this with great pleasure." Mrs. Sheridan was much moved, and exclaimed: "I know he will now get well." She thanked the gentlemen with much earnestness, and, retiring, said that she would at once hand the commission to the General. He had previously been told that the bill making him a General had passed.

Trade During the Week.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's record no material improvement in the course of general trade during the week. The most encouraging feature is in the somewhat unexpected activity and development of miscellaneous industries in New England. The movement of dry goods at western cities is relatively more active than at eastern producing centres. Crop prospects have continued to improve in California, Kentucky and in Louisiana except for sugar, which has had too much rain. The distribution of lumber and of groceries at larger cities west and northwest has been noteworthy. The Decoration Day interruption to trade cut down the total transactions of the week somewhat, but the sales of other days were increased in consequence.

A lower range of iron prices is regarded probable before the close of June. Meanwhile the question of modifying schedules and rates of wages will come up. Very little enquiry is made for foreign material. Steel rail makers are not soliciting business and report no anxiety among builders to place orders. Western ore purchases are 65 per cent. behind what they were at this time last year.

The New England boot and shoe shops are fairly well employed on orders. Few buyers are now in the market, most of the orders for fall delivery having been placed.

Leather is moving slowly, with the general range of prices in favor of buyers. Wool is duller. Plain cottons are firm, some of them at an advance. Woolen goods are dull. Print cloths are encouragingly strong.

Rio coffee showed wide and frequent changes for futures, with serious depression in the later months.

The stock market is dull and depressed, bearish activity, based mainly on the unfavorable railroad situation in the northwest, aiding the downward movement of prices. The New York money market is easy.

The Treasury debt statement for May shows a decrease in the debt of over $4,000,000.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The business failures throughout the country during the last seven days number for the United States 186 and for Canada 19, a total of 205, as compared with 225 last week and 189 the week previous to the last. The failures for the corresponding week of last year numbered 150, made up of 125 in the United States and 25 in Canada.

The C. P. R. Loan.

LONDON, Eng., June 2.—The Canadian Pacific loan has had a most remarkable run. Thirty millions were applied for today, between nine and ten times the amount of the issue. Barings, therefore, closed the lists last night, though they must include the provincial and continental applications due to-day. The stock is now at 4¼ to 5 per cent. premium. This rush was quite expected, and the papers speak of the stock as cheap, seeing that Dominion 3½ per cent. stock is quoted at 106.

The Sky Land League.

LONDON, June 2.—The Skye Land League has passed a resolution declaring the Government emigration scheme to be a fraud, started with the view of pleasing the landlords, and stating that nothing will satisfy the demands of the crofters except restoration of the lands from which they have been evicted. They are determined to continue the agitation.

Russia Intriguing in Corea.

SHANGHAI, June 2.—Russian intrigues have been renewed in Corea with the object of inducing the King to sever the connection between Corea and China. The King resents the retention of the Chinese Resident at Zoul as interfering with his administration.

Awarded a Medal.

PARIS, June 2.—The grand medal of the Paris salon has been awarded to H. Mosler for "The White Captive," one of the three $25,000 paintings of American Indian life he was commissioned to paint for H. H. Warner of Rochester, N.Y.

The Art Exhibition at Munich.

MUNICH, June 2.—Prince Regent Luitpold opened the International Art Exhibition yesterday.

HONORED BY THE QUEEN.

CHIEF JUSTICE GALT AND PRESIDENT WILSON KNIGHTED.

List of the Birthday Honors Conferred—The Pope's Authority in Political Matters Denied by the Irish Bishops.

LONDON, June 2.—On the occasion of the celebration of the Queen's Birthday these honors will be conferred:

Mark Wilkes Callet, Governor of the Bank of England, baronetcy.

E. J. Jenkinson, formerly Assistant Under Secretary for Ireland, K.C.B.

James Monro, Assistant Commissioner of Police, C.B.; Mr. Caulfield of the Irish Office, C.B.

Charles Halle, Dr. Staintor and President Bruce of the Institute of Civil Engineers, Knights of the Bath of the Civil Division.

Chief Justice Galt of Ontario and President Wilson of the Toronto University, Knights.

The Imperial Parliament.

LONDON, June 2.—Parliament is again in session after its Whitsuntide holiday, but nothing exciting is expected before next week. Mr. Gladstone remains at Hawarden until Monday. Most members of the House of Commons are back in London, but racing and social attractions, not political business, are responsible for their presence. No Cabinet meeting will be held before Saturday, when the Ministers will have to make up their minds what to do about the licensing clause in the Local Government Bill. They cannot abandon them, and they cannot afford many Southamptons. Another election is near. Mr. Campbell's (Craigie) death makes a vacancy in the Ayrshire burghs where at the last election the Liberal-Unionist majority was nearly 1200. The Gladstonians think it not impossible to win this seat, and are going to try. No Unionist candidate can be found who has so many elements of personal strength as Mr. Campbell had.

The Parnellites are Satisfied.

LONDON, June 2.—The resolutions adopted by the Irish Catholic prelates touching the Pope's edict appear to satisfy the Nationalist organs. The leading Parnellite papers sum them up as a blessing on the Irish people and the National movement. The only Tory comment on them yet published here says that the resolutions will give more gratification to the members of the League than to its opponents. Rome is thought to have taken alarm at the passionate protests heard in Ireland against the Papal rescript. Not a word of the rescript is withdrawn. The bishops themselves affirm its authority, but they side with the League in denying its political effect.

THE EMPEROR AT POTSDAM.

The Royal Party is Enthusiastically Greeted by Large Crowds on its Voyage.

BERLIN, June 2.—The Emperor, after a long interview with Prince Bismarck, drove with the Empress in an open carriage to Grunenwald, returning at 6 o'clock. The Emperor had a good night, and accompanied by the Imperial family embarked on the yacht Alexandria, commanded by the Crown Prince, at 11 o'clock this morning for Potsdam. All water traffic was suspended during the voyage. The weather was showery and His Majesty retired to the cabin as soon as he got on board and remained there. The yacht was covered with flowers and enthusiastic crowds were at the locks. A great crowd greeted the yacht on her arrival at Spandau. There was much cheering and the bands played the national hymn. The Emperor appeared at the cabin window and bowed to the people and the Empress waved her handkerchief from the deck. The yacht reached Potsdam at 12.40 o'clock. There was no official reception. His Majesty was no worse for the trip.

The Emperor ascended the steps of the landing without assistance, accompanied by the Empress. He entered a closed carriage and was driven through the Vauener-Thor to Castle Friedrichsron. The Emperor looked very well and bowed repeatedly in response to the acclamations of the people.

The Trans-Caspian Railway.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2.—The Gazette says the completion of the Trans-Caspian Railway should improve the relations between England and Russia, and should convince the former of the expediency of ceasing political intrigue now that Russia possesses an ever-ready means of rejoinder through her proximity to India.

Yesterday was name-day of Grand Duke Alexis, and in his honor a new ironclad frigate was launched and the keel laid for a new Imperial yacht. The Queen of Greece and Imperial family were present. A squadron from Cronstadt, which had reached here by way of the new maritime canal, fired a salute.

Cleveland and Thurman.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Sheriff Grant and Fire Commissioner Croker have sent this telegram to Hon. A. G. Thurman: The Tammany Hall organization of New York City have instructed their delegates to the St. Louis National Convention to present your name to the convention for the Vice-Presidency. We feel assured that your patriotic sense of duty to the Democratic party and the country will not permit any feeling of reluctance to interfere with your acceptance of the nomination, and we cordially pledge New York to Cleveland and Thurman.

The U. S. Tariff.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—In the House yesterday Mr. Baker's (N.Y.) tariff amendment to exclude Canadian goods from the free list wherever the Government of that country imposes a duty on American goods of similar nature was rejected, and the committee concluded its consideration of the first paragraph of the tariff bill—five lines—and the clerk read the second paragraph.

"Timber hewn and sawed, and timber used for spars and in building wharves."

WE ARE GLAD

Because we are able to make all of our customers glad. Our prices and our goods are appreciated by the public. This week we are in a position to sell you

The Daily Review.

SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1888.

A DIVISION IN THE CAMP.

It has been remarked that although the Liberal party professes to admire the resolutions adopted by the conference at Quebec, the party leaders did not invite the Dominion Parliament to give them the weight of their approval. If the Provincial Legislatures and the Dominion Parliament approved of them, it is altogether probable that Imperial legislation could be obtained giving them effect; and it is, on the other hand, improbable that the Imperial Parliament will take any action regarding them until the Dominion Parliament asks for the changes. Yet the Liberal party did not ask the House of Commons and Senate to vote upon them.

Perhaps one reason for the omission is that the Liberal party is itself divided as to the wisdom of the proposed changes. The Montreal Herald, the Liberal organ in the commercial metropolis, and the personal organ of the Hon. Peter Mitchell, states that it is opposed to the principle of two of the resolutions. And the present leader of the party in Dominion politics, the Hon. W. Laurier, in a speech last summer used the following language:—

"There is another question which also demands consideration. I refer to the system of provincial subsidies, which has always been a source of discontent. My own opinion is that the present method is a dangerous one, and I do not hesitate to say that I am entirely opposed to provincial subsidies. I believe that the Federal Government should leave to the several provinces sufficient sources of revenue. The principle of provincial subsidies is both false and injurious."

Soon after the speech was delivered Mr. Mercier, Mr. Mowat and other liberals met in Quebec and adopted their platform. Did they propose the abolition of the system of provincial subsidies? Not at all. They only asked that the subsidies be rearranged and increased. Is it any wonder, then, that Mr. Laurier did not desire to move for the endorsation of the resolutions? And was Sir Richard Cartwright's approving reference to the resolutions intended as a snub for his psuedo leader? Before the Liberal party as a whole can unite on these resolutions Mr. Laurier must swallow the brave words he spoke at Somerset.

MR. FOSTER must feel immensely flattered when he reads in the Tory papers that he is only made Finance Minister because Mr. Thomas White died.—Ottawa Free Press.

Which leads to the enquiry, Who should feel most flattered, Mr. Mackenzie who was rewoved from the Liberal leadership, Mr. Blake who was selected to supplant Mr. Mackenzie, or Mr. Laurier who was appointed leader because Mr. Blake refused to hold the post and who is expected to give it up if Mr. Blake wishes to return to it?

THE Hon. C. H. Tupper, the youngest Cabinet Minister, will be thirty-three years old in August. Sir John Macdonald was a few months younger than Mr. Tupper is when he first became a Minister. Mr. Laurier was thirty-six years of age when he entered Mr. Mackenzie's Cabinet.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all Druggists.

LINDSAY.

FIRE.—Mr. David Blevins, of Lot 29, Con. 4, Ops, lost his dwelling house and part of the contents, on Wednesday last. The fire had made considerable headway before being noticed, so only about half of the furniture was saved. Mr. Blevins loses a considerable amount.—Warder.

SALE OF POLLED-ANGUS CATTLE.—The auction sale of Mr. M. M. Boyd's herd of Polled-Angus cattle at Dexter Park, Chicago, on the 23rd of May, was an unparalleled success. There was a large gathering of stockmen from all the Western States, and bidding was so keen and spirited that the stock went off in four hours and a half though two days had been arranged for. Each animal went off in four minutes or less, and did not take more than two rounds of the ring. Mr. Davidson, the stock-manager, and his staff of assistants, had to hustle to bring the cattle out in time for the auctioneer. Following is a summary of the sale:

28 cows and heifers aged two years old and over sold for $11,355, or at an average of	$412
6 one year old heifers for $1,690, averaging	281
6 heifer calves for $1,535	256
3 doubtful breeders $665	221
19 bulls and bull calves $4,455	234
62 head of both sexes and all ages from 6 months to 12 years old, $19,880, averaging	320

CHURCHED IMPROVED.—The improvements commenced in St. Andrew's church about a month ago, taking the shape of new galleries in the church proper and [illegible] the Sunday school-building adjoining as well as a complete course of kalsomining and repainting, are now completed, and the building will be re-opened for divine worship on Sunday, June 3rd.—Post.

OMEMEE.

A NEW MILL.—We understand that a pushing and energetic gentleman of Omemee is agitating for the formation of a joint stock company for the purpose of erecting a large roller grist mill in this village. We hope to see his scheme successfully carried, and that our capitalists will not stand aloof, but enter heartily into the enterprise.

ARM BROKEN.—On Wednesday last a row was commenced at the school between Walter Mulligan and Thomas Rowan, two school boys, which resulted in the latter having his left arm broken. After the fight at the school Mulligan followed Rowan to the mill where he threw him against a saw log with such force as to inflict the above severe and painful injury. This should prove a warning to the boys not "to let their angry passions rise."—Herald.

NARROW ESCAPE.—On Wednesday afternoon, as the two o'clock train was approaching Drummond's station, a man was observed on the track a short distance ahead quite heedless of the east bound train which was going at a rapid rate. The engine driver whistled but did not appear to disturb the intoxicated man who was in great danger. He happened to stagger a little to one side and tumbled over the embankment, which saved his life. A warning for those that are walking on the railroad to be on the lookout for the trains as they are not supposed to stop.

CAMPBELLFORD.

ACCIDENT.—The Herald says that on Tuesday evening a little son of Mr James Beattie was severely injured by falling off a waggon on which he had climbed. His head fell through the spokes of the hind wheel and he was carried around once and wedged in against the waggon. He was taken out insensible. The physicians hold out hopes of his recovery.

REMAINS OF AN INFANT FOUND.—On Sunday the remains of a male infant about five days old were found in a small box in the cemetery. It had lain exposed where it was found since the snow went away. It was learned whence it had come and who had deposited it there. It was an illigetimate child and a relative of the mother placed it where it was found.

Backache, stitches in the side, inflation and soreness of the bowels, are symptoms of a disordered state of the digestive and assimilative organs, which can be corrected by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

REVIEWS.

ST. NICHOLAS.—The June number of this beautiful magazine for the young folk brings with it a summer flavor. Of the twenty-six subjects dealt with it is difficult to pronounce which is the best, all are so delightfully handled. Almost every page has its illustration, brightening up the text and gracing the flow of thought in incident and action. "Dogs of Noted Americans" will be read with interest by the boy who is fortunate to get St. Nicholas; "Two Little Confederates," will find hosts of readers with both sexes; while "A Great Show" is a modern re-production of a piece of Roman life that is as telling as a whole book of history. St. Nicholas is crammed to the covers with good things. The Century Company, Publishers, New York.

HARPERS' MAGAZINE.—Fresh as usual comes Harpers' for June. The literary bill of fare is varied and particularly interesting. The initial article is a continuation of "London as a Literary Centre," and treats in interesting vein of the popular English novelists of the day. "Sketches in Capri," is a delightful account of that wonderful island. "The Central State" is thoroughly American in its treatment of the resources and progress of Kansas State. "In Far Lochaber," is continued by William Black, while W. D. Howells contributes the opening chapters of a new novel, in his well known style. Among the illustrated articles are "Impressions in Burmese and Saddle," and "Surpliced Choirs in New York," the latter of great interest to those who are curious as to the development of the Episcopal church service in New York. Other departments of this number are well attended to, making one of special merit, among many so invariably good issued during the year. Harper Bros., Publishers, New York.

ALL OLD VALUES BLOWN OUT OF SIGHT!

PRICES OF SIX WEEKS AGO SPLIT TO SPLINTERS.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.75 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do), Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need; that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

Revised Statutes.

As some of our J. P's. have been wondering why their copies of the Revised Statutes have not yet come to hand, the following from the Globe may enlighten them:—"Owing to the impossibility of procuring from the printers and binders a sufficient number of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1887, to immediately supply all public functionaries and magistrates, a return has been obtained by the Ontario Government showing from the returns of convictions made to the clerks of the peace the names of the magistrates in each locality who have acted as such during the past year. Copies of the statutes will be forwarded to these magistrates first, and as soon thereafter as a sufficient supply can be obtained every magistrate will be furnished with a copy."

Haliburton Registrarship.

The office of registrar of deeds for the provisional County of Haliburton, rendered vacant by the resignation of Mr. Frederick Mooney, has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Ephraim C. Young, of Haliburton, an Order in Council to that effect having been passed by the Ontario Government and signed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

The Same in Toronto.

We observe by the Toronto papers that the bands in that city are annoyed by the noise of the omnipresent small boy, the same as our own musical organization is, during the progress of free open air concerts, and the papers call on the police to put a stop to it. We would suggest to the chief constable that on Tuesday next, he stations an officer close to the stand, whose duty it will be to keep people at least twenty feet away.

Military Changes.

The Canada Gazette of to-day contains the following announcements regarding the city battalion:—"57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers, No. 3 company, Peterborough.—To be Captain, Lieut. W. R. Hill, vice G. C. Rogers, deceased. To be 2nd Lieut., provisionally, Sergeant A. E. Dixon, vice Peck, appointed quartermaster. To be quartermaster, Edward Armour Peck, vice Millar, appointed Captain No. 5 company." It is understood that Lieut. Dixon should have been gazetted to No. 4.

Buying Fur.

The Bobcaygeon Independent's Haliburton correspondent says: "The fur trappers assembled here than usual on the 24th, and fur to the value of between $200 and $300 changed hands. There were seven buyers in the field, including Mr. Lech from Peterborough. The prices were good. Mr. Young, from Toronto, by his biddings considerably raised the price, Hiram Sawyer made the best hunt, bringing in nearly $300 worth of fur. Boyce made nearly as much. It is fine for our village having the fur market here, as it causes the distribution of a considerable sum of money during the year."

Masonic Notes.

At the regular meeting of Peterborough Masonic Lodge, held on Friday evening, the committee appointed to arrange for the observance of St. John's Day, June 24th, by the members of the fraternity attending divine service in a body, reported. It was decided, after reception of the report, that an invitation should be extended to Bro. Rev. M. L. Pearson, of Lindsay, to preach on the occasion, or failing to secure Rev. Mr. Pearson, that an invitation be sent to a rev. bro. at Hamilton.

It is proposed to hold on the evening of June 25th a strawberry festival in the Masonic Hall, to which members of the Order and their families will be invited.

At the close of the work at Peterborough Lodge, on Friday night, R. W. Bro. B. Shortly, D.D. G. M., for the Masonic year now drawing to a close, addressed the Lodge, and briefly reviewed the work he had engaged in since taking up the duties of office. He gave a short but interesting summary of the membership and standing of the various Lodges in the district and made some comment on matters suggested by what he had observed. R. W. Bro. Shortly was applauded at the close of his remarks, and well deserved the compliment implied in a cordial reception of his remarks. As the D. D. G. M. he has been zealous and attentive and at great personal inconvenience has filled the most ably the onerous and trying position.

On the Pacific Coast.

A private letter from Vancouver, British Columbia, says that the city and country are overrun with mechanics, clerks, etc., and that wages are low. Personal.

The Calgary Herald of May 25th says:—"Mrs. H. C. and Miss Rogers, wife and daughter of Col. H. C. Rogers, of Peterborough, Ont., are visiting at Mr. E. R. Rogers'. These ladies have made a very extended tour in the States, taking in Denver, Col., Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, travelling by many different lines of railway. They have now come from Vancouver by the C. P. R. They state that in all their travels they have nowhere met with as good accommodation, attention and civility as on the Canadian Pacific Railway."

Salvationist Funeral.

The funeral of the late John Parker, of Union-st., took place on Friday afternoon. Deceased was a member of the Salvation Army and the obsequies were conducted according to the rites of that body. The coffin was borne on the shoulders of four men, who were in turn relieved by four others until the Little Lake Cemetery was reached. The procession was headed by the band, the drum being covered with white cotton, while each member of the army, male and female, wore a similar covered badge on their arms.

Annual Service.

The Toronto Globe says:—"Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, of Peterborough, preached the sermon at the annual service at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Toronto, on Thursday evening in connection with the Girl's Friendly Society. Taking as his text Galatians vi., 11, 'Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfil the law of Christ,' he preached a practical, eloquent sermon, showing the necessity of sympathy and Christian charity among all classes. The burden of the discourse was to show that the work of the society required the exercise of sympathy and humility."

Fine Workmanship.

Fire at Centreville.

The shop of Mr. Ball, at Centreville, South Monaghan, was totally destroyed by fire this morning. The flames were first observed about one o'clock and in a short time everything was in ashes. Mr. Ball in addition to keeping a general store was also postmaster. When it was first seen the fire had the mastery and everything was in a blaze. The cause is a mystery, but incendiarism is ascribed as the cause. The loss is estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000 and the insurance, if any, is not known. Mr. Ball has been rather unfortunate of late, as it is only a few weeks since his store was burglarized and a large quantity of valuable goods carried away.

Services To-morrow.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a. m. the second at 8 a. m., and the third at 10.30 a. m. Vespers at 7 p. m.

ST. LUKE'S (Ashburnham).—Holy Communion, Morning Prayer, and Sermon at 11 a. m.; Evening Prayer and Sermon at 7 p. m. All seats free.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.—The regular services will be conducted as follows:—Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and sermon at 11 a.m.; Evening Prayer and sermon at 7 p.m.

ST. PAUL'S.—The usual services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The Rev. E. F. Torrence, M. A. pastor.

BAPTIST CHURCH, Murray-St.—Services at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. The Rev. P. Clifton Parker, pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH, Charlotte-St.—The Rev. I. Tovell will preach at 11 a. m. and at 7 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH, George-st.—Regular services conducted by the pastor, the Rev. S. J. Thompson, at 11 a. m. and 7 p.m.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The usual services will be conducted in the morning and evening. The Rev. Alex. Bell, pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH, Mark-st. (Ashburnham.) Services by the Rev. J. C. Wilson. At 10 a. m. monthly prayer meeting. At 11 a. m., public service, subject, "The Name." Evening subject, "The Salvation."

A Good Suggestion.

It has been mentioned that the Masonic body of Peterborough should make an effort at the approaching convention of the Grand Lodge of Canada, which meets at Toronto next month, to hold the annual meeting of 1889 at Peterborough. Who will act in this suggestion? It can be accomplished if the effort is made in a hearty manner.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate
FOR IMPAIRED VITALITY.

Dr. F. SKILLEM, Pulaski, Tenn., says: "I think it is a reliable medicine for impaired vitality."

Pushing Ahead.

Mr. John Carlisle has disposed of over fifty lots of the Ludgate Hill property and a large number of houses will be put up in that vicinity during the coming summer. The streets and public park have been laid out and the village Council of Ashburnham will commence at an early date to lay down sidewalks. When the contemplated improvements are finished this place will be one of the finest pleasure resorts in this section of the country.

Settled.

The dispute between the G.T.R. and the P.R.E.I. Co., regarding the strip of land along the present railway track, wanted for the purposes of extending the line to Chemong Lake, has been settled, the railway company having purchased the whole property, house and all. The price paid is private. We also understand that Mr. John Cheer, roadmaster of the G.T.R., has since purchased the house.

The Market.

The market to-day was one of the largest, if not the largest, of the season, and Clerk Doherty had his hands full in collecting toll. Produce of all kinds was on the square in profusion and good prices were realized. The supply of butter and eggs was large. The same may be said of meat, such as mutton, veal and lamb. Potatoes are yet in great demand and a good article in that line was readily sold at $1.25 per bag. Prices show no charge worth mentioning from previous quotations.

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. Mott, Brentwood, Cal., writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Phthisis, Scrofula and Wasting Diseases. It is very palatable. Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Brevities.

—The Court of Revision meets on Monday evening next.

—The Police Court docket this morning was without a case of any kind.

—Mr. Miller, of the Inland Revenue Department, Port Hope, is in town to-day.

—Mr. W. T. Dockrill, Travelling Passenger Agent of the Canadian Pacific, is in town.

—A sawmill at Springbrook was destroyed by fire on the 24th of May. Loss about $2,000.

—Trinity College School cricket want a date with the Peterborough second eleven.

—The long beds at the Horticultural Park are being planted. When finished they will look really fine.

—Mr. J. J. Turner is extending business northwards. He has recently put up some fine awnings at Midland.

—The Rev. I. Tovell will address the Gospel Temperance meeting in the W. C. T. U. Hall, to-morrow, at 4 p. m.

—The boating club delegation for Ottawa, re C. P. R. siding, will leave on Monday night.

—It is probable that a meeting of the Town Council will take place on Monday night.

—The full force of men started work on the Chemiong Lake Railway this morning, but the rain put a stop to the operations.

—Young men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-night at 8 o'clock. Bible class to-morrow afternoon and and service of song at 8.30 in the evening.

—Mr. Wm. Dee, operator at the C. P. R. uptown office, is at home, in Toronto, suffering from a slight touch of malarial fever.

AGAIN, CLOTHING!

Fathers and Sons are alike interested in the subject of New Clothes, and the approach of summer hastens preparations for bodily comfort.

Our stock of Cloths affords scope for gratifying any fancy, as to fabrics, color or price. We have some especially neat things in Scotch and Canadian Tweeds.

Our suit stock defies description. Such variety in pattern and cut as we offer includes every one's want—man or boy. Prices high enough to ensure trusty clothes, low enough to meet all requirements.

Where else do you find better proposals?

Accidental Death.

The Port Hope Guide says:—"Mr. Jos. Thorne, one of the oldest residents of the township of Cavan, while driving home from Millbrook on Tuesday last, accidentally fell out of his wagon, and a truck passed over him, resulting in such injuries as caused his death on Thurdday. The deceased was in the sixtieth year of his age."

—Superintendent Kelly, of the Little Lake Cemetery, invites the public to pay him a visit and see this beautiful resting place of the dead at its best.

—The wind of Friday did considerable damage throughout the country, in the way of blowing down trees and fences. Some shade trees in town were also uprooted.

—At a meeting of the Orillia Imperial Federation League on June 8th, at 20 o'clock, an address will be delivered by the Rev. Wm. Galbraith, LL., B., a native of North Monaghan.

—A couple of Scott Act cases, a larceny case, a charge of disorderly, a charge of illegal fishing and a charge of furious riding across a bridge are among the cases that will come before the Police Magistrate on Monday morning.

—Mr. Geo. Woods, now a resident of Uncle Sam's domains, but who has many friends in this vicinity, has been up north fishing and according to the Port Hope Times he caught fifty speckeled trout, weighing from one to two pounds. George always could tell a good story, particularly one relating to fish.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief, and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use, and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c.

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"And we are glad to see you."

"Can ye cook?" was his next question.

"Well, not much."

"You see, my dear sir," cried Mme. Debrisay, "the dear child has not much opportunity of learning; but she has a natural apttitude which I endeavor to cultivate."

"That's right; every woman ought to cook. Ye see, that's their natural work, that and doctoring—I don't mean prescribing medicine, but seeing to its being swallowed."

By this time dinner had been placed on the table, and Uncle Sandy appreciated a fried sole, some boiled fowl with white sauce, and a "chouiteur au gratin," prepared by Mme. Debrisay's own and still pretty hands.

When he had had enough, he pushed away his plate, and glancing at Mme. Debrisay and Mona, who had been quietly waiting for him, returned thanks at some length, and then—very deliberately took a vial from his pocket, dropped a certain quantity into a glass, added water, and drank it.

"Ah!" he said, "I have had a good dinner, which is conducive to digestion. Now, Mona, what is the meaning of that bit card in the window—is it to say the rooms are to let?"

"They are, uncle."

"Then, if they are not too costly, I will take them. Noo, I'll give a—I don't mind, twenty-five shillin' a week, for the twa rooms."

"Let us see Mrs. Puddiford," quoth Mme. Debrisay.

Whereupon a long discussion arose. Mr. Craig had no objection to be a monthly tenant.

"I have let my wee place for two years," he said, "and I can bide better here than elsewhere."

So after some haggling, for he would not hear of looking elsewhere, he became Mrs. Puddiford's tenant from the following Monday at the large rent of five pounds ten per month.

CHAPTER X.—A HIGHLAND LADDIE.

Early in the forenoon of the day on which his week in the Camden Town lodgings ended, he appeared at Westbourne Villas with all his effects.

It was a curious collection—a battered leather portmanteau, a couple of cushions strapped on top of it, a tin box bursting with the number of medicine bottles, lotions, and embrocations crammed into it; a large, untidy parcel of books, tied with many pieces of twine knotted together; and one inexplicable item—a large, wide-mouthed, brown earthen jar, a square of canvas fastened carefully over the orifice. These—a spare umbrella and two walking-sticks of different thickness—were carefully transferred to his apartments.

Mona and madame had endeavored to make them look neat and cheerful, had contributed some flowers and a growing fern to the decoration of the sitting-room, and flattered themselves that Mr. Craig would be charmed with the attention.

"Ah!" he groaned—a guttural "ah"—dropping into a chair as soon as he had mounted to his rooms. "It's an awfu' way up! I was better on the ground-floor in yon house."

"Oh, I hope you won't regret the change!" said Mme. Debrisay, politely. "You will not want to go up or down stairs much; and you see the folding doors to your chambre a coucher make it nice and airy."

"To my what!" asked Uncle Sandy. "I dinna understand foreign languages."

"Your bed-room. You see, my dear sir, I am half French, and the language I have been so long accustomed to slips out now and then."

Uncle Sandy gave an inarticulate grunt in reply to this explanation.

"Would you like any refreshment?" asked Mme. Debrisay.

"Weel, I might take a biscuit and a glass of apollonaris water."

"Water alone, my dear sir? Will you not put something in to qualify it?"

"I am a temperance man, you see; but the doctors say I ought to take a drap whisky for my stomach's sake."

"I am so sorry! but we have not such a thing in the house! I will send Jane for some"

"London whisky!" cried Uncle Sandy, very audibly; adding, with pious earnestness, "God forbid!" Then rising, he clutched Mona's arm with one hand and his stick with the other. "I have a drappie in my portmantie, and I'll just get it."

"Can I get it for you, uncle?"

"Naw!" very decidedly. "I never give my keys to anyone!"

With many groans he bent his knees, leaning heavily on Mona—for the portmanteau had been placed on the floor—and managed to unlock it. Mona had stepped back as soon as he let her go, lest he should think her inquisitive; but the heavy lid was too much for him.

"Why don't ye give me a han'?" he asked querulously.

Mona came to his assistance, and the exceedingly mixed contents of the portmanteau were displayed to view.

Uncle Sandy pitched out trousers and waistcoats and socks recklessly till he reached the layer where the whisky-bottle was embedded; he handed it to his niece, and, having thrust his garments in again, locked the receptacle; and, rising with the help of Madame and Mona, tumbled into his chair again, with many exclamations of pain. The desired refreshment was diluted, and then Mona proposed that he dine, and then the newspaper, and rest till

"Ay!" saithe newspaper, and rest till

I am just awfu' [illegible] sandy, "that'll do fine. Are ye going to give me a bite the day, as there is nothing prepar't?"

"Certainly!" said Mona.

"It was our intention to beg the pleasure of your company," said Mme. Debrisay.

"Then I'll come. It's a pity I have to gang doon-stairs; but it canna be helpit!"

From the date of Uncle Sandy's settlement the partners felt that the freedom of their holiday was over. He unhesitatingly claimed constant help and attention. Moreover, he cavilled at the price paid for everything they bought; and many were the commissions he gave both.

Still Mme. Debrisay clung to the idea that he was a millionaire, though she carefully kept her impression to herself.

In brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

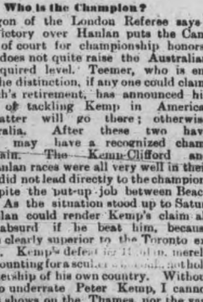
Who is the Champion?



Tendrogon of the London Referee says: Kemp's victory over Hanlan puts the Canadian out of court for championship honors, though it does not quite raise the Australian to the required level. Teemer, who is entitled to the distinction, if any one could claim it on Beech's retirement, has announced his intention of tackling Kemp in America, if the latter will go there; otherwise in Australia. After these two have met we may have a recognized champion again. The—Kemp-Clifford and Kemp-Hanlan races were all very well in their way, but did not lead directly to the championship, despite the put-up job between Beach and pal. As the situation stood up to Saturday, Hanlan could render Kemp's claim altogether absurd if he beat him, because Teemer is clearly superior to the Toronto ex-champion. Kemp's defeat by Hanlan merely meant accounting for a sculler—a certain method the premiership of his own country. Without wishing to underrate Peter Kemp, I cannot forget his shows on the Thames, nor the vast difference there is between Hanlan the undefeated champion and Hanlan as he has been since Beach first took him down. E. H. has done almost as well out of defeats as he used while all-conquering, and this ability to make a good thing by losing does not improve the morality of boat-racing. Kemp may be the wondrous flyer represented, and this race all fair and square, but, judging by what is known or this side, I should not be surprised to hear that once more Hanlan's little store had been substantially increased by means of a reverse.

A STABBING AFFRAY.

The Victim an Italian Living at Charlottetown, P.E.I.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., June 2.—A stabbing affray occurred here yesterday, in which an Italian named Jacques was killed by his cousin. The two men got into a quarrel in the house where they live, and one drew a knife and stabbed the other in the right breast, the weapon penetrating the lung. Jacques started for the street, fell at the threshold, and in ten minutes was a corpse. The murderer, who hung round the place till evening, has been arrested. He is quite unconcerned about the affair.

Some Things to Say

IF there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods, We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line '80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1.25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

PROBABLE CANDIDATES.

LIKELY TO BE PUT FORWARD BY THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The Thunderer Discusses Blaine's Letter—The Real British Interest in the question of Free Trade.

LONDON, June 4.—MR. Blaine's letter to Mr. Reid, cabled here in full, is much discussed, but with none too much knowledge of the situation. Once more it is seen that the real British interest in the Presidental elections is in the question of Free Trade. The Times, for example, treats Mr. Blaine individually with respect, saying that his attitude does him honor, and that his self-denying decision he continues to be the most powerful Republican manager and individually the most conspicious American politician in existence. He is thought to be all the stronger for refusing to stand. But the moment the question of Protection is reached the Briton puts his head down. American Democrats are assured that they could easily refute the extraordinary sophisms by which Mr. Blaine in his Paris letter endeavors to blast Free trade. He is attacked for contrasting the condition of America, prospering under Protection, with that of Europe, poverty-stricken by Free Trade. He talks, says this writer, as if he was wholly ignorant that Free Trade in Europe is the exception and Protection the rule.

Yet the letter of this ignorant man, who in fact has the whole literature of the Free Trade controversy at his fingers' ends, is described as an epoch in the personal history of the Presidental conflict, and as showing the direction the contest will take.

The Democratic Convention.

ST. LOUIS, June 4.—The work of the Democratic convention promises to be short. All the probabilities point to the nomination of Cleveland and Thurman as the ticket, and the platform, embracing the principles of the Presidents message, is understood to have been already written. Of course, the friends of Gray insist that the Thurman boom is all sentiment, that every practical politician will be for Gray, while the dreamers, will be for Thurman; but a large majority of delegates here at this time are dreamers. The President's re-nomination will be by acclamation and quite likely also that of Thurman.

THIRSTING FOR BLOOD

Horrible Scenes at a Lynching in Wisconsin on Saturday.

VIROQUA, WIS., June 4.—Late Saturday night 1,000 determined men surrounded the jail where Andrew Grandstaff, the murderer of Reuben Drake, his wife and two grandchildren, was confined, but the authorities, refused to give up the prisoner. The barricades were then broken down and the officers overpowered. An hour was spent in breaking down the steel cage, and then the prisoner fought with desperate efforts against the mob that sought to enter. The struggle did not last long and he was taken out bound hand and foot, dragged to the poarch below and there preparations were made to hang him. A rope was placed around his neck and the prisoner was asked what he had to say. He protested his innocence, but it was known that he had made a full confession in the afternoon and he was not believed. The scene at the jail was horrible. The prisoner was covered with blood, having been terribly mangled while the steel cage was being battered down. Grandstaff pleaded strongly for his life, but in vain, and at 12.45 a.m. the mob hung him to a tree in front of the Court-house and let him down to see if he would confess. After a second elevation to the court-house oak, Grandstaf made a statement to the effect that he and Frank and Elisha Carri had the murder concocted, and that the two latter had the deed accomplished before he arrived at the house. His statement was not believed. Grandstaff hung ten or eleven minutes before life was extinct. His remains were not cut down until morning.

GONE ACROSS THE BORDER.

Uncle Sam Asked to Provide for the Cree Indians who have Fled.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Speaker laid before the House a communication ftom the Secretary of the Interior containing a request from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs that a band of Cree Indians now located at Fort Assinaboine, M.T., be allowed to come to Fort Belknap Agency, M.T., for settlement. In October, 1885, Information was received that these Indians, numbering 187 souls, crossed the international boundary line and were located near the Fort Belknap Agency, M.T. They had in their possession property, the character of which clearly indicated that they had been engaged in the Riel rebellion.

The Secretary suggests that authority be granted to place these Indians on the lands of some of our own Indians, or that a small reservation be set apart for their benefit, and recommends an appropriation of $5,000 to relieve any destitution which may exist among them during the next fiscal year.

The Weekly Weather Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The weekly weather crop bulletin says: During the week ending June 2 the temperature differed but slightly from the normal in the Middle and South Atlantic States, the East Gulf States, and the Upper Ohio Valley, while it was a cold week in the Central Valley and New England. In the grain regions of the north the average temperature was from 3° to 9° lower than usual. The season from Jan. 1 to June 2 remains backward throughout the Northern States, the greatest departures from the normal being in Minnesota and the adjoining States.

THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

A Day Spent in Debating a Matter Involving $3.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—As soon as routine matters had been disposed of on Saturday, the House went into committee of the whole on the Tariff Bill. The amendment under consideration was to strike from the free list timber hewn and sawed, and timber used for spars and wharves.

Mr. Randall (Dem., Pa.), said that it should be the object of the House to fix the tariff at a rate just high enough to cover the difference in wages of lumbermen in this country and Canada, and he hoped that the duty would be fixed as in his bill at fifteen per cent., advalorem. Mr. Randall said that the consumer of lumber would not benefit by the bill, and wages would be reduced to the Canadian standard.

A division was then had on Mr. Struble's amendment, to strike out the paragraph, and it was rejected 100 to 66.

Mr. Randall then moved to strike out the paragraph and insert "timber, not further manufastured than hewn, squared and sided," but this amendment was rejected without a division and the second paragraph of the bill—"timber squared and sided"—was read.

The committee rose to limit debate to ten minutes. Mr. Mill reminded the House that it had spent the day in the consideration of a paragraph that represented values in the bill to the amount of $3. Yesterday's debate involved $198. Finally a compromise was reached on forty minutes' debate, and the House again went into committee of the whole.

Mr. Dockery (Dem., Mo.) declared that the explanation of the failure of lumbermen's wages to increase lay in the fact that 90 per cent. of the workingmen were Canadians.

Mr. Guenther (Rep., Wis.), predicted that the Democratic party, if it passed this bill, would go to that place paved with good intentions, where every limb and knot of timber would be used, not to raise the revenue, but to raise the temperature to at least 60 degrees above zero. [Laughter.]

Debate on the pending paragraph expiring, the amendment to strike it out was rejected 101 to 61.

The third paragraph in the bill, "wood manufactured not specially enumerated or provided for," was then read and taken up for consideration.

Mr. Bayne (Rep., P.), moved to strike it out. After some debate the committee rose, leaving Mr. Bayne's amendment pending, and the House adjourned.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

The Amount Spent in the Undertaking and What is Wanted to Complete it.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Engineering News publishes the "Actual Status of the Panama Canal," giving the results of a recent expert examination of the canal and accompanied by a progress profile, showing the amount of work done and undone to Jan. 1 of the present year. The profile shows that the only work which is anywhere near completion is about eleven miles of dredging on the Atlantic end and about a mile at the Pacific end. On the remainder of the work the proportion done is very small in comparison with that undone.

The total amount of cash actually expended up to the present date is $177,910,000, represented by $351,150,000 of securities. The amount necessary to be raised to complete the canal is estimated by the Engineering News at a minimum of $230,000,000, which would be represented by at least $300,000,000 of new securities. The article declares that the progress profile makes it evident that not one-tenth of the work has been done nor one-twentieth of the money yet been spent, which would be required to open a sea level canal, which De Lesseps declared last November would be open February, 1890.

AGITATING FOR REPEAL.

A Fatal Accident in a Cabinet Factory—A Deadly Drought.

OSHAWA, June 4.—A petition is being largely signed here for the repeal of the Scott Act in the County of Ontario, among the petitioners being many who have been prominent temperance advocates for the past twenty-five years.

Matthew Manuel, an employe in Heap's cabinet factory here, was hit in the groin by a board which flew from a planing machine which he was operating. He died from the effects of the injury at 7 o'clock to-night. Deceased was about 54 years of age, and leaves a widow with eight children and one married daughter.

A Disputed Gold Find.

BURK'S FALLS, June 4.—For some weeks past the people here have been somewhat excited over reported "gold finds." In the township of McKenzie, about five miles from the village of Dunchurch, a very rich vein has been discovered, and two assays have been made by Toronto assayers, and the result has been even more satisfactory than was expected, as the specimens assayed were taken from the surface without any attention being paid to the quality. One of the assayers is reported to have said that there should be no difficulty in working such a mine with good financial results. The vein has been traced for two miles, is twelve inches in width on surface, increasing its width as the blasting is proceeded with. Experienced miners have been engaged for some days in sinking a shaft, and when only two feet from the surface a nugget of pure gold weighing six ounces was found, while the quartz in many places shows its richness in the yellow metal.

Lost Their Lives Through Disobedience.

MACKEY'S STATION, Ont., June 4.—Six men in the employ of Bierce & Co. of Ottawa, attempted to run the rapids of Milleroche, at the head of Lake Traverse on Petewawa River, against the orders of their foreman. The boat swung around in the current and upset, drowning Cleaphas Theoret of Point Claire; Hyscinthe Mallet, of Buck, Ingham; and Denns Beudry of Papeneauville.

THE BISHOPS TO THE POPE

THEY SUGGEST THAT HIS HOLINESS HAS BEEN MISINFORMED.

They do not Question his Right to Interfere in Matters of Morality—The Pope's Official Words.

LONDON, June 4.—The document of the Irish bishops, which has reached Rome, admits the right of the Holy See to interfere in matters of morality. The plan of campaign and boycotting, therefore, come under the jurisdiction of the rescript which they receive with reverence. The Bishops are constrained to remark, however, that the Holy See has not been correctly informed in regard to the acts condemned by the rescript, and that the circumstances which gave rise to those acts as a means of legitimate resistance ought to be considered. The document adduces a number of statistical data to prove that the disputes between the landlords and the tenants have a political character, and have nothing to do with matters of morals and religion. It concludes with renewed expressions of devotion and respect for the decisions of the Holy See It is now reported that Mgr. Persico, the Papal envoy, was opposed to the publication of the rescript as inopportune.

The Rome correspondent of the London Daily News, learns that the Pope, through English bishops, has repeatedly asked the British Government to mitigate the rigour of its measures in Ireland.

The Pope's Official Words.

ROME, June 4.—The Pope corrected the proof of the authorized publication of his allocution delivered at the consistory. After condemning the provisions affecting the clergy in the new Italian code, His Holiness says: "What causes us the greatest pain is the desire manifested to maintain at all hazards the conflict between the papacy and Italy which we, from love of church and country, declare that we wish to terminate. The desire displayed by the states to war against the church is folly, and is hurtful to all, especially to Italy."

The Meeting at Cork.

CORK, June 4.—Another meeting was held in the city park here yesterday to take action with reference to the Papal rescript. The meeting endorsed the resolutions adopted by the Irish Bishops at their recent meeting in Dublin. Wm. O'Brien in a speech said that the people had the support of the bishops. The leaders of the Irish movement, he said, wished to drop the present agitation, but they would continue it if necessary.

Explosion of a Naptha Tank.

OMAHA, Neb., June 4.—A naptha tank in the northern part of the city exploded Saturday and hurled Wm. Kelly, and John Christy high in the air. Kelly was instantly killed, and Christy was fatally injured. The two men were tinners and were repairing a leak in the tank, which was nearly empty. There was a large quantity of gas in it, however, and this ignited from the charcoal stove used by the men for heating irons.

THE IRON INDUSTRY.

THERE can be no doubt that the iron industry is one of the most important to Canada, as it is to any country adapted for its development, and it is satisfactory to know that it is growing in this country. The Messrs. Rathburn, the enterprising lumbering firm, have decided to begin the manufacture of charcoal iron at Deseronto and a company is being organized in Toronto to make coke iron. Mr. Samuel D. Mills, who is engaged in the Toronto enterprise, in a letter published a few days ago quoted the trade returns to show that there was a sufficient market for iron in Canada to warrant the enterprise, and also demonstrated that there was suitable ore in large quantities. "Our mine owners are meanwhile," says Mr. Mills, "with laudable energy endeavoring to push the sale of Canadian iron ore in the United States, or in other words, trying to sell the hide for sixpence in order that we may be able to buy back the tail for a shilling." Every patriotic Canadian hopes that this state of affairs will not long continue and that the manufacture of iron from the ore will be carried on in Canada so that the country will supply itself. In a second letter the same gentleman says:—

"The city of Hamilton alone would consume two-thirds of the output of a 70-ton blast furnace; the city of Toronto consumes nearly 30 tons per day, besides scrap; then there are the foundries in London, Brantford, Brockville, Kingston, etc., making up a very large total, so that we may be certain that if a company gets fairly started with one 70-ton furnace they would soon follow it up by erecting a second furnace of larger dimensions; then would come the question of erecting puddling furnaces and rolling mills to provide the bar and structural iron which we are now importing, and after that has been done the establishment of Bessemer or other steel works with their plant of convertors, reheating furnaces, rail mill, etc., will follow in due course, so that from the nucleus of the first blast furnace, which can be built and started into successful operation for less than $150,000, there will spring, if the affair is properly handled, an immense industry that will give employment directly and indirectly to more than 1,000 men."

That is, 1,000 men besides those employed in the mines, and all these industries he believes will be centred in Toronto if the furnace is established there. Mr. Mills appers to be an advocate of "commercial reciprocity" or "commercial union," yet he makes this statement:—

"The establishment of furnaces in Toronto will so reduce the price of iron in this country that as far as coke iron is concerned the tariff will cease to trouble the consumer. We can make iron at a profit selling at present Pittsburg prices, so that commercial union would simply extend our market. At the same time I must admit that any attempt to establish a furnace here in the absence of protection would probably be met by a determination on the part of some United States furnaces to freeze out the infant enterprize by undersselling, no matter at what cost to themselves."

Exactly. And we know that a gentleman interested in the iron industry in Peterborough, when he endeavored to interest a United States firm in starting a rolling mill here, was met with the answer that a rolling mill should be a good investment, and that Peterborough appeared to be a good place in which to establish one, but that in view of the agitation to alter or abolish the tariff they would not feel safe in going on. Free trade, commercial union or unrestricted reciprocity would mean death to our hopes of building up the industry of iron manufacture, as it would also mean the injury or destruction of other industries. The continued agitation for the reversal of the present policy is detrimental to the country, but as there is little or no fear of the Liberals being successful those who know the people should not be deterred from going ahead with enterprises like those proposed at Deseronto and Toronto, although there is more reason why foreign capitalists should be influenced by the renewed assault on the National Policy.

This county and district is deeply interested in the development of the iron industry, and it is becoming more plainly apparent that the prospects of the industry are dependent upon the defeat of the commercial union or unrestricted reciprocity movement and the retention of the National Policy. With unrestricted reciprocity the best of the Canadian ore would be taken to the United States, and in time this country would not be in a position to manufacture iron, while the prospects are becoming brighter that by retaining the present fiscal policy the manufacture of iron will become a thriving industry, and that the mines in general will be worked and the whole profit and advantage of manufacture secured for ourselves. From unrestricted reciprocity nothing can be hoped for but the comparatively small advantage to be derived from allowing the Americans to carry away the selected best of our ores, which would be a foolish policy when this country is adapted for the manufacture of iron.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

RICHARD WHITE THE PROBABLE SUCCESSOR OF SENATOR FERRIER.

The Writ for Pictou Issued—Raising a Sightship—Telephone Wires supposed to have been the cause of Fires.

OTTAWA, June 4.—The Evening Journal says that Richard White, managing director of the Montreal Gazette and brother of the late Hon. Thomas White, is pretty sure to be appointed senator, succeeding the late Mr. Ferrier. The Cabinet Ministers nearly all favor the appointment, as Mr. White is a representative business man, stands high in the party and has a good record in the Montreal City Council.

The contract for raising the $44,000 lightship sunk in Lower Traverse, St. Lawrence River, last fall has been let by the Marine Department to Patterson & Company of Quebec.

The fact that the telephone box at the Bentler House was ignited a few nights ago, that poles carrying the electric light wire on Sparks-street caught fire, and that several fires have occurred lately, the origin of which has not been discovered, led to the supposition that these fires have been caused by heavily charged electric light wires crossing telephone wires, and an investigation will probably be held.

The writ for Pictou has been issued. Nominations will take place on June 15 and on June 22.

Judge Armstrong and Mr. Hellbronner of the Labor Commission are here to supervise the printing of evidence, which will be commenced this week.

ENSILAGE FOR CATTLE.

Its Value to the Farmers—An Address by Valancey E. Fuller.

BRAMPTON June 4.—A meeting of the Farmer's Institute of Peel was held here on Saturday. Mr. Valancey E. Fuller of Hamilton, among others, addressed the meeting. He dealt with the question now all important in dairying—economy in milk production. He strongly recommended ensilage as a food to enter largely into cattle provender. Recent experiments in Wisconsin, he pointed out, showed that where ensilage was used it required only 20.43 pounds of milk to produce a pound of butter, while, under similar circumstances, with different kinds of feed, it required from 21.66 to 23.43 pounds. The ensilage, which was prepared from sweet southern corn, had been produced on his Oaklands farm at $1.56 per ton, and three tons of ensilage being fully equal in feeding value to one ton of hay, the relative value of a ton of hay would be $4.68. He showed that it would not pay to grow hay in the country at that price, and this fact demonstrated the economic value of ensilage. In addition to this the feed was better than hay; and was better suited to milk production.

REVIEWS.

THE CANADIAN METHODIST MAGAZINE.—The June number completes the 27th volume of this increasingly popular Magazine The first article is one by the late Anthony Trollope, on the Falls of Niagara. The illustrations are of singular beauty, showing the Falls both in summer and in winter. Warring Kennedy, Esq., contributes a copiously illustrated article on Ocean Grove—one of the popular resorts on the Atlantic coast, an institution on which Methodism has laid its strong hand and consecrated it to the glory of God. The Editor's sketches of "Our Own Country" describe the historic Old Fort at Annapolis and the picturesque city of St. John. An article which will be read with especial interest is a memorial study of the life of Dr. Nelles, by Prof. Reynar, with a beautiful personal tribute by Dr. Douglas. A noble sermon by Dr. Nelles is also given. Dr. Carman contributes an admirable paper on "The Church's Working Doctrines;" and Mrs. A. E. Barr's story is continued. A fine announcement is made for the 28th volume, beginning with the July number.

ALL OLD VALUES BLOWN OUT OF SIGHT!

PRICES OF SIX WEEKS AGO SPLIT TO SPLINTERS.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is got at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need; that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

Our Canadian Colors.

We clip the following from that exponent of word painting, the Bobcaygeon Independent:—"The Canadian population have probably a finer perception of the beauty of colour than any other population in the world. It is, in a great measure, owing to the marvellous development of color in the foliage of the Canadian trees. A Canadian forest, in the autumn, is a mass of the most gorgeous colors beautifully harmonized by the same hand which blends the rainbow. The ladies of Canada, and especially those of this district, have a most cultivated eye for color. And that is the reason why they all go to fair's at the golden lion, in Peterborough, for their millinery. There they can obtain millinery of the most beautiful colors, perfect colors, every tint and tone. You can tell those ladies who have procured their millinery from fair's, the golden lion, Peterborough, at a glance, because the colors are purer, brighter, and more harmonious. Fair's millinery is a joy for ever inasmuch as it is a thing of beauty."

An Italian's Funeral.

Mr. Joseph Martinelle, better known as "peanut Joe," an Italian who has kept a peanut stand on the street corners for some years, died rather suddenly on Saturday evening, from water on the brain. He was buried on Sunday afternoon. The Italian colony turned out in full force and the cortege was headed by the Fire Brigade band. A large number of people were on the streets viewing the procession.

Recent Publications.

Mr. Wm. Bryce, publisher, Toronto, continues to supply new literature in fiction in popular form. Among his latest are "Mr. Potter of Texas," by Mr. Archibald C. Gunter, author of "Mr. Barnes of New York," a book that scored a marked success. Also "Molly's Story," by a popular writer, Frank Merryfield. Either may be obtained at the bookstores.

THE GREAT ORGAN in the Alexandria Palace, Lond on, is acknowledged to be the finest instrument in Europe. Frederick Archer gave 2,000 organ recitals on it. Some of the effects he succeeds in producing are such as no other organist has ever accomplished, for the single reason that he has been gifted by nature with fingers of unusual length. Availing himself to the utmost of this advantage, he frequently plays on two and occasionally on three manuals, sometimes with the same hand, having educated one to do the work of both when required. His executive facility both with hands and feet is marvelous; passages of the most enormous difficulty and rapid tempo are played by him without the slightest apparent effort. 1d130

"Y" Saturday Evening Concert.

On June 2nd a fair audience attended the first of a series of Saturday evening concerts arranged under the auspices of the Y.W.C.T.U. The programme was short but attractive. The musical selections, vocal and instrumental, were happily rendered and thoroughly appreciated. The unique feature of the evening, however, was a debate on the all important subject, "Resolved that the man who can't sing and will sing, is more culpable than the man who can sing and won't sing." The affirmative was supported by the Rev. S. J. Thompson and Mr. W. A. Dixon, and the negative by Mr. F. H. Dobbin and Mr. Gordon Smith. These gentlemen ably fulfilled the promise of the committee to regale the audience with "wisdom and wit, logic and laughter." The judges, Messrs. Earle, Colbeck, and Bean, decided in favor of the affirmative. Those who were absent last Saturday evening missed something. Those who want to enjoy a similar treat see Friday's issue of this paper for programme of next Saturday's entertainment.

GEORGE STREET PETERBOROUGH.

ANOTHER FIELD DAY.

Those who were Victims at the Regular Levee of the Police Magistrate.

The Police Magistrate, assisted by Mayor Stevenson, J.P., had another field day this morning and the cases were both numerous and diversified.

DRUNK.

Martin Fox, of Ennismore, was run in on Saturday night by the chief, for being drunk. He pleaded guilty, said it was his first offence and promised to reform at once. He was allowed to go with a caution.

SPEARING.

John Young, of Ennismore, was charged by Inspector Cochrane with carrying a spear, for the purpose of fishing. He admitted that he had the spear, but said that he did not strike at any fish. The defendant said he had logs in the lake and he went down often. The Magistrate asked if the spear was for killing bullfrogs and the defendant said it was not, but if he saw a bass he might strike at it. He was fined $1 and costs.

HE CAUGHT ONE.

Thomas Conners, another dweller by the shores of Chemong Lake, was charged by Inspector Cochrane with killing "lunge" out of season. Mr. Stratton, who appeared for him, pleaded guilty and said that the fishing was done under the idea that the close season had ended. The prosecution expressed a desire for a nominal penalty and a fine of $1 and costs was imposed.

DISORDERLY.

James Dawson resides in Ashburnham, in the vicinity of the lock bridge. He is a young man and the other morning about two o'clock he imagined that he was a Commanche Indian or somebody else and he made the air, in the vicinity of the post office, ring with his yells. Officer Adams heard him and proved the case. He was charged $2 and costs.

FURIOUS RIDING.

When the first case was disposed of Mr. Dawson's woes were not all over. He was also charged with riding at a furious rate over the Otonabee iron bridge. He admitted the offence and was fined $2 and costs.

LARCENY.

The larceny case referred to before was next on the docket. County Attorney Wood for the crown said that he had made diligent inquiries regarding the case and he was satisfied that there was no felonious intent and he therefore asked permission to withdraw the charge, with the understanding that the goods in the possession of the police were to be handed to the complainant.

SCOTT ACT.

Mrs. Condon was charged by Inspector Cochrane with a breach of the Scott Act. Mr. Geo. Leonard appeared for the defendant. Mrs. Condon was called as a witness. Mr. Leonard objected that the defendant was not a compellable witness. The Magistrate and County Attorney smiled, but Mr. Leonard produced a copy of the Canada Gazette, showing that the word "compellable" was eliminated from the Act and only "competent" left. The court was satisfied and the case was enlarged to secure the attendance of other witnesses.

LARCENY AND FORGERY.

Charles Butterworth, a thirteen year old boy, one of those brought to this country by Miss Macpherson, was charged with the larceny of a letter and divident warrant of the Imperial Bank of Canada, for the sum of $20, the property of Mr. R. L. Benson.

The boy, who had no counsel, pleaded guilty, saying that he found the letter lying opened on the floor.

He was remanded for a week.

The same youth was next charged with forging the name of Mr. Richard L. Benson.

He pleaded guilty and was remanded.

The circumstances of the case are that the prisoner, who was a bell boy at the Oriental, was discharged on Friday morning last. Prior to leaving the house he went to the place where letters are kept and walked off with one addressed to Mr. R. L. Benson, a guest of the house. He opened the letter which contained an Imperial Bank divided warrant, for the sum of $20, payable to the order of Mr. R. L. Benson. The boy took it to the Bank of Toronto, where it was payable at par, and presented it to Cashier Macdonald. He saw that it was not endorsed and told the boy that Mr. Benson would have to put his name to it. The boy took the warrant away, but returned in a short time with the name on the back of the paper. It was written lengthways and in a scrawling, school boy hand. The cashier was not satisfied and he stepped to the telephone to make inquiries, when the boy made himself scarce. The police were at once notified and from information received a message was sent to Chief Douglas, of Port Hope, and shortly afterwards the youngster was in custody. The chief drove down on Sunday and brought the prisoner up with him.

Lacrosse.

A practice match between the Riversides and the Y. M. C. A. lacrosse clubs will be played on the P. A. A. A. grounds this evening. After the game a meeting of the Riversides will take place at the Commercial House, when the twelve to play against Barrie on Wednesday next will be chosen.

Local Legal.

"Roland v. Christie—Motion for an order to strike out certain paragraphs of the defendant's statement of defence. Aylesworth for motion. Edmison (Peterborough) contra. Judgment reserved."

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well earned reputation, and made it the most effectual and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, and kidneys this remedy has no equal. 1ce $1.

Arrested at Port Hope.

On Saturday evening in response to a telephone message from Peterborough, Chief Constable Douglas, of Port Hope, arrested a lad named Charles Butterworth, on a charge of forgery, committed here on Friday last. Chief Roszel drove down on Sunday and brought the prisoner back with him. The chief speaks in high terms of the manner in which the Port Hope authorities treated him.

—The Y.M.C.A. lacrosse club has received a challenge from Norwood.

—There were a large number of visitors at the Little Lake Cemetery on Sunday.

—Water-st., below the market house, is being graded close to the high sidewalk.

—There were a couple of street rows on Saturday night, but nothing serious occurred.

—The Orangemen of this district will celebrate the 12th of July at Port Hope this year.

—The Belleville and Kingston professional ball teams have commenced to play their series of games.

—Chief Constable Roszel left for St. Catharines this morning to bring his family to town.

—Work on the Salvation Army barracks is progressing rapidly, and the brickwork is about finished.

—Work on the new Nicholls Hospital is progressing slowly. Want of brick appears to be the difficulty.

—For fear that the public might forget the fact, we beg to remind them that to-morrow is fair day.

—The market square has received another overhauling and a few more loads of dirt have been carted away.

—There was a heavy frost on Saturday night and some damage was done to vegetables and flowers.

—The old cooler under the fire station has been treated to a coat of whitewash and it smells much nicer since.

—A Scott Act case on the Police court docket for this morning was not called as the papers had not been served.

—The nine hour movement among the bricklayers and masons came into effect to-day. Work is suspended at 5 p. m.

—Principal Sawyer has been offered $6,000 to sell his Business College and residence here. Mr. Sawyer has refused to accept the offer.

—The Court of Revision will hold their first meeting to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock. There are only a small number of appeals.

—The Rev. C. R. Lambly, M.A., of Madoc, occupied the pulpit of the George-st. Church on Sunday evening and preached an eloquent sermon.

—The regular meeting of the "Y" will be held this evening at half past seven in their Hall, George-st. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

The Toronto Excursion.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Your Saturday's edition contained an advertisement stating that parties accompanying the Masonic excursion to Toronto, by the Grand Trunk Railway, would be admitted to the Cyclorama of the Battle of Sedan at half rates. As secretary of the Oddfellows excursion committee, I immediately wrote the manager asking for the same rates to parties going on our excursion, on Tuesday, June 12th, via C. P. R., and I have just received the following telegram, which will speak for itself:—

"TORONTO, time 12 10, June 4th, 1888. Same terms offered Masonic as your society, viz., forty cents. Deny statement in papers. Will see you Wednesday.

"A. L. Fisher, manager."

By inserting the above you will oblige

Yours &c.,

Town Council.

A special meeting of the Town Council is called for this evening at 7.30 o'clock. The principal business will probably be the consideration of the request of the Canadian Pacific, seeking authority to lay down a siding along the bank of the river.

SOCIAL.—On Saturday evening, May 26 th a very enjoyable social was held in the school house, at Stone's Appointment, south Burleigh. The chair was taken at 7.30 by Mr. Emmerson Thompson, and after prayer by the pastor, Rev E. W. Florence, refreshments in paper bags, containing cakes, raisins and candies, were passed around. After everyone had partaken of the good things provided by the ladies of the congregation, the following programme was carried out, in which all the performers acquitted themselves in a highly creditable manner:—Hymn, "Depths of Mercy," choir; recitation, "Willie and Annie's Prayer," Clara Wynn; recitation, "An April Joke," Lottie Sanderson; recitation, "There Never Was," Henry Stone; dialogue, "Missionary" Work, G. Laughlin, B. Reid, A. McAulay; song, "Dreaming of Home and Mother," M. M. Church, M. Wynn, C. Wynn; recitation, "The Last Hymn," Minnie Wynn; recitation, "Guilty or not Guilty," Georgiana Laughlin; recitation, "Curfew Must not Ring To-night," Julia Brunson; song, "The Three Jews," G. Laughlin, L. Sanderson, T. Brunson; recitation, "Nothing but Blocks," Abbey Brunson; recitation, "The Chicken and the Robin," Willie Stone; recitation, "A Little Girl's Speech," Jessie Reid; recitation, "Not so Easy," Annie Hull; recitation, "Out at Sea," May McAulay; dialogue, "The Train to Mauro," Julia Brunson, Welton Brunson, Joseph Thompson; recitation, "The Church Organ," Maturia M. Church; dialogue, "Genteel and Polite," Minnie Hales and Maggie Hales; recitation, "Served Him Right," Turie Brunsou; dialogue, "On Dancing," Clara Wynn, Minnie Wynn; song, "Where is my Wandering Boy To-night," C. Wynn, M. Wynn, M. M. Church; recitation, "How we Licked the Teacher," Harry Wright; dialogue, "Mind Your Own Business," J. Brunson, M. Church, C. Wynn, N. McAulay. M. Wynn, M. M. Church. J. Thompson; recitation, "A Little Boy's Speech," Ephraim Brunson; recitation, "Turning the Tables," Katie McAulay; hymn, "Go Bury thy Sorrow," Rev. E. F. Florence; recitation, "Putting flowers on Papa's Grave," Nellie Brunson; recitation, "The Kilkenny Cats," Ephraim Brunson; dialogue, "The Auction," Rev. E. W. Florence, Charles Hales, M. M. Church, George Foster, Willie Foster, C. Wynn, M. Wynn, J. Brunson; recitation, "John Jenkin's Sermon," Julia Brunson; recitation "The Frog," Harry Wynn; recitation, "Sixty in the Shade," Aggie McAulay; reading, "A Backwood's Wedding," M. M. Church; hymn, "God bless our Native Land." Choir. The audience, consisting of about one hundred people, showed their appreciation of the entertainment by the good order that was kept. A vote of thanks was given at the conclusion of the programme to the Chairman, Pastor and all who had been the means of making the evening the great success it was socially and financially. The Pastor, the Rev. E. W. Florence, has just finished a year's earnest work in this mission and during that time has been the means of bringing many to a knowledge of the truth. He has gone to another field of labor in Aberdeen, Dakota, taking with him the sincere prayers of this people that God will bless his labors there as well as here.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

MONDAY, JUNE 4, 1888.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

With all his peculiarities, there was a certain originality in Uncle Sandy which attracted Mona. Although his ideas of expenditure were narrow, he was rigid in paying whatever he believed he ought to pay. Nor was he conscious of exacting more than he gave. Still, his recognition of the rights of others was by no means so clear as his perception of his own. But what attracted his niece most was his strong liking for herself.

The fact of her having red hair, as he considered it, seemed to be one of Mona's strongest claims upon his affections. It appeared to be a kind of proof positive that she belonged to him.

Naturally the holiday enjoyments of the two friends were considerably curtailed by the presence of Uncle Sandy. Still they contrived to spend two or three tranquilly pleasant days at Hampton Court, Richmond, and other suburban places of resort, though Uncle Sandy grumbled a good deal at being left alone.

The six weeks of vacation passed swiftly withal.

The autumn was exceptionally fine after a wet summer, and pupils prolonged their absence from town. October was half over, and Mme. Debrisay was again in harness. Mona, too, had resumed work, and on the first evening of her return, she found her uncle sitting over the fire, his feet on a hassock placed inside the fender.

"Come your ways," he cried. "The sight of you is good for sair een nowadays! Have ye had your bite? Ay? Then we'll have a good spell o' the papers before bedtime. But, first, there's a bit note I want to write to a laddie I have neglected in a way—my sister's son, Kenneth Macalister. He is in an office in the city—a big place—doin' well, I believe."

"A nephew of yours?"

"Ay, a nephew" (he pronounced it "nayfew"). "He used to come and see me there in Camden Town. But he and Jamie Black—the lad I shared the lodging with—used to make a noise, and argue, and go on wi' fules' talk, till I said I would not put up wi' it. And Kenneth—he had a Highlandman's temper—he got offended. Noo, he has come back from his holiday, and is clothed (I daur say he left off the breeks when he went home) and in his right mind. So he writes for leave to come and see me. He is a gude laddie, in a way—not varra weel informed; but everyone hasn't had opportunities, nor have they striven to edicate themselves as I have, though my disadvantages have been great. Noo, my hand is varra shaky the night, so you write for me, my dearie. Tell him to come early to kirk here bye, next Sawbath, and come back with me to a bit dinner."

A very few lines sufficed; a few directions as to trains were added, and the note was sent.

The following Sunday was dull and gray, but dry.

Dinner was being placed on the table when Mona, who had been to church, entered. Uncle Sandy had already taken his place, and Mme. Debrisay was in the act of gracefully indicating his seat to a young man—a young man whose appearance startled Mona.

"Hearing Uncle Sandy always speak of his "nay few" as a "laddie," she unconsciously formed a picture of an undersized, shy lad, slight and insignificant, with the family "reed heid"—something in style between a shop-boy and an errand-boy. She actually beheld a very tall, well-built figure, surmounted by an exceedingly black head, the hair short and thick; heavy dark eyebrows, and large, dark, deep-set, flashing eyes; an aquiline nose; high cheek bones; a pathetic mouth, with somewhat down-curved corners, unmasked by mustache, and a deep red-brown complexion.

"This is Kenneth Macalister—your cousin Kenneth," quoth Mr. Craig, as he tucked a napkin under his chin.

Mona bowed and smiled, but Macalister took a large stride forward, holding out a big, bony, brown hand, and reddening as he exclaimed—

"I am very"—he said "ferry"—glad to make your acquaintance."

There was a certain dignity in his carriage, but Mona saw that he was shy, though probably his pride was strong to aid him in concealing it. She put her hand into his, saying pleasantly—

"It seems wonderful to me to dine with an uncle and a cousin. I have always seemed denuded of near relatives."

"Ah, but you have plenty!" said Macalister, taking a seat. "I have twenty-seven first cousins on my father's side, and fourteen on my mother's. I have more than double that in second cousins, but having been much from home, I cannot count all my far-away kin."

He spoke with the soft, slow Highland accent, which must be imagined.

"Have you been long in London?" asked Mona.

"Going on three years; before that I was in a Glasgow house."

"And you like London better than Glasgow?"

"I hated both! but I am getting used to London; there is much to be done and learned here."

"It is a wonderful place. Do you often go to the theatre?"

"Scarce ever. I am tired after the day's work; and in summer I would rather take a row on the river."

"The young are aye carried awa wi' an inordinate love of amusement, an—an' excitement, in these latter days."

"Man cannot live by bread alone," said Macalister, gravely. "Man wants food for imagination and wonder, and—and self-improvement."

"It ill becomes the son of a God-fearin' minister to be quoting Scriptsure for his sin weak purposes," observed Uncle Sandy, reprovingly. "I will na hear it, and it makes me in dread for your immortal soul when I do."

"Well, Uncle Sandy," cried Mona, coming to the rescue, "you must admit that all work and no play makes Jack a very dull boy."

"I am no so sure o' that; I worked hard enough and I never was dull."

"And pray, Mr. Macalister, how is trade at present?" asked Mme. Debrisay, comprehensively, with a view to changing the subject.

This produced a lengthy and rambling reply, after which Uncle Sandy avowed his intention of closing his eyes for a quarter of an hour. He therefore re-ascended, with his "nayfew" [illegible], to his room. Mme. Debrisay excused herself, because she had promised to visit some professional friends, so Mona was left alone with her newly discovered cousin.

In brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happines to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

FIRES YESTERDAY.

A Newspaper Office Gone up in Smoke—A $14,000 Blaze at Berlin Ont.

WINNIPEG, June 4.—The Call office was destroyed by fire Sunday morning and the contents completely consumed, nothing whatever being saved except the books and mailing lists. The loss is between, $35,000 and $45,000, insurance $21,400. Surrounding buildings, especially The Free Press office, had a narrow escape.

The Call issues in the morning as usual facilities being placed at its disposal by The Sun, The Free Press and Le Manitoba.

The origin of the fire is unascertained, no fire being in the place since Saturday noon.

BERLIN, Ont., June 4.—The building occupied by the Anthes Manufacturing Company was destroyed by fire Saturday, together with its contents. The loss is $14,000, insurance $[illegible].

PANAMA, June 4.—A fire broke out in the Hotel Roma on Saturday and ten large houses were entirely gutted. The loss is estimated at $300,000.

An Anticipation of Trouble.

BARBADOES, May 16.—It now transpires that H.M.S. Canada was ordered to Trinidad by cable to take care of any over-zealous Venezuelans, who might feel inclined to invade that island and kidnap Gen. Crespo, a candidate for the Presidency of Venezuela. The troops and police of Trinidad—the latter a fine body of 500 well trained men, commanded by an ex-officer of the British army—are quite ready for anything. Service ammunition was issued some time ago, and the warmest kind of a tropical reception awaits any rash individual who may violate British territorry.

Died almost Suddenly.

TORONTO, June 4.—James Fahey, a newspaper man well known throughout the country as a brilliant editorial and paragraph writer, died at his home here on Saturday night. He was sick but a couple of days and it was hardly known to his friends that he was ill when word was received of his death. Pleura-pneumonia was the cause of death. Mr. Fahey has been connected with many papers in the province, latterly with the World of this city. His wife died a year ago, and he now leaves a family of seven in very poor circumstances.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 7th June, 1888, for the delivery of Indian Supplies during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1889, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.; duty paid, at various points in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

Forms of tender containing full particulars relative to the Supplies required, dates of delivery, &c., may be had by applying to the undersigned, or the Indian Commissioner at Regina, or to the Indian Office, Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods (or for any portion of each description of goods) separately or for all the goods called for in the Shedules, and the department reserves to itself the right to reject the whole or any part of a tender.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque in favor of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs on a Canadian Bank for at least five per cent, of the amount of the tender which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract based on such tender when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

Each tender must, in addition to the signature of the tenderer, be signed by two sureties acceptable to the Department for the proper performance of the contract.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

This advertisement is not to be inserted by any newspaper without the authority of the Queen's Printer, and no claim for payment by any newspaper not having had such authority will be admitted.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half pound tins, by grocers labelled thus:

Some Things to Say

IF there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods, We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line "80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1.25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE MINISTER OF JUSTICE REPLIES TO THE OTTAWA JOURNALISTS.

Who will be Commandant of the New Cavalry School at Toronto—A Big Railway Syndicate.

OTTAWA, June 5.—Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, has sent a reply to P. D. Ross, chairman of the meeting of Ottawa journalists at which resolutions were adopted censuring the Supreme Court of New Brunswick for condemning Editor Hawke for contempt and asking for his release. The minister says that the matter was so fully discussed in the House that little more is to be said. He states that it is almost unnecessary sor him to say that he cannot agree with the views expressed in the first resolution, which, proceeds on the ground that the acts and conduct of judges are open to criticism of any kind, subject only to the ordinary penalties of law enforceable by its ordinary proceedure, because it is a principle recognized in every part of the Empire that libels upon the character and motives of a judge which relate to his acts as a judge, are punishable by attachment for contempt, if in the opinion of the court they are of such a character as to interfere with the due administration of justice.

With regard to the second resolution, in which it is stated that Hawke was punished for saying Judge Fraser was drunk, and asking the minister to institute proceedings for libel against Hawke, so as to prove the truth or falsity of the charge, Mr. Thompson points out that Hawke was not punished for saying Fraser was drunk, but for having published that Judge Fraser was influenced by corrupt motives in his decision, and it was not intimated that the decision was influenced by improper indulgence.

There is considerable speculation in military circles as to who will be the commandant of the new Cavalry School at Toronto, and Col. Howard, of the Quebec Cavalry School is mentioned as likely to get the appointment. Sir Adolphe Caron said yesterday that no action had been taken in the matter, and he had not even selected a site yet.

The Public Works Department are advertising for tenders for the construction of a museum building in connection with the experimental farm.

Negotiations are said to be pending for the formation of a syndicate to make a big railway deal involving the purchase of the Canadian Pacific line from Ottawa down the north shore to Quebec and amalgamating with the Pontiac Pacific, Gatineau Valley, Lake St. John and other colonization roads. Hon. L. R Curch, H. J; Beemer and others are mentioned as interested in the scheme.

Great care is being taken in selecting good tracts of land in Manitoba for the location of the Crofter Settlers, as it is believed that if the first colony proves successful very large emmigration will follow.

Sir Adolph Caron said yesterday that there was no truth in the statement that Col. Oliver will be reappointed commandant at the Kingston Military College. A new commandant would be appointed on no recommendation had been made yet.

Registrar of the Supreme Court Cassels and Queen's Printer Brown Chamberlin, arbitrators on the Barber claim for $75,000 arising out of contract with the Government for paper, met to-day and commenced the investigation.

F. N. Gosborne, Superintendent of Government Telegraph, has gone to Grelce Island, Lake Erie, to take steps towards making the survey for the proposed submarine cable between the island and the mainland.

The new Ottawa Club will be opened on June 12 with a grand banquet. The club will start with a membership of about 150. The officers are: Chief Justice Ritchie, Honorary President; Col. Toni Ross, President; William Smith, Deputy Minister of Marine, Vice-President; Capt. W. E. Heron, Secretary-Treasurer.

A PROJECTED REVOLT.

Saunders, a Kingston Convict, Attempts to Raise a Rebellion.

KINGSTON, June 5.—A plot for an uprising among the convicts in the penitentiary has been discovered. A convict named Saunders circulated a document among his fellow-prisoners asking them to take part in a revolt on a certain day. Only a few would agree to do so, and the matter coming to the Warden's knowledge Saunders has been confined to the dungeon.

At a meeting of the committee appointed at the recent public meeting to consider a scheme for a college of agriculture and practical science, it was resolved that a joint stock company be formed with a capital of $50,000 in shares of $25 each for the College of Practical Science and Agriculture for Eastern Ontario, located at Kingston, the profits, if any, to be applied to promoting the interests of the college.

Imperial Federation at Halifax.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 5.—A large audience gathered in the Academy of Music last night to listen to addresses on Imperial Federation. Stirring addresses in favor of the Imperial Federation movement were delivered by Sir Adam Archibald, Archbishop O'Brien, Rev. Dr. Partridge, Rev. D. M. Gordon, Robert Motton, C. H. Cahtn and others. At the conclusion of the speeches resolutions in favor of Imperial Federation were adopted.

Politicians in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 5.—Delegates alternates, political clubs and politicians, of high and low degre are erriving thick and fast, and St. Louis has assumed the crowded condition that is always observable during a national convention. The delegations which arrived to-day all wore badges and nearly all bandanas. The one word on their lips was Thurman.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE BANK OF MONTREAL.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SHAREHOLDERS HELD YESTERDAY.

A Review of the Business Situation of the Country—A Warning against the Over Extension of Speculation.

MONTREAL, June 5.—The annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal was held yesterday. There was a large attendance of shareholders. Sir Donald Smith presided, and moved the adoption of the report.

On April 30 there was a balance in round numbers of $600,000 and the profits last year were $1,284,000 making a total of $1,890,000. After deducting two dividends of 5 per cent. there remains a balance of $690,000 or $85,000 more than last year, the profits last year being 12 3-4 per cent. and the profits this year 10 3-4 per cent. or a difference of 2 per cent.

During the year the harvest was partially a failure in Ontario and affected the profits of this as well as other banks. There were also failures of ten banks in Canada, one a very disastrous one. Again, although not associated politically with our neighbors over the line, a presidental year is always a disastrous one for business, which affects this country also in a marked degree, and as the crop of autumn wheat is not well reported of the Directors felt that they were acting in the best interest of the shareholders to give only a dididend of 5 per cent. making 10 per cent. for the whole year.

The directors are not without hope for the future if we have good crops and from the Northwest we hear good accounts. The result this year ought to be satisfactory.

The speaker, then referred to the extension of the Warehousing Act, to manufacturers of cotton and woolen goods and distilleries, the excellent prospects in the Northwest, the valuable inlet by the Sault St Marie line, the encouraging features of the Canadian Pacific Railway loan taken up more than ten times over in London, all of which augured well for the future welfare of the country, and if the overproduction that has been going on was guarded against they had no cause to despond.

General manager Buchanan then gave a review of the business situation and uttered a grave warning against over extension of the speculation system, the long credits which prevails in Canada adding materially to the hazards of business.

Wants Information.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—In the House yesterday Mr. Dingly (Me.), offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of State for information as to whether the Canadian Government has violated the spirit of the Treaty of Washington by discriminating against American vessels passing through the Welland and other Canadian canals.

A Western Cyclone.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 5.—A furious storm swept over Washington County, Arkansas, causing much loss of life and property. In one hamlet twelve houses were destroyed and seven or eight persons were badly injured, while it is rumored that in the interior seven persons were killed.

A Cave-in at a Copper Mine.

BUTTE, Mont., June 5.—A cave-in occurred in the St. Lawrence Copper Mine, when all the men but four had come to the surface. A force immediately went to work to rescue the entombed men, two of whom can be distinctly heard hammering on the wall.

An Unfounded Rumor.

CHICAGO, June 5.—First Vice-President Smith, of the Atcheson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company, says that there is no truth in the reports that his Company has made a traffic agreement with the Erie railway.

Killed His Girl's Brother.

CRESTON, Iowa Junc., June 5.—Charles Schreeves, a hardware merchant of Murry, killed Louis Mars, a farmer, in a quarrel which grew out of Mars' objections to Schreeves paying attention to his sister.

The Ottawa Long Drive.

OTTAWA, June 5.—Owing to high water the Ottawa and tributaries' drive this season has been very successful. Few logs stuck in the small streams, and the indications are that the large cut will be all got down to the booms early.

Electricity Substituted to Hanging.

ALABANY, N. Y., June 5.—Governor Hill has signed the bill abolishing hanging for all murders committed after Jan. 1, 1889, and substituting death by electricity.

Sheridan's Condition.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—General Sheridan is now lying in a weak and exhausted condition. He has only rallied very feebly from the attack which nearly caused his death.

INTERESTING ITEMS BY WIRE.

The political campaign is fairly opened in Picton County.

Two engines for the Red River Valley Railway have arrived at Winnipeg.

A convention of superintendents of idiot asyltums will be held at Orillia on June 12.

Five of the fisheries cruisers are now out on duty.

Hon. Mr. Mowat has been much benefited by his voyage.

There has been a heavy snowstorm in the Ben Lomond district.

It is reported that the Czar is to be crowned Emperor of Central Asia.

Belfast has been proclaimed under sections 3 and 4 of the Crimes Act.

Eleven lives were lost in an hotel fire at Rockdale, Texas.

Ex-Senator Thurman will be nominated for Vice-President without a contest.

A large number of Canadians have arrived in England during the past week.

The National Prohibition Convention will convene at Montreal July 3, Senator Vidal presiding.

The funeral services of the late Senator Ferrier were held on Sunday in the old St. James street Methodist Church at Montreal, Dr. Potts delivering the service.

In a drunken riot among railroad laborers at New Rochelle, N.Y., several persons were wounded. One wretch opened the switch and nearly sent a passenger train into the river.

A 12-year negro servant girl suspected of poisoning John Owsley, his wife and 4 children at Windsor, Mo., was compelled to drink the coffee which she had prepared for them, and died in half an hour.

New York capitalists are said to be contemplating the purchase of some of the Cape Breton coal mines.

An American schooner has been seized and her crew arrested at St. John's Nfld., for selling bait to French fishermen.

Walsh, whom the Scotland Yard people were watching in Paris, acknowledged that he was engaged in a murderous plot and also that the police had outwitted him.

Gen. Sheridan was seized with a hemorrhage yesterday, and for a time hovered between life and death.

Crazy Farming in Hamilton.

HAMILTON, June 5.—Yesterday a woman named Mrs. George Drew, the wife of a laborer, reported at police headquarters that a baby left in her chargy had died. On visiting the house the authorities discovered it to be a baby farm. The woman had five young infants in her charge, for which she received $5 a month for board.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Queen's Park Question.—Annual Meeting of the F. and A. M. of Ontario.

TORONTO, June 5.—To-morrow Mr. Justice Street, who gave judgment on 31 January last declaring the city's lease on the Queen's park voided, will re-open the case with a view of hearing the city's defence. City Solicitor Biggar yesterday filed affidavits on behalf of the city.

Thirty immigrants arrived at the Union Station yesterday by the Grand Trunk. A second lot will arrive this afternoon. A few remain in Toronto, and the rest go on to Hamilton and points west.

Mrs. Longly, wife of Rev. B. Longly, the ex-pastor of the Queen street Methodist church, whose sad downfall created such intense excitement in this city recently, returned to Toronto on Saturday from Kansas City, whither she went with her husband. She was interviewed by a reporter yesterday but refused to say anything in reply to the statements that have lately been published regarding alleged domestic unhappiness between her and her husband. These statements are pretty generally regarded among her friends as groundless. While connected with the Queen street church she always evinced a deep interest in her husband's pastoral work, and took an active part in all that pertained to the welfare of the congregation.

The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of Canada, in Ontario, will be held here July 18.

Liquidator Lye, of the Central Bank, states that the liquidation will declare another dividend at 33 1-3 per cent. in less than three weeks.

Dr. Widdifield was sworn in as Sheriff of the County of York by Judge McDougall yesterday.

The Early closing by-law which was put into force a few weeks ago, was practically repealed by the city council last night by a vote of 23 to 9.

THE QUEBEC RESOLUTIONS.

To be Submitted to the Privy Council—The Bureau Trial.

MONTREAL, June 5.—The Star last night says: It is understood that Premier Mercier will leave for England at the beginning of July for the purpose of submitting the Interprovincial Conference to the Privy Council.

The petition for a writ of injunction against the Beaver Line, which it was alleged had formed a "combine" with the Allan and Dominion lines against cattle shippers, was yesterday dismissed by Mr. Justice Taschereau, he deciding that the application would not hold, there being no case for an injunction under the Act.

The estate of the late Hon. James Ferrier is said to have aggregated about $800,000. By his will, made two years ago, it is divided into four nearly equal portions, one going to each of his two living children and one each to families of two who are dead.

At the gas explosion inquest yesterday it was admitted by the secretary of the Gas Company that the outlet valve was not perfectly tight and had been leaking for some days.

In the Court of Queen's Bench yesterday in the trial of Bureau for the Grand Trunk robbery, the prosecution closed their case. For the defence ex-Detectives Fahey and Naegele were called. Both were in civilian clothes, a fact which Mr. Justice Baby commented on and directed the Crown Prosecutor to call to the attention of the Minister of Justice and the Attorney-General. The defence was the same as before, that the convicts and the prisoner were acting all along as detectives and trying to catch Wilson and Maxwell for the robbery.

The Fahey Fund.

TORONTO, June 5.—At a largely attended meeting of pressmen and others at the Press Club yesterday it was resolved to start a subscription to be known as the Fahey Fund to go toward the support of the children of the late James Fahey.

Contributions sent in or handed to the Treasurer, Mr. Robertson of the Telegram, will be acknowledged.

Mr. Peter Ryan sent in $10 last night.

There ought to be quite a number of friends of the deceased throughout Ontario who would like to subscribe to the fund. The opportunity awaits them.

Fatal Accident at Rockland.

OTTAWA, June 5.—A man named Bedard, working at W. C. Edwards' Mills, Rockland, was instantly killed on Friday last by a board flying from a machine and striking him on the chest. Bedard was to have been married on Saturday.

NABBED IN ST. PAUL.

Defaulting County Treasurer Macdonald of Cornwall Cleverly Captured.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 5.—Chief Provincial Detective Murray of Ontario is in St. Paul, and last week was instrumental in bringing about the arrest of Aeneas McDonald, formerly of Cornwall, Ontario, on the charge of forgery. McDonald was County Treasurer of the counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, and has his office at Cornwall. He left Cornwall not long since, and his books being examined discrepancies were found, one false entry resulting to McDonald's profit in the sum of $1,100. Mr. Murray gave the warrant of arrest to Marshal Campbell, and that gentleman arrested McDonald at the Power House on Selby avenue. McDonald was in the employ of the Street Railway Company at the time of his arrest, and had been serving in the capacity of gripman. When arrested he showed some surprise, but made no resistance or any attempt to escape, but accompanied the Marshal quickly to the United States Commissioner Spencer's office. He is an intelligent looking man about 35 years old.

LATEST EUROPEAN NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE HIGH COMMISSIONER IN ENGLAND.

He has Come to Devote Himself Entirely to his Duties as High Commissioner—Hon. O. Mowat.

LONDON, June 5.—Sir Charles Tupper arrived here this afternoon. In reply to inquiries he said that he was much refreshed by his voyage. He had come to London with the intention of remaining here to devote himself entirely to the duties of High Commissioner. The new loan would be the first business to take in hand. He regarded the success of the issue of Canadian Pacific bonds as likely to help the loan. It shows the attitude of the London market towards good Canadian securities.

Hon. Mr. Mowat is also in good health, and was benefited by the voyage. He is preparing for the trial of the St. Catharines Lumbering Company's appeal. The date for the hearing is not yet known.

The Quebec Central railway bondholders met to-day and adopted the report of the Provisional Board and approved reconstruction.

Canadian visitors are arriving in numbers this week. The arrivals include, besides Mr. Mowat, James Maclennan, Q. C., J. J. Maclaren, Col. Gzowski and the Bishops of Ontario and Rupert's Land.

A GENTLEMANLY THIEF.

He Sets Fire to a Wardrobe to Conceal His Crimes.

NEW ORLEANS, June 5.—Some time ago a dashing-looking young man, attired in military uniform, applied at the private residence 62 Toulouse street for rooms and board. He informed the ladies that his name was Demott Newland and that he was a lieutenant in the regular army. He was affable and was considered a "real nice" gentleman by all with whom he came in contact. During the time he remained in the house, however, several articles of value, and money besides, disappeared at intervals, but no accusation was made against the lieutenant. The people in the house found him in arrears for his board bill, and asked him repeatedly to settle up. He "stood them off" on each occasion with an excuse, until they finally ordered him to vacate, which he did, and secured a room at Mrs. Rucker's boarding-house, 123 Carondet street, opposite the central police station.

Some time after Newland left 62 Toulouse street the ladies became suspicious that their late boarder was a thief, and concluded to notify Chief of Police Hennessy about him. The ladies called on the chief a few days ago, and while informing him about Newland the latter came out of his boarding house, and Mr. Hennessy then asked them if he was not the man. They at once recognized him. Newland had by his winning ways ingratiated himself in the confidence of the ladies of his new boarding house, and was not suspected of doing anything wrong.

Last Thursday evening Mrs. Leake, a relative of Mrs. Rucker, began to smell the odor of smoke, and was unable to locate it until she entered her room and then broke open her bureau, when to her surprise she found her wardrobe in flames. The fire was extinguished as quickly as possible, and on examining the clothes Mrs. Leake discovered that her three hundred dollar gold wetch and chain were gone. The robbery was reported to the police, and three servants in the house were arrested, but they were found to be innocent of the theft and were released. Chief Hennessy, however, arrested Newland and conducted him to the Central station. Upon being questioned he made a confession of having stolen articles from 62 Toulouse street. The watch, he said, he had secreted upstairs under the cushion of a rocking chair in the hall, where it was found and returned to the owner. A handsome scarf and some lace that he had presented to a lady in the house he admitted he had stolen from Toulouse street. The lady stated that when he presented them to her he said he found them on the street. He took the watch and money to pay his board bill with, but did not do it. He was sent before the criminal court for trial. He exhibited his discharge papers, which showed that he had been a member of Lieutenant John Geest's Company B, 8th United States cavalry, Lieutenant Colonel John H. Mizner commanding. He was discharged for physical disability, and was on his way home to New Jersey, where his mother resides. He is only 20 year old, and his youth and apparent contrition have worked upon his victims, the ladies, so that they declare they will not prosecute him, but will assist in sending him home to his mother at Jersey City.

An Unwelcome Visitor.

MELTON, N. C., June 5.—One of the most terrific cyclones that had ever visited the south passed near this place at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The length of the track covered by the storm was about twenty-five miles and its width about 500 yards. Large areas of recently planted corn and tobacco were wiped out. Bucketsful of hailstorms as large as guinea hens' eggs could easily be gathered, and the weather since has been so cold that the hail is still on the ground.

Counterfeiters Caught.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 5.—United States officers have captured Fred Fowler, and Wm. Ferguson, members of a band of counterfeiters who have been working this section for two months. It is estimated there is upwards of $15,000 counterfeit coin in circulation, besides a large number of $5 silver certificates.

A Phœnix in Winnipeg.

THAT RAILWAY SIDING

THE C. P. R. GIVEN PERMISSION TO RUN UP THE BANK

After a Long, But Good Natured Discussion—Several Minor Matters are Disposed of Before Adjournment.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening.

Present: Mayor Stevenson in the chair, and Councillors Davidson, Winch, Kelly, Hall, Yelland, Moore, Douglas, Langford, Kendry and Hartley.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From J. Trudeau, Secretary of the House of Commons Railway Committee, stating that a meeting of the committee will be held at Ottawa, on June 5th, to consider the application of the C. P. R. re the siding along the bank of the river.—Received.

From E. M. Wells, Solicitor of the C.P.R., asking the Council to grant permission to the company to construct a siding up the bank of the river.—Received.

From the Water Company regarding the hydrant on Argyle-st. and stating that during the coming season it was intended to lay down mains on McDonnel, Brock and Hunter-sts., and asking if the grades as fixed now are permanent or not.—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From C. B. Routley and 9 other dealers in stationery, fancy goods, etc., asking for an early closing by-law.—Referred to Town Solicitor.

From the Secretary of the Fire Brigade Band, asking for the annual grant.—$200 granted, $100 to be paid forthwith, $50 on the first day of October and $50 on the first day of January.

From E. K. Ostrom and others asking that the Water Company be required to extend their mains on Charlotte-st.—Referred to Clerk to see if it is sufficiently signed.

STREETS AND BRIDGES.

Councillor LANGFORD read and submitted a report from the Street and Bridge Committee, recommending that the surface of the tank at the corner of George and Brock-sts. be lowered at least 18 inches and the street watertabled from George to Water sts., and that the contract for supplying pine plank be awarded to the Dickson Co. at $9.50 per thousand feet.

The report was adopted.

CHARITY.

Chairman HALL reported that the charity expenditure for May was $100.75, divided as follows:—1st Ward $35.25, 2nd Ward $56.50, 3rd Ward $9.00. There was no return from the 4th Ward.—The report was adopted.

ROMAINE-ST.

On motion of Councillor DAVIDSON, seconded by Councillor WINCH, the matter of opening Romaine-st. was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

FIRE PROTECTION.

On motion Mr. Geo. Hilliard was heard in reference to the hydrant near Blythe Mills. He had been notified by the Water Company not to use the hydrant. He asked for fire protection in that vicinity. He had had six fires in his locality and only on two occasions he had called on the fire brigade. He also also asked for a supply of hose and said that the people residing in that neighborhood are virtually without fire protection of any kind. He thought the town should take over the hydrant and give the north end some protection, as the people in that neighborhood contributed a considerable sum every year in taxes. He suggested that 400 feet of hose and a reel be provided and he would undertake to provide men to handle it. In answer to Councillor Moore, Mr. Hilliard said the hydrant was first placed down for his private use for a certain consideration, but the conditions are now changed.

Mr. G. W. HATTON explained that in return for the privilege of furnishing water power, the company had decided to furnish Mr. Hilliard and the Auburn Woollen Co. with water, but on account of unforseen difficulties, the agreement was cancelled and a sum of money was paid in lieu of it. It was found that the public generally were using the hydrant and he thought the town should assume it.

Mr. HILLIARD had known people to take water from the hydrant for street watering purposes and he felt that they were justified in doing so.

Councillor KENDRY had seen the hydrant used for public purposes and he thought that the town should take it over, in justice to the people residing in that vicinity.

The matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

C.P.R. SIDING.

Mayor STEVENSON brought up the question of the C.P.R. siding up the river bank. He said there appeared to be a great misunderstanding regarding the matter. According to the plan the company expressed a willingness to pay liberally if the property in the vicinity is damaged. The company will run up from the bridge works out to the islands and thence north along the Dickson raceway. There will be an opening at the north and south ends and from the plans he had seen no person would be damaged. The work would cost $40,000 or $50,000 and would be a great benefit to the town and promote trade. He thought it was entering the thin edge of the wedge towards having the present eyesore filled up. The company are willing to act liberally with property owners and in the best interests of the town he thought that the privileges sought should be granted.

Councillor MOORE was willing to act liberally with the company, but in the interests of public safety he asked that a level crossing at Hunter-st. be not permitted. He requested the Mayor to urge before the Committee at Ottawa that the Railway Company be required to raise Hunter-st. and the bridge and pass under the street.

The MAYOR said that he had already spoken to the engineer regarding this matter and we would speak regarding it before the Railway Committee.

Councillor KENDRY thought that if the railway passed under the street, the track would be flooded.

Councillor LANGFORD had not seen any plans and did not care about voting until he had further information.

The MAYOR said that a plan was filed at the Court House.

Councillor WINCH would like to see the matter left over for a week.

Councillor KENDRY said that the company simply desired to know if the Council would grant the railway permission to run up the islands which are owned by the town. He did not favor throwing obstacles in the way of the company, who were working in the interests of the town.

THE MAYOR said that both sides would be represented at Ottawa, and the question would be fully discussed there.

Mr. HENRY DENNE was heard. Unless the race was deepened the people residing in that locality would not be able to reside there, on account of the stench from the sewers which had their outlet just at the point where the embankment would commence. Either that or the sewers should be run through the embankment into the river.

Councillor KELLY believed in encouraging railways, but he protested against the level crossing near the Otonabee bridge, on the ground that it would be a continual source of lawsuits between the citizens and the railway company. As proposed at present the people across the river would be injured by the water being turned from the embankment. He did not care about voting until he had fuller information.

THE MAYOR explained that the company would erect a trestle-work bridge at the south end.

Councillor DOUGLAS wanted the agreement with the company put in black and white, as he knew from past experience that railway companies are slippery customers.

THE MAYOR said that the company was perfectly willing to do as the council desired.

Councillor HARTLEY favored granting the privilege requested, providing sufficient safeguards were provided.

Mr. T. G. HAZLITT, on motion, was heard. He said it was impossible for the railway to run under Hunter-st. To be of any use to the factories along the race, the road must run along the road. The crossing would be a safe one, as trains could be seen from a long distance on all sides. He proposed to keep control of the road from Hunter-st. to London-st. The road would not be like one on which regular trains run, but on the contrary very few trains would run. The want of railway facilities on the race had prevented factories being established here in the past and he looked for a boom when the siding is laid down. Under the circumstances he asked the Council to act liberally with the company, who were perfectly willing to compensate persons interested for any damage done.

Councillor MOORE thought the Council might endeavour to get the railway company to fill in from the present river bank to the islands. His view was that unless the channel was deepened, if the filling in was done, the property on the Ashburnham side of the river would be damaged.

Councillor KELLY said there were too many dangerous crossings in town now and he was opposed to any more being permitted. He suggested that gates be provided near the iron bridge.

Councillor HARTLEY knew of no place in the country that railways did not run across or along the streets and he proposed to treat fairly with the company. The Midland railway had run up Bethune-st. for many years and there had never been an accident yet. If the siding was laid down, it would bring manufacturers here, as they would thus be enabled to ship easily and speedily and enable them to compete with factories in other places.

Moved by Councillor MOORE seconded by Councillor KENDRY.—That this Council recommends that authority be given to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to construct a siding connecting those mills and factories with the main line, but this Council would direct attention to the fact that proper protection should be made at the crossing of Hunter-st. where there will be a danger to the public, and this Council agree to grant the right of way over the town property, the Company dealing with private property under the Railway Act in the ordinary way; the siding to be constructed as shown in the plan filed, but an opening at the northern and southern ends to be made, and the channel west of the embankment being deepened as to secure a good flow of water at the time of low water in the river, or that the Company otherwise fill in the whole space between the embankment and the west bank of the river, and carry the drainage across such space and embankment.—Carried

NO MORE SHOOTING.

Councillor MOORE introduced a by-law to prevent people from firing off guns, revolvers and other firearms, inside the corporation, under a penalty of not more than $50 or less than $1. The by-law was given its several readings and passed, Councillor Douglas being in the chair.

TOO MUCH NOISE.

Moved by Councillor MOORE seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS.—That the C.P.R. and G.T.R. be requested to instruct their engineers to desist from the excessive use of steam whistles.—Carried.

NO USE.

The MAYOR drew the attention of the Council to the fact that the fire alarm bell in the first ward has fallen down.

Several Councillors spoke on the matter and the general opinion was that the bell was useless.

FOR THE HOSPITAL.

An application from James Reardon, asking to be sent to the Toronto General Hospital, at he is suffering from a chronic throat disease, was referred to the Charity Committee with power to act.

ACCEPTED.

On motion of Councillor KELLY, seconded by Councillor HALL, the resignation of Mr. Andrew McNeil, as a representative of number two ward at the Council Board, was accepted.

FLYING PAPER.

The MAYOR was instructed to see that the police enforce the by-law against allowing persons to throw papers, bills, etc., on the streets.

A NEW CHAIRMAN.

Councillor HALL was appointed Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, vice Mr. Andrew McNeil, resigned.

The Council then adjourned for three weeks.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all Druggists.

MINDEN.

DRIVES.—The Dickson Company's drive under Mr. C. Fagan is at present passing through this place and is having a good run. Messrs. Thompson & Ellis have a large drive and we may expect them soon. They made a successful run from Trout to Hawke Lake. By building two dams and a slide they raised the water in Trout Lake 8 feet, thus enabling them to take a shorter route and save time and expense.

ACCIDENT.—On Friday last while Mr. Thos. Cox of Minden township, was ploughing, the horses took fright and ran away. His boy who was helping him got entangled in the plow and broke his thigh. We are glad to be able to state that he is recovering nicely under the care of Dr. Curry. Mr. Cox himself had a very narrow escape also. He has the misfortune to have a wooden leg and one of his horses kicked at him and broke it, which we presume will not be so painful or so tedious to heal as the other would have been.—Echo.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

Mr. Murphy, of Montreal, acted as referee. The Riversides played a nice game and were too strong for the younger players of the Y. M. C. A., though the latter did well. Several of the Riversides came out strong, and good individual play, as well as fine exhibitions of team play, was shown. The Y. M. C. A. team includes some very good players, and with more practice they will be a pretty strong team. The Riversides took the first game in about three minutes, the second in ten, the third in three, the fourth in six, and after twenty minutes play on the fifth darkness put an end to the match.

The Secret Out.

People are astounded at the amount of property sold by Jno. Carlisle. Why has he sold so much? Simply because he leaves money every time in said properties for the buyers. Many can vouch for the truth of this statement. 45 parcels sold the last few months.

A Fair.

Mr. J. P. Menzies dispensed justice at the Police Court this morning in the absence of the Magistrate and Mayor. The docket was a light one embracing only two drunks. One was fined one dollar and the other was given six hours to leave town, with the alternative of spending two months on the hill. He took the great shoe line for the land of the setting sun.

A Large Excursion

The Toronto Empire of to-day says:—"Canton Peterborough No. 10, P. M., I. O. O. F., will run an excursion from Peterborough to this city, via the C. P. R., on Tuesday, June 12th. The rather novel heading for the bill of announcement reads, 'The Fastest Line on Earth.' The 57th Battalion band will accompany the excursion and Canton in full dress uniform, numbering thirty swords. This is expected to be one of the largest excursions that will visit Toronto this summer."

A Small Fire.

Just after the Council meeting adjourned on Monday evening the sound of the gongs proclaimed that a fire was in progress. It was soon located at the butcher shop of Mr. David White, at the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer-sts. In a remarkable short time the firemen had a stream on from a hydrant and in a few minutes more a Babcock extinguished the last vestige of fire. No flames were seen, but the place was filled with smoke rendering it difficult for the men to work and do good execution. The origin of the fire is somewhat of a mystery. The damage done was merely nominal. Mayor Stevenson is the owner of the building.

Cause and Effect.

The question of the hour is why people will put themselves so much about. Why pass all the attractions along George-st., bankrupt stocks at 50c. on the dollar, and dollar for dollar, and goods for the mere asking, in fact to be sent home in a wheelbarrow and charge nothing for the sending. We ask again, why is it that the appreciative public will pass all this and pursue the even tenor of their way to the noted cheap store, last one on the east side of George-st, in other words Sheppard's Big Bonanza Bargain House, is reached. Cause and effect—the cheapest and best goods between Toronto and Montreal.

PETERBOROUGH citizens for some time past have had a kidd in boots, now they have a kidd in the Pantry, who is reaching out with irresistible energy for the grocery trade of the town and surrounding country. Give him a call. d119-tf

Considered by the Ashburnham Council —Street Repairs and Other Matters.

A regular meeting of the Council of Ashburnham was held on Monday evening.

Present: Reeve Burnham in the chair, and Messrs Wand, Anderson and Craig.

Pay rolls amounting to $220.68 were ordered to be paid, including $2.30 for repairing tools.

Mr. MEAD, on behalf of the residents in the vicinity, appeared before the Council and asked for a sidewalk from Smith-st. to Dunlop-st. New houses were being erected there, and the walking was bad. The road was a thoroughfare between the village and Auburn.

He was given to understand that his application would be looked into when the streets were inspected to see what new sidewalks were required, which would be done on Monday at 4.30 o'clock.

Other applications were also considered.

A communication was read from Mr. W. Forsyth, offering to furnish a tank, 15 feet in diameter and 8 feet high, with a capacity of 10,450 gallons or 348 barrels for $50 which would include putting it in, but not excavation. He would also supply 1¼ inch gas pipe at 11 cents per foot.

A discussion followed regarding the tank, during which it was estimated that the tank would cost $150.

Mr. CRAIG moved, seconded by Mr. ANDERSON,—That Mr. Forsyth's offer be accepted and the tank placed on the east side of the corner of Elizabeth and Stewart-sts.—Carried. Messrs. Craig and Anderson were appointed a committee to attend to the matter.

A by-law was introduced and passed authorizing the Treasurer to borrow a $1,000 to meet current expenses, and the Council adjourned.

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well earned reputation, and made it the most effectual and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, and kidneys this remedy has no equal. Price $1.

THE METHODIST CHURCH,

The Bay of Quinte Conference—The Stationing Committee in Session.

LINDSAY, June 4.—The above committee met in the Methodist church here this evening. It is composed of the chairmen of the Districts and one representative who must be a minister and also member of the district. There are in this conference at present nine districts.

This year the committee is composed of the following persons:—Belleville District.—Rev. John Learoyd and Rev. Joseph Young. Napanee District.—Rev. James Curts and Rev. C. J. Thompson. Picton District—Rev. W. Jolliffe and Rev. R. F. Ockley. Brighton District.—Rev. W. Buchanan and Rev. W. J. Allen. Cobourg District.—Rev. W. Williams, D.D., and Rev. J. B. Clarkson, M. A. Peterborough District.—Rev. I. Tovell and Rev. J. C. Wilson. Lindsay District.—Rev. M. L. Pearson and Rev. W. Johnston. Campbellford District.—Rev. J. S. Clarke and Rev. W. Limbert. Madoc District.—Rev. O. R. Lambly, M. A. and Rev. W. J. Young.

Rev. John Learoyd, President of the conference, is chairman, and Rev. O. R. Lambly, M.A., is secretary of the committee. As a large number of the members of the conference are moving this year, the work of the committee is unusually heavy. The result of their labors will not be made public until Thursday morning, when the first draft of stations will be presented to the conference. The conference meets on Thursday at 9 a.m. and promises to be one of great interest.

The town of Lindsay is doing herself credit. All the delegates have been billeted and still other homes are open.

Fair Day.

Some years ago the June quarterly fair was a big institution in Peterborough, but of late it has dwindled down to very insignificant proportions. The display to-day on the market was made up of exhibits of threshing machines, reapers, mowers, ploughs, tanning mill and other agricultural implements, shown mainly by the local agents. Nearly all were shown in motion and some sales were made. Several of the exhibitors had tents and had stacks of literature. Only one cow was observed on the square.

Brevities.

—The P. M. will be absent for two or three days.

—A window at Mr. H. Rush's office was broken last night during a scuffle.

—Officers Stewart and McGinty had considerable trouble last night in maintaining order.

—A meeting of the directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society is in progress this afternoon.

—The band of the Fire Brigade will give an open air concert at the Horticultural Park this evening.

—The lacrosse match to-morrow between Barrie and Peterborough, promises to be an interesting one.

—Officer Adams scooped in a drunk this morning, who was sleeping on the road near Denne's mill.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Fire Brigade will take place to-night, when the matter of the Dominion Day celebration will be discussed.

—The Town Clerk will take steps at once to hold an election to fill the vacancy at the Council Board, caused by the resignation of Mr. A. McNeil.

—Those who are in the habit of catching fish during the close season, should make a note of the fact that there are four Inspectors on duty in this vicinity.

—Coun. Winch brought up the matter of fire tanks for the south end of the town at the Council meeting and drew attention to the fact that they are badly needed.

—The Calgary Tribune of May 28th says:—"Mr. R. J. Stewart, a young farmer from Keene, Peterborough county, arrived in town Saturday night to have a general look around him."

CORRESPONDENCE.

While correspondents will be allowed space to discuss questions of public interest, the Review does not hold itself responsible for the opinions expressed.

Information Supplied.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—For the information of "Enquirer" and his friends who wish to join the Masonic excursion at Peterborough, on the 7th June, but who want to know a few things about railway arrangements, etc., I beg leave to explain, briefly and clearly as possible:—

The public may rest assured that the very convenient railway facilities afforded by this "double route" excursion will be carried out to the letter, as advertised. The special train for Toronto, via Port Hope, leaves Peterborough at 6.15 on the morning of the excursion, and arrives in Toronto about 9.30. Excursionists who wish to return the same evening by the same route do not leave Toronto until 8.20—giving them nearly twelve hours in the city—and on arriving at Port Hope will find a special train awaiting to bring them direct to Peterborough. By the other route, via Lindsay, excursionists who do not care about an early start, are not required to leave Peterborough until 8.20 in the morning. This train arrives in Toronto at noon and all who wish to come back by this same route leave Toronto by the 4.30 train. But it is important to bear in mind that excursionists going by Lindsay can return by Port Hope, or vice versa.

The tickets are good to return on the following day by any regular train. The price of the tickets for the round trip, going or coming by either route, is $1.75—no more, no less—no extras, no reductions.

There is nothing that the Masons know of to prevent excursionists from visiting all the places of interest in the city of Toronto during the life of their tickets on this excursion. In addition to other attractions, reduced rates are secured to excursionists who wish to visit the much talked of cyclorama of the Battle of Sedan, and also on Doty's line of steamers plying to the Island and Hanlan's Point, particulars of which will be made known on the excursion trains. The fraternity will also be interested in knowing that the Masonic Hall on Toronto street will be open for the benefit of the visiting brethren from the district.

The announcement in Saturday's REVIEW that excursionists could see the cyclorama for half price was an error of the printer, not of the committee, and was immediately corrected.

Thanking you for the permission to make these explanations through the columns of your paper, I remain, yours respectfully,

W. MENZIES,
Sec'y Masonic Ex. Com.

DESERVED OFFICIAL RECOGNITION.

The Government Examination of Baking Powders—Royal Officially Reported Pure.

The reports of the Government analysts, as made public from time to time in the official reports of the Commissioner of Inland Revenue, form useful subjects for study. A great deal of attention is devoted to the examination of baking powders, and very properly so, for they are articles of general use, and many of them being so grossly adulterated all possible information should be given to enable consumers to distinguish between the good and the bad.

A large number of these articles have been analyzed, the samples being collected from dealers in all sections of the Dominion. The impurities found were principally alum and lime, both unwholesome. The alum is used in place of cream of tartar because of its low cost. The lime, both tartrate and sulphate being found, was present from the use of improperly refined cream of tartar.

The analysts found and reported the Royal Baking Powder to be pure, free from lime, alum and phosphatic acid, and of high leavening strength. A complete analysis would undoubtedly have shown no baking powder except the Royal entirely free from some one of these objectional ingredients. This, we presume, accounts for the lack of leavening power in the other powders, as sometimes complained of by the cook, and for the bitter taste found in the biscuits so frequently complained of by ourselves.

But aside from the inferiority of the work done by these powders, the physicians assure us that lime and alum taken into the system are injurious. Their physiological effects are indigestion, dyspepsia, or worse evils.

The question naturally arises, why do these cheap baking powder makers use these things? Alum is three cents a pound, lime still cheaper, while cream of tartar costs thirty-five or forty. The reasons for the chemical purity of the Royal Baking Powder were recently given in the New York Times, in an interesting description of a new method for refining argols, or crude cream of tartar. It seems that it is only under this process that cream of tartar can be freed from the lime natural to it and rendered chemically pure; that the patents and plant for this cost the Royal Baking Powder Company about half a million dollars, and that they maintain exclusive control of the rights.

The official recognition of the purity and value of the Royal Baking Powder by the Government will add to the already wide popularity of that article, and deservedly so. This baking powder is now used, to the exclusion of all others, by the United States Government, its advertisements for supplies calling for it by name, as the continued tests of the official chemists show it to be much higher in strength and purer in quality than any other brand.

It is altogether probable that the siding matter will be amicably settled by the persons interested.

Correspondence of the Review.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.—The recent fine weather and showers have made glad the heart of man by the bright prospects of a bountiful harvest.

DRIVE.—Our village was enlivened by a large gang of men on the drive of logs that have passed down the river en route to Belleville.

A CLUB.—There is some talk of organizing a Lime Kiln Club. We think it a very good idea.

AN ENCOUNTER.—One of the residents of Essonville had quite an encounter with an enormous mud turtle. Between sticks and stones he drove his turtleship from his entrenchment and went on his way rejoicing.

CHEESE.—It is stated that Messrs. Ryan & Thompson, the great cheese makers, can squeeze more cheese out of the present supply of milk than any other two in the township. Of course they have a lot of honest farmers who do not skim nor water their milk, but send the pure essence every time.

ACCIDENT.—It will be a warning to the general public not to be too venturesome in driving through the river at high water. Mr. S. Fife and three of the family came near finding a watery grave by attempting to drive through, but by the good fortune of help being near they got off with a warning never to be forgotten.

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. R. V. AGAIN, CLOTHING!

Fathers and Sons are alike interested in the subject of New Clothes, and the approach of summer hastens preparations for bodily comfort.

Our stock of Cloths affords scope for gratifying any fancy, as to fabrics, color or price. We have some especially neat things in Scotch and Canadian Tweeds.

Our suit stock defies description. Such variety in pattern and cut as we offer includes every one's want—man or boy. Prices high enough to ensure trusty clothes, low enough to meet all requirements.

Where else do you find better proposals?

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

When he returned, after conveying Mr. Craig up-stairs, he sat down by the table, resting his elbow on it, and shading his eyes with his hand, he looked curiously at Mona, who was reading a French book of travels, which she laid down politely on his re-appearing.

"When my uncle wrote to me that he had found his brother's daughter, I did not think I should find you such a grand young lady. You don't seem to belong to us, though the Macalisters are an old stock."

"You see I was always brought up in London and on the Continent; that makes me seem different. I am not grand."

"It is more than that," he said, reflectively, "more than that. Yet you are like a young lady I used to go to school with when I was a wee lad. I saw her again this autumn when I was back in Glenboulaghan; and she is like you—ferry like—only you are taller and statelier."

"And has she a 'bonnie reed heid,' as my uncle says I have."

"Your locks are more golden than red," said the young Highlander, with an admiring smile; "but Mary's are browner, and she seems younger."

"And I suppose you enjoy getting away to the mountains and lochs of your native place?"

"Eh! it's another life. I had not been back for two years, and I had no mother to welcome me this time."

"That made a sad difference," said Mona, softly.

He did not speak immediately, and when he did, it was to ask in an altered tone—

"Were you ever in the Highlands?"

"Never."

"There is nothing like them anywhere! To be sure I haven't seen much else, but there can be nothing finer. Whether it's the gray dawn flushing redder and redder over the mountain tops, or the soft evening fading from crimson and purple, gold and lilac, to the pale blue mist and silvery moonlight; and the air so fresh and free; the springy heather, that makes your step light; the grand exulting sense of climbing higher. I wish I could take you right away and show you all over the big mountains, and glens, and the straths; and row you out on the quiet loch in the hush of the evening."

"I wish you could! I should enjoy such a ramble immensely."

"Weel," in a lowered and mysterious tone, "my uncle may be will ask you to stay at Craigdarroch. He has a lovely place there."

Here a violent peal of Mr. Craig's bell summoned them both to their attendance on that honored relative.

* * * * * * * * *

"Do you know, Deb, I am quite interested in that young Highlander; there is something uncommon about him—he is an original."

"I don't know, and I don't much care, about his originality, but I do care that he shouldn't come between you and your uncle's natural affection. My impression is that he is a selfish legacy hunter."

"In short, he is what you wish me to be. Oh, Deb, Deb!"

CHAPTER XI.—GLIMPSES OF THE PAST.

After this first visit Kenneth Macalister came frequently on Sundays, and sometimes of a week-day evening. He would appear between eight and nine o'clock, having walked straight from the city after business—just to stretch his limbs, he said, after sitting cramped at a desk all day long.

Mr. Craig, though by no means cordial in his welcome, on the whole encouraged him to come, and seemed pleased that Mona lent him books from her scanty store, or played to him, which gave him great delight. Indeed she grew quite fond of the queer, half-developed, irritable, impressionable young man, who found such evident pleasure in her society.

The winter wore on. It was severe; but Mona going constantly out kept free from cold. Kenneth had been gradually adopted by her, and was her companion on many a Sunday. Indeed, Mrs. Puddiford and her servant considered him to be Miss Craig's "young man." From this companionship Kenneth learned much of manners and even modes of thought—learned, too, with the rapidity of an imaginative, impressionable nature. He admired and looked up to his cousin with profound conviction. His society amused Mona, and helped to make her feel younger and more cheerful. Her own spirits were exceedingly variable. Sometimes Uncle Sandy's cutting remarks and utter want of tact would raise his nephew's wrath, and he would pour out his wounded feelings with much volubility to his cousin, who generally reasoned with, and calmed him.

"He thinks because he has a lot of money, and I have a right to expect he will remember his sister's son, that he can trample on me under his feet; but I will have him to know that the Macalisters were gentlemen when the Craigs were lowland peasants."

"Come, Kenneth, don't insult the Craigs; they are my people, and you must not be rude."

"You are quite different; you are a queen—so you seem to me, but you don't insult a fellow! I'll not come near Uncle Sandy till—"

"Till next Sunday!" interrupted Mona. "What should I do without my walk? And, Kenneth, I always want you to come with me."

"Oh, I'll come, cousin Mona! No fear; you shan't want your walk for me; but Sandy Craig is no gentleman, though he is my mother's brother—half-brother, I mean."

Kenneth continued to speak, but his words conveyed no sense to Mona, for her eyes had been attracted by a well-known figure.

This conversation had taken place as the cousins were walking. They had come through Kensington Gardens, past the Albert Memorial, and, reaching the road, turned west, intending to return by Palace Gardens. Just in the narrowest part of the High Street, at the opposite side, two men stood talking—one short, stout, bowed-legged, and-bull-necked, with amazingly tight trousers, a gaudy necktie, and a most horsey and repellant aspect. He had his back toward Mona as she came up. The gentleman with whom he was in deep conversation, and who faced her, was Waring.

Waring was looking dull and sullen; his clothes carelessly put on, and an indescribable air of self-neglect pervading his appearance. Mona was so startled that she almost unconsciously put her hand through Macalister's arm, drawing near to him; and he, somewhat surprised, bent his eyes upon her with a smile. Waring, who was talking eagerly, angrily glanced toward them at that moment. Their glances met, Mona blushed vividly. Waring grew white, hesitated, raised his hand to his hat; but Mona had passed before he could lift it.

"What was the matter?" asked Kenneth.

"I thought I saw a gentleman I used to know, and I—I was afraid he might come and speak to me."

"You should not be afraid of anyone when I am with you, Cousin Mona! I would not let anyone trouble you."

"But there are some things you might not be able to help. However, it is no matter. No, Kenneth—do not look back."

They talked in a friendly fashion till they reached the house, when the servant informed them that Mr. Craig had been asking for them, and the rest of the Sabbath was devoted to him.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

THE FRENCH CHAMBER.

The Revision of the Constitution to be Brought Forward by Boulanger.

PARIS, June 5.—General Boulanger took his first step in Parliament yesterday for the revision of the constitution. He gave notice that he would submit a proposal for a revision of the constitution, and would demand urgency therefor. He read a preamble stating that the elections, which had produced so many manifestations in his favor, compelled him to call attention to the sufferings of the country and to the intense crisis which threatens to become very serious. France, he declares, no longer feels that confidence in the future which is necessary to every well-governed country. This statement met with loud dissent.

The bureau of the Chamber of Deputies has stopped the allowance of M. Wilson because he has not attended the sittings since his trial for complicity in the declaration scandal.

Dignified Spanish Formality.

MADRID, June 5.—General Campos, whose daily duty it was to get the consent of the sovereign for the garrison from the Sovereign [illegible] to go to the Infanta Eulalie, in the absence of the Royal family at Barcelona, and resigned, giving as his reason that he could not go to the wife of a hussar under his command for the countersign. It is believed, however, that he had other political motives for resigning.

It is reported that the King of Spain and his sisters are ill with measles. A despatch from Barcelona says the King's malady is not measles, and that he is now better.

Things Worth Knowing.

Celery is often grown as a second crop among the onions, five rows of the onions being sown twelve or fourteen inches apart, and the sixth row being left vacant for the later sowing of celery seed or the setting of celery plants.

Lice on young chickens can be prevented by making sure that hens are not lousy when set. Good Persian insect powder, well sprinkled through the feathers, is a quick and convenient cure.

The great points to be observed in grafting are the making of smooth, clean cuts; the placing in perfect contact the inner barks of scion and stock; then the whole cut surface and every portion of the split to be perfectly covered with the grafting wax and the exclusion of air and water.

Dealers and manufacturers call the longest wools combing wool, the next Delaine or medium, and the shorter staples are clothing wools, and they are graded as superfine, fine, medium and coarse.

Manure should never be placed in contact with the roots when setting out a tree, but used for a mulch or top dressing.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,

Some Things to Say

If there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods, We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line '80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1.25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

CLEVELAND IN FAVOR.

ST. LOUIS, June 6.—The Democratic National Convention was called to order at 12.30 p.m. yesterday by Chairman Barnum. Bishop Cranberry delivered the invocation. Temporary Chairman White, of California, was then escorted to the chair and made a sdeech. At the mention of President Cleveland's name there was great excitement and tremendous cheering.

The name of Tilden was also greeted with applause and cheers. A resolution making the convention subject to the rules of the last convention, modified so as to prevent any State changing its vote until the call of the States is completed, was adopted. Mr. Patterson, Colorado, presented a gavel of Colorado silver to the chairman. The roll to name the committee is being called. On motion Dakota was excluded from the committees, there beiug a contest in that territory. The convention moved to take a recess until 11 o'clock to-day.

A Monster Parade.

ST. LOUIS, June 6.—A gorgeous parade of full 20,000 uniformed Democrats in procession was witnessed to-night by people in such numbers that they could be estimated only by hundreds of thousands. The procession started at an early hour, and was still moving at 10.40.

The Extradition Treaty.

ST. LOUIS, June 6.—The Committee on Platform elected Col. Waters as chairman. He is also chairman of the sub-committee having in charge the resolutions presented to the committee for its consideration, among which is the following by ex-Mayor O'Brien, of St. Paul:

"Resolved, that a just consideration of the interests of our foreign-born citizens requires that the pending extradition treaty between the United States and Great Britain be carefully revised, so as to provide for the surrender only of persons charged with crimes expressly named in such treaty, and that the provisions of the same shall in no wise extend to political oragrarian offences."

Was It His Ghost?

MACON, Ga., June 6.—John Hollifield, a citizen of Georgia, was said to have been murdered four years ago in Hernando Co., Fla. A skeleton said to have been his was found and the details fitted with great exactness. Daniel McGuire, Shaw Thompson and others were indicted for the murder, but such a strong appeal has been made for delay that the case is still pending. Recently it was ascertained that Hollifield had been seen in his Georgian home. An investigation discloses that reliable citizens have seen him there in Butts county as late as three weeks ago, but the man himself is missing, and why he should keep out of the way if alive is a mystery. There is a reward of $10,000 for his discovery.

Bullets in Plenty.

PARIS, Tenn., June 6.—Last evening D. Porter, a son of ex-Governor Porter, was shot and killed by Alex. B. White, cashier of the Commercial Bank. Porter had accosted White and made a motion as if to draw a pistol earlier in the evening. Kennedy Porter, another son of the ex-Governor, assaulted Bill Edmunds and shot him three times. His wounds are serious. Edmunds had shot Porter some months ago.

Princes and Peers at the Derby—Heavy Play at Baccarat—The Premier's Birthday Banquet.

LONDON, June 6.—The 119th Derby will be chiefly remembered on account of the fine weather, the welcome absence of dust, the tantalizing half-hour which was passed before a start could be effected, and the winning of the blue ribbon of the turf for the first time by the Master of the Horse during his tenure of office. It is the royal train which has to a great extent suspended the road. There is a manifest advantage in reaching the course without dust or discomfort in half an hour. On Wednesday the Samuel Lang—engine, not chairman—was gaily decked with flowers. The Prince of Wales and his son both wore light gray coats with pink carnations in their buttonholes. The Princess of Wales came to Epsom in cardinal and crimson. Her daughters were dressed in the coolest of foulard. Princess Mary of Teck looked very well in olive green. The Duke of Portland, in a short jacket, looked very anxious.

There was some heavy play at baccarat during the Manchester race meeting. One night a noble lord lost £16,000, but got it back within £1,200 before morning.

The Emperor of Brazil has been saved from syncope by respiration of oxygen gas accompanied by frequent hypodermic injections of caffeine, of which on the worst day he took an enormous quantity—thirty-one grains in twenty-one hours. There were also hyperdermic injections of ether and strychnine.

The King of Sweden arrived at Plymouth on Thursday morning from Bordeaux in the Swedish corvette Freja. His Majesty was travelling as Count Haga, so there was no official reception, but salutes were exchanged between the Freja and the Royal yacht Adelaide.

The Premier completed the difficult feat of giving the best birthday banquet ever remembered. Dinner was served to the minute. The table was decorated with white lilies and pink and yellow orchids. Count Karolyi arose with much solemnity to propose for the last time, as the doyen of diplomatists, the health of the Queen. Lord Salisbury, in the usual formula, paid the traditional compliment to the Sovereign and to the allies and friends of Her Majesty. The crush at the Foreign Office was tremendous. The floral decorations were very striking, but the hustling, pushing and rushing when the royalties arrived on the rhododendron-lined staircase would lead the impartial spectator to believe that many of the guests had never seen H. R. H. before. After much waiting Mrs. Britannia Bentwick, in brown brocade, succeeded in reaching the room set apart for the royal supper. Lady Salisbury was so busy marshalling her friends that she quite forget the Prince of Wales was to be her escort.

The Radical papers are stupidly and dishonestly attempting to get up a clamor against Lord Salisbury because he is not prepared to recognise, officially the French Exhibition of next year, which is to be held to celebrate the centenary of the Revolution. These journals are presumably unaware of the fact that two years have elapsed since the question was first raised, and that it was Lord Rosebery who decided that the English Government should not connect itself officially with the Exhibition. If this country had been committed to the support of the scheme, Germany, Austria, Russia and Italy would assuredly have been alienated, and half the people of France would have been disgusted with us.

During the month the Rev. William Rogers, rector of St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate and prebendary of St. Pancras, than whom since Sydney Smith's time there has been no clergyman knowing better how to combine good works with brilliant wit, will complete his forty-fifth year as a London clergyman and his twenty-fifth as rector of St. Botolph's. It is intended to entertain Mr. Rogers at a complimentary dinner on Wednesday, June 26, in the hall of the Drapers Company, lent by the master and wardens for the occasion. Lord Rosebery, will preside and be supported by many leading men.

On the principle of let those laugh who win, Lord Shrewsbury is impervious to the chaff with which he has been assailed for entering into business as a cab driver, and for branding the gondola of London with his coronet and cipher. So vast indeed has this business grown to be in his hands that he finds himself unable so cope with it singly, and is about to bring it forth as a public company.

It was obvious that a criticism by Mr. Swinburne of Mr. Whistler would command attention, and in acquiring the article for "The Fortnightly Review" Mr. Frank Harris has shown as much commercial aptitude as his great rival, Mr. James Knowles. From a letter addressed to us Mr. Whistler does not seem to take the criticism as complimentary, but to me, I confess, it seemed very appreciative and very clever, and in no way unkind. Mr. Swinburne's variety of vituperation is as powerful as ever.

Lord Wolseley is quite in feather. He has been censured, it is true, by the Government for his outspoken utterances and sudden conversion to the doctrines of grumbling clubland, which he has so often and so vehemently condemned, but the public have caught on, as the Yankees have it, and his Lordship was never more popular, never more in request than he is just now.

Rather to the surprise of the Paris public, the medal of honor in the section of painting at the Salon was awarded to M. Edouard Detaille. At the first ballot M. Benjamin Constant headed the list, but as he did not obtain an absolute majority, of votes a second ballot was necessary. Then M. Detaille came out first. M. Benjamin Constant's disappointment was so keen that his friends did not dare to leave him alone for fear he should throw himself out of a window or otherwise allow despair to get the better of reason. When M. Detaille's name was proclaimed, M. Meissonier—Le Pere Meissonier as painters call him—threw himself into his pupil's arms and bedewed his waistcoat with tears. Then he begged M. Gervex to see that the newspaper men received a full and graphic account of this touching scene. Thereupon M. Gervex hired a cab, hurried down to the boulevard and communicated the great news to the sippers of fitters and curocoa, at the Cafe American, Tortoni's and the Cafe Riche. Thence M. Gervex hastened to a syndicate of the foreign press and left this note: "Medal of honour, Detaille. When name proclaimed Meissonier threw himself into Detaille's arms, shedding tears of joy. Please cable and telegraph.

GONE UP IN SMOKE.

A Carriage Factory and Furnace Works Destroyed.

TORONTO, June 6.—At noon yesterday a serious fire occurred on Queen-street east, when two factories were completely destroyed. A little after twelve o'clock, most of the workmen being at dinner, an employe noticed smoke arising from a room near the furnace in Hewitt & Harvey's box factory, No. 24 Britain street, and ran over with a pail of water to investigate. A moment later he had to run for his life, a mass of flame having burst from the lumber and shaving-laden floor. The flames spread with such tremendous force that in five minutes the whole building was enveloped, and the flames had spread to Messrs. J. F. Pease & Co.'s furnace factory, Nos. 151, 153 and 155 Queen-street east, entering up an open hoist at the back, and spreading from flat to flat before scarcely an effort could be made by the firemen. Several sections of the brigade saw the dense smoke and arrived at the scene almost as soon as the general alarm sounded. Gathering force, as they sped, the flames reached Martin Bros.' carriage factory, adjoining the furnace factory on the east side, and in half an hour this building, a two-story frame was completely destroyed, as was also the cottage occupied by J. W. Hime as a horse-shoeing establishment. Following are the losses.—F. W. Pease & Co. had $20,000 stock and $10,000 worth has been destroyed, but the loss is fully covered by insurance. The damage to the building, which is owned by Messrs. Taylor Bros., amounts to $2,000. Martin Bros. lose $6,000 in stock, and are insured for half that amount. The buildings were worth about $4000, and are a complete loss. Messrs. Hewitt and Harvey have just put some new machinery into their box factory, so that their loss will not fall far short of $5,000. J. W. Hime loses his entire stock of horse-shoeing utensils, and estimates his total loss at $400. No insurance.

Fashionable Wedding—James Fahey's Funeral—Meeting of the Synod.

TORONTO, June 6.—Mr. Austin Smith, son of the Hon. Frank Smith, was united in marriage to Miss Minnie, eldest daughter of Mr. Hugh Ryan, the well-known railway contractor, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The ceremony was performed by His Lordship Bishop O'Mahoney, assisted by the Rev. Dean O'Connor, of Perth, and Rev. Father McBride, at the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes.

A large number of sympathysing journalists attended the funeral of James Fahey yesterday morning from his late residence on Lisgar street. The work of gathering in something for the seven destitute and motherless orphans left by deceased is being boldly pushed forward.

William C. Young, wholesale boot and shoe manufacturer, of this city, failed yesterday and offers to compromise at 45 cents on the dollar.

John E. Davidson, wholesale lumber merchant, has disappeared, leaving over $16,000 liabilities. Last week Davidson offered to compromise.

The Synod of the diocese of Toronto assembled for the transaction of annual business yesterday morning in the school house of the Church of the Holy Trinity. Bishop Sweatman presided, and there was a large attendance of clerical and lay representatives. After an opening prayer by Venerable Archdeacon Boddy and routine business, His Lordship delivered an opening address. In it he congratulated the diocese on the progress made in all directions during the last year, urged the brethren to renewed efforts in the temperance canse, and made an earnest plea for assistance in the building of the new diocese cathedral, St. Albans.

A Scene in Court.

MONCTON, N. B., June 6.—A sensation was caused in the police court by Mrs. Wallace, who, while being tried for violating the Scott act, severely castigated David Grant, the prosecuting attorney, with a whalebone whip. Grant caught hold of the whip, when she grabbed him by the hair and banged his head several times on the magistrate's desk. The chief of police rescued the attorney and the case was adjourned. Last night a number of Mrs. Wallace's admirers presented her with a diamond ring.

The Cape Breton Collieries.

HALIFAX, June 6.—It is stated that John R. Bothwell is in New York for the purpose of interesting capitalists there for the purpose of purchasing a number of Cape Breton collieries, which are to be consolidated under one management. Among the companies said to be selling to Mr. Bothwell are the Sydney and Louisburg Coal & Railway Company, the International Coal Company and the Caledonia. It is proposed to invest a large amount of fresh capital in the Cape Breton coal mines.

A Fatal Fall.

HULL AGAIN DEVASTATED.

FULLY FIFTEEN HUNDRED PEOPLE HOMELESS.

The Roman Catholic Church and Convent Totally Destroyed and Over 250 Dwellings Swept Away by the Flames.

OTTAWA, June 6.—For the third time within eight years Hull has been purged with fire and a large section swept off the rock on which the city is built. About 3.45 yesterday afternoon, while the City Council was in session, fire broke out under the stairs of the City Hall, which was in the centre of the Market-square, and upstairs over the market. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the stump of a lighted cigar falling under the stairs among some waste. A strong gale was blowing at the time and the fire spread with fearful rapidity, and in a few minutes the City Hall was in flames and sparks were showering on the small wooden buildings in the vicinity. The wind was blowing from the northwest and the fire fairly flew along the streets running north and east, and within fifteen minutes forty or fifty tenements were in flames.

The fire brigade was practically useless, the small mains being totally inadequate to supply the numerous streams laid on, and the fire merely laughed at the sickly squirts which trickled on it, some of which scarcely went twenty feet beyond the nozzle.

The wind blew directly towards the magnificent Roman Catholic Church, the largest edifice of the archiepiscopal diocese of Ottawa except the Basilica at Ottawa, and the interior was soon in flames. The church was of solid limestone with a sheet iron roof which held the fire in splendidly, and had there been a sufficient water supply the building would have been saved. As it was this beautiful structure, valued at over $150,000, was totally destroyed, together with other church property in the vicinity estimated at $100,000 more.

The fire swept along, totally beyond control, and soon caught the convent a quarter of a mile distant, totally destroying it.

By the time the Conqueror engine had arrived from Ottawa and had two good streams on the college, which was saved, and the Eddy and Union steamer had several streams on Eddy's piling grounds south of the fire, the lumber piles in which were mostly saved, only the fence and a few piles being destryed."

With the exception of the church, presbytery and convent almost all the buildings were of wood and burnt like so much paper under the impetus of the fierce gale which prevailed throughout the two hours the fire lasted, until it fairly burnt itself out.

It is difficult to get at the number of houses burnt, but a moderate calculation puts it at 250, which is more likely to be under than over-estimated. Fully 1500 people are homeless, most of whom are poor.

The loss will exceed $500,000, on which there is little insurance except $80,000 on the church, $4,000 on the convent and $5,000 on the City Hall.

The church was beautifully finished inside and contained many fine pivtures, none of which were saved. Not only were the contents of the church totally destroyed, but also a considerable quantity of furniture which had been removed from buildings on fire or in danger and placed there for safety

This is the worst fire Hull has ever had

HUGHES BROS. FLOAT.

After remaining in session for nearly three hours yesterday the creditors of Hughes Bros., wholesale dry goods merchants, came to a conclusion as to how they would treat with the bankrupt establishment. The committee who were elected to make a re-valuation of the assets and securities made a report which in substance resembles the statement which has been published. It was adopted.

The firm then made an offer to compromise in the following manner:—25 cents on the dollar cash and five cents on the dollar to be paid by Hughes Bros.' note at six months, the 25 per cent. cash to be paid over at once to the creditors by Mr. Thos. Long, late of Collingwood, and the note to be given by the firm. This offer was accepted.

THE CONFERENCE RESOLUTIONS.

It is reported that Premier Mercier, of Quebec, intends going to London to present the resolutions adopted at the conference called by him at Quebec, to the Imperial authorities, and to ask for Imperial legislation giving them effect. This would be a bold and an absurd act on his part. The resolutions have not been endorsed by all the Provincial Assemblies, the Legislative Councils of two Provinces rejected them, and they have not been considered by the Dominion Parliament. The political friends of Mr. Mercier and Mr. Mowat did not even ask the Dominion Parliament to endorse them. Under these circumstances it is altogether impropable that the Imperial Government or Parliament would take any action upon them.

The resolutions propose to take the power to veto provincial legislation from the Dominion and give it to the authorities in London. That would be a retrograde step, not in keeping with the spirit of self government of the Canadian people. But if Messrs. Mercier and Mowat ask the Imperial Parliament to give effect to the proposals of the resolutions without the consent of the Dominion they will be taking a further retrograde step. By complying with the request the English Parliament would appropriate the Dominion revenues, by telling the Canadian Parliament what sums it must pay to the provincial treasuries. It would be over-riding the Canadian Parliament in a matter under its jurisdiction, and by asking the English Parliament to interfere in such a manner, and to appropriate the taxes of the Canadian people, these Liberals would be acting an odd part. Canada has home rule in these matters, and the English authorities are not likely to ask the Dominion to give it up at the request of Liberal provincial politicians.

The Liberal party is taking up strange positions. On the one hand they are advocating the resignation into the hands of the Imperial Government of a portion of the self-government secured for Canada, while at the same time they are striving to lead Canada into a combination with the United States against Great Britain. They are prepared to do anything or advocate anything that seems to afford an opportunity for political advantage.

THE Toronto Empire pertinently remarks:—"When Mr. H. H. Smith was appointed Dominion Land Commissioner, a bitter attack was made upon him by the Globe and other Liberal journals, and they censured the Government for selecting him. Now the Manitoba Free Press, in discussing the probable choice for Minister of the Interior, says that Mr. Smith would be the best man for the position, that he is thoroughly acquainted, by the most painstaking experience, with the great western interior, that he has been instrumental in procuring several important reforms in the land laws by which the country has benefited, and that he favours other valuable reforms. It is evident from this testimony of a Liberal journal that the Government made a wise choice when they appointed Mr. H. H. Smith Land Commissioner, and that he has filled that important position efficiently and satisfactorily. A great many Grit estimates of Government appointments are just as unfair as the Grit attacks on Land Commissioner Smith were."

BAT, BALL AND WICKETS.

The Bankers and Professional Men Defeat the Merchants' Eleven.

The members of the cricket club had a rattling good cricket match on the P. A. A. grounds, on Tuesday afternoon. Sides were chosen from the bankers and professional men, and the merchants and tradesmen.

The bankers, etc., went to the bat first and succeeded in rolling up 92 before they were disposed of. Day, the professional, contributed 45 of the total, carrying his bat out after a splendid exhibition of cricket. McGill with 15, Dunsford with 10 and Shaw with 9 also played well for what they made.

The merchants, etc., followed, but they were disposed of for 60, Ray 18, Salisbury 15, and Kincaid 11, did the work. "Dave" LeRoy also secured 6. The bowling of Day was very destructive, and Parker likewise sent in a ball that it was found very difficult to play. Day performed the "hat trick" during the game.

COURT OF REVISION.

Very little Business done at the First Meeting of this Body.

A meeting of the Town Council Court of Revision was held at the chamber on Tuesday night. The appeals numbered twenty-one.

Councillor Moore occupied the chair, and Councillors Kelly, Langford and Douglas were the other members present. Assessors McGrath and Aldridge were also on hand.

The assessment of K. M. Macdonald on real estate, was reduced from $500 to $350.

The income of Dr. Caldwell was reduced from $1000 to $800.

The appeals of R. O. Helm, Gilbert Peck, Thos. Bradburn, [illegible] Brown, Lewis Spry, Henry Best, E. A. Peck, Jno. McClelland, and Edward Butler were allowed to stand.

The assessment of Mr. R. A. Hamilton was reduced from $500 to $300.

Messrs. Hall and Hayes were assessed as supporters of the public schools at their request.

Mr. R. Dennistoun, Q.C., was at his own request relieved from the assessment of "Inverlea."

Mrs. Cinderella Smith appealed against her assessment of $900, on the ground that it was too high. Assessment confirmed.

The request of Jos. Stewart to be assessed for real estate was granted, and the appeal of Henry Best against over-assessment was dismissed.

The court then adjourned until Friday evening.

A Complaint.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Now that in this town diphtheria is so prevalent on Simcoe-st. and the weather getting warm, we, as residents, to get fresh air from the south, have to keep our windows open at night. The stench from the Midland R. R. track, or in other words, off Bethune-st., is enough to make one sick. Where is the Health Inspector, and what is his duty, and is he paid a salary for looking after such things?

I subscribe my name,
RALPH O. HELM.

Peterborough, June 6th, 1888.

In East Northumberland.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—There is some trouble in the Grit camp in East Northumberland at present. The election of Mr. Clarke, M. P. P., is protested and there is a vacancy in the License Inspectorship and in the office of Baliff of the Division Court at Campbellford, with scores of applicants for these positions. 'Tis said that there are 127 applicants for the Inspectorship, all good and true Grits and in their own estimation all well qualified for the position. It seems the qualification required is to have a large number of your connexions on the voters' list and to be a supporter of the Mowat Government. At least it is said that is Mr. Clarke's opinion, as he enquires of each applicant, What strength can you bring to the party? He seems to have trouble ever since his election. First there was a Police Magistrate to be appointed, when he called the several applicants together to select one of themselves, which they did, selecting Mr. Webb; but it is said that while they were in session Mr. J. M. Forris, late M.P.P., went to Toronto and secured the plum for himself, and I suppose Mr. C is afraid to try the same plan again.

Mr. Clark has made a mistake in encouraging persons to apply for the Inspectorship and to believe that they would be the lucky individual, and instead of making he has lost friends. If he is unseated, which I think he will be, he will not have the least chance of re-election. Mr. Jas. Dinwoodie, of Campbellford, will, I think, be the choice of the Conservatives as his opponent, and if so, his election is certain, as I feel certain he is personally the strongest man in the riding. He is very popular with persons of every denomination.

Yours respectfully,
OBSERVER.

Hastings, June 8th, 1888.

P.S.—It is rumoured that the Registrar of East Northumberland is dead. If so, I would advise Mr. Clark to appoint himself to the position, and retire from politics, for he is not a success as a politician.

The Superiority of the "Royal Flavoring Xtracts" is purity and strength.

Personal.

Mr. W. D. Scott, B. A., M. D., has decided to locate in Peterborough and to practice his profession here. Dr. Scott is an honor graduate in arts of Toronto University and in medicine of Trinity. He passed his medical examinations very creditably, and after spending some time in walking the New York hospitals, returned to Toronto, where for over a year he was House Surgeon of the Toronto Hospital. Dr. Scott is a son of Mr. George Scott, of Smith, and his many friends will welcome him to Peterborough.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need; that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yat is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

Fresh or strong southwest, veering to westerly winds; partly cloudy warm weather; local showers or thunderstorms by night.

Last but Best.

It seems—so reported—that a number of Auburn young people recently decided to put wedding cake under their pillows at night and we are informed that they dreamed of the following:—1, of her grandmother; 2 of a snake swallowing a man; 3 of an elephant skipping a rope; 4, of a runaway team; 5, of a railway accident; 6, of a murder; 7 of getting a new gown at the golden lion, in which she looked so charming, that her dilatory lover proposed on the spot, and named the day. Moral: whether you dream of bargains or not, buy at fair's.

Street Improvements.

The work of cutting down Reid, Hunter, Hall, Brock and Kirk-sts, upon which the Street Inspector has had men engaged, has been completed. The material taken from these streets has been utilized to good advantage in making up other streets, and also two parks, one at the corner of Hunter and Park-sts, and the other at Charlotte and Park-sts. The cost of the work has been $460. In addition St. Peter's Cathedral, St. Andrew's Church and citizens in the vicinity have done 3,800 feet of boulevarding at a cost of $380. The work has made a great improvement on those streets.

Dominion Day.

The joint committee of the Fire Brigade and Driving Park Association was held on Tuesday evening and a programme for the celebration of Dominion Day was drawn out, full particulars of which will be given to the public in a few days. The events include horse races, fox and deer hunts, athletic sports and a grand calithumpian parade. A public meeting of citizens will be held on Friday evening next to strike committees for carrying out the different portions of the programme and a large attendance is anticipated. Mr. "Ned" Brown is secretary of the executive committee and as he has an able corps of assistants a rousing demonstration may be looked for. The promoters are working with a will and there is no doubt that the celebration of Dominion Day this year will be as in the past, the best and largest in the Midland district.

the Oddfellows excursion to Toronto on Tuesday, June 12th, via C.P.R. Keep it in mind. We do all we advertise.

Good Boys.

The Chief and Officers Adams and McGinty were on duty at the park last night. The small boy was also there in large numbers, but to his credit be it said, the warnings of the officers had an excellent effect and the youths for once were silent, or at least quiet.

Band Concert.

The Fire Brigade Band gave another open air concert at the park on Tuesday evening. There was a very large attendance of spectators and listeners. The programme was a fine one and the musicians acquitted themselves as they always do, in a highly creditable manner.

More Music.

We understand that the members of the Peterborough Amateur Orchestra are considering a proposition to play in the park on Friday evenings. The organization is composed of really good players, their music is of a high class and we feel confident that their concerts would be highly appreciated by the public.

The Cathedral Pic-Nic.

One feature of interest in connection with the Cathedral Pic-nic, to be held on July 2nd, is the drawing for a $20 gold piece. Mr. J. Hackett, to encourage a lively competition among those who are disposing of tickets, has agreed to give a special prize $20.00 to the lady selling the greatest number of tickets. Now for lively work.

WE aim to make our reputation of the Pantry permanent by selling at figures that clinch the argument every time.

Masonic Excursionists.

The proprietors of the Grand Pacific Hotel and Revere House, Toronto, have written the Masonic Excursion Committee, soliciting the patronage of Peterborough and other visitors by the Masonic Excursion to-morrow, and offering all their guests the benefit of special reduced rates which have been placed at $1.00 and $1.50 per day. 1d132.

Sacred Concert.

The proposition to hold sacred concerts by the Fire Brigade Band, in the park each Sunday afternoon, appears to meet with much favor among the public and a large number of citizens have spoken to Bandmaster Miller, all of them favouring the idea. As the members of the band are perfectly willing to play, if desired by the citizens, it is probable that the first concert will take place at an early date.

S. S. Picnic.

A picnic was held on Tuesday afternoon at the grove on the Tully farm, North Monaghan, by the pupils of the Second Line Union Sabbate School, of Smith. A large number of pupils, teachers and friends from town were present. On the grounds a large marquee was erected in which refreshments were served during the day. Baseball, swings, quoits and other amusements were provided and the fun did not cease until all were pretty well tired out and darkness came.

Cause and Effect.

The question of the hour is why people will put themselves so much about. Why pass all the attractions along George-st., bankrupt stocks at 50c. on the dollar, and dollar for dollar, and goods for the mere asking, in fact to be sent home in a wheelbarrow and charge nothing for the sending. We ask again, why is it that the appreciative public will pass all this and pursue the even tenor of their way to the noted cheap store, last one on the east side of George-st. in other words Sheppard's Big Bonanza Bargain House, is reached. Cause and effect—the cheapest and best goods between Toronto and Montreal.

Board of Education.

A regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was called for Tuesday evening, but at eight o'clock Trustees McWilliams, Denne, Dumble, Hill, Weir and Hughes were the only members present, two short of a quorum, and in accordance with the statute no meeting could be held. In a few minutes afterwards Messrs. Arthur Rutherford and Thomas Rutherford filed an appearance, but they were too late. Chairman Stevenson, and trustees Kendry, English and O'Meara were all at Ottawa, re the C. P. R. switch. It is probable that a special meeting will be held on Monday evening next to make some arrangements regarding a public school in the fourth ward.

Low prices do not affect the quality of of Groceries at the Pantry. This truth demonstrated in every purchase.

Score another.

It goes without saying that the Oddfellows' Excursion Committee are putting forth every effort to make the excursion to Toronto via C. P. R. on Tuesday next, June 12th, an unqualified success. They have this day completed arrangements with the proprietor of the Grand Pacific Hotel, Corner of King and John-sts., to prepare a special bill of fare for the occasion at greatly reduced rates, viz., $1.50 per day. The Grand Pacific is a new hotel, recently newly furnished, centrally situated, with all modern improvements. Mr. Vanwormer, the proprietor, who is a prominent Oddfellow, has promised to put forth every effort to insure the comfort of all who favor him with their patronage. The large ball room will be handsomely decorated, and be at the disposal of those who wish to tip the light fantastic. The 57th Battalion Band and members of the Canton will make the Grand Pacific their headquarters while in the city. Return tickets good for two days, $2.00 Children, $1.00

Davis' Pain-Killer is the best medicine in the world for all Diseases of the Bowels.

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

The Directors Meet, Make Appointments and Revise the Price List.

A meeting of the Directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society was held on Tuesday afternoon.

President Rutherford occupied the chair and the others present were Messrs. Vance, Muncey, Tully, Moore, Baptie, Fitzgerald, Garbutt, Fair and McClelland.

Secretary Collins occupied his post for the first time since his appointment.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Several communications and accounts were received.

On motion a cheque was issued to the President, for the sum of $5, that being the amount paid by him to the Canadian Agricultural Fair Association, as membership fee for the West Riding Society.

COMMITTEES.

The following committees of management were appointed:—

HORSES.—Messrs. Joseph Tully, W. M. Fair and Jas. Baptie.

CATTLE.—Messrs. John Muncey and John Garbutt.

SHEEP AND PIGS.—Messrs. R. Vance and Jos. Forster.

POULTRY.—Mr. John McClelland.

AGR. PRODUCE AND VEGETABLES.—Messrs. John Moore, Jos. Tully, G. W. Fitzgerald and J. Baptie.

DOMESTIC MANFS. AND LADIES' WORK.—Messrs. Jos. Tully and J. Baptie.

Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald was appointed general superintendent of the building and grounds.

THE DATES.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 25th, 26th and 27th, were finally decided as the days on which the exhibition should be held.

THE PROGRAMME.

It was decided that all entries in classes 24 to 37 inclusive, agricultural produce, etc., should be on the grounds by 10 a. m. on the first day, so that the judges can compiete their work as early as possible. There will also be speeding in the ring, including a local trot.

On the second day the grounds will be open to the public from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. and all classes from 1 to 23 inclusive, horses, cattle, etc., must be on the ground at 10 a. m. Among the special attractions will be speeding horses, open to all, for a purse of $200.

On the third and last day the grounds will open at 9 a. m. and exhibitors can remove their goods after 4 p. m. Among the extra features will be a parade of the prize animals and more speeding in the ring.

In addition to the features mentioned, the band of the Fire Brigade will give open air concerts, and the managers are now in communication with a view of securing the services of some of the greatest attractions in the country.

The price of admission will remain at 25 cents, as usual.

AMENDING THE RULES.

Several amendments and additions were made to the rules and regulations.

1. Members must pay their annual subscriptions before the 15th of September or they will be charged double rates, $2.00.

2 The Judges must report any fraud, or any attempted fraud coming to their notice, and any person who hinders the judges by tearing up prize tickets or in any other way, shall forfeit all prizes they may have been awarded.

3 Protests against the decision of a judge must be in writing and they are required to be handed in to the secretary or president, within four hours after the judge, have announced their award. Each protest must be accompanied by the sum of $2, which will be forfeited if the protest is not sustained.

THE PRIZE LIST.

The prize list was then taken up, class by class and gone over thoroughly. Those for horses and cattle remain the same as they were last year, of course, without the same specials, and it is to be distinctly understood that properly certified pedigrees must be produced in the classes where the rules require them. Sheep, swine and poultry were left the same. Some slight changes were made in Agricultural products. The horticultural and garden vegetables were unchanged. The prizes for cut flowers and plants were cut down one half all around, and the remainder of the classes were left as they were. It was decided to grant free space to the carriage and agricultural implement manufacturers, but not to award any prizes in either class.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE C. P. R. EXTENSION.

The Delegations from Peterborough Interview Dominion Ministers.

The majority of those who made up the two delegations who went to Ottawa on Monday to present the views of those interested with regard to the construction of the extension of the C.P.R. line to the Dickson mills returned this morning, having had an interview with the Ministers on Tuesday morning. The two delegations had arranged for a hearing before the Railway Committee of the Privy Council at 11 o'clock. At that hour about forty of Peterborough's citizens strode into the office of the Ministers. Members of the delegation were introduced by Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M. P. There were present Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Railways and Canals, and Hon. J.S.D. Thompson, Minister of Justice. Senator Scott presented the case for the C. P. R. and Mr. Hershmer, engineer of the road, assisting. Mayor Stevenson, with Messrs. T. G. Hazlitt, for the Dickson Estate, J. Kendry, R. S. Davidson and others composed the deputation favoring the proposed extension. Messrs. English, Comstock, Dawson, owners of property along the river front and representatives of the Peterborough Boating club and local canoe clubs, were of the opposing delegation. Their side of the of the case being ably presented by Mr. R. E. Wood and by Mr. E. B. Edwards. Mr. H. Calcutt was also of the delegation, and spoke in support of the contention, that the proposed embankment—if built—would interfere with navigation on the river and possibly depreciate the value of his property on the Ashburnham side of the river.

After Senator Scott had explained what the C.P.R. wanted—to build an embankment from the foot of Sherbrook-st. in a direct line up the river to the foot of Simcoe-st., the fun commenced. Objection was at once made to the work as proposed, on the ground that the flow of water in the river would be interfered with and the rights of property owners infringed on as well as the sewerage facilities of the town interferred with. Mayor Stevenson handed in a copy of the resolution passed at the Town Council on Monday evening previous, and to the recommendations in which the Ministers seemed inclined to attack some weight. Plans of the proposed extentsion were laid on the table and the salient points at issue described and located. Mayor Stevenson spoke in favor of the scheme. Mr. R. E. Wood covered the ground—or rather water—in defence of his clients' rights and Mr. Edwards spoke on behalf of the aquatic clubs. The matter was gone into very fully during a two hours debate.

Mayor Stevenson suggested the abandonment of the proposed embankment, and the adoption of a line to be built along the waters edge as far up as the Dennie flour mill and from thence in a line direct for Simcoe-st. This would involve the question of damages to property along the river edge and the C. P. R. was willing to pay for the accommodation.

After hearing the statements made on both sides, Hon. Mr. Pope pointed out—and this view was concurred in by Hon. Mr. Thompson,—that no order in council would be granted to permit the work being undertaken that should not make full provision for providing ample facility to retain the flow of water along the western shore of the river as at present. The question of interfering with the town sewer outlets, was, it was pointed out, a matter that the Council should deal with. Should the plan as suggested by Mayor Stevenson be adopted then no doubt satifactory arrangements would be made with the property owners interested.

It was understood after the deputation withdrew that an effort would be made to reach some satisfactory basis. The boating club men consider that they have gained the point desired in having the channel unobstructed

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

Mona's sudden start and slight confusion soon passed from young Macalister's mind. But the encounter with Waring dwelt long in Mona's. She was greatly affected by seeing him look so changed for the worse. Ought she to bear the blame of this in any way? No! However grieved she might be, she could not suppose that the loss of herself had wrought such mischief. It was only his natural downward tendencies that were swaying him. And there was so much of good in his nature, it was an infinite pity that he was thus dragged down. What a horror the man was to whom he had been speaking! Poor Waring! She would have liked to have remonstrated with and saved him; but even had she the chance of doing so, she would have put herself in a false position by showing the kindly interest she felt.

* * * * * * * * *

A few days after this little adventure, and much about the time Mrs. Newburgh had died the previous year, Uncle Sandy was seized by a very sharp attack of bronchitis. For a few days he was even in danger.

On this occasion Mme. Debrisay distinguished herself. She was a capital nurse, and had had large experience.

Both were unceasing in their care; but Mme. Debrisay was obliged to absent herself nearly all day, whereas Mona gave up her pupils that she might watch over the sufferer.

Mr. Craig seemed deeply touched by the thoughtful care of his nurses—especially by Mme. Debrisay's; and the sort of mistrust with which he regarded her melted away.

The short Christmas holidays, therefore, were anything but a cheerful period to the partners; and though Uncle Sandy was as fractious as an invalid well could be, his occasional bursts of grateful recognition obliterated the irritation of his testiness.

To Mona, the knowledge that he was going to make Kenneth his heir brought a certain liberty of action, which set her free from any fear of being indirectly hampered by fear of her own motives.

When Mr. Craig was able to get up, and stagger with Kenneth's help into his sitting room, he was less disposed than usual to growl and find fault.

"Well, madame," he said, "ye may be wrang in the matter of doctrine, but you are a' right in the treatment of the sick. I'd have been a deid mon, if ye hadn't known what to do while they were seeking the doctor."

"I am very glad to be of any use to you; but I think, as far as constant attention went, Mona was the best of all! She left nearly all her lessons, to stay with you. However, I am glad to say she has only lost two or three."

"Lost! Did you say lost?"

"Yes, my dear sir. You see, Tuesdays and Fridays are always very busy, and she gave up three pupils for those days, not to forego her attendance on you."

"That was varra kind—varra. I'll not forget it."

He seemed lost in reflection, while Mme. Debrisay murmured to herself—

"I wish he would remember it soon, or his memory won't keep it."

"I was just thinking that Mona has been like a daughter to me," resumed Mr. Craig. "I begin to think I'd be lonesome without her. Eh, Kenneth, my mon, what do you say?"

"You would feel very desolate without her, now you have been accustomed to her, and so might anyone. My cousin Mona is an uncommon clever, bright young leddy."

"Eh! ye think so, do you? Aweel, aweel! I'd like to have a talk with ye the next time you come up here; there are one or two matters I should wish you to consider."

"My dear sir, if you wish to speak to Mr. Macalister, I will leave you together?"

"Not the day, not the day," said Uncle Sandy. "I have no the strength to insist on anything."

* * * * * * * * *

On her return from giving lessons the same afternoon on which Mme. Debrisay had informed Uncle Sandy of the fact that Mona had given up three pupils, she suddenly met Evelyn, who had come up to town for a few days. She insisted that Mona must take luncheon with her, and have a long talk.

The next afternoon Mona set out to keep her appointment with Lady Finistoun, and was received with open arms.

"So glad to see you, dear! Finistoun is out, and we shall have such a nice long chat."

Evelyn made Mona feel quite at home, and insisted on a full history of all that had happened since she had last seen her. When Mona spoke of her uncle, she said—

"Do tell me what the uncle is like."

Mona gave the history of their first meeting.

"Depend on it, he will prove a 'treasure trove.' Where does he come from?"

"Somewhere near Glasgow. My father's people were—I scarcely know what—very humble in origin."

"And where does he live when he is at home?"

"I am not very sure. He has a cottage in the Western Highlands called Craigdarroch."

"Craigdarroch!" repeated Lady Finistoun, in great surprise. "Why, that is close to Strathairlie. I remember hearing that a rich jute manufacturer bought it. Yes, I know all about it now, dearest Mona; it must be the same Mr. Craig—a dreadful rich, radical old miser! You don't mind my saying so, do you?"

"Oh, no! by no means," she returned, laughing. "It is very curious that you should know anything about him. Still, I cannot believe in his wealth; and he is certainly not a miser."

"This is a delightful discovery. Finistoun will be quite pleased; and then we shall see you in the autumn. We always go, or will go, to Strathairlie."

"But perhaps my uncle will not return there."

"Oh, yes, he will. Do not be so contradictory. My dear love, you will be a wealthy heiress yet! Craigdarroch is quite a lovely place. And there is a farm—a good large farm, and fishing rights attached to it, etc., etc."

Talk flowed freely, till Mona, observing the hour, insisted on taking leave.

"It is pouring with rain. Do let me send you home in a cab!"

"No, dear Evelyn. You shall not send me in a cab. I will take one myself, for I do not wish to spoil my best gown."

"What a rebellious subject you are! I protest I feel a load taken off my mind when I think you have a rich uncle in the toils. Keep fast hold of him."

CHAPTER XII.—A DILEMMA.

Mme. Debrisay's words respecting Mona's sacrifices for her uncle had sunk into his soul.

He was generally a taciturn individual; but at times communicative fits would seize him, of which, when they were past, he seemed half ashamed.

Mona's absence on the Sunday afternoon when she had lunched with Lady Finistoun, was a stumbling-block and rock of offense.

"Leddy Finistoun, indeed," he muttered, not addressing anyone in particular. "She and her people would have left the girlie to starve, and she must run back to eat of her bread. That's not the right spirit."

"But, uncle," said Mona, who was looking for the city article in the Times, "Evelyn was always fond of me. She is not responsible for what her people did."

"Eh! They are all birds of the same feather. I'd have nowt to do wi' them."

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

Some Things to Say

If there is any rule to follow in buying it is the rule to buy comfortably and decently. Buy where you are not harrassed, buy where you have the chance to select easily and confidently, buy where you are not offered a bankrupt goods stock which you don't need and don't purpose to buy, buy where the "mark downs" are not made use of to compel you to buy whether your wish is to or not, buy where the stock is new, fresh and stylish, kept so by a steady stream of custom that spoils the stock by the demand made on its resources every day. Buy here and you buy well.

SHALL we ask you to buy Dress Goods. Certainly. We are confident of our lines. If you want cheap goods, take our Serges. Showy goods, really serviceable, neat looking and only 10c. per yard. Makes a serviceable, well looking gown and sure to have a neat appearance.

Suppose you want better goods, We need scarcely tell you ours is the house for better things. We are famous for keeping the best things in the market. We are well spoken of far and near. To jog your memory we suggest a line of Celf-stripe German Dress Stuffs, soft, well finished, very suitable for tailor-made costumes. Very fashionable in the cities and just making their way into towns. We have these.

PARASOLS in many styles. We took from our agent several lines of Parasols to clear. We reached a bargain and are giving you a bargain off-hand. Ask for line "30" Heavy Twilled Satin Merve Parasols, usually sold for $2.75; This was a large lot and we sell for $2.00. Line "85" is a Twilled Shot. Silk-and-Linen, usually sold for $1.25 we do these for 75c. Line "80" is a new Black and White Stripe and Checks sold for $3.00 which we sell for $2.50, line "70" is a line usually sold for $1.75, now sold by us at $1,25, and so on all through the invoice. Naturally enough these prices hold good for a few days as the supply is limited, so those coming early will not be disappointed.

GLOVES never so cheap. With warm weather Silk Gloves are in demand. A nice line of these at 25c. per pair.

NEWS FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

Another poor Brakesman Killed—Morse to be Extradited.

TORONTO, June 7.—At yesterday's meeting of the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto Bishop Sweatman announced his approaching departure to England to attend the Pan-Anglican Synod at Lambeth. A motion by Rev. John Langtry to revise the prayers for the Governor-General and Parliament was, after considerable discussion, withdrawn. The main business was the consideration of the reports of the Clergy Commutation Trust Fund Committee. The Bishop's appointments to the Executive Committee were; Venerable Archdeacon Body, Rev. Canon O'Meara, Rev. Provost Body, Rev. T. W. Allen, Rev. C. C. Johnson, Hon. G. W. Allan, Mr. A. H. Campbell; Hon. James Patton, Dr. Snelling and Judge Benson.

Contractor Godson has filed an affidavit at Osgoode Hall setting forth that the proceedings taken by the city to have a judicial investigation into certain matters in connection with the Board of Works are illegal, and praying for an injunction to restrain the judge and counsel from proceeding on an intended trip to Chicago to take evidence. The motion was enlarged by Judge Robertson until Friday.

Messrs. W. H. Parr and Matthew Ryan left for Kansas city last night to attend the annual meeting of the International Typographical Union, as delegates from the Toronto Union.

The Queen's Park City case has been enlarged until the September term of the Court of Queen's Bench, and will be argued before the full court.

Judge Macdougall has decided that the colored man Morse, held for an assault on a railway conductor named Barber at Savannah, Ga., should be extradited. His arguments were judicial and impartial, and when the prisoner's counsel announced that an appeal would be taken he gave expression to the hope that it might be successful, and would at once consider an application for bail. The sympathy for Morse here is pretty general, and so is the desire to see the thing fought out to the end.

A brakesman named John Cunningham Hay, on the Northern Railway, was run over and killed between here and Thornhill yesterday morning. It is supposed he had accidentally stumbled and fallen between the cars.

The Supreme Council of the Royal Arcanum has been in session yesterday and to-day, Supreme Regent Lindsley presiding. They were welcomed last night by Mayor Clarke in the Pavillion.

The York County Council has passed a bylaw forming High Schools in the towns of Parkdale and Aurora and in the township of Georgina.

News received here yesterday says that A. A. Allan is still in Minneapolis, where he is engaged with a collecting agency. He hopes to return to Canada and hold up his head.

Dr. Alexander Robertson was yesterday married to Miss Kate Taylor, third daughter of Mr. Thomas Taylor, proprieter of Don mills. The officiating minister was Rev. H. Harris, of Don Mills Methodist Church, and the ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's mother, 466 Jarvis Street. The bridesmaid was Miss Flo Taylor, and Mr. John Robertson of Tweed, Ont., only brother of the Doctor, was the groomsman. The happy couple left last night for a tour in the Eastern Provinces.

CLEVELAND NOMINATED.

THE UNANIMOUS CHOICE OF THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

One Hundred Colored Representatives Endorse the Nomination—The Mills Bill will Probably be Endorsed.

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—The Democratic Convention was called to order at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Rev. J. P. Greene, of Missouri, delivered the invocation.

Chairman Collins was escorted to the chair and made a speech. He said the Platform Committee would not be able to report before 8 o'clock in the evening.

Schowalter, of Missouri, presented a long resolution on the tariff, demanding that war taxes shall cease, and denouncing the present tariff. He was greeted with applause.

The Secretary read a communication from the Washington Women's Convention asking that a representative be allowed to address the convention ten minutes.

On the motion of Mr. O'Donohue, of New York, the request was granted.

Hon. Tim Campbell, of New York, presented a resolution of regret on the serious illness of General Sheridan. (Applause.) Adopted.

Mrs. E. A. Merriweather, of St. Louis, appeared, and was greeted with applause and laughter.

No ballots were taken and Grover Cleveland was nominated for President by acclamation amid the wildest excitement.

Nearly a hundred representative colored Democrats, from more than a dozen States, but chiefly from the North, held a meeting here in the afternoon and organized a colored National Democratic League. Resolutions were adopted endorsing Cleveland.

Hon. Geo. L'Vaple, a member of the committee from Michigan, made the following statement; "Notwithstanding the fact that numerous important papers all over the country have announced to the contrary, I think I can safely, without violation of confidence, say that not only the President's message, but the entire Mills Bill also will be unqualifiedly endorsed by the committee. Some other matters were hotly discussed which I am not at liberty to mention at this time." The committee met at nine o'clock this morning, when its business was closed up.

The indications are that the Convention may be delayed some time, and its proceedings perhaps prolonged for another day.

The nomination for the Vice-Presidency undoubtedly lies between ex-Senator Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio, and Gov. Isaac P. Gray, of Indiana. It is said that Governor Gray's name will be withdrawn, and in that case Mr. Thurman's nomination will probably be by acclamation.

"Sweating" Disclosures.

LONDON, June 7.—Before the House of Lords Committee on "Sweating" yesterday, Myers Tirlehenski, an ex-"sweater," testified that Poole, Redfern, Benjamin, and other well-known fashionable tailors are implicated in the practice, employing women at from 5s to 8s per week, and that the system was a great cause of immorality, most of the women who walk the Strand being ex-employes of "sweating" tailor establishments.

Wentworth County Council.

HAMILTON, June 7—At the County Council this morning a resolution was adopted in Committee of the Whole recommending the purchase of a suitable site and the erection of the necessary buildings for a poor house thereon. The average annual expenditure of the county on its poor for the past three years has been $3,522.

A Plot to Murder Balfour.

LONDON, June 7.—A high Government official is authority for the statement that Walsh, whose Clan-na-Gael conspiracy was broken up by the police, really came over here to carry out a plan for the assassination of Mr. Balfour in St. James' Park, through which the Secretary is accustomed to walk on his way to and from his office.

The Grain Trade in England.

LONDON, June 7.—The Mark Lane Express in its weekly review of the British grain trade says: "The values of native wheats are in favor of buyers. The sales of English wheat during the past week were 45,874 quarters at 22s. against 38,836 quarters at 35s during the corresponding week last year. Flour is depressed, the best Essex sells at 21s per sack of 280 lbs., almost the lowest quotation ever known. Foreign wheat is weak. At Liverpool prices are down 1d per cental. Corn, under increasing supplies, declined 4d per cental. There were two arrivals of wheat cargoes; four were sold, and one remains. At to-day's markets wheats were sick. The best kinds were down 6d and Russian 1s. Flour was 6d cheaper. Corn was 6d to 1s lower. Oats were 3d to 1s lower. Beans, peas and linseed were unchanged.

The giant of all guns is in process of construction. Krupp's works are making a 130-ton gun for the Italian ironclad Sardegna. It will be 52 1-2 feet long with a bore of 15.6 inches. It will fire a steel shell of 1,630 pounds with an initial velocity of 2,471 feet per second, or one of 2,314 pounds at 2,099 feet per second.

HER SPIRIT BROKEN.

A Young Girl Whipped by Her Father Drowns Herself.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 7.—The body of Miss Adele Menard, daughter of Joseph Menard, a well known citizen, living at Oliver-avenue and 12th-avenue north, has been found floating in the Mississippi river. She was but 16 years old. Miss Menard passed the evening in company of a young man to whom, it is said, she is betrothed. Before retiring Mr. Menard whipped his daughter for some reason not disclosed. She went to her chamber and the next morning, when a member of the household visited her room the discovery was made that she had decamped, leaving her best clothes, which she wore Monday evening, and dressing in a common calico suit. She left two notes, one of them addressed to her father, and the other to her lover. In the note to Mr. Menard she said she was going to commit suicide by drowning and that she had been driven to the desperate deed by her father's cruelty, and referred especially to the whipping she received Monday night. The note addressed to her lover advised him to commit suicide also. The police were notified and yesterday afternoon found the body floating in the river at the foot of Lake-street. Miss Menard's lover has not been seen since her note was delivered to him and it is believed that he has killed himself.

THE WORK OF A CYCLONE.

TERRIFIC STORM IN THE VICINITY OF OTTAWA.

Three Persons Killed and Further Loss of Life Feared—Houses Unroofed and Barns Demolished.

OTTAWA, June 7.—The worst cyclonic thunderstorm ever known in this section burst over the city and vicinity about noon yesterday and lasted nearly an hour, doing enormous damage and causing the loss of three lives, so far as known. The morning was bright and clear but towards noon rain began to fall and the wind to rise, and in half an hour a terrific cyclone was sweeping along. The city proper was not in the direct path of the wind, which rose to over eighty miles an hour, snapping trees of two and three feet diameter like twigs, crushing barns like egg-shells and unroofing dozens of houses in Rochesterville, Billing's Bridge and other places in the direct path of the storm.

At Billing's Bridge, St. Thomas Roman Catholic Church, a wooden structure, was blown to pieces. There were twenty-one children and a priest in it at the time. A 12-year-old girl named McVey was killed and several others injured, some of them very severely.

At the farm of J. R. Booth, adjoining the Experimental Farm, a large barn worth $10,000 was demolished. Five men working on the Experimental Farm had taken refuge in it and were eating their dinner when the cyclone struck the barn. The men started to run and four got away, but the roof fell on the fifth, John Milligan, mangling him frightfully and killing him almost instantly.

At Romand's brick yard, Rochesterville, a man named Grey was killed. It is feared that many more casualties have occurred which have not been reported yet.

Almost at the close of the storm the western gable of the Protestant Hospital was struck by lightning, and for a while it was feared that the whole building would be destroyed. The bolt crushed through the roof of the building, tore through the attic floor and found its way to the cooking stove in the upper ward. The stove was smashed to atoms and the electric fluid flashed around the floor setting the place thoroughly on fire in several places at once. Some little delay occurred in giving alarm, but firemen were quicky on the spot, and an hour's hard work succeded in confining it to the roof and attic of the western wing. The whole building was deluged with water, and the loss will be about $5,000 fully covered by insurance in the Ætna, Phœnix, Hartford, and North British and Mercantile.

Disastrous Storm in Lanark.

LANARK, June 7.—The most terrific thunderstorm, accompanied by rain, hail and wind, swept through this section about noon yesterday, levelling fences, barns and almost everything on its course, some farms being left without a fence or outbuildings, and a number of dwellings unroofed.

Goebel's residence and stealing three gold rings was allowed to go under deferred sentence. Frank and James Waters, two boys who travelled from Niagara Falls to this city on the Grand Trunk without tickets, were fined $10 each.

Robbed and Beaten by Tramps.

ST. THOMAS, June 7.—Mr. Macpherson, watchman at the crossing of the Michigan Central Railroad and Grand Trunk Railway, about three miles east of this city, was murderously attacked about nine o'clock yesterday morning by three tramps, who beat him until insensible, and after robbing him of his watch and other articles, threw his body into a pool of water. Macpherson lies in a precarious condition.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

THE BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE IN SESSION AT LINDSAY.

The Opening Exercises—The Election of President and Secretary—The First Draft of Stations for the Year.

LINDSAY, June 7th.—The fifth annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist Church was begun in the Methodist Church of this town.

There was a large attendance of clergymen and delegates. At 9 o'clock the Rev. John Learoyd, President, took the chair and conducted a prayer meeting. Then the chair was taken by the Rev. J. S. Williams, D. D., General Superintendent, and the Conference was opened with devotional exercises.

The Secretary, the Rev. Wm. Burns, called the roll and after other routine matters, the election of a President and Secretary was proceeded with; resulting in the election of Rev. M. L. Pearson, of Lindsay as president on the following ballot. Rev. M. L. Pearson, 132, Rev. J. S. Williams 29, Rev. John Clarkson 16. Rev. J. W. Joliffe 6. Rev. J. J. Rice, Belleville, was elected Secretary of the Conference.

RECEPTION SERVICE.

On Wednesday, the evening before conference, a grand reception was given by the ladies of Lindsay, to General Supt. Williams, President Learoyd and the members of the Bay Conference. The pastor of the church introduced Mr. J. K. Dundas as chairman, who presided with dignity. He called on his Honor Judge Dean, to give the address of welcome, which he did in most happy terms, on behalf of the ladies of Lindsay, welcoming the Conference to the homes and hearts of the people. He sketched the history of the Methodist church in Lindsay from the backwoods circuit to the present in inimitable style. Rev. J. Learoyd replied, thanking the ladies through Judge Dean, for the kind reception, the large audience, betokening the kindly feeling of Lindsay towards the Church and Conference. Referred in sadly sorrowful terms to the death of Rev. Dr. Nelles, whose absence will be so felt this year.

Rev. Dr. Williams also replied briefly to the address of welcome, complimenting Judge Dean on his happy address—and the friends of Lindsay on their beautiful church. He characterized Methodism as "the friend of all and enemy of none." He sketched the history of the Methodist church in Canada from the year 1791, and showed the reason of its great success lay in the great facts of its polity. Righteousness, truth and benevolence, these had brought to Canada the highest style of civilization. He commented on the educational policy of the church and hoped for the day when Canada would have the highest branches of learning taught in her schools and universities.

Revs. J. S. Clarke, W. Limbert and F. B. Stratton in brief speeches commented on their past experience in Lindsay, and the meeting adjourned without a collection (?) to the school room for refreshments.

NOTES.

The Conference Prayer Meeting was held to-day at 9 o'clock. Rev. J. J. Rae preached in the morning at 6 o'clock to a small congregation.

The book agent, R. Whittaker, is on hand with a full supply of books, theological and otherwise.

ZION—OTONABEE.

Correspondence of the Review.

BARN RAISING.—Mr. M. Greystock is about to erect a barn on the Buttery Homestead, and also Mr. W. W. Dickson is making preparations to raise a barn. So much more for Zion.

ACTING AS LAWYER.—The ditch question having been settled by the aid of lawyer W. W., who startled a few of our farmers by sending them letters, in effect to be prepared to meet on the back line opposite T. Crowley's. R. Jackson, plaintiff, T. Crowley, defendant. After a few complaints were laid before the jury the case was given in favor of R. Jackson, Crowley being compelled to open a ditch through his farm and by so doing will drain the water off J. Jackson's property.

A WEDDING is expected to take place north of Zion before long, and it follows that the presents will be numerous and costly.

SPECIAL PARTY.—A highly enjoyable party was held at Mr. Joseph Redmond's, Elem Grove stock farm, on Tuesday evening. Dancing being the main amusement, was continued till a late hour. About eleven o'clock ice cream and cake was served to refresh the guests, and a little later on an elegant table was set with everything that could be desired, and they were attended to perfection. A large crowd both from the town and country and also Mr. and Mrs. Galvin, from Rochester, N.Y., were present. The music was admirable, due to the able musicians that were present and exerted themselve to add to the pleasure of the occasion.

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well earned reputation, and made it the most effectual and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, and kidneys this remedy has no equal. Price $1.

REVIEWS.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINE.—The June number of the Century opens with Mr. Kennan's "Plains and Prisons of Western Siberia." The article—as well as such as may appear in succeeding issues—is an astonishing revelation of the true condition of Siberia. Mr. Kennan writes out of the fullness whereof he knows and the account given has the satisfactory element of authenticity. Of great interest to all who love books and to printers in particular is the delightfully racy account of the Plantin-Moretus Museum, at Antwerp. The article is beautifully illustrated. A liberal instalment of the "Life of Lincoln" is given, bringing the details of this history up to the opening scenes of the War of the Rebellion.

The last of the present series of illustrated Western articles by Mr. Roosevelt is entitled "The Ranchman's Rifle on Crag and Prairie." This, like the other articles, is accompanied by Remington's graphic sketches of Western scenes.

The fiction of the number includes some interesting chapters of Dr. Eggleston's novel, "The Graysons," accompanied by a picture by Miss Eggleston, wherein is depicted the young lawyer, Abraham Lincoln. The concluding portion of Henry James's "The Liar," is given with two short stories, "Selina's Singular Marriage," by Grace Denio Litchfield, and a love story, "By Telephone," by Brander Matthews. A biographical paper is devoted by Mrs. Herrick to Colonel Richard Malcolm Johnston, the Southern story writer. A portrait of Colonel Johnston accompanies the article. Other departments are full and varied as usual. Address, The Century, New York, or procure copies at local bookstores.

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. Mott, Brentwood, Cal., writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Phthisis, Scrofula and Wasting Diseases. It is very palatable. Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

COURT OF REVISION.—A meeting of the Court of Revision on Monday afternoon next. No appeals. Court not likely to do but accept roll. This speaks well for the assessor, Mr. Abel Hendren.

CANOEING EXPEDITION.—Messrs. Wm. and James Graham started for the head of Stoney Lake on Monday last. They visited the Blue Mountains and the mica mine, and brought samples of mica home with them, and say they had a most enjoyable trip. Mr. Jas. D soon takes his departure for the Pacific slope, having obtained a good position with a good salary attached.

THE CHURCHES.—Sacrament was administered in the Presbyterian church on Sunday last, Rev. Mr. McEwen officiating.

BANQUET.—On Monday last in P.C.A. hall, the Salvation Army had a great jubilee and feast of fat things, also a large street parade.

THE FORESTER'S BAND held forth in the band stand on Monday night. The villagers always appreciate the efforts of the band, and turnout in large numbers to listen to the very sweet strains of music.

A DOUBLE DOSE.—Opposition is the life of trade. When the thunder storm started to water our streets on Wednesday morning, Mr. D. McLean turned out with his watering cart. It was a dead heat up Queen-st., but eventually the thunder storm done him up in good wet style.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all Druggists.

GOUGH BROTHERS

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00. —OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

FOOT BALL.—A match between Cold Springs and Crystal Springs clubs was played June 5th., on the grounds of the former. The game resulted in a tie, each club winning one goal. Crests for Would Be Aristocrats.

The emblazoning of crests upon equipages is said to be an active industry in Newark, N. J., where one firm makes a specialty of the business. "The selection of the crests according to one writer, "is left largely to the Newark concern. So great is the demand that one of the partners does nothing but hunt up coats of arms. He has all the books on heraldry, and also endeavors to trace back his customers' ancestry far enough to find a family tree and a famly crest. It isn't an easy job. Half the would be aristocrats have no trace of their great grandfathers, while in nearly every instance the records disappear somewhere in the eighteenth centry. Occasionally a clear case of family tree is developed, and then the search is easy and the crest is soon concocted."

Maxim's Automatic Machine Gun.

One of the results of Gen. Wolseley's alarm was to give a large contract to our countryman, Hiram Maxim, the inventor of an automatic machine gun that may fairly be called one of the wonders of this age. In it the recoil of the piece when once fired is utilezed to throw out the empty shells, ram home fresh charges, and at the same time keep a column of cool water moving about the barrels to prevent heating. Left standing upon its tripod by a retreating army, it will keep up a rapid and murderous fire upon the advancing pursuers to the last second of effectiveness, and, if properly handled, may be made to scatter its deadly bullets along the ranks of an enemy like a storm of iron hail blowing in his face.—Scientific American.

Personal.

The canoeing season may now be considered open. Messrs. J. Britton and J. Head winds delayed the party for three days, but the trip was pleasant throughout.

Matrimonial.

On Wednesday afternoon the residence of our esteemed citizen, Mr. William Lech, was the scene of one of those pleasing events that always cause a flutter of excitement. The occasion was the marriage of Miss Albertina A. Lech, his third daughter, to Mr. F. G. Gnaedinger, a wholesale furrier of Montreal. The Rev. Alex. Bell, of St. Andrew's Church officiated. The bride looked charming in a dress of white moire antique, trimmed with plush and lace. Miss N. Scott, of Galt, and Miss F. B. Lech, sister of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Miss Scott was dressed in amber satin trimmed with black lace, and Miss Lech in cream satin and lace. The groom was supported by Messrs. J. F. Gnaedinger, of Montreal, and Mr. W. E. Lech, of Peterborough. After the ceremony, which was performed in the presence of a few friends, an elegant dejeuner was spread. The happy couple left on the 8.50 G. T. R. train to spend their honeymoon. The bride was one of the most estimable young ladies in town and has hosts of friends who will join with the REVIEW in extending congratulations, and wishing the happy couple many years of unalloyed happiness.

The Secret Out.

People are astounded at the amount of property sold by Jno. Carlisle. Why has he sold so much? Simply because he leaves money every time in said properties for the buyers. Many can vouch for the truth of this statement. 45 parcels sold the last few months.

To Toronto.

The Masonic excursion to Toronto this morning was well attended. Four coaches came up on the Grand Junction. Those who went had the choice of two routes, via Port Hope or Lindsay. No doubt a large number joined the excursionists from the other places along the route.

Cause and Effect.

The question of the hour is why people will put themselves so much about. Why pass all the attractions along George-st., bankrupt stocks at 50c. on the dollar, and dollar for dollar, and goods for the mere asking, in fact to be sent home in a wheelbarrow and charge nothing for the sending. We ask again, why is it that the appreciative public will pass all this and pursue the even tenor of their way to the noted cheap store, last one on the east side of George-st, in other words Sheppard's Big Bonanza Bargain House, is reached. Cause and effect—the cheapest and best goods between Toronto and Montreal.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or othercauses 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other ind.

Low prices do not affect the quality of of Groceries at the Pantry. This truth demonstrated in every purchase.

THOSE IN WANT of genuine bargains should not fail to go to Dawson Bros. old stand, where they are conducting a great clearing sale of dry goods. This is certainly a great opportunity to buy new goods at ridiculously low prices. All this fine stock must positively be cleared out inside the next two weeks. THE RIVERSIDES WIN

The Lacrosse Match, by Three Games to two for Barrie.

The first lacrosse match of the season in Peterborough was played on the Riverside Park, on Wednesday afternoon. It was for the North Eastern District Championship and the competing clubs were the "Stanleys," of Barrie and the "Riversides," of Peterborough.

The weather was very warm, still about three or four hundred people turned out and they witnessed a match that was exciting from start to finish. The Fire Brigade Band furnished music and the crowd occupied the bleaching boards and also a good portion of the field.

Shortly after two o'clock Mr. Isaac Gerrie, who had been chosen referee, called the players out. After the usual lists had been fyled and other preliminaries gone through with the men lined up as follows:—

F. Grant	Goal		Joe Joyle
C. Johnston	Point		A. Rose
J. Agnew	Cover Point		Dr. Brennan
F. Hill	Defence Field		A. Butler
J. H. McCurry	"	"	T. Meagher
J. Vanalcke	"	"	M. Halpin
W. Moore	Centre Field		F. Larone
H. Lennox	Home Field		J. C. Phelan
J. McCarthy	"	"	F. Pakenham
J. F. Lennox	"	"	J. Begley
H. McVittie	Outside Home		T. Duncan
F. Manning	Inside Home		T. Isbister
T. Moore	Field Captain		J. J. Sheehy
F. Hewson	Umpire		H. LeBrun

When the two teams were lined up it was seen that there was not much difference as far as weight was concerned, Peterborough in this respect probably having a slight advantage. The uniforms were the same, blue shirts and knickers, the only difference being that the Barrie players wore black and blue caps, while the home team wore all kinds.

FIRST GAME.

Peterborough won the toss and selected the southern goal, not far from the river. At 2.34 the ball was faced and after a struggle it went towards the home goal, but it was soon returned by one of Joyal's long throws and a pretty shot at the Barrie flags came so close to scoring that one of the poles was knocked down. Grant got the ball behind the goal and sent it down the field and the Barrie home men made some close shots, from one of which the ball went into the river. Halpin got it on the face and passed to Phelan, who shot wide. A Barrie man made another wild throw and the rubber passed over the grand stand and into the river. From the face the ball was sent to the Barrie goal, but the Peterborough home players were not by any means sharp enough and they allowed several fine chances of scoring the game to pass without taking advantage of them. Joyal, Meagher, Halpin and Rose were playing hard, while on the other side every man was doing his duty. The visitors were poorly checked on the whole and it was no uncommon thing to see two Barrie men and no home men after the ball. Up to this time Peterborough clearly had the advantage and game was claimed but Umpire LeBrun would not allow it. The ball was soon sent down the field, but it was returned in short order. Begley, Phelan, Butler and Larone did some good playing, but there was too much "grand stand" about it. The game went on for some minutes, the ball travelling from one end of the field to the other, until a foul was claimed in front of the stand. On the face Barrie got the ball and J. F. Lennox put it between the flags in 23 minutes, winning the first game for Barrie.

SECOND GAME.

Mr. J. J. Sheehy captained the Riversides and did it with his old time view too, and had the boys followed his instructions the result would have been different. Play commenced at 3.06 and Peterborough got the best of the face and a shot at the Barrie goal was the result. Grant was on hand, however, and he turned the ball off in a splendid manner. The visitors were elated with their victory and played with great vim, while on the other hand some of the Riversides appeared listless, and would not play as well as they could Butler and Halpin worked hard and so did Joyal. The game was rather uninteresting, the ball travelling from one goal to the other and back again, with an occasional scrimmage at the ends and centre. Time and again the old dodge of claiming foul when the ball was near the Peterborough goal was worked and a desperate struggle took place on each occasion to put it through, but the defence worked like Trojans and averted defeat. Hill, of Barrie, was accidently cut on head by Duncan and a ten minutes stop resulted. Dr. Brennan had his ear split and Meagher sprained his ancle. These incidents also stopped the play and considerable time was lost thereby. The Barrie men were evidently getting "winded" and they were playing for time, as on more than one occasion the ball was deliberately thrown into the river. Rose was doing fine work and passed the ball up the field, but it soon came back and a scrimmage resulted in front of the home goal, during which F. Manning swiped the ball through, winning the second game for Barrie in 54 minutes.

THIRD GAME.

It was apparent that the Riversides intended so do something this time and they did it too. They checked their men in fine shape and as a result they proved themselves too much for the visitors and after 7 minutes of actual play Jos. Phelan won the first game for Peterborough. Barrie disputed it, but the umpire, a Barrie man, said the game was fairly and squarely won.

FOURTH GAME.

This game lasted but one minute and Isbister won it for Peterborough, tieing the score at two games each.

FIFTH AND LAST.

Barrie had the advantage at first, but good stick work and close checking won the day and the ball was swiped through the Barrie goal in three minutes, thus giving the victory to Peterborough amidst great applause and excitement. The visitors again disputed the umpire and for a time things looked stormy, but better counsels prevailed.

NOTES.

—Barrie will probably protest the match.

—The visitors played the best lacrosse and did the best checking.

—Team play on either sides was something almost altogether unknown.

—There are several weak points in the Riverside team that need strengthening.

—The visitors conducted themselves like gentlemen while here and left for home on the C. P. R. evening train.

—The "old timers" were on hand in full force and could not keep quiet. It was as if they were sitting on nettles.

JUVENILE CRICKET.

The Peterborough "Colts" Defeat the Port Hope College Eleven.

A match was played on the P.A.A.A. grounds on Wednesday afternoon between a team from Trinity College School and the Peterborough "Colts," resulting in a decisive victory for the latter by 51 runs.

The "Colts" went to the bat first and succumbed for 92 runs, of which Max Hamilton contributed 48, before he fell a victim to Barker's bowling, from a catch by Scott. Crane with 16, Dumble with 14 and Boucher 10 were the other players who obtained double figures.

The college boys succeeded in topping the score of their opponents by two runs, with a total of 94. Jones, Barker, Beecher and Bell for 29, 21, 10 and 22, played good cricket.

After dinner, at the Morgan House, play was resumed and Peterborough succeeded in batting out 103 Max. Hamilton again led the scoring with 51, followed by Kincaid, 22, and Dunsford, not out, 9.

In their final try the college boys made only 50, Dumoulin with 15 having the only double figures.

The play throughout was very fair for youngsters. The visitors are all pretty bats, but they lack in bowling talent. As for further particulars the annexed score will furnish them:—

The Asparagus Beetle.

We are informed that the common asparagus beetle appeared the past summer in such vast numbers in New Jersey that the owners of some rather extensive plantations of this excellent vegetable have almost concluded to abandon its cultivation in consequence of the depredations of the insect named. It seems almost unaccountable that any cultivator of asparagus should know how to quickly destroy this well known pest, inasmuch as it has been published hundreds of times during the past twenty years. The remedy is dry caustic lime scattered over the plants in the morning when wet with dew. The larva of the asparagus beetle is a small, soft, naked, thin skinned grub, and the least particle of lime coming in contact with this causes almost instant death. If the grubs are killed there will be no beetles.—American Agriculturist.

BENSFORT.

Correspondence of the Review.

OLD DAYS RECALLED.—The contractor was busy last week pulling down the old barn on the Smithson estate. This barn was one of the oldest landmarks in this part of the township. It was a large frame building, forty-eight wide by one hundred long. It was erected for the original proprietor of the property over 62 years ago by Mr. Adam Scott, sr., of Peterborough, and has been doing duty as a barn, horse and cow stables ever since that time. The lumber was sawn at Mr. Scott's mill near where Denne's flour mill now stands and was floated down the Otonabee river on rafts. It required the assistance of upwards of one hundred men at the raising of it, the timber being very heavy. The township at that time being new and sparsely settled the men at the raising bee were representatives of five townships with quite a few from what was then the village of Peterborough. There is only one of the first settlers living in the township to-day who assisted at the raising of the building. The old barn is to be replaced by a new one, forty feet by eighty, set up on solid stone foundation, with horse and cattle stables underneath. Mr. R. Nimmo is the contractor.

S. S. EXCURSION.—The committee of the Bensfort Union Sabbath School are making arrangements for a grand excursion down the lake some time shortly.

GOOD PROSPECTS.—The crops are growing well now. From present appearances the prospects are good.

PERSONAL.—Mr. J. Moyse, sr., has arrived in the neighborhood and taken up his residence in his old home.

CREMATED.—The Bensfort subscribers of the REVIEW failed to receive their papers last week, they having been cremated by the recent fire at Centreville. [NOTE.—We regret that we had not copies of that date to supply our subscribers with papers to take the place of those burned.—ED. REVIEW.]

ENTERPRISING.—Our friend John of the forge will soon be a Jack of all trades. He is not only running the blacksmith and wagon shop, and experimenting in agriculture on his model farm, but has now invested in thoroughbred stock of the "root, hog or die" species, a fine specimen of which he has now on exhibition at his shop yard.

AGAIN, CLOTHING!

Fathers and Sons are alike interested in the subject of New Clothes, and the approach of summer hastens preparations for bodily comfort.

Our stock of Cloths affords scope for gratifying any fancy, as to fabrics, color or price. We have some especially neat things in Scotch and Canadian Tweeds.

Our suit stock defies description. Such variety in pattern and cut as we offer includes every one's want—man or boy. Prices high enough to ensure trusty clothes, low enough to meet all requirements.

Where else do you find better proposals?

"I merely called in," said old Mr. Clovertoys, as he came stumping along the hall, "to give you folks a slice of advice previous to your going to Toronto on any of these here stores. My advice is this, and if an old man's experience is worth anythin', which it naturally is worth somethin,' don't go to the city with the everlastin' idea that you can buy dirt cheap all around. Some things air cheap, no doubt, but if you're looking for dinner dishes or pretty tea sets, or silver things or spoons and such like trifles, remember that CHINA HALL is a home institution and here for you every day in the week."

Don't Wait

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, or gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

MONA'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"Lady Finistoun sought me, uncie. It would have been ungracious to reject her advances."

"Oh! gang yer ain gate. The young always know better than the old and experienced."

Mona did not reply, and there was a pause. She found the article she had been looking for, and had just begun to read when Uncle Sandy stopped her, exclaiming—

"Bide a bit. I want to speak to you."

She laid down the newspaper, a little alarmed at the ominous beginning.

"Tell me truth," he resumed. "How are you paid for your singing lessons?"

"Oh, mine are merely preparatory lessons, so I do not get much."

"Ay, but how much?"

"Three shillings a lesson, or thirty for twelve."

"Hum! ha! well!"—pulling out his purse—"there are three sovereigns for you. Madame told me you put off some pupils that ye might give your time to me, and I can nae forget it. I doubt if anyone ever did so much for me before. Now I don't want you to suffer loss through me. There, take the gowd; ye're welcome. Before that is gone, ye'll may be find other pupils."

"But, Uncle Sandy, I would rather not! Indeed, I would rather not! I am sure I shall soon find other pupils, and—and I have a little money of my own—more than a hundred and twenty pounds. I was quite ready to give up the lessons that I might be with you. You were not fit to be left alone. I will not take the money."

"Nor will I take it back."

"You must, indeed," she persisted.

"Hoot, toot! A young creature like you needn't hesitate to take it from her nearest of kin. Here, pit it in yer pocket."

"Let us make a bargain, uncle!" she cried, gayly. "I do not want the money now, but when I do, I'll ask for it."

"Ay, but I misdoubt me if you will; you have too much pride. Not but that I like your independent spirit—that comes from the Craigs. I'll just pit up the money in a bit paper, and it will be ready whenever you want it."

"Thank you, uncle. I will ask for it if I want it; but I hope I shall not. "Shall I read now?"

"Ay, and dinna go too fast."

But the lecture did not seem to give satisfaction till she came to the "Price Current," when some of the quotations seemed to arouse a keen and pleasurable interest in her hearer.

"Ay," he muttered. "Spanish four cents, forty-eight and a quarter, ex-dividend. That's good; time to sen. Union Pacific, three fourths down; that will do. Where is Kenneth? He hasn't come nigh us this Sawbath."

"He said he was going to church with his friend, young Macleod, and was to sup with him after."

"He's always awa' when he is wanted. Write him a note; nay, a half-penny card will do as well. Tell him—stay, I'll write myself, though it is the Sawbath. There are some things will na' keep, and the Lord's Day is not the same this side of the border."

"Just so, uncle. When in Rome, do as Rome does."

"Ay; when will a note reach him?"

"I dare say at ten to-morrow morning."

"That will do fine. Give me my book and the ink. I canna afford to lose time."

With many a muttered, inarticulate, self-addressed comment, and a more distinct complaint of his dim eyes, his unsteady hand, his general debility and rapid decline, he managed to fill two sides of note-paper, which he put in an envelope and carefully fastened it up, requesting Mona to address it to her cousin. Then he sat silently watching her.

"Ye'll send it safe and sure to the post?"

"Certainly; I will go myself. The servant is out, and so is Madame Debrisay. The post-pillar is within a hundred yards."

"Ay, do—that's a kind lassie; and you'll come back to me? I am varra weary the night! Eh, but I am worn wi' poor health mair than wi' years."

Mona returned immediately, but was received with silence. The old man seemed wrapped in thought, from which he only roused himself to go to bed.

The next evening, and the next, Kenneth was closeted with his uncle. After these interviews, he stayed but a very short time with Mme. Debrisay and Mona—nor did they seem to exercise an enlivening effect on the young Scot; indeed, Mme. Debrisay remarked upon his depression, and surmised that he was in debt, and afraid to ask his uncle for help.

"And no wonder," added the kindly Irish woman. "I'm sure I'd rather go into a den of raging lions, than face your uncle if I wanted money from him. I am sorry to say it, but it's wicked to grab money as tight as he does; and I like the young man, though I don't like to see him come between his uncle and yourself."

"I do not fancy Kenneth has a debt or a money difficulty in the world; but he does seem to have something on his mind."

* * * * * * *

The following Sunday was fine and crisp, though still, and Kenneth came immediately after the early dinner, and asked Mona to take a walk with him. She readily complied, and they were soon on their way to their favorite recreation ground, Kensington Gardens.

Kenneth was unusually silent. He answered Mona's remarks as briefly as possible, seeming embarrassed and preoccupied. At length, having skirted the round pond, they slackened their pace as they got under the shelter of the trees, and walked down the wide glade toward the Serpentine.

"What is the matter, Kenneth?" she asked. "I fancy you have something on your mind. I think you might tell me. You know I take an interest in you, and sympathize with you."

"Ah! that's just what my uncle says. He wants me to marry you, and I cannot, Mona. I cannot, indeed! I have pledged my troth to another young lady, and could not break my word."

Mona stopped short in utter amazement, and looked straight at her companion.

"How very unkind of you!" she exclaimed. "I did not think you would reject me."

"Eh? That's what my uncle says. He believes you are very fond of me, but I cannot see it; and, oh! Mona, he swears he will leave all his money away from both of us if we don't marry; and I will never call any woman wife but my sweet Mary—little Mary Black—the school-master's daughter."

A kindly, amused smile slowly dimpled round Mona's mouth.

"Did you tell him so?"

"Well, I daren't, you see. I have had hopes that he (Uncle Sandy) would help me—I mean us—for I think he meant me to be his heir before he met you."

"Believe me, Kenneth, I will not interfere with you. Now, I'll help you to the best of my ability; but first—please to propose to me in due form."

"You understand I am pledged to Mary."

"Do not mention her at present."

"Well, then; will you marry me Mona?"

"No, Kenneth. I feel honored by your offer, but I decidedly decline. There, now, the blame of disobedience rests with me. You can tell Uncle Sandy that I refused you."

"You are a clever dell, Mona, and kind; but this is not varra honest."

"No, it is not; but my uncle ought not to be so foolish as to turn match-maker. Now he will attack me, and I can take care of myself. You can keep quiet, and by and by—when I have utterly refused you—then propose to marry 'your ain true love,' and my uncle will yield. I feel with and for you, and I will do my best to help you. We will manage Uncle Sandy. Now, for the rest of our walk, you shall tell me all about Mary from the very first."

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

MILK COWS AND OTHER CATTLE.

Prices of Milk Cows—Extension of Cattle Growing—The Outlook.

From 1879 to 1884 the annual estimates of prices of milk cows and other cattle advanced yearly, and the decline has since been uninterrupted, without exception for either class of stock. The fall in milk cows has been over 5 per cent., and in oxen and other cattle a decline of 10 per cent. in the last year.

The extension of cattle growing, according to Statistician Dodge's recent report, has been normal, corresponding very nearly with increase of population. Though prices have been low and heavy losses have occurred in some of the ranch districts, there is an abiding faith in the future of the business, grass being the cheapest and most abundant source of beef, yielding perhaps nine-tenths of all that is produced in the country. Corn has a relatively small share in the beef making in any country. The northwestern states are giving more and more prominence to cattle, the wheat interest relatively declining in the older settlements.

Milk cows are receiving rather more attention than in recent years in the eastern and middle states, and are increasing everywhere with the advance of population. There is some recuperation from the depression felt in cheese making districts, New York especially, where prices of their products ruled so low.

The belief is expressed, in the report quoted from, that the stock interests of the United States are in a comparatively prosperous condition, with a prospect of advance in prices, especially those of cattle.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Dock weeds and dandelions are easily destroyed by the use of kerosene.

A teaspoonful of salt in the kerosene lamp makes the oil give a much clearer and better light.

Coffee is improved by keeping in a cool dry place, but loses its flavor if kept long after browning.

Damp salt will remove the discoloration of cups and saucers caused by tea and careless washing.

When broiling steak throw a little salt on the coals and the blaze from dripping fat will not annoy.

When out of machine oil use kerosene and fresh lard, equal parts, well mixed, and it will answer the purpose.

If new calicoes are allowed to lie in strong salt water an hour before the first washing the colors are less likely to fade.

Hive syrup is good for croup or inflammation of the lungs. It must be kept in a cool place, for if it sours it is very poisonous.

Hams may be wrapped in paper and packed in a barrel of ashes. Smoked ham or beef after being cut can be hung in a coarse linen bag, tied closely to keep out flies and hung in a cool place.

It is said that canaries and other birds may be freed from insects by placing a white cloth over the cage at dusk. During the night the insects will leave the birds for the cloth, and in the morning they can be destroyed by placing the cloth in hot water. A repetition of the process will soon clear away the pests.

Discussing the Food Question.

The relative value of various vegetables as an article of food was once under discussion among a party of East End villagers, when one of the number imparted this valuable piece of information: "I don't think much of turnips. There isn't much sustenance in 'em, as they're more'n seven-fifths water." Another one of the number freely, if not intelligently, expressed his opinion regarding the adulteration of food. He said: "It's awful to think of the fearful extent to which our food products are being adulterated. Nothing seems to be free from the wicked practice. Here are all the stores selling what they call genuine New Orleans molasses, and yet I have been told by a custom house official of my acquaintance that there hasn't any of the stuff come through the custom house in years. It's a burnin' shame the way we are continually cheated in this way."—New York Sun.

Things Farmers Tell One Another.

A. B. Allen says: The first thing in the morning is to water the horse, which should be done before feeding, otherwise it might work more or less of the food just eaten undigested from the stomach.

A Vermont maple sugar maker says that the great point is to keep the sap pure and clean so as to retain its original color; this once lost or lessened cannot be regained.

A Connecticut farmer claims for common unbleached muslin, that it makes satisfactory covering for hot beds, and at a much less cost than glass.

A Maryland farmer tells that low wagons with wide tires make easier work in hauling out manure.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

We are showing the New Norfolk Blouse Suits for Boys and Youths. This style has become so popular in the larger cities that manufacturers can scarcely supply the demand. They look best in brown and Pearl Halifax Tweeds. Call and see them.

The most difficult Garment for a lady to choose is a light Print Dress, but if you call at Turnbull's you are sure to have no trouble as he can show you such a large variety in every color, every pattern and at any price.

A new material introduced this season is the Flannelette in fancy colored stripes and plains, the correct thing for Ladies' Wrappers and children's clothes, only ten cents a yard. Ladies handling it for the first time sometimes ask is it all wool. It is really all cotton but finished like a flannel.

As the weather gets warmer children require to have the heavy clothing changed for something light and cool, and Mothers are often perplexed to know what to buy. We would call their attention to our Colored Washing in Fancy Stripe and Check They are warranted fast colors in fact the ofiner they are washed the better they look. The prices range from 12½c. up.

MILLINERY.—We are still receiving daily New Goods by express. Another lot of Plaid Ribbons just received. Also some New Shapes, as the Blossom, Cape Town and Vallego. These are the correct thing for pic-nic hats.

THE GRAIN STANDARD AMENDED.

The New Regulations of the Inland Revenue Department.

OTTAWA, June 8.—The Inland Revenue Department has forwarded to the Boards of Trade, of Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina and other places a revised proof of Sec. 44 of the General Inspection Act as it is proposed to amend it by order in council. The section deals exclusively with the classification of grain, respecting which a conference was recently held in Ottawa betweeu representatives of the Boards of Trade and the Minister and Commissioner of Inland Revenue.

Paragraph 1, referring to extra Manitoba, hard wheat, regains 85 per cent of red Fyfe as its standard, but is amended by inserting the word "hard" before "red Fyfe." A similar amendment appears on the standard for No. 1 Manitoba hard wheat, which must be 60 lbs to the bushel and composed of at least two-thirds of hard red Fyfe wheat.

No. 2 Manitoba hard wheat is retained at 58 lbs to the bushel, composed of at least two-thirds of hard red Fyfe wheat. The next paragraph reads as follows:

"No. 1 hard white Fyfe wheat shall be sound and well cleaned, weighing not less than 60 lbs. to the bushel, and shall be composed of not less than 60 per cent. of hard white Fyfe wheat grown in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories of Canada, and shall not contain more than 25 per cent. of soft wheat."

Another amendment clause reads:

"No. 1 Manitoba Northern wheat shall be sound and well cleaned, weighing not less than 60 lbs. to the bushel, and shall be composed of at least 50 per cent. of hard red Fyfe wheat, grown in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories of Canada."

A further amendment reads:

"No. 2 Manitoba Northern wheat shall be sound and reasonably clean, of good milling qualities and fit for warehousing, weighing not less than 58 pounds to the bushel, and shall be composed of at least 50 per cent. of hard red Fyfe wheat, grown in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories of Canada."

After speaking of the grading of winter wheat, Indian corn, oats and barley, the following is added:

"All barley grown in Manitoba or the Northwestern Territory of Canada shall be graded as above, but shall be distinctly classified by inspectors as 'Manitoba' barley."

In the provisions as to all grain the following is added:

"No wheat or other grain that has been subject to scouring or treatment by the use of lime or sulphur shall be graded higher than No. 3. Samples furnished to inspectors shall be made to conform as strictly as possible to the conditions and terms specified in the foregoing classification. The above modifications shall not come into force until Sept. 1, 1888.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Liquor Licenses and Fines—Tenders for Indian Supplies.

OTTAWA, June 8.—The first remittance to the city on account of liquor licenses, fines, etc., was received to day. The net amount to be distributed is $37,887, of which the city got $14,865, and the province $23,022.

Private intelligence has reached the city that H. M. S. Canada, now in Trinidad, will visit Montreal this summer.

The time for receiving tenders for Indian supplies closed to-day. It will be some days before the awards are made.

Michael Cassidy, a farmer of Goldbourn, was thrown from his wagon on Monday at Ashtown crossing of the Canadian Pacific Railway and fell on the rails just as a train was passing. Both legs were cut off. He lingered in great agony till Tuesday, when he died.

WILL PAY THE PENALTY.

Two New Yorkers Ordered to be Executed for Murder.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Court of Appeals has handed down decisions confirming the findings of Recorder Smyth in the trials of Mrs. Chiara Cignarale and Dan Lyons, who have been convicted of murder in the first degree. Mrs. Cignarale shot and killed her husband on 111th-street, near 2nd-avenue, Oct. 20, 1886. Some time before that she had left him and her little child and gone off to live with Antonio D'Andrea, who claimed to be her cousin. He taught her to use the revolver with which she did the deed. She was tried first in January, 1887, and after the prosecution had put in its evidence the woman's counsel offered a plea of murder in the second degree, which was accepted. Some people worked up considerable sympathy for her, and the child she had deserted was taken to see her in the Tombs and capital made out of the meeting. It was just at the time when the feeling against hanging a woman was strongest, and the attorneys withdrew the plea of murder in the second degree and a second trial was had in June last year, when she was found guilty of murder in the first degree.

Dan Lyons, who killed Athlete Quinn, said when told of the decision: "I did not let myself expect favorable news. If I have to die I will try and do it like a Christian. There may be some hope in store for me yet, who knows?" Beyond being a little more pale than usual, he was not, to all appearance, disturbed. He murdered James J. Quinn at 38th-street and 2nd-avenue July 5, 1887. Quinn and Lyons were both devoted to Katie Cassidy. Quinn had been her lover for some time and Lyons tried to supplant him in her affections. This led to a quarrel, and on the day before the murder the two men met in the presence of the girl and fought. Lyons was badly worsted. The fact that he had been thrashed in the presence of the girl nettled him, and when he and Quinn met the next day on the street Lyons shot him.

The Middlesex and Lambton Association of the Baptists Church closed its annual convention yesterday at Petrolea Arkoona being elected as the place of next year's meeting.

THEY NOMINATE THURMAN

THE CONVENTION UNANIMOUS ON THE VICE-PRESIDENCY.

A Platform Harmoniously Adopted—The Convention Adjourned sine die—The Irish Patriots Eulogized.

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—At the Democratic National Convention Mr. Watterson submitted the report of the Committee on Resolutions. He announced that the report was the unanimous agreement of the Committee. The platform was adopted unanimously. It reaffirms the platform adopted in 1884, and endorses the views expressed by President Cleveland in his last annual message upon the question of tariff reduction. It approves of the President's course throughout his administration; the reconstruction of the navy; the prudent foreign policy; exclusion of Chinese; honest reforms in the civil service, and denounces unnecessary taxation.

Scott, of Pennsylvania, presented from the Committee on Resolutions a resolution endorsing and recommending the early passage of the Mills bill. The resolution was passed amid great cheering. A resolution was then offered endorsing a liberal policy towards the territories, and recommending the admission of Washington, Montana, Dakota and New Mexico. It was carried.

A resolution was passed expressing sympathy with the struggling people of all nations in efforts to obtain the blessing of self-government, and especially declare sympathy with the patriots led by Gladstone and Parnell. The Chairman announced that Edward Cooper, of New York, dissented from this part of the platform.

Roll was then called for nomination of Vice-President. Tarnay, of California, nominated Thurman. The name of Gray caused hisses and general excitement.

Mr. Piggott seconded Thurman's nomination. Mr. Vourhees then took the platform amid great excitement, and nominated Gray, of Indiana, at which the Indiana delegation arose and gave three cheers. Mr. Cox, of Georgia, seconded the nomination of Gray.

Allan H. Thurman, of Ohio, was nominated for Vice-President on the first ballot, and the nomination was made unanimous amid great excitement. The convention adjourned sine die.

Allan G. Thurman.

The nomination of Allan G. Thurman to the second place makes what is known to politicians of the United States as a "kangaroo ticket"—that is it is larger at the bottom than it is at the top. Mr. Thurman was born in Virginia in 1814. He has been a judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio, representative in Congress and United States Senator for that State, holding the latter office for twelve years.

THE BREATH OF SCANDAL.

A Clergyman's Utterances—Mrs. Cleveland Defends Her Husband.

BOSTON, June 8.—The Globe publishes a letter written by Mrs. Cleveland to a lady friend in Worcester, who had forwarded to Mrs. Cleveland a copy of the alleged statements of a Worcester clergyman against the character of the President. The letter is as follows:

"EXECUTIVE MANSION,
"WASHINGTON, June 2, 1888.

"MRS. NICODEMUS, — Dear Madam,—I can only say in answer to your letter that every statement made by Rev. C. H. Pendleton, in an interview which you send me, is basely false, and I pity a man of his calling who has been made the tool to give circulation to such wicked and heartless lies. I can wish the women of our country no greater blessing than that their home lives may be as happy and their husbands may be as kind, attentive, considerate and affectionate as mine. Very truly,

"FRANCES F. CLEVELAND."

The clergyman claims that he was misquoted in his interview.

TEMPLARS IN REBELLION.

An edict of non-intercourse issued against the Knights.

NEW YORK, June 8.—General Charles Roome, Grand Commander of the General Grand Encampment of Knights Templar of the United States has just issued an edict cutting off the Grand Commandery of Iowa and all Knights Templar within its furisdiction from all fraternal intercourse with the Grand Commanderies and Knights of other States under the authority of the General Grand Encampment. This extreme measure is the outcome of a continued and determined non-observance on the part of the Grand Commander of the Grand Encampment of Iowa of certain orders with regard to the adoption of a ritual and ceremonies authorized by the General Grand Encampment.

Disclosing Canada's Fisheries.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In the House yesterday the debate on the Tariff Bill was resumed. Mr. Dengley, of Maine, speaking in opposition to Mr. Breckinridge's amendment to the provision attacked the lumber schedules of the free list, which proposes to admit Canadian fish free of duty upon allowance by that country of commercial rights to our vessels, and also for reciprocity in exchange of products between the United States and Canada. He maintained that Canada had withheld commercial rights from our fishing and other vessels for the purpose of driving Congress to admit fish free. A sharp debate ensued.

Carnegie's Coaching Party.

LONDON, June 8.—The Carnegie coaching party left the Hotel Metropole yesterday morning at 11 o'clock for their proposed tour of England and Scotland. Among the party were Mr. and Mrs. Blaine, Gail Hamilton, Dr. Eaton and Walter Damrosch, the young conductor of New York. Quite a crowd of Americans saw them off. They propose to be gone twenty days, winding up at Cluny Castle, Scotland, which Mr. Carnegie has rented for the season. Mr. Blaine is in excellent spirits and health and appeared to be quite active.

Antics of a Thunderstorm.

BELLOWS' FALLS, Vt., June 8.—The thermometer yesterday ranged from 91 to 95. Last evening the most terrific thunderstorm passed over this section ever known. The light of burning buildings was seen in every direction, but particulars have not been obtained yet. Lightning struck the spire of the Town Hall in Westminster, totally destroying the building and Frank Heywood's dwelling. The Town Hall was built in 1770. It was in this building the first legislature of Vermont met. Five thousand dollars damages was done.

His End Approaching.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—General Sheridan's physician issued the following bulletin at 2 p.m. yesterday. General Sheridan's condition has continued as described in this morning's bulletin. Within the last hour there has been a pronounced tendency to heart failure, which has up to this time been successfully warded off.

A STUDENT'S TERRIBLE DEATH.

Further Disclosures Expected—Items of Interest from the Queen City.

TORONTO, June 8.—Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, will leave Toronto June 18 on an extended tour throughout the New England States to visit educational institutions there. He will visit Lehigh, Cornell, Philadelphia, Boston and other educational centres. He will give special attention to the Boston School of Technology and will also look into the mode of manual training, with the object, if the system is found satisfactory, of introducing it here. Mr. Ross will be absent two weeks.

It is rumored that the Board of Works Investigation will disclose corrupt acts on the part of more prominent officials than those already implicated. Developments of racy character are expected.

The Court of Queen's Bench have unanimously quashed the conviction of the cab driver who was convicted by P. M. Denison under the Lord's Day Act for exercising his ordinary calling on the Sabbath.

Charles Bunker Dupuis, aged 21, a law student in the office of Messrs. Badgerow, Carson & Co., met with an accident yesterday which caused his death almost instantaneously. He was sent over the Don to serve subpœnas, and he was walking along the Grand Trunk Railway track, to take a short cut it is presumed, when he was struck by a train and killed. Coroner Duncan commences an inquest, when the direct facts of the case will be elicited. Deceased was a son of Dr. Dupuis, of Kingston, and nephew of Prof. Dupuis, of the same city. The body as it lies on a slab in the Morgue presents a fearful sight. It is completely cut in two across the hips, the clothing is torn to pieces, and one arm is severed. The head is smashed and the brains ooze out, while the face, which is turned downward, is so disfigured with dust and blood as to be unrecognizable.

Rev. J. W. Vanwyck was tendered a farewell reception last night by his congregation. The rev. gentleman goes to St. Catharines.

William Henry Tudor, a tall, well-dressed young man, pleaded not guilty to the charge of bigamy, the complainant being Helen Jane Jeffers. Prisoner stated he had come from Chicago on purpose to meet this charge, of which he declared he was innocent. The Crown obtained a remand till next Thursday.

ANGLICANS IN SESSION.

The Mission Fund—Sunday School Work Progressive.

TORONTO, June 8.—At the meeting of the Anglican Synod the Bishop stated a High School for boys would be established here.

The report of the Mission Fund was brought up. The Diocesan Funds showed a total collection of $15,065, being an increase over 1887 of nearly $1700; the debt has been reduced by about $3500. The Domestic Mission Fund income was $3815., an increase of $950. Foreign Mission Fund income was $2201, an income of $542. The Jewish Mission Fund income was $1870, an increase of $1000. The total missionary funds income was $22,652, an increase of $4275.

A lengthly and elaborate report was submitted from the Sunday School and Book and Tract Committee, from which it appears that the past year has been the most successful of any since the Synod was incorporated. In every department there has been progress of a very gratifying character.

The Synod adopted the report of the committee on union of the Church in British North America, recommending the establishment of provincial and Dominion Councils, the former to be presided over by an archbishop and the latter by a primate and metropolitan.

O'CONNOR POWER'S MISSION.

Irishmen to be Offered 30 Acres of the Green Sod or 160 of Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, June 8.—It is stated that O'Connor Power's real mission here is in connection with a scheme of the Imperial Government for the purchase of land for Irishmen, who will be offered the choice of thirty acres in Ireland or 160 in the Northwest, the terms of the repayment of the advances being more favorable in the latter case than in the former.

A Close Vote for President.

LONDON, June 8.—The fifth session of the London Conference of the Methodist Church opened here yesterday. One hundred and twenty-seven ministers and forty-eight laymen were present. The election for president was very close. Rev. James Graham of Exeter, was chosen, he receiving 89 votes and Rev. Wm. McDonagh coming next with 87 votes.

A Genuine Raeburn.

LONDON, June 8.—The old and dirty portrait of Robert Burns, bought in Toronto for £2, and brought here by Prof. Hirschfielder, is being cleaned. It turns out to be a genuine oil painting by Raeburn, dated 1793. The owner values it at £2,000.

THE OPENING STATE BALL

BRILLIANT DISPLAY OF LADIES' TOILETS AND JEWELS.

Henry Labouchere's Gossipy London Letter—An Expected Addition to the Royal Family—The Pope and Home Rule.

LONDON, June 8.—The first state ball of the season was numerously attended. In the absence of the Queen the Prince and Princess of Wales received the guests. The dresses in the large and stately apartments of the fine old palace were seen to the best possible advantage. Myriads of lights were reflected with wonderful effect from many mirrors and a profusion of flowers arranged in banks and masses formed a delightful foreground to a miniature forest of trees, ferns, palms and tall plants with varied and vivid hued foilage. As for the dancers they looked like a fairy kaliedoscope in which all the beautiful pieces kept up measure and rhythmical motion, each bright and delicate color identifying itself with a human form and face. Only in the pauses of the dances could the details of dress be observed.

Among the grand display of toilets I mention two, the Marchioness of Lansdowne, who made her re-entree in London society, wore a broadly striped silk and satin of pure gleaming white, rendered still more effective by having a silk stripe subtly interwoven with glittering silver, which shone like diamond dust scattered over snow. The front of the gown was a soft mass of white mousseline de chiffon, cut out at the edges and embroidered with white silk. The embroidery was cleverly arranged, so as to fall at the edge of the skirt over a thick ruche of cut out white silk, and to form a fascinating coquille up the left side. The bodice was of stripped material; the berthe being of mousseline de chiffon, which goes into clinging and incomparably soft and becoming folds.

Lady Mandeville wore a dress of bright daffodil yellow satin and tulle. It was most effectively trimmed with antique gold lace dotted over with tiny glittering spangles of polished gold. It was observed that diamonds were more worn than pearls.

Jewels have come into fashion again this year. Many dress bodices were dotted over the front with diamond clasps, stars and other devices. Diamond necklaces, pondants, bracelets and tiaras were numerous, and in several cases sprays and single stones held in position the folds of the drapery of skirts more especially where lace was used. There was much latitude in the matter of sleeves, some consisting of a knot of ribbon and a rosebud, while others were composed of lace, tulle or lisse. Pearl and bead trimmings were lavishly used on both skirts and bodices, but gallons of gold or silver gauze were even more largely introduced as trimmings.

The Pope has, unwittingly perhaps, done the greatest service to Home Rule. One of the strongest arguments against it has been that the Irish are Catholics, and that if they were given control of their own affairs their allegiance to the Pope would outweigh their allegiance to the Empire, and that they would oppress their Protestant fellow-countrymen. The Papal rescript and the action of the Catholics in regard to Home Rule have dispelled the former allegations, while the readiness with which the Tories in England and the Orangemen in Ireland have welcomed the aid of the Pope has exposed the hollowness of their dread of Catholic persecution.

Princess Beatrice's third accouchment is expected to take place in October at Balmoral.

CANADIAN NEWS IN LONDON.

Our New Loan—The Grand Trunk and Northern Deal.

LONDON, June 8.—Negotiations for the new Canadian loan are now proceeding. It is believed probable that the issue will be arranged next week.

The Standard's and Morning Post's agricultural editors comment on reports on the winter wheat crop in Ontario and advise farmers to abandon their grain-growing for sheep-breeding.

The special meeting of the Grand Trunk shareholders accepted the Act passed by the Dominion Parliament respecting the union of the Grand Trunk and the Northern and Hamilton and Northwestern railways. The meeting authorised the company to issue debentures bearing interest not exceeding four per cent. in exchange for the six per cent Northern and Hamilton and Northwestern preference stkoes. It is estimated that £25,000 interest annually will ultimately be saved by the exchange.

A BIG FIRE IN A STABLE.

One Hundred and Thirty-Four Street Car Horses Destroyed.

MONTREAL, June 8.—One of the Hochelega stables of the Street Railway Company was destroyed by fire about 1 o'clock this morning and 134 horses burned. A man seen lurking about the premises has been arrested.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 8.—At a Conservative convention here A. R. Dickey was unanimously chosen as the party candidate for the Commons to fill the vacancy caused by Sir Charles Tupper's resignation.

The Results of the Cyclone.

OTTAWA, June 8.—From all parts of the surrounding country news still arrives of great destruction to property by the cyclone. So far only three persons are reported killed. They are, William Gray, struck by a falling house; James Mulligan, on whom a barn fell; and Mary Ann McVeigh, a young girl of 12 years, who was buried in the debris of the new Roman Catholic Church at Billings' Bridge, which was levelled to the ground. Several other children who were in church and who fled for their lives as soon as the church showed signs of falling, were also seriously injured. The loss to property throughout the surrounding counties is great.

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1888.

LORD STANLEY OF PRESTON.

LORD STANLEY of Preston, the new Governor-General of Canada and successor of Lord Lansdowne, is a younger son of the late Lord Derby, who was twice Secretary of State for the Colonies and three times Prime Minister of England. Lord Stanley's elder brother, the present Lord Derby, was Secretary of State for the Colonies in 1858 and again from 1882 to 1885. The new Governor-General was born, says the Ottawa Citizen, on the 15th of January, 1841. In May, 1864, he married Lady Constance, daughter of the Earl of Clarendon, by whom he has had ten children, eight boys and two girls. One boy and one girl are dead. His surviving daughter, Lady Isabel Constance May, was born the 20th September, 1875. His eldest son, Edward George Villers, who is a Lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards, was born on the 4th of April, 1865. He will accompany his father to Canada. The second son, Victor Albert, is an officer in the Royal Navy. Lord Stanley was a Captain in the Grenadier Guards, from which position he retired in 1865. For a time he was Lieutenant-Colonel Commanding the King's Own Royal Lancashire Regiment, and was an A.D.C. to the Queen. He represented Preston in the House of Commons from 1865 to 1868; he Northern Division of Lancashire from 1868 to 1885; and the Blackpool Division of Lancashire from 1885 to his elevation to the peerage as Lord Stanley of Preston, in 1886. He was a Lord of the Admiralty in 1867, under Mr. Disraeli's first Administration; Financial Secretary to the Treasury from 1877 to 1878, under Mr. Disraeli's second Administration; Secretary of State for War from 1878 to 1880, under the same Administration; Vice-President of the Committee of the Council on Education, 1885; Secretary of State for the Colonies, from 1885 to 1886; in Lord Salisbury's first Administration; President of the Board of Trade in 1886. It will be seen, therefore, that Lord Stanley comes to Canada with a varied experience in public life. He has already taken a great interest in the affairs of the colonies, and it is safe to say that few public men in England to-day are more thoroughly conversant with their history than he. He arrives in Canada at a time when the country is enjoying a fair measure of prosperity, and at a season of the year when the attractions of nature will have a charm for the eye.

IN a recent discussion in the British House of Commons on the agreement with Australia regarding naval defence, Mr. Labouchere, the notorious Radical, instanced the Egyptian campaign as an illustration of the uselessness of this Imperial co-operation. But Mr. Labouchere met with a prompt rebuke and an emphatic refutation of his statements. We quote from the London (Eng.) Canadian Gazette:—"Mr. Labouchere did not perhaps observe among his listeners the outspoken Lord Charles Beresford, who promptly and indignantly repudiated, as one who was in Egypt at the time, what had been said by Mr. Labouchere as to the presence of the Australian troops at Suakim and the Canadian voyageurs on the Nile. The Canadians, he said, proved themselves splendid sailors, and did all they had to do on the Nile in so able a manner that he had no hesitation in saying that but for them the troops sent up that river would not have got as far as they did. That the sympathy of the House was with the noble lord was clearly indicated by the hearty cheer which this denial elicited."

METHODIST CHURCH

LINDSAY, June 8.—In the noon recess yesterday, a meeting of the delegates from Peterborough District was held to elect a Chairman vice Rev. I. Tovell, transferred. It resulted in the choice of Rev. R. T. Courtice, of Bethany, who retains his position till the election of Chairmen at the close of the Conference. At the afternoon session, Revs. W. J. Young was chosen assistant Secretary. Rev. Dr. Potts Secretary of Education, and Dr. Briggs, Book Steward, were then introduced to the Conference. Dr. Potts reported success and good prospects along the line of the Educational work of the Church. About $200,000 have been guaranteed to the building fund of Victoria at Toronto. Besides this $30,000 has been promised for the founding of two chairs in the College. Rev. Dr. Briggs read a lengthy report concerning the work and success of the Publishing department. He showed that the year had been very successful. Of the net profits of the business $6 000 has been appropriated to the Superannuation Fund of the Church.

The report of the Sabbath School Secretary, Dr. Withrow, was read by the Secretary of Conference, and showed that great progress and development had characterized that work during another year.

The examination of Ministerial character occupied the remainder of the afternoon session.

George H. Raley and S. J. Thompson were passed on their final years and received into full connection. Several were continued on probation, and George McCall, B.A., and two others were received as probationers for the ministry.

The educational meeting was held last evening. The General Superintendent, Dr. J. A. Williams, presided. The Rev. Wm. Williams, D.D., read the Educational Fund report, showing that $1,220 had been collected, a decrease on last year's givings. Dr. Williams made a spirited speech, and addresses were delivered by Rev. Principal Dyer, M.A., of Albert College, Belleville, and Rev. Dr. Potts. Principal Dyer only spoke a few minutes when he was overcome by heat and succumbed to nervous prostration. He was helped off the platform, and medical attendance was called and he was soon reported somewhat better.

Suicide or Murder.

The young man referred to in the following clipping from the Manitoba Free Press, was well known in Peterborough. He was employed for some months in the REVIEW Office pressroom and was a member of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England:—

"Geo. D. Sprake was employed as a compositor in the newsroom of the Free Press some two years since. Latterly he accepted a situation in the office of the Calgary Tribune, where he was employed for some months. He left Calgary for Portland some time last fall, where he was employed on the Oregonian. That paper of a recent date has the following:—

"George D. Sprake, a compositor on the Oregonian for six months past, has not been seen or heard of since Thursday afternoon, and his friends are much alarmed over his disappearance. He distributed his case Thursday, but left his frame unrepresented at night. Sprake came here from Calgary, Northwest Territory, having arrived there from England not long before. He was a man of sober, industrious habits, but singularly unable to stand a joke or to conceive of anyone speaking except in earnest. He was senitive to the last degree, magnified the most trival remark about himself into a serious matter, and finally conceived that he was the subject, in printing office conversations, of the most damaging slanders. The despondent state of his mind was not brightened by the efforts of friends to disabuse him of his delusion and it is possible that he may have wandered away from the city while temporarily insane, or even committed suicide. Sprake usually carried considerable money with him, and may heve been foully dealt with or perhaps shanghaied. The missing man is about 30 years old, weight 130 lbs., 5 feet 4 inches high, with dark hair and whiskers, was neatly dressed in dark clothes, carried two silver watches and two chains, and used glasses. He speaks with broad English accent."

Correspondence of the Review.

FIRE.—A fire was discovered about 3 o'clock this (Friday) morning, in a large driving shed, in the rear of Mr. J.B. Pearce's new residence now in course of erection. It quickly got beyond control, but by the efforts of the neighbours it was confined to the shed, although it is close to the new building. There was 13000 feet of lumber in the shed and some of it very valuable. Besides the loss of the lumber, it will greatly inconvenience Mr. Pearce in the erection of his new residence. The boys brought over our wonderful pumping engine, but after trying to get it connected with a well close at hand, the suction pipe was found too short and the crazy old affair was found useless. If it had not been so heavy there is little doubt but it would have been thrown into the flames, for ever since it was brought here, it has never put out a solitary fire. It was also spared because there was only one of our fossil councillors there and we wanted them all, so that we could throw them all in to the fire together.

WE CAN BEAT KEENE.—Some of our boys have put a 26lb. shoulder stone 23 ft., just 2 feet ahead of Keene's throw as shown by your correspondent from there a short time ago.

COUNCIL MEETING.—A meeting of the Council was held on Monday evening. On account of the absence of the Reeve it was decided not to take up any important matters. A petition in favor of early closing was received and laid over to next meeting. Messrs. Pearce and Fraser addressed the council, asking them to construct a sidewalk across Alma-st., connecting Queen and Colbourne-sts. Councillor Haddon opposed the proposed expenditure and thought that Ridge and Spring-sts, required a sidewalk, Mr. Pearce explained that there were more pedestrians crossed Alma-st. in one week than on either of the other streets in 12 months. The matter was finally laid over for next meeting. A long discussion arose over the responsibility of the council for the various schemes of grading, bridge building, &c., that was going on in the corporation. Each of the council in turn denied all knowledge of who ordered the work to be done. It was decided to stop (at once) all work on the streets which had not received the sanction of the council in the regular way.

PERSONAL.—We are pleased to see our esteemed townsman Mr. J. B. Pearce has so far recovered as to be able to be around again.

Ontario's Exodus.

TORONTO, June 8.—Night before last nearly 200 Western Ontario farmers left by the train for Manitoba and the Northwest. Last night 100 left for the same place, and to-morrow night 200 more are booked to leave. In some cases the families accompany, but in most the head alone goes. All who have gone are well supplied with money.

Lady Macdonald in Her Summer Residence.

RIVER DU LOUP, June 8.—Lady Macdonald arrived in town to-day in her private car. She got off at the station and drove to her summer residence, to which a fine verandah and other improvements are now being made. After her visit there she drove to the wharf, where her car had been sent this afternoon.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot; for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them. and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages, country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead: town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need: that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1888.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Weather Probabilities.

Winds shifting to easterly; fair weather with a little higher temperature.

Just a Reminder.

Prints are now very fashionable, and many patterns make up a handsome and stylish morning dress. Many charming styles of prints to select from at the golden lion.

Irish Cricketers.

It will be known definitely in a few days, whether the Irish cricketers will play here or not this season. The members of the team are desirous of visiting Peterborough but the Toronto man who is mapping out the tour wants to keep them in that place all the time.

Handicap Race.

Mr. John Newhall is trying to arrange a handicap trotting race, similar to those seen in England. It will be open only to local horses and the handicapper has done his work in such a manner that all starters are given an equal chance. The best known flyers will be placed at the scratch and the others will be given such starts as their previous performance entitle them to receive.

Deer Hunt.

The deer to be used in the hunt to take place at the driving park on Dominion Day, was taken down yesterday afternoon, but not without giving considerable trouble to the members of the committee who had him in charge. The hunt will be one of the most exciting events ever witnessed in Peterborough. Of course the dogs will all be muzzled and no harm can come to the deer. Another novel feature of the days sport will be a genuine fox hunt, for which three fine specimens of that animal have been secured.

Cause and Effect.

The question of the hour is why people will put themselves so much about. Why pass all the attractions along George-st., bankrupt stocks at 50c. on the dollar, and dollar for dollar, and goods for the mere asking, in fact to be sent home in a wheelbarrow and charge nothing for the sending. We ask again, why is it that the appreciative public will pass all this and pursue the even tenor of their way to the noted cheap store, last one on the east side of George-st., in other words Sheppard's Big Bonanza Bargain House, is reached. Cause and effect—the cheapest and best goods between Toronto and Montreal.

Trent Valley Canal.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Trent Valley Navigation Association was held in the Board of Trade room, Lindsay, on Thursday. Mr. James Stevenson, M.P., of Peterborough, presided and among those present were Messrs. John Carnegie, Secretary, Peterborough; John Burnham, Reeve of Ashburnham; T. Walters, Mayor, and Col. Deacon, Lindsay; M. M. Boyd, Bobcaygeon; W. Switzer, Warden of Simcoe; J. B. Thompson, Mayor of Orillia; J. Swanton, Reeve of Fenelon Falls; J. Dobson, President Lindsay Board of Trade, and others. The evidence taken by the Commission at Montreal was read and the question of what evidence the Association would require to put in, and how it could best be obtained, was discussed. The committee sat till 5 o'clock in the afternoon and adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman in Orillia.

Lacrosse.

The Y.M.C.A. lacrosse club hold a meeting this evening to arrange preliminaries in connection with coming matches. On Monday evening they play a match with the Etnas on the P.A.A.A. grounds. On Thursday they play at Lindsay and on July 2nd they will play at Port Hope.

The Secret Out.

People are astounded at the amount of property sold by Jno. Carlisle. Why has he sold so much? Simply because he leaves money every time in said properties for the buyers. Many can vouch for the truth of this statement. 45 parcels sold the last few months.

LIKE a ship before the breeze, so go those fine Teas at 5 pounds for $1 at the Pantry.

Boating Club.

A full attendance of members is particularly requested at the meeting of the Lansdowne Rowing Club, at the boat house, at 7.30 o'clock, this evening. Those wishing to join will please be on hand early. It is proposed to hold regular weekly races and a programme will be mapped out.

The Proposed Regatta.

A specially important meeting is called for this evening of the Otonabee Canoe Club at which, it is understood, arrangements will be made for holding a regatta on a date to be fixed, possibly Dominion Day.

THOSE IN WANT of genuine bargains should not fail to go to Dawson Bros. old stand, where they are conducting a great clearing sale of dry goods. This is certainly a great opportunity to buy new goods at ridiculously low prices. All this fine stock must positively be cleared out inside the next two weeks. New Buildings.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox has commenced the erection of a new building, facing on Charlotte-st., in rear of the block at the corner of George and Charlotte-sts. The same gentleman has also commenced excavating for a block of stores on the lot facing on Water-st., a short distance above the post office. The Harper block on Charlotte-st. is progressing rapidly. The brickwork of the shop for Messrs. Douglas & Logan, on Water-st., near Denne's mill, is being proceeded with.

Band Competition.

We have received the programme of a band competition to be held at the town of Walkerton, on Wednesday and Thursday, the 8th and 9th of August, 1888, under the auspices of the 32nd Battalion Band. Cash prizes to the amount of $1,200 are offered. For first class bands the prize are $300, $200 and $100. For second class bands $150, $100 and $50 are the amounts. There are also three prizes of $100, $50 and $25 offered for amateur bands of Grey and Bruce. The Fire Brigade Band has been invited to compete in the first named class.

From Toronto.

Only a comparatively small number of those who went up to Toronto, yesterday on the Masonic excursion remained over night in the city. The 8.50 train brought down a good many and the special from Port Hope, which did not reach town until a late hour, brought down a still greater number. The special on the Grand Junction only had two passengers. Those who went up speak in the most complimentary terms of the manner in which they were used by the committee and officials of the G.T.R. and all agreed that the trip was an exceedingly pleasant one. The number of excursionists who took advantage of the trip was about 300, and the excursion was very successful.

Low prices do not affect the quality of of Groceries at the Pantry. This truth demonstrated in every purchase.

The Reasons.

When the fire alarm sounded yesterday afternoon, one of the fire teams was at the C.P.R. track and the other at the corner of George and Antrim-sts. They were at once unhitched and some tall galloping was done before the fire hall was reached, where the men were anxiously awaiting the arrival of the motive power for the machines. Another cause of delay arose from the fact that the alarm was sent in from the wrong box and a third cause was that Simcoe, Charlotte and Kink-sts. at Bethune were all blocked by G. T. R. trains, and the apparatus reached the scene as soon as possible There was considerable delay no doubt, but under the circumstances as related the firemen are certainly not to blame in the least.

12th of June. What About It?

This is the date that the people are talking so much about. Is it on account of the nomination of a councillor for No. 2 Ward? Well, no, I guess not. It is the grand union excursion that Canton No. 10, I.O.O.F. and St. Luke's C. E. T. S., are going to hold over the C.P.R. to Toronto. Some people say, Why advertise it more, everyone knows about it. And look out for the crowd that will be at the station to go on Tuesday next. It makes us smile as we hear of the large number of tickets already sold. Won't the band boys do their best. Well, yes, we can depend on having some fine selections from them to make all hearts rejoice. Put aside work for Tuesday next and take in this popular excursion. You will feel better for it and the committee will do all they can to make you comfortable, both going and when you arrive in Toronto. Let our friends in the country take in this trip, and boys, bring along your ladies. Fare only $2, children $1, good for two days. Leaves C.P.R. at 8.10 a. m. or 7.20 a. m.; can come back on any regular train. So hurrah for Tuesday next and Toronto. Come one, come all!

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. R. V. Mott, Brentwood, Cal., writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Phthisis, Scrofula and Wasting Diseases. It is very palatable. Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Baseball Match.

The Lindsay baseball players arrived on the noon train to-day and a match will be played between them and Peterborough club this evening at 6 o'clock on P. A. A. A. grounds. A good game expected. Ladies free.

Perfection.

The Millbrook Reporter says:—"The Bensfort cheese factory is now in full swing. Four cheese, sixty pounds weight each, are made daily. The vats, etc., are supplied by Messrs. W. Bain & Co., Peterborough, and are perfection itself. The Messrs. Pue are to be congratulated on the success of their undertaking."

For Councillor.

The petition asking Mr. E. H. D. Hall to stand as a candidate for Councillor to fill the vacancy in No. Two Ward is being largely signed, and up to the present time we have not learned that there will be any opposition. Mr. Hall has the ability necessary to make a first-class Councillor, and his many friends would be pleased to see him numbered among the city fathers.

Discharged.

John Cruikshank was before the Police Court this morning, charged by Officer Adams with being drunk and disorderly in a public place on Thursday. The prisoner was raising a row on the market square when he was scooped in. He pleaded guilty and upon assuring the Magistrate that he had lived in town for three years and had never appeared at the court before, he was allowed to depart on his way rejoicing.

Unclaimed.

On Sunday evening last Officer Adams incarcerated three cows in the pound in the Third Ward operated by Mr. E. C. Hill. Up to date the animals have not been claimed and unless an owner turns up by Monday next, they will have to be sold by public auction on the market quare to pay expenses. They are three fine heifers and are probably owned by some farmer living in this vicinity.

WE aim to make our reputation of the Pantry permanent by selling at figures that clinch the argument every time.

A Curiosity.

There is on exhibition at the Palace Grocery of Messrs. Elliott & Tierney a genuine curiosity and one of the best pieces of work seen here for some time. It consists of a cross, cut out of wood with a pen knife the small piece being nailed to the other. A ladder runs up the front of the cross and the both sides of it are upright pieces, also nailed. There are several other small pieces, the whole being fastened together by nails. But the curious part is to come. The cross, etc., are inside of an ordinary "whiskey bottle," with a very small neck, and the question is, How did it get there? It was made by a French Canadian lumberman as one of the shanties. It is well worth seeing.

First Over the New Route.

Here is an entry to make on the credit side of our book of progress. On Friday of last week the first steamer to make the trip throught the route of the Trent Valley Canal as far as practicible steamed over the waters. Capt. Eden, of Lakefield, with the steamer Dawn accomplished the voyage, going as far north as the locks at Fenelon Falls. He speaks of it as a most delightful trip, perfectly safe, easy to navigate and one on which fast time can be made. The first trip is only the beginning of a season of summer travel that must set in as soon as the advantages of the route are fully recognized. The scenery rivals that of the favored Muskoka, while the points of interest along the route lend additional inducement to the pleasure seeker. Capt. Eden writes that the steamer Dawn has taken a regular route over the lake waters north of Lakefield, and that the boat can be chartered to carry a party from Lakefield to Fenelon Falls and return. Reference to the time table will afford further particulars.

Do not take quinine for malarial disorders. Ayer's Ague Cure contains none, nor any other injurious ingredient. This preparation, if taken strictly in accordance with directions, is warranted to cure all malarial diseases.

Another Fire.

Fires are becoming rather numerous in Peterborough. Another occurred on Thursday afternoon, shortly after 5 o'clock, when it was found that a fine brick house on Reid-st., just south of King, was in great danger of being destroyed. The fire originated in a shed in the rear and is said to have been caused by children playing with matches. The firemen were some time in getting down, but when they arrived they lost no time in getting to work. Two streams were put on from a hydrant at the corner and with the assistance of the Babcocks the fire was soon under control, but not until the sheds and the roof and rear part of the building were badly damaged. The house, a double one, is owned by Mr. Joseph Legrandeour and occupied by the owner and Mr. R. Mulligan. The furniture was all safely removed. The loss will probably reach $500, on which there is no insurance. Mr. Legrandeour had only finished the building and the loss will be a severe one to him. Some of the people residing in the neighboring houses got terribly excited and removed their effects out on the street, but it was soon seen that there was no danger and they were put back again.

The name of Mr. Max Hamilton is mentioned as one of the players likely to represent the Ontario Association in the coming international cricket match.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all Druggists.

Decoration Day.

The Oddfellows committee held a meeting on Thursday evening to make arrangements for the annual and interesting ceremony of decorating the graves of deceased brethren. The ceremony will take place on Tuesday, June 26th. The public are invited to co-operate with the order, which they will no doubt be pleased to do, as they have done for several years past.

Incorrect.

A sporting note in the Mail of to-day says:—"It is reported that David Patterson, of last year's Montreal team, played with the Riversides of Peterborough against Barrie in their last match." Mr. Patterson played at Barrie on the 24th of May with the Riversides, but he did not play on Wednesday in the match here, as he was not in town. The chances are that if he had been playing Barrie would not have got a game at all.

Fire Alarm Boxes.

Mr. H. W. Kent has mapped out a system of fire alarm for the town, worked in connection with the Bell Telephone Company's service, that would suit all the requirements of the town as well as the expensive Gamewell system. At present satisfaction is not always given as people will persist in pulling the wrong boxes and sounding the wrong numbers. Under the plan proposed it would be impossible to make mistakes. The cost would be nominal and it is probable that the matter will be brought before the Council.

The Superiority of the "Royal Flavoring xtracts" is purity and strength.

Rifle Match.

The first regular match of the Rifle Association was held at the range, on the Chemong Lake Railway, on Thursday afternoon. The members turned out in good force, no less than seventeen taking part. The shooting was fair. The prizes were ammunition. Sergt. W. A. Mason with 75, shot exceedingly well, and he was closely followed by Pte. D. Cameron with 70. The following was the score:—

JOHN HACKETT

Has again occupied his former premises next door to Fortye & Phelan's Hardware Store.

The Store, which has been undergoing extent sive alterations and improvements, is now a model place of business, and the public are invited to call and take a look through the premises.

The increased accommodation and convenience afforded us for doing business will no doubt help to compensate us and our customers for the inconvenience caused by our removal during the alterations and we hope to see all our friends back again in our handsome new premises.

THE STEAMER "DAWN"

B. M. EDEN (Master).

UNTIL further notice the Steamer "Dawn" will leave the LAKEFIELD WHARF on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS on arrival of morning train from Peterborough for Julian's Landing, Burleigh and Stony Lake, returning to connect with the evening train for Peterborough.

The steamer can also be chartered by the day for any port along the chain of lakes between Lakefield, Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Sturgeon Point, etc., by giving two or three days notice. For further information as to tickets etc., apply to Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co., Peterborough, T. J. Bird, Druggist, Lakefield, or to CAPT. EDEN, Proprietor.

REQUISITION.

Peterborough, 7th June, 1888.

E. H. D HALL, Esq:

SIR,—In consequence of the resignation of Andrew McNeil, Esq., a vacancy exists in the representation of No. Two Ward as Councillor. We therefore, the undersigned ratepayers of the Ward, believing you to be a fit and proper person to represent the best interests of this, the Commercial Ward of the Town, request you to offer yourself a candidate for the vacant position.

Andrew McNeil	C. McGill
Rich. Hall	H. Rush
Henry Best	W. Patterson, Jr.
Peter Connal	McFarlane Wilson
H. LeBrun	Geo. A. Cox
Robert B. McKee	W. H. Wrighton
Thos. Geo. Hazlitt	and others.

GENTLEMEN,—I have much pleasure in acceding to your request and if elected will give my best attention to the duties of the position Yours truly.

McCausland & Son, of Toronto, are beyond question the easy leaders in the Ornamental Stained glass trade in Canada. Their vast business extends from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, and thousands of public and private buildings bear testimony of this firm's ability to execute beautiful and durable windows of every description.

"I merely called in," said old Mr. Clovertoys, as he came stumping along the hall, "to give you folks a slice of advice previous to your going to Toronto on any of these here visions. My advice is this, and if an old man's experience is worth anythin', which it naturally is worth somethin,' don't go to the city with the everlastin' idea that you can buy dirt cheap all around. Some things air cheap, nodoubt, but if you're looking for dinner dishes or pretty tea sets, or silver things or spoons and such like trifles, remember that CHINA HALL is a home institution and here for you every day in the week."

Don't Wait

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

FRIDAY, JUNE , 1888.

MONA'S CHOICE

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

[NEXT: Reads begin at the beginning of my life, for Mary is just bound up with it."

"Go on," said Mona, looking up in his face, with a sunny smile, and Kenneth "went on" considerably. He felt a new creature when he was thus enabled to unbosom himself. Thoughts uttered seemed so much stronger than they do while lurking in the shadowy recesses of the heart.

By the time they reached Westbourne Villas, he had talked himself into a conviction that his wedding was not so far off after all. But at the garden gate, terrible reality grasped him and looked him in the face. Within those walls Uncle Sandy awaited him.

"He will be awful angry, Mona," whispered Kenneth, pausing before he rang the bell.

"I dare say he will"—(it was not necessary to name the object of their dread)—but you must throw all the blame on me—remember, Kenneth, it is quite true. If there was no Mary in the case, I could not marry you."

"There will be somebody else then," he said, with innocent conceit.

"Never mind about that, Kenneth. Think so if you like; but do not be too positive with Uncle Sandy. If he chooses to hope a little, let him."

When they went in, Mona retired to take off her cloak and hat, and Kenneth, with slow, reluctant steps, went up to face Uncle Sandy.

"Oh, Deb!" cried Mona, throwing herself into a chair beside that good lady, who, on the door being opened, hastily hid the stocking she had been darning under the table. "Oh, Deb, support me! I have been cruelly and heartlessly rejected by Kenneth Macalister."

"Why! Grand Dieu! What do you mean?" asked Mme. Debrisay, impatiently, while she hunted vigorously for her needle. "Ah! here it is! Now don't talk riddles and conundrums."

Whereupon Mona repeated the substance of her conversation with Kenneth.

"Why, what has come to that cantankerous cripple, your uncle, that he should think of such a marriage for you? That long-legged Highlander isn't fit to wipe your shoes—a creature that has only exchanged his native wilds for a den of thieves in the city. Why he isn't fit to sit in the same room with you. You know I have always stood up for your uncle, even when there was no denying he is a nayg—(Irish for mean miser)—"But I wash my hands of him now."

"You are too indignant," began Mona; but madame did not heed her.

CHAPTER XIII.—DIPLOMACY.

Kenneth Macalister lost no time in giving Mona the result of his dreaded interview with Uncle Sandy.

He was not, Kenneth said, so vexed as might have been expected. He told his nephew not to be down-hearted; that his offer was, perhaps, unexpected like, and he could not suppose a lassie—a very superior young lady—would jump at the first word—that he (Kenneth) must persevere, and come often to the house—perseverance could accomplish much. Uncle Sandy had set his pertinacious mind on the marriage. All, however, might go well, if only no breath of the project reached Mary's ears.

"I am exceedingly glad I may go and see you often," concluded Kenneth. "For this great stony wilderness of a town has seemed a good deal more home-like since I knew you."

Meanwhile the usual round of London life ran its course. Parliament assembled. New players and old favorites enchanted the public. Fresh scandals, and novelties of toilets, enlivened the pages of society papers. Another batch of little girls were promoted from the nursery to the schoolroom, and both Mme. Debrisay and Mona's hands were full.

May set in with unusual warmth, dry east winds prevailing, and Uncle Sandy grew discontented with his food, restless at night; feverish by day, dissatisfied with his liver, and suspicious of his digestive organs.

"I am no sae sure that Sir Andrew Colman gives me that attention he ought, 'sidering a' the guineas he has had from me! Mr. Maclean" (this was his minister) "advises me to try that man in Saville Row, Doctor Carmichael; they say he is wonderful for liver and digestion; and I am regular out of sorts."

"Well, I would, Mr. Craig," said Mme. Debrisay, to whom Uncle Sandy confided his doubts and intention; "you have not been looking at all well—not a bit like yourself of late. I have felt rather uneasy about you. Perhaps a new doctor may observe something that has escaped the other. May be change of air might do you good."

"Haven't I had a total change coming here? And last year I felt a new man! How is a puir frail body like me to go wandering about by my ain sell? Why, the cure wad be worse than the sickness."

"Still, my dear sir, it is well worth while to face some difficulties rather than not recover your precious health."

"I know it—I know it," he growled, impatiently; "and I am just thinking what's best to be done. I'll get Mona to write and ask for an appointment, when she comes in."

"I am sure, Mr Craig, my poor pen is quite at your service."

"Oh, thank'ee, thank'ee! I'll just wait till my niece comes in."

Mr. Craig was quite nervous about his visit to a new doctor, and at length expressed a wish that Mme. Debrisay should accompany him to the doctor's house, though he did not wish her to be present at the interview.

"Why did you not say so at once?" she cried. "I should have offered to go with you, but seeing you are a particular man, I did not like to intrude."

"Intrude! Why no, of course, you would not. I did think of taking my nephew, but it is not easy for him to get away from business."

"Do not think of it, my dear sir. I am, you know, quite an experienced nurse, and when Doctor Carmichael makes an appointment, I will arrange to go with you. You are not really fit to go alone."

"You are varra good. I shall be much indebted to you."

For the remainder of the day Uncle Sandy was amiable enough; but, as is not uncommon, when the immediate sense of obligation wears off, the politeness it engenders also disappears, and next day he was as querulous as ever.

* * * * * * * *

The day that Uncle Sandy went to consult the well-known Dr. Carmichael, Mona was rather late, and went up to his sitting room before she took off her hat.

She found him at his evening meal—a chop and some dry toast—while Mme. Debrisay was busy over a cup of cocoa, which she was making with the help of a kettle and spirit-lamp.

"Well, uncle, what did the doctor say?"

"Not much. He evidently thinks I am in a bad way. He went so far as to say that medicine could do me varra little good. He just altered my diet a bit. I am not to touch tea or coffee, only a wee drap whisky in cold water; and he has ordered me to a foreign place I never heard tell of before. That's the worst. If I'm to dee, let me have one of my ain to close my eyes. Out of London I will not go, unless you come with me, Mona."

"My dear uncle, this is very serious. Where are you to go."

"To a queer, out-of-the-way water-drinking toun ca'd Con-ter-x-ville, away in France. Madame there seems to know about it, as she does about most things."

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

Dust From the Diamond.

Watertown has purchased Donohue's release from Syracuse.

Stagg, Yale's pitcher, eclipsed his former pitching feats last week when he struck out 20 of the Princeton batsmen in one game.

A telegram from Omaha says that the Pittsburg Club has about completed arrangements for the purchase of Burdick, pitcher of that club. It is claimed that $3,000 was paid for his release.

THE LONGLEY CASE.

A Committee of the Conference Hear the Evidence in Secret Session.

NORWICH, June 8.—The committee to whom was relegated the task of going over the evidence with Mr. Longley concluded their work at a late hour on Wednesday night, and the reading of the same has been going on in special secret meeting of the Conference, and is still in progress. Some prominent members of the Conference are in favor of the whole of the young woman's affidavit being thrown out on the ground of informality and as being defamatory. It is not at all improbable that in a judicial and Christian body, such as now assembled, such a course will be resorted to, but it is believed the case will be allowed a full hearing. Mr. and Mrs. Longley, with their little daughter, are rooming at Duke's hotel, and yesterday Rev. Dr. Douglas and party arrived and took their quarters as the same house. Messrs. L. A. Morrison, E. Blakeley and H. Shore, all of Queen street church, are at the Brady house.

Lansdowne's Generous Gift.

OTTAWA, June 8.—Mayor Stewart has just received a cable from Lord Lansdowne, dated London, regretting the loss incurred at the Hull fire and subscribing fifty pounds sterling towards the relief fund.

We are showing the New Norfolk Blouse Suits for Boys and Youths. This style has become so popular in the larger cities that manufacturers can scarcely supply the demand. They look best in dawn and Pearl Halifax Tweeds. Call and see them.

The most difficult Garment for a lady to choose is a light Print Dress, but if you call at Turnbull's you are sure to have no trouble as he can show you such a large variety in every color, every pattern and at any price.

A new material introduced this season is the Flannelette in fancy colored stripes and plains, the correct thing for Ladies' Wrappers and children's clothes, only ten cents a yard. Ladies handling it for the first time sometimes ask is it all wool. It is really all cotton but finished like a flannel.

As the weather gets warmer children require to have the heavy clothing changed for something light and cool, and Mothers are often perplexed to know what to buy. We would call their attention to our Colored Washing in Fancy Stripe and Check. They are warranted fast colors in fact the ofther they are washed the better they look. The prices range from 12½c. up.

MILLINERY.—We are still receiving daily New Goods by express. Another lot of Plaid Ribbons just received. Also some New Shapes, as the Blossom, Cape Town and Vallego. These are the correct thing for pic-nic hats.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

CABINET MINISTERS ON THEIR SUMMER JUNKETING TOURS.

The Notices of this week's Gazette—Rumored purchase of the C.P.R. Branch from Ottawa to Quebec—Other Railway items.

OTTAWA, June 9.—The members of the Government are already making preparations to leave the capital on their summer holidays. Sir A. P. Caron goes to British Columbia,, a trip he has had in view for some seasons. Langevin will have his weekly trips to Quebec. Sir John will be pretty much at River du Loup, where Lady Macdonald has been preparing their summer residence. Minister Pope is in the Eastern Townships. Foster is in New Brunswick, McLean leaves for good in a few days, Costigan is a lover of private picnic parties, Carling (when he takes an outing) goes to London, and Bowell has his occasional run to Belleville.

Minister Chapleau is in New York. It is said that he is there to endeavor to negotiate with capitalists for the purchase of the C. P. R. branch from here to Quebec.

To-day's Canada Gazette contains the orders-in-Council rescinding the order-in-Council under which the Canada Temperance Act came into force in the Counties of Renfrew, Norfolk, Simcoe, Dufferin, Huron, Bruce, Halton, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

William Henry Middleton gives notice of an application for divorce from his wife Mary Proud Middleton.

Several orders-in-Council will appear tomorrow offering certain trails and roads in Manitoba and the Northwest to the control of the local Government.

An order-in-Council has been passed continuing in force for the present season the order-in-Council of May 26, 1888, whereby steamers, specially chartered for the conveyance of excursion parties going and returning in the same boat on the same day, were charged one-half the usual passenger tolls for passage through the Lachine canal and St. Ann's lock.

Supplementary letters patent have been issued to the Protective Police and Fire Patrol Company of Canada, reducing the capital from $50,000 to $10,000.

The Manitoba and Northwestern Railway Company give notice of a special general meeting at Montreal on July 13 for the purpose of authorizing the issue of debenture stock and of ratifying the agreement entered into with the St. Paul Construction Company.

The annual meeting of the South Norfolk Railway Company will be held at Port Rowan on June 23, and of the Southeastern Railway Company at Montreal on July 18.

The Grand Trunk Railway gives notice of a sale of unclaimed freight and baggage at Montreal on July 26.

The fisheries protection steamer Acadia commences service to-day. All the cruisers are now out with the exception of the one at Gaspe and the new vessel being built at Shelborne, N.S., which is not yet named.

The lighthouse at Oakville, Lake Ontario, has been completed and the light is now in operation.

The Public Works Department have invited tenders for the new Postoffice at Lindsay. The time for receiving tenders expires on June 25.

Mayor Stewart and the city members had an interview with the Minister of Public Works yesterday with reference to a site for the Sharpshooters' memorial. Sir Hector promised to bring the matter before his colleagues It is thought that the first site proposed at the intersection of Sappers and Dufferin bridges is too expensive, as a large space would have to be built up, twenty feet or more, to the street level, and the probability is that the monument will be located in Major's Hill Park.

It is understood that it has been decided that the swearing-in of the new Governor-General will be public and will take place in the Senate Chamber, admission being by ticket.

PAT PURCELL'S SEAT.

The Privy Council Judicial Committee Likely to Allow an Appeal.

MONTREAL, June 9.—Word has been received from Mr. Donald Macmaster, Q.C., who is now in London, Eng., for the purpose of making an application to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council for permission to appeal from the judgment of the Supreme Court in the Glengarry election case, that he has obtained the opinion of Sir Horace Davey, Q.C., the leader of the English Bar, which is to the effect that the application will likely be granted on the ground that the construction of the Act and the validity of the order extending the time for trial, are questions of general interest, and on account of the difference of opinion amongst the judges of the Supreme Court, the Bench having been divided three to two.

On the merits Sir Horace also thinks the appeal will be successful, as, according to the true construction of the Act, the time during which any session of parliament may last is excluded from the computation of the six months' delay within which the petition must be tried. Furthermore he is of opinion that the court had jurisdiction to extend the time, notwithstanding the lapse of six months.

Divorced for Bigamy.

LONDON, June 9.—A divorce has been granted to the wife of Rev. Henry White Melville, who eloped in December last with the daughter of Capt. Dunne, late Governor of Castlebar Jail, on the ground that the husband committed bigamy.

The Pacific Defences.

LONDON, June 9.—Lord Sudeley is about to call attention in the House of Lords to the position of the defences at Esquimalt and the superior advantages of Burrard's Inlet.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

DEMOCRATS' PLATFORM.

LEADING NEWSPAPERS SPEAK WELL OF THE TARIFF DECLARATION.

The English Press Think the Democrats Will Have it all Their Own Way—A Second and even a Third Term.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Referring to the platform adopted by the Democratic National Convention, the Herald says; It is as good a platform as was ever adopted by a convention—clear, straightforward, without a quibble or double-dealing. What it declares concerning promises redeemed is true, what it promises the ticket guarantees.

The Sun says: In this declaration the whole elaborate reasoning of President Cleveland's Message against any reduction of the internal revenue is pitched overboard.

The Tribune says: In adopting this platform, the convention puts itself in accord with the candidates and with more than nine-tenths of the Democratic representatives in Congress.

The Times says: The platform, as it stands after the additions made to it by resolutions offered in the convention, is dignified, temperate and candid.

Yesterday's London papers, in referring to President Cleveland's re-nomination, say that it is all in the direction of Free Trade, and the comments are consequently congratulatory in tone.

The St. James Gazette says: The Democrats are extremely likely to have it all their own way at the next election. The Republicans have neither the man nor the cause, as we pointed out yesterday. The old issues of the war and the bloody shirt are exhausted, and the Republicans are looking about for a new cry, which is not easy to find, and their still greater difficulty is to find a candidate who can make a good fight against the present President.

The Pall Mall Gazette speaks even of a third term as a matter of course—a President who has been a success is almost sure to be nominated a second and a third time. And the danger of the proceeding will lie in his entourage and not in his personal greatness. If he governs well and wisely only machine politicians are likely to oppose him. The point of the contest about which we feel the most interest in this country is the tariff question.

The Star says of the enthusiastic proceedings at St. Louis: We may very well re-echo that enthusiasm on this side of the water, for the re-election of President Cleveland means the adoption of his programme of tariff revision, and his ideas on that subject go a long way towards Free Trade.

NEWS FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

BUENOS AYRES, May 15.—During the second act of "Aida" in the Theatre Colon, the secretary of the company read telegrams announcing the abolition of slavery in Brazil. The audience received the notice with prolonged applause. On the curtain rising again the stage was decorated with the Argentine and Brazilian flags entwined. The orchestra played the national hymn amid tremendous applause. The Brazilian Minister spoke from the box of the President, and thanked the people of the Argentine Republic for their kind sentiments.

The Toro, of Quito, says that about midnight on April 27 a very severe shock of earthquake was experienced in that city when everybody left their houses and filled the streets. The piazzas were crowded with persons on their knees saying their prayers. About 3 o'clock in the morning processions went through the streets singing the "Ave Maria" with great fervor.

In a town of Patay, Department of La Libertad, Peru, a woman accused of being a witch was publicly burned alive by the people.

Canal Tolls.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Mr. Dingley, from the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, reported back his resolution calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to whether any order is now in force by which vessels from United States ports are required to pay less tolls in passing through the Welland and other Canadian canals when they pursue their voyage by way of the St. Lawrence and Montreal than when they pursue their voyage by way of Lake Ontario to American ports, and whether additional legislation is necessary to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to impose additional tolls upon vessels passing through the Sault Ste. Marie and St. Clair Flats Canals, bound to Canadian ports. Adopted.

Yachting Disaster.

BALTIMORE, June 9.—J. Harrison Garrett, a brother of Robert Garrett, and manager of the firm of Robert Garrett & Sons, of this city, was drowned last night in the Patapsi river. His yacht, the Gleam, in which he and a party of friends were coming to Baltimore from Annapolis, was run down off Seven Foot Knoll by the steamer Joppa and sunk, being struck amidships and almost cut in two. According to the accounts at hand all hands on the Gleam were rescued but Mr. Garrett, who was seen by a passenger on the Joppa to fall overboard.

Railway Construction in the U. S.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The Railway Age says that from Jan 1 to June 1, 1888, 2,271 miles of railway track had been laid in the United States. This is a very large amount to be reported so early in the year, and indicates the total for 1888 will exceed 8,000 miles, with a likelihood that it will reach 10,000 miles and a possibility that it may not fall short of 12,000 miles. Almost 13,000 miles of track were laid in 1887, the year of the greatest construction known.

The General's Mother Dying.

SOMERSET, Ohio, June 9.—Mrs. John Sheridan, mother of General Phil Sheridan, who has been ill for some time, had another relapse and is in a critical condition. The doctors fear she cannot live. The serious illness of her son has never yet been made known to her for fear of serious results.

They wouldn't Fraternize.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 9.—At yesterday's session of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, the resolution to extend fraternal greetings to the Knights of Labor iron workers also in session here was rejected. The balance of the session was taken up with the consideration of the scale question.

The "Count" is a Trifle Short.

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., June 9.—The County Treasurer, Col. W. H. Webster, is short $35,000 in his accounts. Webster's deputy, Otto Foster, is also short $1,000. Webster has property worth $20,000, which he will turn over to the county.

A Double Murder.

MITCHELL, Dak., June 9.—In Bloomington last night two farmers named Bailey and Wilson quarreled over an old grudge. Bailey fired at Wilson but killed his own father and Wilson then shot young Bailey dead.

Von Putkamer Wishes to Resign.

Berlin, June 9.—Herr Von Putkamer, Vice-President of the Prussian Ministerial Council and Prussian Minister of the Interior, has asked the Emperor for permission to resign. An autograph letter which Herr Von Putkamer received from the Emperor last evening induced him to take this course

THE ART STUDENTS' EXHIBITION.

A Druggists' Association to be Formed in Toronto.

TORONTO, June 9.—Judge McMahon has been confined to his house for some time by a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

The second dividend of 3½ per cent. will not be ready to pay over to the depositors and creditors of the Central Bank until October.

Christopher Vanatter, one of the witnesses against Warden Massie in the Central Prison investigation, is in jail at Brockville to answer to a charge of having assaulted a girl under 12 years of age.

A conference of druggists was held at the Rossin House yesterday. The chair was occupied by W. S. Robinson. W. A. Abbott was secretary. It was decided that it would be in the interest of pharmacy to establish a Druggists' Association in Toronto. A resolution was unanimously carried to that effect.

The fund that is being subscribed in behalf of the family of the late James Fahey amounts to about $900.

A brilliant gathering filled the theatre of occasion of the opening of the Exhibition of the Education Department last night on the drawings, paintings, etc., sent by students of Art Schools, Mechanics' Institutes, Colleges and High Schools to the annual provincial fine art exhibitions. Among those who addressed the meeting were the Minister of Education, Sir. Alex. Campbell, Hon. G. W. Allen and Hon. John Macdonald. An idea of what the exhibit is can be had from the varied works of arts shown. It includes oil and water color work, drawing of different kinds, industrial designs, machine drawing, repousse work, modelling in clay, sculpture, wood carving, wood engraving, photographic reproduction on wood and zinc, etching on copper and zinc, and painting on china. The exhibition will be open to the public, free of charge, from now till Saturday, June 16.

THE PASSPORT'S ILL-LUCK.

A Collision in Which She is Worsted—The Captain's Thigh Broken.

CORNWALL, Ont., June 9.—The steamer Passport, which left Montreal on Thursday morning for Toronto on her first trip struck the stonework at Gillis' lock, half a mile west of this town. The steamer had much difficulty in getting past a barge that had just come out of the locks and was forced to enter them a little on the slope. Captain Sinclair was in command and was standing on the hurricane deck working the bells when the steamer struck the stone work. She struck with so much force that the captain was hurled to the deck below, breaking his thigh. Water commenced to pour into the hole which was stoven into her bow, and the pumps were got to work and the vessel kept afloat until this morning, when the hole was plugged. The steamer was taken to Montreal for repairs. The Passport is an unlucky boat. Two years ago on the 31st of July, the Passport carrying a large number of passengers and heavily laden with freight, struck the southern pier at the entry to the Cornwall Canal and foundered. She was raised after considerable difficulty and taken to Montreal, where she was almost completely rebuilt at a great cost.

MAD ABOUT HIS CHAIRS.

A Hamilton Furniture Dealer's Complaint—No Tidings of Willie Nichols.

HAMILTON, June 9.—There is another act to the comedy of the painted chairs that spoiled so many garments at the Gilmore afternoon concert. The furniture dealer who supplied the chairs is dissatisfied because they were damaged by the transfer of the paint which adorned them to the garments of the persons who sat on them. Paint costs money, and he threatens to sue for the damage done the chairs.

The parents of Willie Nichols, the lad who went fishing on Wednesday and did not return, have received no tidings of the missing boy. The body has been grappled for in the canal, but no trace of it was found.

A small blaze occurred last evening in Thomas Burrows' stables. The fire was extinguished before much damage was done.

The County Council yesterday made the usual geant of $400 to the South Wentworth Agricultural Society.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT THE FALLS.

A Party of Tourists Dashed to the Bottom of the Incline Railway.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 9.—A very severe accident to a party of five Spaniards, stopping at the Clifton House, happened this morning. They visited the Whirlpool Rapids Park, Canada side, and got into a car on the incline railway without the attendant being at his post. The car, with the weight of the party, descended at a terrific rate of speed. When it reached the bottom of the track it crashed into the wooden structure below, injuring the whole party—one lady so severely that it is said she will not recover. The names of the party cannot be learned at present.

A Farmer-Merchant Suicides.

DUNNVILLE, Ont., June 9.—Ezra Swick, a farmer living about eight miles from here, in Canboro, committed suicide by hanging himself in his bush on Thursday night. Some time ago Mr. Swick entered into partnership with a young man and opened a store in Canboro. The partner collected all he could and left. Mr. Swick mortgaged his farm and implements to pay the debts. Everything was taken from him under the mortgage, and this working on his mind is supposed to have caused the rash act.

Dr. Beattie of Brantford's Preferment.

BRANTFORD, June 9.—Rev. Dr. Beattie, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, has been unanimously elected to the chair of apologetics in the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of South Carolina.

THE PEER AND THE PLEB.

HARTINGTON AND COLLINGS ARM IN ARM IN POLITICS.

Mr. G. W. Smalley's London Letter—The proposed new Newspaper Libel Act—Revival of "The Mikado."

LONDON, June 9.—There are not, perhaps in all England, two men more remote from each other and more unlike in all essential respects but one or two than Lord Hartington and Mr. Jesse Collings. When, therefore, you see Lord Hartington presiding at a dinner to Mr. Collings it means something. It means in this case that the great Whig noble recognizes in the plebian champion of the agricultural laborer a man of genuine sincerity of character, who has done much useful work without reward. It means also that the tie of a common faith in the Union and a common dread of Home Rule, is as strong in these days as any other political bond whatever. The occasion of this testimonial to Mr. Collings was his expulsion by the Gladstonians from the presidency of the Allotments Association; one more example of that ferocity which Mr. Godkin admires in English politics and practises in America. Mr. Chamberlain supported his friend Mr. Collings and made a speech in the course of which he announced that an American Statesman was about to publish a book on Ireland The American statesman's name is William Henry Hurlburt. Sir Lepel Griffin, too, lent to this occasion the ornament of his eloquence abounding, like Jefferson Brick's, in unconscious humor. He praised Lord Hartington, but Lord Hartington will survive Sir Lepel's praise.

A new Newspaper Libel Act is going through the House, designed to relieve the press from some of the hardships of the present law. As first drafted, however, it became, in Mr. Justice Stephen's view, something like a bill to authorize free trade in libel. The Journal, which of all morning papers published in London deals most freely in abuse, accuses Mr. Stephen of habitually violating the honorable traditions of the Bench, of grotesque pedantry, of quibbling and pettifogging. The article altogether is violent enough to make the House think twice whether further immunities can really be necessary. However, the bill in its present amended form gives some needed relief from the penalties for publishing honest reports of public meetings. A portion of the English press, like the paper above quoted, naturally discuss this question with sole reference to press interests. More powerful and independent journals either, like the Times, say nothing, or like the Standard, remember that they have a duty to the public also. The better class of journals have very little to fear in these matters, says The Standard, most truly.

The revival of "The Mikado" attracted a brilliant audience to the Savoy. The opera, which was conducted by Sullivan, went with all the vim of a first night's performance. The first act went well, but the audience became enthusiastic during the second, almost every number being redemanded and several of them received treble encores.

The ripple in diamond shares does not appear to be as serious as at first reported. The stock opened weak yesterday but steadily recovered and closed strong at 29. The generally ascribed reason for the fall is that the De Beers' report, of which advance information was had, was unfavorable, and that diamonds which a year ago brought 27s a carat are now difficult to sell at 17s in consequence of over-production. The fact is, however, that there has been a quarrel among the Hatton Garden diamond merchants, who are the heaviest holders in the two leading companies. The present expectation is that the Kimberly, the Central and the De Beers will be amalgamated in one general company and that the public will be given another show, while it is possible that a corner in South African diamonds may largely increase the market value of the general output.

ANOTHER HOME RULE SCHEME.

National Parliament and an Imperial Diet —England's Defective Ordinance.

LONDON, June 9.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain recently held a secret parley with a deputation of Scotch Home Rulers at which the latter received the impression that the Birmingham statesman favored the scheme defined by an Edinburgh pamphlet. The plan is to grant national parliaments which shall be subject to an imperial diet, and the idea of the scheme is to eventually admit the colonies to its advantages.

It is announced now, as if to add to the general timid feeling entertained regarding England's army and navy, that a large per cent. of the heavy guns of the navy are defective and in dangerous condition. Two of the 69-ton guns on the new Iron-clad Rodney, a 24-ton gun on the War Spite and one of the new guns on the Collingwood, are said to have the lining of their tubes cracked and to be otherwise defective.

Mr. Parnell has invited his followers in Parliament to a dinner to be given next Wednesday, at which they will meet their colleagues who have been imprisoned under the Coercion Act.

Anxious About England's Interests.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 9.—The Novoe Vremya states that the measure which India desires to impose on the Ameer of Afghanistan with a view to preventing good relations between the Afghans and the Russian Turkomans, can lead to no practical result but only to discontent among the Afghans, which would prejudice the interests of England.

The German Ministry.

BERLIN, June 9.—The North German Gazette, Prince Bismarck's organ, commenting upon the eventuality of a change of ministry, says: "Such a change would not be of grave importance if it only resulted in showing the incapacity of the Opposition. Symptoms of instability and disunion in the ministry would be more serious."

DOMINION DAY.

A Public Meeting to Arrange for the Celebration.

A public meeting was held in the fire hall on Friday evening to make arrangements for the celebration of Dominion Day. The celebration will be under the auspices of the Fire Brigade, but the fireman invite and hope to receive the active co-operation of the citizens. With this in view the public meeting was called, and a number of citizens responded and joined in with the brigade. Mr. S. Clegg presided, and Mr. E. Brown acted as Secretary.

The object of the meeting was explained and the steps the firemen had already taken were explained and approved of. The committees to have charge of the various departments of the celebration were appointed. Of the general committee Mr. S. Clegg is Chairman, Mr. Ed. Brown, Secretary, and Mr. Joseph Yelland, Treasurer. The committees are composed as follows:—

PRINTING.—Messrs. E. Brown, A. Elliott and T. Rutherford.

FINANCE.—Messrs. H. LeBrun, A. Elliott, E. Brown, T. Rutherford, S. Clegg and J. Yelland.

SPORTS.—Messrs. T. Rutherford, E. Brown, A. Elliott, H. LeBrun and J. E. McIntyre.

PETHIOG PROCESSION,—Messrs. J. Hayes, S. Clegg, J. Yelland, T. Rutherford and A. Jones.

RAILWAY ARRANGEMENTS.—Messrs. T. Rutherford and A. Elliott.

CAVELIER RACES.—Messrs. J. E. McIntyre, H. LeBrun, J. Dolan and R. H. Fortye.

The first named on each committee is the chairman, and the chairmen of the committees form an executive committee.

The committees will meet in the fire hall each night and any who are willing to assist are invited to report at the hall or to communicate with the secretary or the chairmen of the committees.

After the appointment of the committees the meeting went into details, and much of the work, for the procession and other parts of the proceedings, was mapped out. The committees have got into harness and nothing will be left undone to make the celebration a complete success.

THIRTY TO NOTHING.

The Lindsay Baseball Men Shut Out by Peterborough—Poor Playing.

The first game of the Midland League baseball series was played on the P.A.A.A. grounds on Friday evening. It was to have been played in the afternoon, but on Thursday word was received from the Lindsay secretary that they could not come. On Friday the Peterboroughs were suprised to get a message that the visitors were starting, and as the announcement had been made that the game was postponed, the best under the circumstances was done and a match was played in the evening.

The attendance at the match was small. Lindsay came down without Little, who had injured his finger, but even though not having him with them no one expected that the Lindsays, who have done such good playing on the same ground in other years, would get such a thorough drubbing as they received.

Lindsay went to bat first and the side was retired for an 0. Peterborough went in and batted the Lindsay pitcher heavy, making a score of 11. In the second innings Peterborough scored 4, and afterwards Preston took the box and held them down to 1 in the third and 2 in the fourth, but in the fifth innings the home players got on to him and made 12 runs. The Lindsay players in each innings went out rapidly without a run. Preston and Bates were the only good players apparently on the team, and errors were numerous.

Mr. Wm. Watson acted as umpire and gave general satisfaction.

The scorers appear to have been rattled by watching the exhibition and after the first innings did not keep a detailed score, their time being sufficiently taken up with scoring the Peterborough runs. The following was the score:—

FROM ASSINIBOIA.

DALESBORO, N. W. T., May 28, 1888.

MR. EDITOR,—Allow me space in your valuable paper and I will try and make known to your numerous subscribers the prospects of this part of the country for the present season. In the first place this has been the latest spring since we first came here, or the year of 1882. It was about the 8th or 16th of May that seeding was commenced, but owing to the greater part of the land being ploughed last fall, most of the seeding was finished by the 20th. Although we are yet 73 miles from a railway it is surprising indeed to see the quantity of grain that is hauled to market annually, and this year there is a still greater amount of land under crop than any preceeding one. Perhaps some of those interested who read these lines may think we have a hard row to hoe in order to make ends meet, as the saying is, but it is not hard to understand at all by any person who has been through this western country. I can tell you right now that it is far in advance of renting farms in Ontario at the present day. When a man puts in a crop here he may expect the full benefit, and when fall comes he don't have to give some town blood all his summer's work. Even if his crop is small it is a satisfaction to know it is his own. Again, some think going to Manitoba or the Territories is like going out of the world, but what signifies a few day's travel when it lands you in a country the like of which you cannot find elsewhere, for growing either grain or stock. Of course we have our drawbacks and I will tell you them just as I know them in six year's experience. I consider our worst enemy is hail and some of your eastern farmers are well aware of the damage it will do at times on crop. June here is, generally speaking, a wet month, and a good many thunder storms pass over from west to east during that time, some of which break with a storm of wind and hail. But as a rule the hail takes but a narrow strip of country for a few miles and is not disastrous enough at all to make it dreaded. The next is early frosts and I might safely say that there has been no damage from such in this district since I came here, where the crop was put in in good time. But further north and in bluffy settlements they have not been quite so fortunate. I consider the southern part of the province preferable for growing grain. This country is entirely treeless, except the Souris river, to the south, and the Moose mountain to the north, but as regards fuel the Souris coal is sufficient for all time to come, and it is our first work after the ground becomes frozen for to haul our supply of coal for winter. About six loads will run an ordinary cook stove all winter and is much nicer to use than to chop wood in the snow and cold.

As for the winters, they are not so extremely cold as you may imagine. There are very few days we cannot travel to the post office, a distance of 4 miles, and the stage makes the round trip of about 200 miles in 5 days, and I have not known it to miss a trip in two years. Now, before I close this letter I would say to any who may feel inclined to come out here (I mean farmers), if they do not own land in Ontario, they cannot do better than come and see for themselves. Come about harvest and you cannot be deceived.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space allowed, I remain.

Sacred Concert.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—When the item in Saturday's REVIEW announced the disposition on the part of our band to give sacred concerts in the park on Sunday afternoon met my eyes I mentally disapproved, but thought it unnecessary to define the sacredness of the Sabbath by writing you in condemnation of the proposal when so many others were more capable of so doing.

Last night's item on the same subject makes Sunday concerts appear so much like a settled matter that I can refrain no longer from expressing some objections to the scheme, leaving Christian friends to enlarge on these and supplement others.

1. There is no doubt that the attendance at our Sabbath schools would be very much reduced, as far at any rate as the boys side of the school is concerned, and the natural difficulties of the work in St. Paul's S.S., which is so near the Park, would be very much increased, for it is presumed the concerts would take place sometime between the hours 3 p.m. and 4.30 p.m.

2. The concerts would gather all the idle people about the streets and entertain them for a while without giving them any spiritual instruction whatever. I cannot conceive of instrumental music alone having the effect of changing the heart of a poor sinner.

3. They would rob us of the peace and quietness characteristic of our Sabbaths and might even lead to what would develop into its open disecration. We have already in our midst enough disposition on the part of individuals to pass their Sunday in amusement of different kinds without further allowing them to gratify their tastes by organizing a so-called sacred concert apparently sanctioned by the Christian public.

If the concerts do not instruct spiritually, but only create another pastime for our citizens, then let us not have them.

Yours truly,
B. J. W.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.78 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

FISH FRY.—Mr. Chas. Wilkins, fishery overseer, Belleville, and Mr. Chas. Wilmot, superintendent of the Newcastle fish hatchery, arrived in Lindsay last week on a distributing tour. They had a large number of salmon trout fry with them, of which they intended to place a liberal portion in Sturgeon lake and the remainder in Pigeon, Clear and Stoney lakes, but learning that a delay would have to occur owing to imperfect connections, they decided that the fry would not survive the journey. Accordingly the whole consignment was dumped into the waters of Sturgeon lake at the Ferry, from the deck of the Esturion. "It's an ill wind," etc.

FIRE.—A fire alarm rang out Saturday evening about nine o'clock from the market building, a small blaze having been observed far down on Cambridge-st. south. It died away after a time, and many who were hurrying to the scene turned back thinking it was a false alarm. Those who went ahead found that a frame house owned and occupied by John McArthur, laborer, beyond the railway tracks, was on fire, having evidently caught from the chimney, as the flames were bursting through the garret roof on the north side. The family, it appears, were absent from home at the time, but willing neighbors rendered every assistance and saved the furniture; but the efforts put forth to save the building by cutting holes in the roof and deluging with water carried in buckets were unavailing, and it was burned to the ground. Insured for $800, including contents.—Post.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old-homestead; town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need: that does not; try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Weather Probabilities.

Moderate to fresh southeast to southwest winds; generally fair warm weather, with light showers in a few places.

A Seasonable Topic.

Summer dress goods are in demand. Can you be well supplied from the counters of the golden lion? Certainly. Undoubtedly. Precisely. If a large stock, well selected, of the newest fabrics and designs is any inducement or guarrantee of satisfactory service, come to the golden lion.

Say?

Did you see the pictures at Clegg's? He has just received a lot of choice Steel Engravings, Etchings and Photogravures, direct from the publishers. All works of art. We were going to say stop and see them, but that is quite unnecessary, everybody will want to see them, because, unlike most other delights of childhood, this love of pictures lives on and grows. 1d135

Obit.

The Cobourg World says:—"Mrs. E. Odlum, daughter of Mr. O. W. Powell, of this town, and wife of the Principal of the Academic Department of the Methodist College in Japan, died in the city of Tokyo, on the 9th of May. She leaves four little boys and a large circle of friends to mourn their loss. Rheumatism of the heart was the direct cause of her death." Mrs. Odlum was a sister of Mr. Geo. W. Powell, of Peterborough.

Cause and Effect.

The question of the hour is why people will put themselves so much about. Why pass all the attractions along George-st., bankrupt stocks at 50c. on the dollar, and dollar for dollar, and goods for the mere asking, in fact to be sent home in a wheelbarrow and charge nothing for the sending. We ask again, why is it that the appreciative public will pass all this and pursue the even tenor of their way to the noted cheap store, last one on the east side of George-st., in other words Sheppard's Big Bonanza Bargain House, is reached. Cause and effect—the cheapest and best goods between Toronto and Montreal.

12th of June. What About It?

This is the date that the people are talking so much about. Is it on account of the nomination of a councillor for No. 2 Ward? Well, no, I guess not. It is the grand union excursion that Canton No. 10, I.O.O.F. and St. Luke's C.E.T.S., are going to hold over the C.P.R. to Toronto. Some people say, Why advertise it more, everyone knows about it. And look out for the crowd that will be at the station to go on Tuesday next. It makes us smile as we hear of the large number of tickets already sold. Won't the band boys do their best. Well, yes, we can depend on having some fine selections from them to make all hearts rejoice. Put aside work for Tuesday next and take in this popular excursion. You will feel better for it and the committee will do all they can to make you comfortable, both going and when you arrive in Toronto. Let our friends in the country take in this trip, and boys, bring along your ladies. Fare only $2, children $1, good for two days. Leaves C.P.R. at 5.10 a. m. or 7.20 a. m.; can come back on any regular train. So hurrah for Tuesday next and Toronto. Come one, come all!

The Foresters.

Messrs. Andrew McNeil, John Fanning and Thomas Hooper will represent Court Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters at the meeting of the High Court at Hamilton, on Tuesday next. Mr. Thomas Rutherford will be present as the delegate from Court Little John.

The Secret Out.

People are astounded at the amount of property sold by Jno. Carlisle. Why has he sold so much? Simply because he leaves money every time in said properties for the buyers. Many can vouch for the truth of this statement. 45 parcels sold the last few months.

Hiawatha Encampment.

A large and spirited meeting of the members of Hiawatha Encampment, I. O. O. F., was held on Friday evening. The nomination of officers took place and there will be a contest for each of the offices. The election will take place at the next meeting in two weeks.

Zoological Gardens, June 12th.

Arrangements have been made whereby excursionists next Tuesday will be admitted free by the kind permission of Ald. Harry Piper. Reduced rates to the Cyclorama of the Battle of Sedan; adults 40 cents, children 20 cents. Don't miss the two beautiful sights. Also reduced rates at Shakspere Hotel for excursionists.

The Rowing Club.

A meeting of the members of the Lansdowne Rowing Club was held on Friday night at the boat house. There was a good attendance of members. Messrs. J. Fairweather, H. Stock and J. Barrie were elected members. It was decided to hold weekly regattas during the season and the crews to contend will be drawn next week. The meeting then adjourned until Monday evening next.

Low prices do not affect the quality of of Groceries at the Pantry. This truth demonstrated in every purchase.

Will be Welcomed.

The Dominion Oddfellow says:—"On Tuesday next, June 12, Canton Peterboro No. 10, will excurt to Toronto via the C. P. R. We hope that the chevaliers will have a pleasant day and a grand, good time. No doubt Canton Toronto will be on hand to welcome their comrades, and show them the sights of the city. These fraternal visits are calculated to do great good, and we gladly encourage them. The special train will leave Peterborough at 7 a. m. sharp. The Canton will be in full uniform and have the excellent band of the 57th Batt. with them. The excursion is being had jointly by Canton Peterborough and St. Luke's Church, of Ashburnham."

The Superiority of the "Royal Flavoring Extracts" is purity and strength.

Law Maxims.

The following item which is going the rounds, we publish by request:—Common law is common sense, which is the best guide in ordinary cases. Never sign a promissory note until after you have received value for it. Never go to law for satisfaction; you'll never get it if you do. Imaginary wrongs are better never redressed. A lawyer's best aim should be to keep his clients out of litigation. Consult your lawyer at the beginning of a trouble, not after you have made bad worse. No man, however skilful, should attempt to draw his own will. Every person having property should always have a will duly executed and deposited in a place of safety; it will not make you die any sooner. He who is his own lawyer has a fool for a client.

Court of Revision

An adjourned meeting of the Court of Revision was held at the Council Chamber on Friday night. There were present, Councillor Moore, chairman, and Councillors Langford and Davidson. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The appeal of Mr. H. Best regarding overcharge on real estate was dismissed. The appeals of Mr. L. Spry and Mrs. E. Brown, regarding too high assessment, were dismissed. The appeals of Gilbert Peck against being assessed for a dog was allowed. Mr. Jno. McClelland appealed against paying taxes on a house occupied by the Rev. Father Lynch. The appeal was allowed, as was that of Mr. John J. Bird. The appeals of Messrs. John Law, Francis J. Hall, T. Bradburn and Edward Butler were dismissed, and those of Messrs. Jas. Long and E. A. Peck allowed. The court then adjourned sine die.

More Railway Talk.

The Campbellford Herald says:—"We understand that there is some quiet negotiation now in progress between a number of gentlemen of this county and the authorities of the C. P. Railway with reference to the building of a line from Cobourg through the county to some point on the C.P.R. We were in Cobourg one day recently, and while in conversation with a prominent gentleman of that town, he informed us that he had learned that the road, which had received some little agitation through the press, was receiving attention by others, and the opinion is that the C.P.R. may extend its hand to our assistance. Should any such scheme be undertaken it is possible that Campbellford will be one station on its line, and Havelock or Blairton be made the terminus. Let our county town be thus favored, it will no doubt be benefitted to a large extent, as it would become the terminus for the trade which would flow from the country north of here, and much of the trade of the richest part of the county of Northumberland through which the road would run."

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. Card from the College Boys.

The following letter, addressed to the Sporting Editor, appears in the Empire of to-day:—

"SIR,—In the notice which you published to-day (Thursday) of the match at Peterborough, between the junior elevens of that town, and Trinity College school, Port Hope, there were some things which might lead to misconceptions.

In the first place, it was understood to be distinctly a second eleven match, whereas the wording of the paragraph might convey the impression that it was the regular school team.

In the second place, the defeat of the school was entirely owing to the excellent batting of Mr. Max Hamilton, a well-known cricketer, mentioned, I believe, for the "International," whose score alone saved Peterborough from a beating.

Otherwise, gentlemen and old cricketers on the ground declared the Trinity College school boys' "form" and play, especially their fielding, to be admirable.

I hope, sir, you will insert this to remove any wrong impressions which might otherwise arise. Yours, etc.,

Port Hope, June 7. F. DUMOULIN.

Open Air Concert.

The first open air concert of the season was held in the Murray-st. Separate School grounds on Friday evening. A finer place could not be chosen and the boys of the school under whose auspices the concert was held, cannot but feel gratified at the result. The attendance was large and the beautiful grounds never looked better. A stand had been erected for the occasion and two electric lights furnished the necessary illumination. The Fire Brigade Band and the Peterborough Amateur Orchestra furnished excellent music, as they always do, and their efforts were greatly appreciated, judging by the loud applause that followed each of their selections. The programme was a good one and those who were present will gladly learn that it is the intention to hold the concerts regularly during the summer. The singing of "our boys," under the able manbgement of Prof. Doucet, was one of the best fesures of the evening. They acquitted themselves in a highly creditable manner, and their efforts were deservedly and loudly applauded. The song "Come, Only Come," by Miss A. Dunn, was rendered in that young lady's best style. She has a clear, rich voice and should be heard oftener in public. Mr. George Hamilton is a singer whose reputation is well known both abroad and at home. He chose "The Gay Hussar," and he sang it in a style that fairly captivated the large assemblage. In the second part the leading feature was the trio, "Memory," by Misses M. and J McIlmoyle and A. Dunn. These young ladies have been heard before in public, but on no occasion that we know of did they acquit themselves so well. The voices are all well trained and clear and singing in the open air, as they did, it was remarkable the enthusiasm and applause that their song evoked. They were vigorously applauded, but in accordance with the rule of the evening an encore was refused. Mr. Dunn, in the song, "The Old Fashioned Homestead," was at his best and sang "to the Queen's taste." The concert was under the direction of Prof. Doucet, and the accompaniments were played by Mrs. W. J. Morrow and Miss Dunn. The following was the programme:—

1 Overture, Sybil (Belger).....Peterborough [Fire Brigade Band
2 Song, "Canada's True to the Core"....Our [Boys
3 Overture, Siege of Paris.....Peterborough [Amateur Orchestra
4 Waltz, Flowers by the Wayside....Peterborough Fire Brigade Band
5 Song, "March of the Men of Harlech".Our [Boys
6 Song, "Come, only Come".....Miss A. Dunn
7 The Gay Hussar.....George Hamilton
Intermission.
1 Overture, The Golden Rose (Richards)..Peterborough Fire Brigade Band
2 Hurrah for the Emerald Isle.....Our Boys
3 Georgia Waltzes.....Peterborough Amateur [Orchestra
4 Trio Song, (Meniory).....Misses M. and J. [McIlmoyle and A. Dunn
5 Song, "The Old Fashioned Homestead"...[Mr. M. Dunn
6 Valse, Fond Memories.....Peterborough [Fire Brigade Band
7 God Save the Queen.....Peterborough Fire [Brigade Band

Dr. George Burnham has presented a handsome racquet for competition among the members of the Lawn Tennis club and it is anticipated that many lively games will be the result during the season.

Through the Trent Valley Canal.

An excursion has been arranged to run from Peterborough to Lakefield on the Grand Trunk, thence by steamer through the Burleigh, Buckhorn and Lovesick locks and northern chain of lakes to Lindsay, and home again by the Grand Trunk. It will take place on June 21st, leaving Peterborough at 7.30 a. m. and returning at 8.50 p.m. Fare $1.25. This excursion will run through an interesting territory, as excursionists will have an opportunity of seeing the magnificent works at Burleigh, etc.

Doing Some Damage.

The hail storm that passed over a part of Otonabee about five miles from town on Wednesday caused some loss and damage. The hour was between 11 and 12 o'clock, the storm came up very quickly and lasted for about five minutes. Hail of large size fell very thickly, cutting down the crops, stripping the leaves off the trees, smashing window glass and leaving marks in the fence rails and sheeting of the barns that will show for years. Cattle in the fields and on the roads were driven almost frantic and several fowls in a small yard were killed. The storm drove over the land from the south-east to the north in a band about two miles wide. Fall wheat and peas in the track of the storm is all destroyed. The children attending school near Redmond's school house were called in, and after the storm passed over scooped up pails full of the hailstones. Several houses were left with few panes of glass in the windows. The hail is said to have been of remarkable size and to have fallen with the velocity of bullets.

WE aim to make our reputation of the Pantry permanent by selling at figures that clinch the argument every time.

Brevities.

—The Juvenile Salvationists had a parade this afternoon.

—The boy forger will appear at the Police Court on Monday next.

—Mr. Melville Miller is one of the directors of Orillia Mechanics' Institute.

—The cricket match yesterday afternoon did not take place, the ball tossers having the call.

—The attendance at the market this morning was very good. Prices remain unchanged.

—The bicyclists had a run out last night and they were fairly well represented in numbers.

—Eli Sager was on the market square this morning, and, as usual, he made himself heard.

—The members of Gore's Landing church will run an excursion to Peterborough on Thursday.

—A very heavy freight train, consisting of some thirty-two loaded cars, passed east on the C. P. R. this morning.

—The police will don new uniforms next week and then the chief says that evil doers must hustle to get out of the road of the peelers.

—"I am glad to learn that the people are behaving themselves," remarked the Police Magistrate this morning when the chief said there were no cases for trial.

—Lindsay's poor exhibition yesterday has done much to injure baseball in Peterborough, but a few good games will have a tendency to bring it up again.

AGAIN, CLOTHING!

Fathers and Sons are alike interested in the subject of New Clothes, and the approach of summer hastens preparations for bodily comfort.

Our stock of Cloths affords scope for gratifying any fancy, as to fabrics, color or price. We have some especially neat things in Scotch and Canadian Tweeds.

Our suit stock defies description. Such variety in pattern and cut as we offer includes every one's want—man or boy. Prices high enough to ensure trusty clothes, low enough to meet all requirements.

Where else do you find better proposals?

McCausland & Son, of Toronto, are beyond question the easy leaders in the Ornamental Stained glass trade in Canada. Their vast business extends from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, and thousands of public and private buildings bear testimony of this firm's ability to execute beautiful and durable windows of every description.

"I merely called in," said old Mr. Clovertoys, as he came stumping along the hall," to give you folks a slice of advice previous to your going to Toronto on any of these here sions. My advice is this, and if an old man's experience is worth anythin', which it naturally is worth somethin,' don't go to the city with the everlastin' idea that you can buy dirt cheap all around. Some things air cheap, no doubt, but if you're looking for dinner dishes or pretty tea sets, or silver things or spoons and such like trifles, remember that CHINA HALL is a home institution and here for you every day in the week."

Don't Wait

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

SATURDAY, JUNE 9, 1888.

MONA'S CHOICE

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"Yes, dear," cried madame, briskly, as she blew out the lamp, and carried the cup to the invalid. "The waters are admirable for gout, and rheumatism, and liver, and indigestion; and all sorts of things. It is a well-known water in France. Monsieur Le Duc de Monceau and Madame La Marquise de Suresnes both derived the greatest benefit from the cure."

"And whereabouts is it?"

"Oh, on the German side; in the Department of the Vosges, not very far from Nancy."

"It's an awfu' lang journey," groaned Uncle Sandy, "and will cost a mine o' siller."

"Not more than a journey to any other health resort, my dear Mr. Craig. We will ascertain the rail fares. You are not going away all in a minute. We have time enough to look about us."

"And will you come with me dearie?" asked Uncle Sandy, looking wistfully at Mona. "I canna go without you!"

"If I can go I will, uncle; but I must hear a little more."

"It's just awfu' to be alone in this wicked world; and neither chick nor child to fight for you. You ought to think on that, Mona; and get me a little mair toast, like a good lassie—my appetite is varra indifferent."

"He has just devoured a rackful!" whispered Mme. Debrisay; "one round more is as much as he ought to have."

Mona waited down stairs till the toast was ready, considering what answer she should make to her uncle's request, though she well knew that she would end by accompanying him. How could she refuse the poor old man, who seemed to look to her for help and comfort? Yet how much pleasanter it would be to stay and work, and be free with Mme. Debrisay!

When she carried back the toast, and Uncle Sandy had finished it, he said he could have a little sleep if he were left quiet.

The next day Uncle Sandy had brisked up again. He begged Mona to come to him as soon as she returned from her work, which happened to terminate earlier on that day than on any other.

She guessed what that invitation meant, and only hoped that no allusion to Kenneth would add to her difficulties. Yet she felt extremely reluctant to give up the increasing independence of her present position—to be the nurse and companion to so uncertain a person as her uncle. However, the old man sorely needed her help, and she would not refuse it.

As soon as she had changed her dress, for the day was wet and stormy, she went up-stairs, and found her uncle seated near the fire, the table drawn up beside his chair, and on it a map, a guide-book, a "Continental Bradshaw," and several scraps of ruled paper covered with figures.

"Come awa'! come awa'!" he cried, his brow clearing; "I'm wearyin' to talk to you. My puir head is just dazed with trying to understand whaur I'm going, and what it will cost me!"

"As to where you are going, uncle, I may help you to find out; but as to the cost, you must ask Mme. Debrisay; she knows all about French railways."

"And when will she be in?"

"Not till six, or half past."

"Aweel, I have something quite private to say to your own self, and I'd best tackle that first."

He stopped abruptly, and began to gather up the papers and books somewhat nervously.

"I am all attention, uncle."

"It's a delicate matter to speak aboot, but I feel bound to do it, for your ain good, and—and benefit; and so I'll just speak my mind."

This with some hesitation, ending with a sudden assumption of resolution, steadily avoiding his niece's eyes at the same time.

"Certainly, Uncle Sandy."

"There's that lad Kenneth," he went on, in his thin, high-pitched, querulous voice; "a fine young man, steady and well-disposed; what for canna you mak' up your mind to wed him? He's awfu' fond of you, and ye seem good friends together. Why canna you make it up?"

"I thought," returned Mona, gravely and calmly, though she felt that the tug of war had come, "I thought I told Kenneth that though I liked and valued him, I feared I could not give him wifely affection. He ought to have been satisfied."

"And wha wad tak' a lassie's first 'no'?"

"First or last, my dear uncle, my answer would be the same."

"Dinna say it!" cried Uncle Sandy, earnestly. "I am just in a difficulty. Ye see, I always promised to look after Kenneth before I knew I should ever see my poor brother's girlie. Aweel, I'd like to leave my bit o' money to both of you, and ye see, if you were wed, it would be keepit together."

"Dear uncle," said Mona, smiling, "do not let that trouble you. Leave everything you like to Kenneth; men want money much more than women, and I am young. I think I can earn my own bread with Madame Debrisay's help; so do not let any thought of me interfere with Kenneth. I have made up my mind to be your escort to Contrexeville, and I hope you will return so well as to be quite independent of us all."

"Eh! that will never be, my lassie—never! But you have disappointed me; only I don't give up yet. I have just set my heart on a match between you and Kenneth. Eh! we'd a' be happy at Craigdarroch; he'd look to the lands and the basties, and you would mind the house and watch your puir auld uncle's last days. Then a' would be yours—I'd know you were both settled and comfortable, and that the place would be in the hands o' my ain kin."

"Yes; it would be a very pleasant arrangement. I wish I could encourage you to hope for its completion."

"I dinna like unreasonable contradiction, an' I will not put up with it," said Uncle Sandy, angrily. "What for will you be so foolish?"

"Do you believe that human love is the growth of human will, uncle?"

"I'm sure I canna tell." He paused and thought for a moment, a change passing over his face. "Yes; but I did, though," he said: "I tried hard to keep from loving my old master's daughter, and I could not. Eh! I had a sair heart in those days. I daured na speak, for she was a rich heiress and I but a puir lad. Yet I think—I always thought she cast a kindly look upon me. However, there came a grand gentleman from England, and they married her to him. She did not live long after. May be she'd have had a longer and a happier life if she had been my wife, and lived in her ain country."

"Yes, uncle," she said softly, "it must have been a trying time. That useless struggle ought to teach you how hard it is to govern 'unruly wills and affections,' and to leave Kenneth and me to follow our own devices."

"Answer me one question. Have you a fancy for any other man, or are you pledged to any other?"

"Neither, uncle; I can assure you unhesitatingly."

"Aweel, then, I'll just possess my soul with patience; but it's bad takin' you awa' just when you and the lad are good company to each other; but I must, I must, and I canna go without you."

Here Mme. Debrisay made her appearance, and sentiment was merged in finance.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

TWO MONTREAL BOODLERS.

Over $10,000 Misappropriated by a Firm of Brokers,

MONTREAL, June 9.—The decomposed remains of John Dewar, aged 29, who disappeared from his home in November last, were found in the river opposite the city this morning.

Ex-Ald. Rousseau was elected in Hochelaga Ward to-day by a majority of 20 over ex-Ald. Robert.

At a meeting of the Fire Committee it was decided to accept the recommendation of the fire insurance companies to appoint a new chief, sub-chief, and make other needed improvements in the Brigade.

Hon. J. J. C. Abbott received a cablegram from Alex. Middleton, chief engineer in charge of the expedition recently sent out to Brazil, saying that they were all well and about leaving Para to go up the river, some 1500 miles to Gayaz.

The medical Health officer computes the present population of Montreal by means of the last civic census, and the returns of births, deaths, etc., at 201,830.

An indictment has been drawn up and signed by the Attorney-General, which will be laid before the Grand Jury next week, against two "brokers." It is alledged that securities of considerable value were entrusted to their charge for disposal, the proceeds of which they are charged with having appropriated to their own use. It is said the amount involved is over $10,000.

Canadian News in London.

LONDON, June 9.—The negotiations for the new loan have made rapid progress in the last forty-eight hours. Possibly the prospectus may be issued to-day, in order that it may come before the public generally on Monday morning. The market expectation is that the loan will be a three per cent. issue at 92. This, of course, is purely guesswork.

The scrip of the new Canadian Pacific bonds is now quoted at four per cent. premium, showing a slight fall from the highest point touched. Inquiries in the city yesterday seem to show that the fairness with which the Barings have made the allotment, strictly pro-rata on the applications as far as the units of stock would permit, has given satisfaction.

A special meeting of the Executive Committee of the Imperial Federation League, with Lord Roseberry as chairman, decided to support the action of the League in Canada with reference to better trade relations within the Empire, and approved the suggestion for a conference of the Dominion and the Australian Colonies.

Rev. Mr. Longley Suspended.

NORWICH June 9.—Nearly the whole of yesterday's session of the Niagara Conference of the Methodist Church was again taken up with the case of the Rev. Mr. Longley, who made a long and affecting statment, confessing his deep penitence for his error and pleading for mercy. The Toronto district resolution for his expulsion was rejected, there being only twelve votes for it, and by a vote of 56 to 40 a resolution was carried suspending him from the ministry for one year.

The Toronto Market.

In the market yesterday eggs were buoyant at 13 1-2 and 14c commission men's prices. Butter is depressed, the market being over-supplied. Prices in Montreal rule 3 cents a pound better than Toronto. Large rolls and tubs are quoted at 15 and small rolls at 16. Creamery sells at 22 1-2c.

At Grand's yesterday 20 general purpose horses were offered for sale and 15 sold, at prices varying from $75 to $120. The total amount realized was $1,600 the average price $106.

Oswego reports barley quiet with No. 2 extra Canadian held at 73; No. 1 Canadian at 74, and No. 1 bright Canadian at 75.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS.

MUSKEGON, Mich., June 9.—A two-ounce glove contest for a purse of $100 and gate receipts between Joe Sheehy, of Toronto and Tom Lyons (unknown), came off near this city on Wednesday night and was won by Sheehy in the second round knocking Lyons completely out. After the referee gave the match to Sheehy Charles Moth, the wrestler, who was second for Lyons, had some hot words with Sheehy, during which the former drew a revolver, but was prevented from using it by those present. Sheehy's weight was 190 and Lyons' 197.

We are showing the New Norfolk Blouse Suits for Boys and Youths. This style has become so popular in the larger cities that manufacturers can scarcely supply the demand. They look best in Tawp and Pearl Halifax Tweeds. Call and see them.

The most difficult Garment for a lady to choose is a light Print Dress, but if you call at Turnbull's you are sure to have no trouble as he can show you such a large variety in every color, every pattern and at any price.

A new material introduced this season is the Flannelette in fancy colored stripes and plains, the correct thing for Ladies' Wrappers and children's clothes, only ten cents a yard. Ladies handling it for the first time sometimes ask is it all wool. It is really all cotton but finished like a flannel.

As the weather gets warmer children require to have the heavy clothing changed for something light and cool, and Mothers are often perplexed to know what to buy. We would call their attention to our Colored Washing in Fancy Stripe and Check. They are warranted fast colors in fact the ofther they are washed the better they look. The prices range from 12½c. up.

MILLINERY.—We are still receiving daily New Goods by express. Another lot of Plaid Ribbons just received. Also some New Shapes, as the Blossom, Cape Town and Vallego. These are the correct thing for pic-nic hats.

LONDON CURRENT TOPICS.

DISCONTENT AMONG THE MINISTERIAL FOLLOWERS.

Mending the House of Lords—The Board of Works Scandal and the "Sweating" Inquiry—Art and the Drama.

NEW YORK, June 11.—George W. Smalley cables to The Tribune from London: If this morning's news be true, as it probably is, it is a political event. The two leading Unionist papers agree in announcing that the licensing clauses of the Local Government Bill are to be dropped. The Ministry have taken a very sudden resolution. Down to yesterday they meant to postpone these clauses. Perhaps it may still be called postponement. Neither last Saturday's Hyde Park meeting nor Mr. Gladstone's opposition greatly alarmed them. It is the discontent of their own supporters which has disconcerted their plans. There was discontent among the Liberal Unionists, but it was not general. All at once the metropolitan Conservative members revolted. They met on Saturday under the presidency of that staunch Tory, Sir Algernon Borthwick, and unanimously advised the withdrawal of the clauses for the present session. No reasons are given, but they are obvious. The dislike of taxpayers to paying compensation for cancelled licenses is general, and Sir Algernon and his colleagues are convinced that it cannot be overcome. So they counsel surrender. Nobody doubts that the clauses could be carried, but only after a weary and bitter struggle, which would weaken the Ministry more than the concesion weakens them.

That most inconveniently candid friend of the Government, The Standard, remarks that the Home Rule faction will make the most of the victory which they may legitimately claim as a testimony to their strength and will carry to the account of their own cause the prestige of which they have deprived the Unionist Government.

I met yesterday an Irish peer, who is also a Home Ruler, a combination occuring but seldom, and asked him how things were going in Ireland. "The Pope will win" was his sententious answer, not less discontented than sententious.

There is very little Irish news, unless it be Irish news that Mr. John Morley has made one more elaborate and pungent speech in London against coercion. Both sides seem to be waiting for the next news from Rome.

"Let us mend the House of Lords a little," says its Tory leader. The voice is the voice of Lord Cadogan but the man behind it is Lord Salisbury. Earl Cadogan, as Lord Privy Seal, is one of the most dignified and ornamental members of the Cabinet, whose wife gives excellent parties at Cadogan House. But it is not from him will come any great measure of reform for the House of Lords. No, nor from Lord Salisbury either. This is not a great measure of reform; it is a little measure meant to stave off that great measure which must come some day or other. All it does is to appoint a Select Committee to report on the Standing Orders of the House. This Committee will consider at what hour the House ought to meet, how many ought to constitute a quorum, whether the Lord Chancellor ought not to have power to say who shall speak when several competitors rise together, how old a peer ought to be when he takes his seat, and other such matters, none of them quite radical.

Lord Cadogan, however, pledged the Ministry to bring in a bill to create life peerages and enable the House to expel black sheep. This is what Lord Salisbury some time since intimated he would do. It is the day of small mercies.

The panic about National defence was supposed to have been decently interred on Monday by Lord George Hamilton. A very good Royal Commission was appointed to burry it, with Lord Harrington as chairman. But neither Sir Edward Hamley nor Lord Wolseley will allow it to be buried. Sir Edward has written another letter and Lord Wolseley has made another speech; and now The Daily Telegraph starts a fresh scare, and seems inclined to hang Lord George Hamilton because he is not scared, hang Mr. Stanhope, and appoint a Minister of National Defence, with full control over the army and navy. The other papers, including the original patentee of sensational scares, cannot be induced to take the oracle of Fleet-street seriously. Nor does the British public seem seriously frightened.

Perhaps the real sensation of the week is the fresh testimony relating to the Board of Works iniquities. The whole story about corrupt dealings in the Pavillion Music Hall business came out yesterday, and other stories are coming. The evidence is the evidence of those who took part in the transactions, and the Board is doomed.

The sweating Inquiry, too, supplies a weekly sensation. The stidence effects many well-known firms of tailors, as far apart as Poole and Benjamin, and several others, including Bedfern. Yesterday Mr. Arnold White accused Mr. Maple of tampering with his witnesses. The Committee of Lords twice cleared the room, in order to consider the matter, and finally adjourned, leaving the question open.

Mr. Whistler retires from the presidency of the Royal Society of British Artists with something more than the honors of war. Defeated by the Philistine majority, he takes out with him nearly every man whose work gave distinction to the society.

The more deliberate criticism of the weeklies on Miss Calhoun's Hester Prynne in "The Scarlet Letter," is even more favorable than the next morning's impressions of the first night in the daily papers. This young American actress has made no slight impression on the play-going world at London.

PARNELL AND BALFOUR.

INTERVIEWS WITH THE TWO GREAT POLITICAL LEADERS.

An Exhaustive Discussion of Irish Affairs—Both Statesmen alike Confident of Success.

LONDON, June 11.—Interviews were had lately with two of the most prominent men in England to-day—Balfour and Parnell. They deal with the Irish question as it stands to-day and from the vantage point of the acknowledged leaders of the fight. Both Mr. Balfour and Mr. Parnell have thoroughly revised and approved the interviews which follow, and which respectively better their names. The authenticity of the interviews is absolute.

"It is scarcely possible," Mr. Balfour said "to divide Ireland absolutely into two hostile nations. The Unionist party is certainly not less than a third of the population, and includes very much more than a third of the wealth and intelligence of the country.

"There is a great desire on the part of the Government to aid in promoting new industries. The word revival is inappropriate, because by-manufacturers never existed, except in the loyal north, where they have steadily improved and are now at a higher point than they were twenty years ago. The income tax returns of trade profits allow that they have risen very largely during the last thirty years.

"I don't mind telling you that the Government is now maturing a great policy of public works in Ireland. It is a scheme of much importance. I propose to introduce the bills involving a very large outlay of public money for the purpose of a scheme of arterial drainage. I hope to follow this up next year by schemes of a similar character. I do not believe that these plans will involve the building of piers, and so on, for I am not sure that this sort of work would be advisable. But a very great sum of money will be spent, and this will tend to relieve Ireland. Concerning the distress of which you speak, we have found it worse in the Arran Islands. The Government has distributed a large amount of seed potatoes there, sufficient for the whole needs of the population. No relief works have been begun on the islands, as they are not considered necessary."

Regarding the statement that statistics show that the number of inhabited houses in Ireland decreased 24 per cent. between 1871 and 1881, Mr. Balfour said:

"Figures of that kind must be received with caution, because large numbers of laborers' cottages have been built at cost or thereabouts, and the laborers have moved into them and left their old ones vacant.

"There is a decided improvement in the total number of outdoor paupers relieved. Indoor pauperism is about stationary. The diminution in numbers of outdoor paupers is four per cent. The Crimes' Act prosecutions are but a very small proportion of the total number of criminal proceedings in Ireland."

"As to the railways, there are many small local lines in Ire'and which pay very little or no dividends, and never have done so, but at this moment railway receipts are very much higher than they were twenty years ago, and, on the whole, the railway system is in a more healthy condition than in previous years. This is shown by the traffic receipts.

"Emigration continues from Ireland, but not from the most congested districts. While it would materially relieve these, the emigration is rather from older districts. As is usually the case with spontaneous emigration, the young and able-bodied men leave, while the old and feeble remain. The question is whether the young men could be made useful if they remained. I think not under the existing condition. Of course if manufactures appeared and facteries sprang up there would be employment for the surplus population, but, if the young men cannot find work, they are clearly of no use to themselves or any one else.

"There is certainly more money in Ireland now than twenty years ago. I believe that the commercial condition of Ireland is better than it was twenty years ago in every way. The depressed period of trade in England about 1875 undoubtedly has had its echo in Ireland, but the depression since 1887 has not been in any way comparable with the improvement between 1864 and 1874. The returns in my possession do not show any material falling off since 1875.

"There will be no change in the policy of the Government toward Ireland. The present policy is doing its work well. When I last saw Mr. Parnell in Ireland he told me that his plan was to assist English business and encourage English legislation until the Unionists quarrelled among themselves. Mr. Parnell has done neither one thing or the other. He had neither broken the Unionist party nor encouraged English legislation."

Mr. Parnell was seen in the House of Commons, and expressed astonishment when told that Mr. Balfour had consented to an interview.

"It is absolutely unprecedented," he said—"a Cabinet Minister allowing himself to be the subject of a newspaper interview."

He talked for a moment on general subjects, until Mr. Gladstone's name was mentioned.

"His health," said Mr. Parnell, "is wonderful. He is three years younger to-day than he was when he tried to pass the Home Government Bill in 1886, and his rejuvenating is as much due to approaching success as anything.

"The prospects of Home Rule have never appeared so bright as they do to-day. You may say with all confidence that the results of every bye-election with the exception of Doncaster prove that the abstentionist Liberal voters of the former period have all returned to their allegiance, and that if an appeal to the country should be made to-morrow Mr. Gladstone would be returned with a majority at least equal to that of the present Government."

Concerning the Southampton election, Mr. Parnell said: "If it be true, as Mr. Balfour affirms, that the result in Southampton depended on local issues, it is remarkable testimony to the advance of the Home Rule cause that the electors of a constituency like Southampton, which in 1886, regardless of its local interest, returned a Conservative out of antipathy to Home Rule, should have so far overcome their repugnance as to consent to pay some attention to local concerns, particularly" added Mr. Parnell, "when paying attention to local concerns means simply and purely the endorsement of Home Rule in Ireland itself.

"Everything is moving well. If Mr. Balfour thinks that he has injured the National League he is very much mistaken, for he is really only at the beginning of his fight with that body. He has attempted to suppress several branches, but has only succeded in increasing their vitality. Nothing makes a tree grow so vigorously and rapidly as clipping its branches. To kill you should strike at the root. Mr. Balfour pruned the National League to a limited extent, and the results are highly gratifying to us. We shall not rest until we have established the right of every one of the clipped branches to meet free from the persecutions of the police and the penalties of the coercion law."

BLAKELEY HALL.

George Shepherdson, a farm laborer, and Mrs. Breeze, a widow, were committed for trial at Erin on Friday on the charge of murdering the latter's illegitimate infant on May 20th last, the male prisoner in his evidence stacing that he deliberately drowned the child at its mother's request.

ELOPED WITH A CONDUCTOR.

A Missing B.C. Woman Traced to the States.

WINNIPEG, June 11.—The British Columbia woman reported missing while en route to Ontario turns out to be the wife of a hotel-keeper of Field, who eloped with a railway conductor and took her husband's money along. The couple have been traced to the States.

The Conservatives have nominated 30 candidates and the Reformers 35. There are 38 constituencies.

KILLED HIS SON BY MISTAKE.

LINDSAY, June 11.—Friday evening while Robert English, one of the wealthiest and most prominent farmers of Burnt River, and his son, Alfred, aged 15 years, were placing traps for woodchucks, the son moved along the river bank unknown to his father. The father seeing his brown hat beside a bush and mistaking it for a woodchuck fired, instantly killing the young man. The father is prostrate with grief.

CHESLEY'S CALAMITY.

The Entire Business Portion of the Town Wiped Out by Flames.

CHESLEY, June 11—At 2 o'clock Saturday morning fire started in Thompson's furniture store, and before the flames were extinguished the entire business portion of the town was in ashes. The loss is placed at $150,000, which is not more than one-fourth covered by insurance.

No lives were lost, but two or three persons were badly hurt. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The Terrible Black Tongue.

FINDLAY, O., June 11.—The black tongue is raging among the horses on the western edge of this county, and the people are greatly excited, as it is a disease that will attack both man and beast.

The Grasshopper Plague in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 11.—Myriads of grasshoppers have appeared in Otter Tail county. They are of the genuine Rocky Mountain variety.

DROWNED IN THE OTTAWA.

Two Grandsons and a Daughter of Mr. T. C. Keefer Lose their Lives.

OTTAWA, June 11.—One of the saddest drowning accidents which have ever taken place in this vicinity occurred Saturday evening at Rockliffe, a couple of miles below the city on the Ottawa. Two grandsons of Mr. T. C. Keefer, the well-known engineer, Tom and Harry aged 9 and 11, were bathing in the bay near their grandfather's residence, when the steamer Empress passed on her upward trip. The wash from the passing steamer caught them and dragged them into deep water.

Their aunt, Miss Jessie Keefer, about 23 years of age, ran into the water to their assistance, but was also dragged beyond her depth, and the three were drowned before any help could reach them.

The News from Toronto.

TORONTO, June 11.—Mrs. McMaster has consented to relinquish her life interset in the late Senator's large residence on Bloor street, and building is to be converted into a Ladies' Baptist college. The situation is admirable, and the building will make a splendid ladies' college. Details will be settled at the next meeting of the governors of McMaster Hall.

Toronto's two new boats arrived in the harbor on Saturday. The Macassa, which will run between here and Hamilton, is a twin screw boat, and nothwithstanding the fact that both screws were damaged she made a trial trip between the two places in 2 hours 40 minutes. The Cibola will run to Niagara. She is much larger and more powerful than her sister, the Chicora. Both vessels are magnificent in every respect, and are by far the best vessels on Lake Ontario.

The first free excursion for poor children is to come off this afternoon. Four hundred youngsters have been gathered by St. John's Ward mission workers and they will be taken to Long Branch.

Hon. John Carling, Minister of Agriculture, who was in the city last night, said that he would not be able to attend the Haldimand farmer's picnic at Cayuga on June 21, but that he would send some good men from his department to represent him. Mr. Carling left for Ottawa last evening.

At the Capital.

OTTAWA, June 10.—Lord Stanley arrived quite unexpectedly about 8 o'clock this morning and drove at once to Rideau Hall. There was no reception at the depot as he was not expected until 1. He will be publicly sworn in by Chief Justice Ritchie, in the Senate Chamber at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, after which he will be presented with an address of welcome by Mayor Stewart.

Obstructing an Electric Motor Line.

ABERDEEN, Dak., June 11.—Great excitement was caused here yesterday by the efforts of citizens to prevent men and teams employed by the Electric Motor Company from ploughing up the main street for the construction of an electric motor line. Drays were driven across the street to stop the work. A great crowd gathered and cheered the men on the drays away, but the citizens returned to the attack with an order from the Mayor prohibiting further work.

Alexander Begg has offered the Imperial Government, on behalf of the Government of British Columbia, to take over fifty crofter families as a test, provided £120 be advanced to each. He proposes to form a fishing village in Vancouver Island.

GERMAN RADICALS HAPPY

REJOICING OVER MINISTER PUTTKAMER'S RETIREMENT.

The Kaiser's Determination to be King in Fact—Empress Victoria's Tour of the Flooded District—Berlin Gossip.

BERLIN, June 11.—The fall of Herr von Puttmaker, Vice-President of the Prussian Ministerial Council and Prussian Minister of the Interior, has caused immense jubilation in the Radical camp. Herr Richter, of The Freisinnige, ascribes his downfall directly to his speech in the Landtag, and closes an exultant article with the exclamation "Long live the Kaiser. May god preserve his strength. If He does so, many other things in Prussia, and Prussia also will improve." The satisfaction which the government party derive from the Kaiser's yielding to Prince Bismarck's representation that it would never do by vetoing the Quinquennial Parliament bill to furnish the Radical opposition a pretext to boast that the Kaiser had sided with it against his own Cabinet and the Conservative majority is dampened by the prospect of an imperial rescript.

The Cologne Gazette and other government organs daily urge the Emperor against doing anything likely to cause further resignations. Herr von Puttkamer never had the full sympathy of the Emperor, and the latter's decision to part with him betokens his determination to impart to his reign the stamp of his own independent convictions. Herr von Puttkamer's letter of justification treated the matter as a personal one. It was not submitted to the Cabinet. The Kaiser's reply intimated that Her von Puttkamer had failed to convince him. Prince Bismarck visited Herr von Puttkamer today, but not the Emperor, so nothing is yet decided regarding Herr von Puttkamer's successor.

The Emperor's journey to Potsdam was idealized by the loyalty of the people, and has been treated by the Berlin press in the spirit of the Arthurian legend. The finer weather of the past two days has enabled him to spend much time out of doors to his great benefit, as it is certain his removal to Potsdam caused a slight relapse. His appetite is still enfeebled by the heat and his lassitude and the doctors are trying to augment it. Dr. Leyden has again joined in the consultations. Dr. Hovell returns at the Emperor's special request as soon as his private affairs will permit. The Emperor has decided that no summer fetes or other festivities shall be stopped on account of his condition or the death of his father. The Empress passed a fair day to-day. This afternoon Dr. Mackenzie, in the presence of Drs. Bardeleben, Wagner and Krause, changed the canula in the Emperor's throat. His Majesty afterwards drove in an open carriage in the park, where he met the Crown Princess.

The Empress during her tour of the flooded district stopped at Jonasdorf, Altefelde, Elbing, Dirschau and Schneidemuhl, visiting the sufferers by the floods and receiving the town officials. She returned to Potsdam at midnight. Her Majesty has sent a kindly answer to the address presented to her by the women and girls of Gorlitz.

Prince Bismarck is expected at Kissingen on July 7 for a three weeks' sojourn. His wife's illness has been serious, but the danger is now averted and the Princess is able to leave her bed at intervals.

The National Zeitung states that the Government has abandoned for the present its intention of increasing the duties on Russian grain. This announcement had a good effect upon the Bourse, which was quiet during the week, with the exception of a disturbance which was caused by a rumor that the Government contemplated the conversion of the four per cent. Prussian consols into three and one-half per cents. It is believed that the Minister of Finance is in favor of such a project, but the present circumstances are not favorable for an operation of such magnitude.

Beginning with the month of July, the circulation of foreign coin will be forbidden throughout the empire, except in districts near the Austrian and Swiss frontiers. This measure is mainly directed against the French coin in circulation in Alsace and Lorraine.

A grand funeral ceremony is announced to take place in Vienna on the 21st inst., on the occasion of the transfer of Beethoven's ashes to the new Central Cemetery, where they will be laid between those of Schubert and Mozart.

OPIUM SMUGGLERS ARRESTED.

Half a Ton of the Drug Seized—"Opium Pete's" Smuggling Ring.

PORT HURON, June 11.—For several weeks past Jas. McHale of Chicago and Wm. Hussey of New York, special agents of the Treasury Department, have been on the trail of a ton of opium which left Victoria, B.C., about May 8, consigned to Fran Yon, 187, Church-street, Toronto, the eastern agent of "Opium Pete," the head of the gigantic opium smuggling ring of San Francisco, Cal. It arrived in Toronto May 18. Several days ago 1000 pounds, valued at $20,000 were shipped to Moorestown, Ont., a few miles below this point, where it was run across the river by small boats and delivered to a fence by the name of Red Saunders, who keeps a small grocery two miles down the river. The consignment was taken the same night to Smith's Creek, a small station on the Grand Trunk Railway, whence it was shipped by express to T. Winter, Indianapolis. Collector Ward telegraphed to the surveyor at that city to arrest the consignee and seize the opium. This was done Saturday, and the prisoner proves to be Charles Labelle of Sarnia. Collector Ward ordered the arrest of Saunders, and he was taken into custody, enough evidence being secured on searching his premises to make the case warm for him. The man Labelle captured at Indianapolis will be brought here.

It has long been known to the Treasury Department that a gang has been smuggling large amounts of this stuff into the country, but until now all efforts to break up the traffic have been unavailing.

COMMERCIAL UNION.

THE publication by the Toronto Commercial Union Club of a political handbook has raised another dispute in the Liberal ranks. The Globe, having recognized that Canadian public opinion is opposed to commercial union, endeavors to show that the Liberal party is not responsible for the handbook or the opinions expressed in it. It even went further and published a silly yarn that the Commercial Union Club was really calculated to aid the Conservatives, though it has since considerably modified its tone.

It is decidedly amusing to see the Globe now endeavoring to show that commercial union and unrestricted reciprocity are different and that the Liberal party is not endeavoring to bring about commercial union. The Globe itself has argued to the best of its ability in favor of the scheme proposed by the club. It contented that commercial union was the only form of reciprocity obtainable and that an effort should be made to secure it. It now fears that the French Canadian Liberals would be alienated from the party if it was understood that the Club policy was the Liberal policy, yet the Globe a few months ago was threatening the French Canadians with some awful punishment if they dared to oppose commercial union.

The Globe is simply kicking up dust to try to mislead. In theory there may be a difference between commercial union and unrestricted reciprocity, but the Liberal leaders and journals who have adopted the latter name have not shown how the scheme could be made practicable without involving all that the club handbook advocates. The club is more straightforward than the party, insomuch as they do not try to hide the fact that to go beyond reciprocity as favored by the Conservatives a customs union will be necessary. Such a union would not be popular, it would not be adopted by the Canadian people—the Globe acknowledges that now after advocating the scheme—and the shallow pretence is made that a different and less offensive scheme could be carried out. But unrestricted reciprocity—that is, free trade between Canada and the United States with Canada retaining full control of her own tariff—is impracticable, and even if it were not it would include discrimination against Great Britain and the placing of home industries at the mercy of foreign combinations as much as commercial union would. It is, however, impracticable, and Sir Charles Tupper in his budget speech made it plain that it is commercial union that the Canadian people have to reject or accept.

The Commercial Union Club and the Liberal party are both working to form a combination with the United States against Great Britain, and one that would materially injure Canada. That is as plain as anything can be and no amount of dust that the Globe can raise will hide it.

Correspondence of the Review

OFF FOR ENGLAND.—Mr. R. D. Dundas left on Tuesday for the Old Country, in search of a new lot of horses including Clydesdales. He will visit the best breeders and make a good selection. The new stables on his farm are now nearly completed.

THE CHURCHES.—Mr. Orr Bennett is at present filling the pulpit in our church during the absence of his father, who is attending the Presbyterian Synod at Halifax, N. S. Rev. G. D. McCall, B. A., occupied the pulpit of Frazerville Methodist Church on Sunday last.

PICNICS.—The annual picnic of the Town Hall Sunday School takes place next Wednesday in Mr. Bole's woods. The Union Public School (Cairo School) intend having a picnic shortly.

Our Band Competition.

The Pembroke Observer says:—At the regular monthly meeting of the H. & L. Band, M. J. Dowsley in the chair, an invitation from the secretary of the Peterborough Fire Brigade Band was read by the chairman, asking the band to accept an invitation to the above town to attend a grand "band competition" which is to take place some time during the month of August, also the privilege of having one or three judges After some discussion on the subject it was finally decided to accept the invitation providing all the necessary arrangements could be made regarding railroad fares, etc., and as the band had the privilege of having one or three judges the latter was decided. It might be mentioned here to satisfy those concerned that although our boys were greatly disappointed at the way things turned out since they attended the Arnprior band competition, they do not feel like ceasing every other competition with the miserable powwow held at the above town on the 24th of May, 1887. And to acknowledge the truth as it now stands our band have not received one cent of the prize which they got the credit of carrying off, which was to be $40.00, although the attention of the committee was called to the matter by several letters requesting some kind of settlement. They ignored our correspondence and never answered a single letter. That is the way our boys were used by the committee of the Arnprior competition, beaten out of first prize, and got the credit of taking second prize, but got the 'credit' and that was all. We feel confident that if our band secures the low rates to the 'booming little city of the west,' they will be well cared for and used in a gentlemanly manner, and that if they have the good fortune to secure a prize they will not only get the promise, but they will get a good one, as Peterborough always believes in acting squarely in every transaction it goes into. The parties composing the committee are thorough gentlemen and are well known to some of our boys, who feel quite satisfied that they will do their part in a most creditable manner. Unlike other places Peterborough can boast of having a mayor and councillors who are lovers of good band music and who are taking a very active interest in promoting the grand jubilee. Bands from sixty different points have signified their intention to be present. Although the correct dates have not been received, they will be published when they are received so as the absence of the band will not interfere with engaging it previously for any demonstration which might be held here.

LORD STANLEY'S ARRIVAL.

HIS EXCELLENCY REACHES CANADA SATURDAY NIGHT.

How the New Governor-General Looks and what He Talked about at the Ancient Capital. To be Sworn at Ottawa to-day.

QUEBEC, June 11.—Lord Stanley of Preston, the new Governor-General, got a very cold reception when he landed in Canada Saturday night. People here had arranged a grand reception and were going to present him with a civic address, but his A.D.C. telegraphed from a Gulf station that Lord Stanley preferred to go straight through to Ottawa; consequently his official car, which had been waiting on the Canadian Pacific Railway here, had to be sent back to Montreal and over the Victoria Bridge to the Grand Trunk Railway, where it went to Point Levis.

A telegram was received that the Sarmatian would arrive near midnight, and a large number of citizens arranged to go over and welcome the party on their arrival, but this program was also spoiled by the arrival of the Sarmatian three hours before she was expected. Just before 9 a heavy storm set in, and then it was that the steamer arrived unnoticed and moored alongside the Grand Trunk Railway wharf, announcing its arrival by the discharge of marine bombs, which were responded to by a salute of 17 guns from the citadel.

Lord Stanley is a powerfully built man about five feet ten inches high, of commanding and soldier-like appearance, wears a short iron gray beard and moustache and is slightly bald. Altogether he is decidedly good looking, and has an affable manner which cannot but make him popular.

He spoke very willingly on general subjects, but avoided carefully any political questions. He expressed himself delighted with his first impression of Canada but those must have been obtained in the Gulf for a more miserable, uncomfortable appearance than Quebec presented could not be imagined. Lady Stanley looked remarkably well in her dark brown travelling dress.

The party consists, in addition to Lord and Lady Stanley, of Capt. Joselyn Bagot, Military Secretary; Mrs. Bagot, Hon. E. Stanley, of the Grenadier Guards, A.D.C.; Lieut. McMahon, of the Grenadier Guards, A.D.C.; Hon. Victor Stanley, Lieut., R.N.; Hon. Isabella Stanley, Hon. Wm. Stanley and Miss Villiers Lester, a relative of Lady Stanley.

After staying a few days at the Capital Lord Stanley will visit Montreal and Quebec, staying a few days at each place.

THE USEFULNESS OF A TRAMP.

There is no waste in nature,
But when a tramp you see.
You ask in all creation
Of what use can he be?
So thought we up till ringing
The children in from play,
At noon-tide hour, when slowly
A tramp trudg'd out our way.

Though many of the genus
Upon the tramp before
We'd seen, this one for tramping,
The palm of victory bore.
And for a time disorder
Among the urchins reign'd,
As each a colgne of vantage
For sight triumphant gained.

Their gaze not check'd, save only
Rude mirth repress'd the while,
The ludicrous on gravest
Face provok'd a smile.
With children you should never
At any person scoff
However base, 'twere better,
Your hats to him to doff.

The school was call'd, attention,
'Now which of you would choose
If age were yours to stand in
That sorry tramp's old shoes.'
No hand was rais'd all smiling,
As if is were a joke,
While looks some what resentful,
A negative bespoke.

Created in God's image
How very sad 'twould be
If you should ere your manhood
Pervert by beggary.
By habits now acquiring
Of sloth, or indolence,
A tramp you are becoming
To be or not to be.

The boys who learn their lessons,
And do their chores at home,
Parents and teachers heeding,
As tramps will never roam.
But, mark that boy who copies
Sums off his neighbor's slate,
Who hates his tasks, and always,
Comes straggling in too late.

Who grumbles at the favors,
He says unfairly shown;
Blames every one for failures,
Of which the fault's his own.
Who schemes and plays the truant,
Home duties tries to shirk,
May be the one who'd rather
Tramp than do honest work.

Nay furthermore we venture
To say if that tramp ere
Was sent to school he did not
His lessons half prepare.
Quite likely 'round street corners
He loaf'd the Sabbath Day,
Spoke slang, or worse, so lower
Sank in the downward way.

Quite likely that his parents
Were such as those who say
Their boy shal not be punished
At school in any way
What though he does the teacher
And all the school annoy,
He shall not be corrected
Because he is their boy.

Quite likely they had plenty
Of money and ne'er gave
Him stint of it, nor taught him,
The way to earn or save.
His father may have boasted
Storng to drink beer or wine
While he, of weaker nature,
Could not drink decline.

Now to your books and study,
May God enable you,
If spared, to live a noble
Honest life and true.
So when the laggards loiter
"A tramp one day went past,"
Is limited and the use of
A tramp we've found at last.

On the Trail of tottering houses that require Money.

A WHOLESALE STOCK OF CLOTHING BOUGHT AT 52½ CENTS ON THE DOLLAR,

Comprising over 1200 Suits of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, and 800 pairs of Pants, extra. GOUGHS have secured this splendid Bargain Line and commenced a Grand Fitting-out Sale on Thursday morning.

MEASURES FOR THE MEN.

Read our champion offer, and don't try to duplicate it, for it can't be done.

We offer a man's Suit for $2.50 that cost $4.75 wholesale.

We offer splendid fitting Suits, and in 150 different patterns, at $5.00 easily worth $7.25 wholesale. These Suits, if sold in the regular retail way would bring $9.00.

OUR GREAT BIG PLUM in Men's Clothing, comprising 633 suits, regular wholesale price $11.50, and we are turning them out for $9.00. The cloth alone is worth more than we are asking for the whole suit complete.

Look them all through and then come to us, and if we fail to convince the most skeptical that our Stock is not at least five times larger and our prices 50 per cent. lower than those of any other dealer, we will give a whole outfit free.

WHAT WE SAY ABOUT THESE GOODS.

One man's extremity is another man's opportunity. Our grip on the market has brought this bargain to our counters. We want the public to know just what we offer. When we say the goods are bargains they are positive. When we say no such a pic-nic was ever before offered we have the goods to back up the statement. We nail the flag of cheap and and good Clothing, of brilliant sparkling bargains to the mast and defy any clothier on earth to lower our colors.

OUR PLAN TO HELP YOU HERE.

We want everyone to come and see what we are doing. Drive in if you can. Come by water, by stage or on foot, for there's money for you in the expedition. That there shall be no excuse, we will pay the railroad fare of any passenger, within a radius of fifty miles, who comes to our sale and buys $10.00 worth of goods or upwards.

BOUNCING BARGAINS FOR BOYS.

An honest statement always carries weight; can you believe one when you hear it? In black and white we tell you what we are doing in Boys' Clothing.

A Dandy Suit for the boy, and mind you, only 58 cts. People often run away with the idea that a cheap line is only advertised for a bait, and that when they come around say the boy is too big for the clothes and try to sell something else. This is not our style (we leave that for others to do). Don't be afraid to ask for these suits. Our salesmen won't tell you that the Proprietor is out and that they can't find them. We have lots of Boys' Suits at 58 cts. and while they last the public will get them, and though they are worth $1.00 wholesale we can sell them for 58 cts. and make a good living profit.

See our Boys' suits at $1.25, $1.75 $2.50 and upwards. The cheapest are good and the best are better.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

At this season many Housekeepers are replenishing their supplies of Tableware and China. City folk are furnishing summer cottages; country folk are filling up the dressers and cupboards of the old homestead: town's folk are picking and choosing here and there. Many would be glad to know of a place whose special business is to meet these wants and desires; that aims to furnish essentially good wares at consistently low prices; that offers the choice of many different dinner services, and yet does not compel you to take an entire set of any pattern, but allow you to select each course of a new design, or buy any portion of the set you may need; that does not try to impose ideas or wares upon purchasers, and yet is ready to advise which of the many wares is most desirable and suitable; and, if wished, will make a careful selection of pattern. When you want Tablewear will you give us the opportunity to serve you.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Weather Probabilities.

West and northwest winds; fine weather; a little lower temperature.

A Hot Weather Subject.

Be comfortable during the hot weather. How can this end be best secured? By wearing light apparel. By setting aside a heavy costume and securing from our dress goods department a light, airy, bright and stylish dress. We have a large assortment of materials in stock which we make up skilfully. Ladies should inspect what we offer before buying. Remember the place, the golden lion.

A Cow Killed.

When the special train that carried the firemen to Lakefield on Sunday night was passing through Auburn it struck a cow and killed it. The animal belonged to Mrs. Renton.

Shipped.

They are still selling the English canoe To-day they filled three orders from Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton. It is a kind of an understood fact that Mr. English is builder to the last named club.

Remanded.

The young lad named Butterworth, charged stealing a dividend warrant, the property of Mr. R. L. Benson, was before Mayor Stevenson J. P. this morning. The case was enlarged until to-morrow, when the Police Magistrate will dispose of it.

Here We Go

by the C. P. R. to Toronto, Tuesday, June 12th. Get your ticket bought to-day, or from the Canton Committee, who will sell tickets at the C. P. R. platform to-morrow morning. Tickets can only be bought from them to-morrow, either at the 5.10 or 7.20 a. m. Be in good time and come along. Fare only $2.00. Children $1.00. Good for two days. You can return on any regular train.

Released.

On Saturday night a farmer named Fanning endeavored to turn his team out from the sidewalk on George-st. In doing so the hub of one of his wheels caught the hub of a phaeton owned by Mr. Elias Thompson, with the result that the phaeton had one wheel less. Fanning was taken to the cooler, but on explanations being made it turned out that the affair was a mere accident and he was at once released.

A Run Off.

On Saturday evening a freight train going west on the C. P. R. ran over three cows that were sleeping on the track, at a public crossing, near Myrtle. The engine remained on the rails but the tender left the track, as did ten loaded cars, which were badly smashed and the contents scattered broadcast. One brakeman was badly injured and two or three others of the hands were also shaken up. The passengers on the evening express from Toronto did not arrive until this morning and then only after being portaged over the place where the accident occurred. As soon as possible a wrecking train was at the scene, but despite their best efforts to clear the track the express due at noon did not reach here until after two o'clock this afternoon. After striking the cows one of the animals was dragged for fully a quarter of a mile the front truck of the tender being off the track all the time. One long trestle bridge was passed in safety, but at the second one the trouble commenced. The timbers were striped off the top and shortly after passing it the cars were ditched.

We aim to make our reputation of the Pantry permanent by selling at figures that clinch the argument every time.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

O. C. C.

The meeting of the Otonabee Canoe Club announced for to-morrow evening, has been adjourned until Thursday night.

March Out To-night.

This evening the Canton Peterborough, in undress uniform, accompanied by the band, will march from the rink at eight o'clock, executing movements during march.

Fail not to hear

I. O. O. F.

At the regular meeting of Otonabee Lodge No. 13 I.O.O.F. to-night, the semi-annual nomination of officers will take place. As the delegates to represent No. 13, at the Grand Lodge meeting will be chosen, a large attendance and a lively meeting is looked for.

LIKE a ship before the breeze, so go those fine Teas at 5 pounds for $1 at the Pantry.

For England.

The Bishop of Toronto leaves to-morrow morning for England by the C. P. R., to attend the Lambeth Conference, under the presidency of his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury. During his absence Ven. Archdeacon Boddy will be administrator of the diocese.

Fred Archer

Exhibition Drill.

An exhibition drill by the pupils (girls and boys to the number of 160) of the Institute, will be given in the Charlotte-st. skating rink on Friday evening, June 15th, at 8 o'clock. A splendid programme will be presented. Fire Brigade Band present. To raise funds for fife and drum band. Admission 10 cents. d136

Low prices do not affect the quality of Groceries at the Pantry. This truth demonstrated in every purchase.

To Play the Bugle.

A half a dozen boys are wanted to join the 57th battalion as buglers. Boys who desire to learn to play the bugle for this purpose, and also the fife with a view to playing in a fife and drum band, should apply to Bandmaster Miller, who has the matter in hand and will give instructions on the instruments.

Organ Recital

At Montreal.

Mr. H. Winch's "Sleepy Dan" has been entered to trot at Montreal, at the meeting to take place there on the 19th, 20th and 21st June. He will compete in the "three minute" and "Butchers" races. "Dan" is expected to come in somewhere in front of the last horse and many admirers of him are willing to wager money that he will do so.

A Protest.

A young man named Hartley played with the Barrie lacrosse team against the River sides, at Barrie, on the Queen's birthday. A protest was entered against him at the time on the ground that he belonged to the Shelburne team. The Barrie boys stoutly denied it, but on the day following the match between the same clubs played here, Hartley played with Shelburnes against Owen Sound while he did not play in Peterborough. There is therefore no doubt that the Riversides have good grounds for hoping that their protest will be sustained.

Tuesday eve, June 12

Curious Conduct.

On Saturday two young men named Michael Shannahan and Dennis Haban undertook to run the municipality. They had a horse and a buggy and were no respectors of persons. They drove on the sidewalks and over crossings at a furious rate and more than one individual had a close shav. Near the Golden Lion they broke the ranks of the Salvation Army. Chief Rozel and Officers McGinty and Stewart captured them in front of the Oriental and took them to the coop. At the Police Court this morning they were remanded until to-morrow.

To-Night's Game.

The following team will represent the Y. M.C.A. lacrosse club in the match with the Ætnas this evening:—

"Y" Concert.

Last Saturday evening in the absence of the President, Miss L. Sanderson, the chair was occupied by Mrs. J. Kendry, Sec. of the W. C. T. U. The charming instrumental selection by Miss Owens formed a fitting introduction to the programme. Miss Butcher sang Arthur Sullivan's "Looking Back" with effective expression. This was followed by an address by Miss Camilla Sanderson which we will publish to-morrow. The College Glee Club then sang a sacred chorus, and, after a moment's interval, gave "The Merry Chink" in good style. Miss K. B. Annesley's graceful rendering of "Carina" was followed by a capital song, "The Mid-ship Mite," by Mr. Frank C. Annesley, who kindly volunteered to fill the vacancy occasioned by the unavoidable absence of Mr. Bowse. Mr. Bannell Sawyer also came gallantly to the rescue, and, by witty remarks and humorous songs, completed the impromtu part of the programme. The next entertainment promises to be equally good.

A FIRE AT LAKEFIELD.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS WORTH OF LUMBER BURNED.

The Lumbering and Manufacturing Co's Piling Ground the Scene of the Fire —The Town Fire Brigade Responds to a Call for Aid—Incendiarism Suspected.

On Sunday night shortly before 8 o'clock, while a glare in the northern sky showed that a fire was burning in that direction, the firemen in the town brigade were called out to respond to a call for assistance received from Lakefield. Steam had to be got up in a locomotive and a Silsby steamer and other apparatus loaded on a car, and it was nearly ten o'clock before a start was made for Lakefield over the Grand Trunk. But once on the way a fast run was made, and in about twenty minutes the train stopped at the mill piling grounds.

THE FIRE.

The piling grounds of the Lakefield Lumber and Manufacturing Company are near the mill. The Grand Trunk track runs through them and there are three siddings, and the lumber is piled along these tracks. The fire started near the north-east end. When first seen it was burning brightly and gaining rapidly, and by the time the village fire brigade got to work at it the hand engines made little impression upon it. A line of hose was laid from the waterworks constructed to protect the mills, but a waggon ran over the hose and burst a length, leaving the line too short. It was then used to supply water for the hand engines, which were manned vigorously. An old fashioned but effective bucket brigade kept water flowing on the lumber, and many willing hands set to work to move a few of the piles and thus check the flames. At the same time a lorrie was used by a number of men to remove lumber out of the danger, and shingles and other material were thrown back. The villagers worked hard and manfully, and even ladies gave assistance, while some of the ladies furnished the men with refreshments. A gap was made in the row of lumber piles, but the

FIRE JUMPED THE GAP

and went on, and reached out and licked up the lumber that had been removed to make the gap. Moving further down, boards were at once again flying and four piles were thrown out. When the fire started, at about twenty minutes after six o'clock, there was a strong wind, but by this time it had calmed down. The second gap proved to be sufficient and the fire went no further. There was then a large body of glowing coals that stretched along the bourse of the fire and threatened further damage if the wind rose again or shifted to another quarter. The Peterborough firemen now arrived and soon had two streams playing on the heaps of coals and burning ends and embers, but it took three or four hours to finally extinguish the fire. After partaking of supper, provided by the village at Dion's hotel, the firemen returned to town.

THE LOSS.

The lumber burned was of the best quality of pine of last season's cut, and the boards were sixteen feet long. The piles were seventy-four tiers high and twelve boards wide, and each pile containing 10,000 feet. In all about 750,000 feet or over was destroyed, worth about $15,000. About 40,000 shingles were burned, timber upon which the lumber was piled went with the rest, ties in the railway sidings were burned, and bill stuff, ties and pickets were destroyed to a great extent. A great deal that was not burned was injured by the hasty handling and by sand and dirt being tramped in upon it. The Company had $20,000 insurance upon the lumber, made up as follows:—$10,000 in the Western and $10,000 in the Liverpool, London and Globe.

AN ACCIDENT.

A short time after the train from Peterborough arrived Mr. Wm. Abbott, sr., of Douro, who had been assisting at the fire, while walking on the boards stepped into a hole and struck his side violently against the boards or a piece of timber. Dr. Bell was called and when the injured man had been carried out it was found that two ribs were broken.

A PREVIOUS FIRE.

About half an hour before the fire was discovered in the lumber, a small shed a short distance from the railway, on the opposite side, was burned. It was owned by Mr. T. J. Bird and used as a coal oil storehouse. It is not definitely known how the fires originated, but incendiarism is suspected. A gentleman saw several boys, shortly before the first fire broke out, leave the shed and pass into the avenue in the lumber piles in which the flames were first seen.

SPARKS.

A number of townspeople accompanied the firemen, others drove up and some walked.

Two dwellings, owned by Mr. John Madill and occupied by Mr. Noyes and Mrs. Hunter, narrowly escaped being burned. At one time it was thought they would go and the furniture was taken out.

The train struck a cow at Auburn and killed it, while making the fast run to the village.

The wind was blowing in a good direction. If it had been reversed it would have driven the fire into the mills on Strickland's raceway and into the village.

There was 4,000,000 feet of lumber on the yards when the fire broke out.

A telephone message was received soon after the firemen started announcing that the fire was under control.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

The Bay of Quinte Conference—Probationers into Full Connection.

LINDSAY, June 11.—On Friday evening the Conference met in regular session for the reception of the young men into full connection with the Conference. A large audience filled every available seat in the church. The Revs. Dr. Williams, General Superintendent, Dr. Wm. Williams, J. Learoyd, J. S. Clarke, Professor Reynar and J. J. Rice occupied seats on the platform.

The Secretary was called upon to read the names of the young men, when George H. Raley and S. J. Thompson were called and took seats on the platform. The President then called upon George H. Raley to relate his experience of conversion and call to the ministry, which he did in a good address.

The President then called on S. J. Thompson, who on rising said:—"Mr. President, Fathers and Brethern,—I pray God that I may be fully conscious of all that this hour means for me and for the church of Christ." He said he did not remember the time when he did not fear God. At an early age so deep were the impressions that one late afternoon coming along the roadside he knelt down and cried out to God for peace and quiet to come to his soul. God had answered his prayer. But through the influence of thoughtless companions and lack of watchfulness he grew careless, till at the age of 16 years under the ministry of Rev. J. C. Bell and J. M. Kerr on the Mount Forest circuit he was led to renew his quest after peace and pardon of sin, and during the ordinary services of the Sabbath day of the church, he knelt as a sinner, the chiefest of all, till God's wondrous mercy reached his heart. Not, however, till he began to work in the church did the great joy of the Christian reach his soul and he was assured that he was born again, a child of God. In regard to his call to the ministry that had grown gradually upon him. Brother ministers had advised him to enter the ministry. The most devoted people he met told him they believed he should preach. The conviction grew upon his own mind that it was the will of God for him, that his life should be fully devoted to the ministry of the church. The way of providence opened. From a Sabbath school teacher, then a local preacher, he had entered the ranks of the ministry, had labored three years constantly on circuit work, when he felt impressed that he needed greater qualifications and entered Victoria College. There he spent a year and a half very happily. He wished to thank the Superintendent of Circuits, the Rev. W. Johnson, and Rev. J. Davies for their kindly help and godly advice. He wished to thank the other brethren of the ministry for all the kind words and helpful hints and practical aid they had rendered in the past. He thanked the professors of College for their help, and now after 5 yearsservice, during which God had honored his labors in the salvation of souls, during which many responsibilities had been placed upon him and many difficulties conquered, he offered himself as a missionary to the British Columbia Conference. He believed there were souls there who were perishing without Christ and he was determined to go that by his ministry these might hear Christ the Saviour presented to them. He begged the Conference not to forget the missionary to British Columbia.

Rev. Prof. Reynar then moved the reception of these young men and in a beautiful speech. Rev. J. J. Rice, of Stirling, then seconding the resolution in a good speech. The motion was put and carried by a standing vote of the ministerial members of the conference. The Gen. Supt. Dr. Williams, then rose and after addressing the congregation, he spoke briefly to the young men. Prof. Canfield, of Belleville, and the Revs. Messrs. Dewey and Crossly, evangelists, sang a beautiful song and the meeting adjourned in usual form.

At the Saturday session the Rev. P. Clarke, of the Toronto Conference, was introduced. A resolution was moved that a session be devoted to consideration of "state of the work" and a committee appointed to prepare a report for that session. The reports from Albert College and Alma Ladies' College was read and a motion adopted pledging the Conference to sustain and encourage the colleges. The Conference adjourned at 11 a. m. to go on an excursion to Sturgeon Point.

Band Concert.

The Fire Brigade Band will give an open air concert at the Horticultural Park this evening, instead of Tuesday evening, as usual, on account of the excursion to Toronto taking place in the morning.

Church Notes.

The Rev. Prof. Reynar, of Victoria College, Cobourg, occupied the pulpit at the Charlotte-st. Methodist church in the morning and at the George-st. church in the evening. The Rev. Mr. Sanders, of Woodville, alternated with him.

For chronic catarrh, induced by a scrofulous taint, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the true remedy. It stops catarrhal discharges, removes the sickening odor, and never fails to thoroughly eradicate every trace of the disease from the blood. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

Brevities.

—The Scott Act case against Mrs. Condon was enlarged again this morning, until to-morrow.

—About a dozen boys from the Barnardo Home were sent off this morning, on the Grand Trunk.

—A heavy thunderstorm passed over town yesterday and Peterborough only got the tail end of it.

—One of the largest crowds ever seen in the Little Lake Cemetery visited that beautiful spot on Sunday.

—A trio of Italian musicians are doing the town. They play good music and are apparently raking in a good many dimes.

—The Goose Island Pond Valley Viaduct is opened, the ballast train having passed over on Saturday evening.

—Mr. Wm. Dee, of the C. P. R. Telegraph Office has reported for duty again after being kept in Toronto, for some time by illness.

—Mr. "Hank" Smith, of Rochester, is paying his annual visit to Peterborough. He says our town is the liveliest in the country.

—It is not probable that there will be any opposition to Mr. E. H. D. Hall as a candidate for No. 2 Ward, for a seat at the Council board.

—The square watering cart broke down on Saturday, one of the axles smashing. It is at the shop for repairs.

—Mayor Stevenson, who is acting as Police Magistrate during the temporary absence of P. M. Dumble, does so with dignity and despatch.

—Contrary to expectation there will not be any meeting of the Town Council to-night. The next meeting will take place in two weeks.

—Mr. J. W. Flavelle, of Toronto, was in town on Saturday. "Joe" has a great hankering for Peterborough, as all old residents have.

—The residents of Ashburnham complain that hoodlums driving through the village make night hideous with their yells. Officer Craig should see about it.

—Mr. T. B. Collins, Millbrook, intends sailing for Carrick-Fergus, Ireland, in about two weeks. He will be accompanied by Mr. Clark Wallace, M. P., and other prominent gentlemen.

—The town clock took another fit on Sunday and for some hours the time as indicated by it, was twenty minutes slow. The caretaker, however, remedied matters in the afternoon.

Correspondence of the Review.

GOOD HORSES.—Throughout this section of the county increased attention is being given to the breeding of horses and stock, particularly the former. The demand from across the lines and for the Montreal market, is one that can be just as well filled from this section as any other. Young Enterprise, owned by Robt. Mahood, has travelled through here last year and has left his mark. Many fine colts have been dropped got by Young Enterprise. Messrs. Hugh Mackay, J. Northey, of this township, Messrs. J. Middleton and Geo. Snyder, Smith, and many others have secured fine and promising colts, that will grow up into the very best class of horse for our farmers' use and as roadsters. Young Enterprise is a Canadian Bred Clydesdale, a popular horse with those who know his breeding and good points.

The meed of merit for promoting personal comeliness, is due to J. C. Ayer & Co., whose Hair Vigor is a universal beautifier of the hair. Harmless, effective, and agreeable, it ranks among the indispensable toilet articles.

AGAIN, CLOTHING!

Fathers and Sons are alike interested in the subject of New Clothes, and the approach of summer hastens preparations for bodily comfort.

Our stock of Cloths affords scope for gratifying any fancy, as to fabrics, color or price. We have some especially neat things in Scotch and Canadian Tweeds.

Our suit stock defies description. Such variety in pattern and cut as we offer includes every one's want—man or boy. Prices high enough to ensure trusty clothes, low enough to meet all requirements.

Where else do you find better proposals?

"I merely called in," said old Mr. Clovertoys, as he came stumping along the hall, "to give you folks a slice of advice previous to your going to Toronto on any of these here excursions. My advice is this, and if an old man's experience is worth anythin', which it naturally is worth somethin,' don't go to the city with the everlastin' idea that you can buy dirt cheap all round. Some things air cheap, no doubt, but if you're looking for dinner dishes or pretty tea sets, or silver things or spoons and such like trifles, remember that CHINA HALL is a home institution and here for you every day in the week."

say do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 2½ years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

MONA'S CHOICE

BY MRS. ALEXANDER.

"Let me see" pulling over the map—"Contrexeville? I can't make it out here, but I was at Domremy once—when my poor husband was alive—and it's not far from Contrex. I dare say the fare will be close on forty francs—that's eighty for the two of you—and the through fare by Calais—you must take the shortest route, Dieppe or Havre would be the death of you—is something like seventy-two, say seventy—that's a hundred and forty, and a night in Paris sixty or seventy; and cabs; and octroi, and luggage, and douceurs, and refreshments on the way will run into fifty or fifty-five more; that's a hundred and forty, and eighty; two hundred and twenty, and sixty; two hundred and eighty—three hundred and forty in round numbers."

"Lord's sake, woman!" cried Uncle Sandy, startled out of all propriety, "if you are counting by hundreds, I'd better stay here and dee, while I have siller left to carry my puir bodie back to Strathairlie."

"Oh, don't take fright, my dear sir; remember the hundreds do not represent pounds. I'll tell you the total in English money; we will just make it three hundred and fifty to save time and trouble (that is, reckoning four pounds to the hundred franc, and you may get a trifle more if the exchange is favorable), that is just fourteen pounds—first-class to Paris, and second on to Contrexeville."

"Ah!" he returned, with a sigh; "that is possible, though it is desperate costly; and as much more to come back. Twenty-eight pounds sterling—for how long?—less than a month."

"Perhaps, my dear Mr. Craig, you might feel equal to prolong your ramble, and go on into Germany; a little change of scene and—and diet might have a most beneficial effect."

"Perhaps; if she will come wi' me," pointing to Mona.

"Of course she will. She might as well—breaking up now, she cannot expect to get any more pupils this year."

"Oh, indeed!" returned Uncle Sandy, in an aggrieved tone.

"Mona, my love, there is a letter for you down-stairs. You had better go and see if it needs an answer." Mona obeyed. "I am sure you'll forgive me, my dear Mr. Craig, if from my deep interest in all that concerns Mona, I venture to take a liberty. But I consider it my duty to one I look upon as a child of my own, to inform you that the very small sum I hold for her," continued Mme. Debrisay, not heeding an interruption, "would soon be exhausted were she to draw on it for her personal expenses; and I think you ought—"

"I am much obliged to you, madame, for telling me what I ought to do," interrupted Uncle Sandy, in high wrath. "I never did need any instruction as to my duty in this life. I shall do what I think right by my niece, and you needn't interfere. If I thought she had any act or part in this attempt to extort money from me, I'd—I'd disown her."

"Extort money—indeed!" cried Mme. Debrisay. "Those are words you have no right to address to me. Extort money! I am more apt to give money away than to extort it. When your niece was deserted by everyone because she would not sell herself in a mercenary marriage, did I count what it would cost me to keep her if I took her in? No, I was proud and happy—"

"Eh? a mercenary marriage!" broke in Uncle Sandy, his indignation merged into sharp curiosity. "Wha—what do you mean? Did she refuse a man?"

"Yes; a rich man, and a real gentleman," returned Mme. Debrisay, recovering herself, and perceiving she had made a false move.

"Then she's fa'en in love wi' another lad?"

"Ah!" cried Mme. Debrisay, as if a new light had broken in upon her; "that must be it. My dear sir, you have the furthest sight of us all, and"—laughing good-humoredly—"I am really ashamed of my own folly, talking to a man of your stamp about what you ought or ought not to do; you really must excuse me. I have not often met a man of your intelligence and penetration, so you must forgive my stupidity, and give me plenary absolution."

"I bear no malice," said Uncle Sandy, with dignity, "and I know it is hard for a woman to keep her tongue quiet. Least said, soonest mended. Let say nae mair about it. It had best not come to Mona's ears."

"Trust me, I shall not breathe a syllable to her; and I will go and prepare you cocoa. Let me shake hands with you, my dear sir."

Having done so, Mme. Debrisay left the room, murmuring to herself as she descended the stairs—"Stingy, cross-grained, cantankerous old miser! He thinks he can set the Thames on fire."

While Uncle Sandy, reclining a conqueror in his easy-chair, musing on the altercation, "A hasty, stormy woman," was his mental verdict, "but no devoid o' sense."

CHAPTER XIV.—CONTREXEVILLE.

Finally all things were arranged, or arranged themselves: and one fine morning in June, Uncle Sandy (to whom it was no difficulty to get up "in the middle of the night," as Mme. Debrisay said) and Mona were ready at an early hour—packed and breakfasted—to start by the morning train for Dover, en route to Paris.

"I do not know how I'll live without you," said Mme. Debrisay, embracing Mona, with fast-flowing tears. "I was all right before you came, but now I know what it is to have you by me! It will be awfully lonesome when you are gone!"

"And how I shall miss you, dearest Deb! You know I am half afraid of the task I have undertaken! It is a serious matter to be bear leader to Uncle Sandy."

"That it is; but you will do well. Above all, hold your own. If you give in, he'll be sure to trample on you. And you will write to me every week?"

"I will, dear Deb; and you must answer. Good-bye. God bless you!"

The journey across the Channel and to the capital of fair France is now a twice-told—nay, a thrice-told—tale, familiar to every "'Arry and his 'Arriet." Nevertheless, it was fraught with excitement and delight to Uncle Sandy's inexperience. The fair hop fields of Kent, the white cliffs and blue glittering waters of the Channel at Dover, the Admiralty Pier, the castle-crowned heights, the lowering of somebody's carriage on to the deck, all afforded him matter for wonder and admiration.

But the marvel of marvels was to land at Calais, and not understand a word spoken by the chattering crowd around him. Then, indeed, he clung to his niece's arm, and was abjectly civil to the polite interpreter who traveled with the train.

Mona, who had been somewhat nervous about conveying her invalid uncle such a distance, was surprised and relieved to find how change of scene drew him out of himself, and how many of his infirmities vanished, because he had not time to think of them.

She was glad, however, to get him safe to the hotel recommended by Mme. Debrisay—a thoroughly French house, where they found a German waiter who spoke English, but who had some difficulty in understanding Uncle Sandy's.

The old man was quite exhausted, and went to bed as soon as he had partaken of some food.

"You'll pit your purse under your pillow, dearie," he said, tremulously, "and look your door; and here, my lambie, here are ten sovereigns. They are for your ain self, and when you want more, you tell me. I dinna wish you to want for onything, only I would nae be talked out o' siller. Eh! it's wonderful to hear till ye talking to these outlandish folk in their ain tongue. I wish I had had mair learning in my youth."

In brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happines to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

NEW TAILORING

—AND—

GENTS' FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT.

MR. GEO. BALL

desires to inform his friends and the public generally, that he will open in the store adjoining McAndrew & Noble's, opposite the market square, about the 1st of May, a splendid stock o which have been selected with the greatest care, and will be found worthy of the patronage of the gentlemen of the town.

Also a complete stock of cloths suitable for spring and summer wear, including overcoatings, trouserings, tweeds, broadcloths, etc, etc.

Mr. Ball intends devoting his whole attention to the cutting department; and a practical, lengthy experience, enables him to guarantee a good, stylish fit, in well made goods. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited. A trial order will convince any customer that as regard both price and style, the shop for his money is that of

GEO. BALL,

Tailor & Clothier, opposite the Market.
